

Second Day Of Senior Week Features Saddle Shoe Stomp

Dance To Be Held On Tennis Courts Tonight At 8:30

Going into the second day of Senior week festivities, approximately 1050 senior footies will be trucking on down and dragging it on out on the lower two University cement tennis courts tonight at 8:30 to the rhythm of Freddie Johnson and his campus orchestra. Earlier in the afternoon the class of 1939 will attend the Carolina-Wake Forest baseball game.

Fireworks galore will be on display, and steps or holds of no sort will be barred. Seniors attending the prom will be clad in saddle shoes and senior regalia, and the modern chaperones of the affair will wear smoked glasses.

"SSS" FIGURE

A feature of the evening will be the "SSS" figure. Participants will be members of the Senior week committee and the eight seniors, with their dates, elected at the class banquet held last night in Swain hall. Those on the committee and their dates are Chairman Allen Truex with "Diamond Lil" Hughes, Jane Hunter with "You'll Be Surprised" Gilly McCutcheon, Bill Innes with "Sweet Susie" Fountain, Will G. Arey, Jr., with "I Love You Truly Chi Omega" Virginia Kibler, Mac Allen with "We Really Are Lousy" Mary Ann Koonce, Wills Hancock with "Cheltham House" Mary McCall, Bill McCachren with "I Am Not 135" (Continued on page 2, column 5)

UTILITIES ARE SUBJECT OF DI, PHI DISCUSSIONS

Public Debate To Be Held If Groups Disagree On Topic

At 7:15 tonight the Di senate and the Phi assembly will continue the plan inaugurated last Tuesday night when both groups simultaneously discuss the bill, "Resolved: That the United States government own and operate all public service utilities."

Speaker Elmer Nance of the Phi issued a warning to all members who wish to vote for next year's officers to be present at both tonight's and next week's meetings.

JOYNER EXPLAINS STUDENT COUNCIL TRAINING SCHOOL

Course Will Teach Officers Best Way To Carry Out Jobs

Stressing the need for able administrators in all campus activities, Jim Joyner, ex-president of the student body, yesterday explained what the Student Government conference, to be held from May 15 through 19, is striving for.

The following is the full text of Joyner's statement: "New officers all too often are at a loss as to how to take hold and perform their jobs. Of course, they have their ideas for constructive work in their respective organizations, but there is the matter of administration and of routine work which they must learn."

OFFICERS ARE LEADERS

"The majority of these officers in responsible positions throughout the campus are the leaders, those who determine the trend of the campus, and who make student activities what they are. They are in the most strategic positions to be of invaluable aid in making the honor system work, and of being of influence in getting the right kind of attitudes about student government, student activities, participation, responsibility, etc."

"These new men need information about parliamentary and other procedures. They need some background and history in order to get a comprehensive view of the set-up of student activity of which they are an official part. I am speaking of fraternity officers, literary and debate groups, dormitory leaders, student government, and publications men and women. It is certainly true that this group of administrators and executives ordinarily never get together for discussions such as the Student council in collaboration with Graham Memorial is sponsoring in the Officer's Training meet May 15 through 19."

"It is our hope that they will gain (Continued on page 4, column 5)

May Day Court

All those participating in the May Day court will please meet this afternoon at 4:30 in the Arboretum. In case of rain, the meeting place will be in Graham Memorial.

Senior Week Opens With Gala Banquet; Markham, Nethercutt, Rippy Are Officers

"SSS" Figure Leaders

The Saddle Shoe Stomp will be the highlight of the second day of Senior Week. The dance will be held this evening at 8:30 in the lower cement tennis courts, with Freddy Johnson furnishing the music. Above are the sponsors for the affair: (upper left to right) Miss Bobby Winton with Voit Gilmore; Miss Virginia Kibler with Will G. Arey, Jr.; and Miss Lillian

Johnson's Orchestra, Olsen, Gilmore And Hudson On Program

By RUSH HAMRICK

Approximately 400 seniors, some with dates, some without, gathered in Swain hall last night to conclude the opening day of the Senior Week festivities with a Senior banquet. Freddie Johnson and his 12 piece orchestra furnished dinner-dance music for the gala affair.

Felix Markham carried the election for permanent president of the class of 1939. Running against Markham were Voit Gilmore, Jim Joyner and Frank Wakely. For vice-president, George Nethercutt came out on top over Allen Truex, Bud Hudson and Bill Hendrix. Fred Rippy is the permanent secretary-treasurer, winning over Vaughn Winborne, Bill Cole, Elmer Nance, Brooks Patten, John Rankin and Paul Thompson.

OLSEN SPEAKS

Professor Bill Olsen was the principal speaker of the evening, his topic being "Marriage and Breath Control." Students attending the event were really kept in an uproar of laughter by the humorous jokes and limericks of Professor Olsen. He said, "You will have no financial difficulties if you practice breath control. Do not marry beauty and charm." As he donned a hat, supposedly that of a mortuary boy, Olsen, with the aid of his imagination, took the audience to Kenan stadium where he gave "advice to the lovelorn" and "advice on marriage."

The invocation was pronounced by Professor Howell, who is acting as dean in the place of Dean S. H. Hobbs who is on leave of absence from the University.

The main program began while the dessert of the three course dinner was being served. While his band played Kay Kyser's theme song, Freddie Johnson opened the program with an imitation of Kyser's Musical Klass. Contestants on this skit were Profes- (Continued on page 4, column 6)

GERMAN EDUCATOR WILL SPEAK HERE

Baron To Discuss Florentine History

Dr. Hans Baron, who was dismissed in 1933 by the Nazi government from the University of Berlin where he was professor of medieval and modern history, and who has been elected to the chair of history at Queens college in New York, will speak on "Economic and Social Aspects of Florentine Renaissance" in Graham Memorial at the University Thursday evening at 8:30, it was announced yesterday.

Dr. Baron, one of the most outstanding world scholars of the Italian Renaissance and the Calvinistic Reformation, will come here under the auspices of the University Division of Humanities and the Department of History.

Since 1933 he has done research and lectured in England and recently has delivered lectures at Yale university, Johns Hopkins, Columbia, Duke, and the Universities of Chicago, Wisconsin and Iowa, and at the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

His scholarship is unique, it is said, in that he attacks his subjects from sociological and economic points of view and attempts to clarify the interrelations of politics, sociology and economics with religious and cultural life.

Among noteworthy aspects of Dr. Baron's study, it is reported, is the unusual development of the textile industries in Florence and their influence on cultural life.

Since 1924 he has published 15 articles in various learned journals in German, Italian, English and American, and has written two books. He is now preparing two more books for publication.

Directors Meet

The University board of directors will meet on Friday at 11 o'clock in the Carolina Inn along with the newly elected officers of the General Alumni association.

Writer James Boyd To Talk To Arts Group On Monday

James Boyd, well-known North Carolina novelist, will give a public talk on Monday, May 15, at eight o'clock in Graham Memorial. He will appear under the auspices of the Carolina Arts Group, a club recently organized for the purpose of bringing noted writers and other artists to Chapel Hill.

Boyd has been a resident of Southern Pines since the War. He has written four popular novels, the first of which, "Drums," deals with the American Revolution.

His second novel, "Marching On," is a Civil War story laid in North Carolina. Boyd attributes his skill in the use of dialect in these two novels to the fact that the back-country North Carolinians still speak almost the same way as the Colonials.

Boyd's other two more recent novels are "Long Hunt" and "Roll River."

His appearance here will be the third presentation of the Carolina Arts Group to the campus, the other two being Phillips Russell, Chapel Hill biographer, and Allen Tate, Agrarian poet.

Scientific Society Will Meet Tonight

Dr. O. K. Rice and Dr. J. B. Fisk will be the guest speakers at the three hundred and ninety-third meeting of the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society, to be held this evening at 7:30 in 206 Phillips. Dr. Rice will talk on "Thermal Gaseous Explosions," while Dr. Fisk's subject will be "A Problem in the Artificial Transmutation of Elements."

Slocum Judges Music

Earl Slocum of the Music department served as one of the judges for the Eighth Regional National Music festival held in Charlotte last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Approximately 3,500 musicians from eight states competed for national honors.

AKG TO OFFER COED LOAN FUND FOR UNC WOMEN

Sorority Arranges To Obtain Money From Contributions

Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honorary woman's fraternity, is making plans to establish a loan fund for women on the campus.

Miss Kathryn Fleming, president of AKG, explained that this loan fund is not simply another project for a project's sake but is being sponsored to fill a definite need as there are few scholarships open to women at the University and no loan fund of the type AKG plans to establish.

GIRLS NEED FUNDS

She said, "There are many girls on the campus who do not have enough money to tide them over from month to month until the next check comes in. They can only apply to the YMCA for help. This fund will give them a definite source of money and save them and their friends from worry."

To build up the fund, AKG plans a drive of the entire campus. The program will be under the direction of a committee headed by Miss Betsy Clark with co-chairmen in each dormitory. There will also be a place for contributions set aside in the YMCA and the committee will send mimeographed letters to those professors whom they think might be interested. Fifty cents or more has been set as the minimum or goal for each contribution.

SMALL INTEREST RATE

Miss Fleming said that the very small rate of interest that AKG plans to charge for the use of the loan as well as interest from the bank would be turned into the fund in hopes of building up enough money for a scholarship for a woman student. She concluded by emphasizing again the need for financial aid for the needy women students and said, "We will need the cooperation of the whole student body if the project is to amount to anything."

Lopez Proves To Be Pioneer Of Radio By Having Long List Of "Firsts" By Name

Leader Adds Another First To Name When He Plays Concert Here Friday

By DONALD BISHOP

Vincent Lopez is a twentieth century pioneer. What Marconi did to start radio off from a technical standpoint Lopez has done from the artistic side of the profession. Featured in the Pitch Bandwagon program Sunday night, he was shown to have a long string of "firsts" attached to his name.

Juniors and seniors may obtain bids to the Junior-Senior dances today at the YMCA, Paul Thompson, senior dance committee chairman, said yesterday. Hours will be 10 to 12 and 2 to 4 daily. Studie Ficklen, junior chairman, is in charge of distributing bids to juniors.

Tickets to the Friday afternoon concert, price of which has been reduced to 30 cents this year, will not be included in the set of bids.

Incidentally, Lopez will do a bit of pioneering when he appears here next weekend to play for a public concert Friday afternoon and for Junior-Senior dances. Heretofore Junior-Senior promtrotters have danced at least half of the set before the general public heard the orchestra in concert, but this year Lopez and company will touch off the week-end's activities by playing for a concert from 3 to 4 p. m. in Memorial hall.

Here are a few of the "firsts" that distinguish Lopez, who has been, from (Continued on page 2, column 5)
