RADIO AMATEURS WARNED BY FCC; PENALTY GIVEN

Letter Discusses Illegal Practice By Local Students

A warning in the form of a letter from the Federal Communications Commission was received by the administration yesterday concerning the illegitimate use of radio phonograph pick-ups by University students. Accompanied by a four page treatise on the proper use of such devices, the letter mentioned the stiff penalty that is imposed on violators of the national law.

The letter continued to say that tests have been made from various other states and that programs emanating from unlicensed stations in the University have been heard several hundred miles from here. The reason for this long range, it explained, is that students attach the pick-ups to radio antennae and alter the construction so that they become small broadcasting stations.

The law states that these devices may transmit an intelligible signal for a distance of not greater than 80 feet and that anyone operating any form of radio frequency transmitter with a range of more than this distance must have a license to do so.

Anyone convicted for violation of this ruling is liable to a heavy fine and possible imprisonment.

The thirty-fifth tapping of the Golden Fleece, highest campus honorary organization, will be held Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall. Since its founding in 1904, the society has changed its form of tapping and has numbered many prominent figures now on the faculty among its members.

The first group, among whom was one charter member, Phillips Russell, now a professor in the English and journalism departments, held secret meetings on some part of the campus late at night, when the initiates were taken into the organization. The purpose of the honorary society was to co-ordinate the various campus interests primarily for both fraternity and non-fraternity men.

Senior-Faculty Game Postponed Until Thursday

Due to Union difficulties yesterday in Kalamazoo, Mich., the faculty softball sluggers were unable to fulfill their engagement with the Senior sadists. At press time last night the coaches of the faculty squad could not be interviewed as to the unforeseen circumstances which prevented the game as they had gone to have a conference with the "big shots" of the Union. It was announced, however, that the match would be played next Thursday afternoon.

Because of the postponement of the tilt, the class of '39 underwent their first in-the-red project. The Orange county bands and drum and bugle corps scheduled to furnish music before the game and between the innings had to be fed, as promised, and then sent back to their hide-outs; the acrobats and baton twirlers, brought here directly from the New York World's fair, are being held over until next Thursday afternoon at the expense of the Senior class; and Major Hoople, the dark-horse umpire, will be a guest of the hill through next Thursday.

A free movie was given the graduating class last night at the Pick theater. Today's events will feature the Junior-Senior dances.
