

Pool Tables In Chapel Hill Are Against The Law Of UNC

Theaters Must Get Permission Of President Graham To Show Latest Movies

By JO JONES

The managers of the pool tables in the game room at Graham Memorial are breaking a law of the Acts of the General Assembly and Ordinances of the Trustees for the organization and government of the University, the latest edition of which was published in 1857. As far as the Librarian in the North Carolina room knows, the acts have not been republished.

The acts provide that no person shall set up, keep, or maintain at Chapel Hill, or within five miles thereof any public billiard table, or other public table of any kind, at which games of chance or skill may be played.

The Carolina theater, the Pick, and the Playmakers can not give a public performance without written permission of President Graham at least seven days before the event. The acts state that no person, without permission in writing obtained from the President of the University shall exhibit at Chapel Hill or within five miles of it any theatricals, slight of hand, equestrian performances, dramatic recitations, tight rope dancing, natural or artificial curiosities, or any concert, serenade, or performance in music, singing, or dancing.

NO CIGARS

Nor may any candidate for an office pass out cigars to members of the student body. The rule is that no person at or within two miles of Chapel Hill shall give or furnish any electioneering treat or entertainment.

Harry's cannot sell students wine without written permission from President Graham or a member of the faculty. The acts provide that no person in the State, without permission in writing from the President of the University, or some member of the Faculty, shall sell or offer to sell or deliver to any student of the University any cordial, wine, spirituous, or malt liquor for the purpose of being used.

Prince-Weisz Exhibit At Person Gallery To Close Monday

The exhibition of illustrations by William Meade Prince of Westport, Conn., and Chapel Hill, and watercolors by Eugen Weisz of Washington, now showing at Person hall art gallery will close Monday.

The illustrations of Prince have attracted the attention of several hundred persons in Chapel Hill and surrounding towns. The fact that Prince is a resident of Chapel Hill and has spoken at the gallery on his work added much to the exhibit. Many of his well-known illustrations from Red Book, Country Gentleman, Collier's, and Saturday Evening Post are being shown.

The exhibition by Weisz is a collection of landscapes and still life and has received favorable comment from gallery visitors.

Person hall is open from 10 to 1 o'clock and 2 to 5 o'clock on week days and from 2 to 5 o'clock on Sundays.

Chronister next Saturday in the Southern conference outdoor meet, and Davis, remembering how Chronister beat him in that extra-lap indoor mile, is likely to lay it on Jimmy, if his time stacks up among the six best college performances in the country, will also run in the National Collegiates out in California later in the summer.

Royce Jennings, whose quarter-mile time of :48.6 against Duke is among the five best times in the country this spring, beats the qualifying mark of :49.2 with plenty to spare. It will take a :48 quarter to get a runner on the boat, but Royce is improving with every race and the chances are he will be able to keep clipping his time lower and lower next spring.

This is Bill Hendrix's last year of track, but if Bill wants to stay in condition he can make the semi-final round on the strength of his 1:53.3 he turned in against Navy. The fathers have set 1:56 as the qualifying time.

Tom Crockett, who will be cross country captain next fall, has to improve his two mile top performance of 9:41.8 made against Princeton this year, by :1.8 for 9:40 is the time that will rate an invitation to the semi-finals.

Well, at least the boys have the times to get to the semi-finals. Now all they have to do is get past them into the finals and on to Finland. Harry Williamson started blazing the path in 1936 by making the boat in the half-mile to become the first Tar Heel to ever make an Olympic team.

Now it is up to March, Hendrix, Davis, Jennings, Corpening, et. al., to carry on the Williamson tradition.

time for the day with a :50.5 quarter. Brown got off to a good start and was leading by seven yards at the turn. Coming down the home stretch, he put on a fine sprint and forged into a 15-yard lead which he held at the finish line. Dave Ricks gave Carolina a third place in the event finishing two feet behind Duke's Spence.

Henry Branch also turned in a good time in the one-mile run. His 4:42.4 compares favorably with college times, and with a few college varsity times. Branch took the lead at the first turn and kept it for the rest of the race, finishing with a 15-yard lead.

The next freshman meet is in Raleigh with the State frosh Thursday, May 18.

Rood, Rawlings

seemed powerless, especially in the deciding frame when he took a 6-1 beating, against Rawlings' heady and steady game, both at the baseline and at the net.

EARLY OUT

Dave Early fell by the wayside early this morning in the second round to Phillips. Bill Rood knocked out North-South titlist and fellow teammate Charlie Rider in a drudge match in the quarter finals and later took an unaccounted-for default from Ed Fuller, famed Carolina star, for the Tar Heel losses in the singles.

While the two better doubles teams representing North Carolina lost out this afternoon, the third pair of Meserole and Carl Rood rampaged on to the finals by virtue of a tough three set win over their school opponents, Fuller and Bill Rood. At one set each, both teams fought desperately for the deciding frame, with the nod going to Meserole and Rood at 7-5 after countless add-points.

Ritzenberg and Askin of Maryland are expected to oppose Carolina in the doubles and stand an even chance to dethrone the Tar Heels for the first time in many years. The Terps, in both singles and doubles, have constantly threatened Carolina for top honors this year and still have a slight chance to succeed in the doubles tomorrow.
