No Rain Yet?

Earl Wynn, shown here made up for the title role in the Playmaker's current Forest theater production, "Noah." Tonight's performance of the play will be the last.

PLAYMAKERS GIVE FINAL SHOWING OF 'NOAH' TONIGHT

Audiences Give Good Reception To Open-Air Play

After two successful performances, the Playmakers will present Andre Obey's drama, "Noah," for the third and last time tonight in the Forest theater at 8:30. Tickets will be on sale at the box office in Battle park for one dollar; student tickets will be 50 cents.

The presentation of "Noah," one of the most elaborate productions ever attempted by the Playmakers has been acclaimed a great success by the two audiences that have viewed the previous performances.

DAVIS TAKES HONORS

Harry Davis, substitute front end of the elephant and only understudy necessary for the performance, did his part in the presentation with all the grace and agility that an elephant can display. One of the best laughs in the

Deke's Janitor Is Really Sick

"I want my boys to know I'm sick," said Johnson Merritt, janitor at the DKE house for 38 years, when visited at his home several days ago. His wish was voiced again yesterday by his nephew, William, Spencer hall cook.

Merritt is a life-long resident of Chapel Hill, and for nearly four decades he has worked at the Deke house where he has seen many alumni of the fraternity and of the University come and go. The present condition of the 73 year-old Negro is considered critical.

Hargraves Prefers Symphony To Swing----But Swing Pays

Colored Saxophonist-Waiter Arranges Music For Durham Orchestra

By KALMAN SHERMAN
"I like symphony music best. I only play swing because I get paid for it," said William Hargraves, colored waiter at Swain hall, who made a hit playing his sax with Ted Ross' Orchestra at the recent "Battle of Swing."

Willy, as he is known to the scores of students whom he serves every day, is quite as adept at playing a sax as he is at balancing a tray stacked full of dishes. He has played with King Oliver, teacher of Louis Armstrong, and is a member of the Associated Musicians of Greater New York, affiliated with the American Federation of Musicians. At present he plays and arranges music for the Bull City Night Hawks, colored orchestra from Durham.

With the broad smile that is one of his chief characteristics, Willy declared he came from a family of musicians—21 in all. There are 12 now living and they are all musically minded.

Willy first began to play on his sis-

ALEXANDER CALLS ANOTHER MEETING OF RISING SOPHS

Class Prexy Hopes To Collect Quorum For Vote On Photos

Determined to collect the necessary quorum of rising sophomores, Bill Alexander last night called a special emergency meeting of the freshmen for next Tuesday to pass the issue of individual pictures. In announcing plans for the second gathering of the rising second year men, the recently inaugurated president stated, "Why should we set a derogatory precedent by failing to have a quorum, when we can set a favorable precedent by having individual photos?"

Alexander then went on to explain that the new meeting would be held primarily for "all those who were sick, those who thought, there would be enough without them, those who had quizzes to study for, and those who just didn't come. I'd like to urge all of them to make it a point and attend the meeting."

ENTERTAINMENT

He promised "five-star" entertainment, "even better than that last Wednesday." In referring to Wednesday, Alexander gave mention to the first vote on the issue of individual pictures in the Yackety Yack, at which 300 students were almost unanimously in favor of the bill. But, failing to get a quorum vote of 375, the class temporarily defeated the measure.

It was also announced last night that a definite decision regarding the pictures would have to be known before school closes in the next two weeks. In the past, no other class has ever taken more than two meetings to pass a bill.

BUREAU SETS UP LAB FOR STUDY OF CURRICULUM

Douglass, Phillips Direct Service For State Educators

The Bureau of Educational service and research, recently reorganized, has organized a curriculum laboratory. A collection of the best city, county and state courses of study in all subjects, both elementary and secondary, from all parts of the country will be available in the future to all individuals wishing to study curriculum problems.

Under the direction of Dr. Earl R. Douglass and Professor Guy B. Phillips of the University education department, the bureau is now prepared to render services free of charge to schools and educational interests of North Carolina.

SURVEYS

The bureau stands ready to cooperate in or conduct various types of surveys and is willing to organize sur-

Collegiana Wants Much More Practical Curriculum

Surveys Find Average Student Is Calling For Less Theory, More Vocational Courses

Modern American education, in the opinion of the majority of the million and half college students now getting educated, is not meeting present-day needs.

Six out of every one hundred students in our colleges and universities have some indictment to make. The Student Opinion surveys of America have discovered this in a national poll conducted for the DAILY TAR HEEL and eighty-seven other campus publications cooperating in these studies.

Some may say that the average college boy is a chronic complainer about his school work. But interviewers for the Surveys found that most of these students are able to put into words what they think education needs. The great cry is for more vocational training and specialized study. Overwhelmingly, collegians everywhere made that statement—although many were found who want colleges to change their courses of study with an emphasis on cultural background and liberal arts.

TOO MUCH USELESS THEORY

Still, approximately every student approached seemed to say, "We are getting too much theory that we cannot use in finding a job when we step from college into a world crowded with unemployed." That attitude goes hand in hand with a recent poll taken by the Surveys in which students declared they believe they are facing a world that offers less opportunities than it did before they were born.

Whether the American college student is right or wrong the Surveys do not try to point out. This is merely a record of what they say and why. For example, there are a good many who would like to see education "attuned to the world of today, modernized." Faults, they say, are found in curricula that do not fit individual needs, and there are many incompetent teachers.

Yackety Yacks

Yackety Yacks will be distributed again today from 10 to 12 o'clock in the small lounge of Graham Memorial. Students who have missed one quarter during the year will have to pay a $1.35 charge before receiving their yearbook.

BAND TO FEATURE VARIED PROGRAM

Tomorrow's Concert Will Be Out-Of-Doors

Under the baton of Earl A. Slocum, the University band will present its second lawn concert of the quarter tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock under traditional Davie poplar.

The 100 musicians taking part on the program have prepared a varied program consisting of marches and light symphonies selections. Sunday's concert will include; "Dublin Holiday Overture" by Buchtel; "Fugue Modernistic" by Frankiger; "Rhapsody in Blue" by Gershwin; "Friml Favorites Selection," "Pop! Goes The Weasel" by Carillet; Wood's "Frescoes Suite"; and "March From Love of the Three Oranges" written and arranged by Prokofieff.

Townpeople as well as students are cordially invited to attend the performance by the band which has just returned from Rocky Mount where they performed on the 1939 Sudan Temple's Spring Shrine ceremonial.

Janitors Fete Faculty Members

President Frank P. Graham, Administrative Dean R. B. House and a number of other University administrative officials and professors enjoyed a delectable barbecue supper as guests of the University Janitors association at Emerson field last night.

The affair has become an annual event at which the colored janitors, who have had an association since 1927, entertain representatives from the buildings in which they work.

President Graham had to leave the party early in order to meet another engagement but Dean House and Dr. Archibald Henderson made appropriate talks in which they praised the fine spirit of cooperation between the white and colored people of Chapel Hill.

Spokesmen for the janitors included Kennon Cheek of Venable hall, president of the association; George Washington of Davie hall, vice-president; Frank Hairston, secretary, and Eugene White of South building, chairman of the executive committee.

President Cheek stressed the view

Carolina Qualifies 22 In Trials, Is Favored Over Devils, Terps

VISITORS TO VOTE ON BEST DISPLAYS IN ART EXHIBIT

Show Opens Today; Winners Will Get Prizes In Cash

A vote to determine the most popular photograph and the most popular painting, drawing, or piece of sculpture in the Photographic society and Student Art exhibition at Person hall, will begin today with the opening of the exhibit and will continue until May 27.

A ballot box will be placed in the gallery in which exhibition visitors may place their votes. Winners will be announced on May 27. In addition to the popular prizes, the Photographic society will award first, second, and third cash prizes for photographs judged best by the jury of selection.

MISS MUNCH

The exhibition contains a collection of the work by Miss Margaret Munch of Chapel Hill, who was selected as the most outstanding student in the art department. Miss Munch was awarded a single exhibition in the small gallery. The Photographic society made up of student and faculty membership, is represented by 32 pieces of photography. The remainder of the exhibition constitutes student works in oils, watercolor, pastel, charcoal, sculpture and prints.

PARTICIPATING

The following are those whose work has been chosen by the jury of selection to appear in the exhibit: Miss Elizabeth Benbow, Miss Nell Booker, Arnold Bordon, Miss Phyllis Brumm, Alan Calhoun, Duncan Eaves, Richard Edkins, Miss Irene H. Fussler, Lytt Gardner, B. J. Johnson, James A. Joyce, Robert Koch, William Klenz,

South Carolina's Larry Craig Sets New Shotput Record

By LEONARD LOBRED

Having led all other schools in the matter of sending men into the finals, Carolina's track team goes into the seventeenth annual Southern Conference track meet this afternoon generally accepted as a sure winner but nevertheless none too cocky for fear Maryland or Duke might come up from behind and knock off their conference crown.

The Tar Heels qualified 22 men in the trials yesterday as against 18 for Duke and 9 for Maryland, and took two impressive first places. One conference record was set and another equalled in the trials.

NEW RECORD

Larry Craig of South Carolina set a new record of 48 feet 7 1/2 inches in the shot put to better the mark of 48 feet 4 1/2 inches set by Bob Strickler of VMI last year. Co-captain Bill Corpening of Carolina won his heat in the 120-yard high hurdles in 14.5 seconds to tie the record set by Duke's Don Kinzle last year.

Tom Holmes of Carolina and Joe Murphy both were timed in 9.9 seconds to win their heats in the 100-yard

SUMMER SESSION ENROLLMENT MAY SET NEW RECORD

Indications Point To Registration Of More Than 3,000

All indications point to a substantial increase in enrollment for the University's summer session.

Inquiries and room reservations to date and attendance of special groups for institute courses are expected to send the enrollment beyond 3,000 for an all-time record. This would compare with an enrollment of 2,637 for the 1938 session which showed an increase of 600 over that of 1937.

Three new groups will bring a total of 600 enrollees. Some 225 teachers from 33 high schools in Southern states will come to attend sessions of a Southern Workshop being instituted this year. More than 300 WPA adult education teachers will attend a special course under the direction of Dr. Roben Maaske of the department of education. And a course for teacher-librarians already has an advance registration of 90.

Dean of Administration R. B. House will again direct the two summer

Will Osborne and his orchestra rate the distinction of being the only band with a patented style, "slide music." The type was patented by the United States patent office November 3, 1936, thereby protecting Osborne for the performance of his that is definitely original.

Built around a three-man trombone section, the Osborne style emphasizes a particular glissando tone achieved by "sliding" from one note to another without squarely hitting any of the intermediate notes.

IDENTIFICATION

The effect, used largely in introductions and in long interludes between instrumental and vocal solos, is distinctive enough to identify the band without resort to minor effects as used by most other style bands.

"Slide" is used further in the rendition of a trio of trumpets. Though not differing materially in sound, the trumpets add a novelty touch.

A Canadian by birth, Osborne or-
