Committee Appointed To Probe Sophomore Yearbook Pictures

Bradshaw Suggests Possible Solutions To Fee Problem

Jimmy Davis announced yesterday that a committee of five will be appointed to investigate the possibility of individual pictures for sophomores in the 1940 Yackety Yack.

The committee will probably consist of the president of the student body, the president of the PU board, the editor of the Yackety Yack, and another member to be named later. The group will make a report to the Dean of students, not later than October 25.

DEAN'S STATEMENT

In a written statement issued to the editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL, the dean offered two suggestions for the solution of the problem. He stated, "either the class organize for collection of the fee through its own efforts or bring the entire matter up for consideration in light of other fees and costs now involved in Yackety Yack publication, and other items in the class budget." The latter suggestion is expected to involve an investigation of student fees and PU board allotments to the Yackety Yack.

Dean Bradshaw traced the history of the University's assistance in collecting student fees, showing how fees have increased in number and amount. The fees continued to mount until "a note of definite warning was sounded in a trustees' meeting and action was nearly taken which might stop the University from collecting any student activity fees." The administration thus did not deem it wise to "stimulate such Trustee action by proposing a further increase in University collection."

In connection with an article printed in yesterday's DAILY TAR HEEL, the dean stated, "No statement was made here that the University would, under no circumstances, collect sophomore fees for individual pictures in the Yackety Yack. I can conceive of many circumstances in which we would be glad to recommend to Dean House and the business office a collection of such fees."

Absent from Dean Bradshaw's statement was mention of rumors concerning the validity of the passage of the bill providing the individual photos, at a meeting of the sophomore class held last May. At yesterday's meeting, however, the dean dismissed any official question as to the legitimacy of the vote, since both the president of the student body and the president of the sophomore class recognized the passage as valid.

"Adventures In Playmaking" To Be Discussed

Summing up his experiences in the non-professional field, Dr. Frederick H. Koch will give an illustrated lecture, "Adventures in Playmaking," Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Playmaker theater.

In his appearance before students and the general public Tuesday night, Koch will trace the development of folk drama at the University and elsewhere during the past twenty-one years. He will recall the names of such early and later distinguished playmakers as Thomas Wolfe and Paul Green, and with the help of more than a hundred slides will tell what part they played in furthering the cause of native drama.

Scenes will be shown of early plays in which the following played: Jonathan Daniels, author of "A Southerner Discovers the South"; Shepperd (Continued on page 2, column 5)

NEW RECORD SET AS REGISTRATION RISES TO 3,350

Total Enrollment Expected To Reach Nearly 3,600

A new record was set at the University yesterday when registration figures mounted to 3,550, compared with 3,512 for the same quarter last year.

The total for this fall is expected to reach approximately 3,600 by the time registration for credit closes next Wednesday.

Women students number 450 so far, an increase of 100 over last year. Total coed enrollment is expected to mount to near 500.

Late registration will be continued Monday in the upper lobby of Memorial hall. Students registering late are asked to arrange schedules in the office of their adviser or dean.

No tabulation of the number of students according to classes or states is available yet, Al Rogers, of the tabulating office in South building, said yesterday.

Tar Heel Gives Call For Those Seeking Positions On Staff

All students interested in trying out for positions on the DAILY TAR HEEL staff are asked to meet at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the banquet hall on the second floor of Graham memorial.

Bring pencils or pens!

Hitch-Hikers Are Warned Against Standing In Road

In a joint statement yesterday, Judge A. C. McIntosh and Chief of Police W. T. Sloan, gave warning to hitch-hikers in Chapel Hill that they must stay on the curb while "thumbing."

"We want to be fair about the thing," the statement read, "but it is clearly provided by law that hitch-hikers must stay out of the travelled portion of the highway. The boys should realize that the provision is made in their interests. We are asking for cooperation, but, of necessity, we will have to back up the law by strict police enforcement."

Library Obtains Station Wagon During Summer

Latest addition to the equipment of the University library is a station wagon purchased during the summer and to be used to carry books back and forth between here and Durham and as a way of transportation for those professors who are to teach at the newly instituted law school of the North Carolina college for Negroes at Durham this year.

The inter-library loans have until now been in charge of students, but a permanent provision is being made for them, and the station wagon will be used in exchanging the books. The Negro college will cooperate with Carolina and Duke university in this and will receive the same service that they do.

Lieutenant-Governor's Talk To Begin CPU's Fourth Year

War And Special Session Upsets Political Union's Plans For Coming Year

With the announcement of Lieutenant-Governor W. P. Horton's forthcoming address, the Carolina Political union began its fourth year of presenting speakers of all political creeds to the campus. The union, a non-partisan organization, climaxed its last year's set of speakers when President Roosevelt spoke here last December.

Chairman Harry Gattton has already contacted several prospective political figures to appear at the University during the course of the year, although definite dates have not been set. When questioned yesterday on the effect of the war on the CPU's plans, he made the following statement: "The crisis and the special session of Congress have upset CPU plans considerably. The union had hoped to present outstanding presidential candidates in both parties, but interest is now focussed on international questions rather than the American scene. But we will endeavor to present the leading speakers on questions as they arise, whether national or international."

EVENTS WILL MARK CHARTER ISSUANCE BY 1789 ASSEMBLY

Holiday Granted On November 21 For Celebration

By CHARLES BARRETT

President Roosevelt has tentatively agreed to speak in connection with a celebration of national significance planned for the 150th anniversary of the chartering of the University, administration officials said yesterday.

The celebration will be held November 21 in Fayetteville, historic site of the State Legislature which actually issued the charter. A full University holiday has been proclaimed for that date.

PLANS FOR '43, '45

Quiet planning has been in progress several years for this anniversary. Similar far-reaching programs are scheduled for the sesqui-centennial anniversary in 1943 of the laying of the corner stone of Old East dormitory, and in 1945 of the actual opening of the doors of the first institution of higher education provided by a state of the new western nation.

University officials are cooperating with the town of Fayetteville in arranging an appropriate recognition of the issuance of the charter.

Aside from chartering the University, the exciting legislative session in 1789, five years after the ending of the Revolutionary War also provided for the division of North Carolina and Tennessee.

DIALECTIC SENATE TO HOLD FIRST MEETING TUESDAY

C. E. McIntosh Will Be Guest Speaker At 'Rally'

The Dialectic Senate will inaugurate its 1939 session Tuesday night at 7:15 with an unusual "Speakers' Rally."

Letters of invitation are being sent to members of the freshman class to attend this convocation of debaters and speakers who will hear Mr. C. E. McIntosh, guest speaker for the evening. Bill McKee, now acting secretary of the YMCA, and ex-president of the Di will extend a welcome to the new men. Louise Jordan, president of the YWCA, will have charge of the refreshments.

The Di, the oldest organization on the campus, is inaugurating a new program of work this year. Though membership is limited, all persons interested in public speaking and foreign and domestic affairs are invited to apply for membership at the Rally.

Harry Gattton, president of the CPU, Charles Putzel, president of the Senate, Walt Kleeman, president of the IRC, and John Bonner, president of the YMCA, all prominent senators, will be introduced to the visitors.

It was 144 years ago that the Dialectic Senate held its first meeting, inaugurating on the campus the first extra-curricular program that a few months later branched into the Philanthropic Assembly. These two organizations laid the foundations for the honor code, endowed the library, and from them have grown the greater number of campus organizations.

Both organizations boast a number of illustrious men, James K. Polk, 11th president of the United States and President Frank P. Graham both began their executive careers as president of the Dialectic Senate.

Charles Putzel, president of the Dialectic Senate, stated in his letter to applicants, "However, we do not depend on our tradition. The Dialectic Senate believes in making traditions for the future." Putzel, newly elected president of the Di, has served in many offices in the Senate and is a well qualified man to lead the Senate.

If any members of the freshman class or incoming coeds do not receive a letter but are interested in public speaking and current affairs, the Dialectic Senate welcomes them to its "Speakers' Rally" Tuesday at 7:15 o'clock.

Gray-Hooded 'Ghost' Turns Coed Outing Into Near Riot

Magazine Requests Applicants Come By Office Soon

All students interested in becoming members of the staff of contributors to the Carolina Magazine, the campus literary publication, should come by the Mag office on the second floor of Graham Memorial as early as possible, Editor Allen Green announced yesterday. Office hours will be from 7:30 to 9:30 each night this week.

Anyone who can write passable fiction, satire, poetry or articles is eligible for the staff. Students who have had experience in doing linoleum blocks or pen and ink sketches are particularly needed. Prospective contributors should bring samples of their work with them.

Material for the first issue should be submitted now, since the deadline is September 30. The issue should be ready for delivery around October 15.

Yackety Yacks

All those who have not received their 1939 Yackety Yacks will be able to do so beginning this Monday at the Yackety Yack office. (2 until 5)

But Carolina Women Are Skeptical — They Solve Weird Mystery

The Woman's Athletic association picnic and weiner roast ended in near riot last night when the participants encountered what appeared to be a ghost dressed in gray gown and hood and carrying two sticks fashioned into a cross.

The coeds had just left the wooded portion of Battle Park, where the picnic had been held, and entered Gimghoul road when the gray-hooded figure "ghost" passed by and entered the woods at a point some 50 feet farther on.

Wild guesses followed as to what or whom the strange figure might be. "It's a member of the Klu Klux Klan," said one. "It's the ghost of Hamlet's father," said another. "It's somebody being initiated into Gimghoul," said a third.

Some of the braver coeds decided to follow the "ghost" into the woods, but fallen limbs and lack of lights hampered their progress. Just then the amateur sleuths were called to the road by the rest of the group. The hooded figure had reappeared and stood in full view in the car headlights. (Continued on page 2, column 6)
