

Tar Heels Battle The Citadel In Opener

Extensive Program Arranged For Annual High School Day; 15,000 Expected To Attend

Gridiron Battle Will Be Feature Of Day's Events

By JIMMY DUMBELL

Over 15,000 seniors from over the state have written or wired that they will attend the annual High School day here today and telegrams were still coming in late last night promising that even more will converge on the campus for the annual event.

An extensive program has been arranged for the visitors and arrangements for handling the crowd have been under way for the past week. There is promise of much color at the half of the game when a special drill squad of 50 men from the Citadel will present a dress drill. There will also be a band concert from 1 until 2 o'clock in Kenan stadium and various high school bands will present selections at the half.

Arriving high school students will be greeted at the Old Well by a committee and will then be assigned to University student guides who will show the visitors about the campus, pointing out places of interest. A stand has been erected near the Well and a microphone here will lead to a public address system which will carry the voices of Vance Hobbs, master of ceremonies, and various student officers who will be asked to address the group of arriving students.

MOVIE TONE ON HAND

Fox Movietone News has been granted permission to take moving pictures of the game and perhaps other events of the day, it was announced yesterday.

E. F. Cooley, chairman of the Food committee, announced that 4,000 box lunches have been prepared for the visiting students. These boxes will contain three sandwiches, an apple, cake and a bottle of milk. Swain hall is also preparing to serve another 4,000 meals if necessary, he said. The cafeteria will be open between the hours of 10:30 and 2 o'clock.

Complimentary tickets to the game will be distributed to one representative from each school in Memorial hall in the morning. The representative will then meet the group at some predetermined place and distribute the tickets to each student from his school. A committee of several men and students has been working for the last three nights arranging the tickets in order so they may be given out to the representatives with little delay.

SATISFACTION

The general committee, of which Roy Armstrong is chairman, expressed satisfaction at the way in which high schools have been responding to the invitations, and also with the way in which all committeemen have been working on the arrangements.

A stand was being set up in front of the Well yesterday afternoon and tables on which visitors may eat their lunches were being arranged near the stand.

GRAIL SPONSORS DANCE TONIGHT IN WOOLLEN GYM

Wood's Orchestra To Play For Final Event Of Day

As the concluding event on the day's program for the entertainment of North Carolina high school visitors, the Order of the Grail, University honorary and social organization, will present the first informal dance of the fall quarter in Woollen gymnasium tonight from 9 to 12 o'clock.

Charlie Wood and his Carolinians will furnish music for the events, to which are invited the high school guests, transfer students and upperclassmen. Script will be one dollar at the door.

The bandstand will be decorated with the Grail colors of purple and white, and will serve as a background for Miss Jean Chandler, band vocalist, and other members of the orchestra.

OFFICERS

On hand will be officers and about 25 other members of the Order of the Grail. They will assist in introducing guests and new students. Paul Thompson is president; Dick Worley, exchequer; and DeWitt Barnett, scribe.

Freshmen will not be allowed to attend the dance this week because of the interfraternity "period of silence" ruling that to that effect. However, first year men will be admitted at the dance tentatively set by the Grail September 30, following the Carolina-Wake Forest game, which has been set aside at a rest period during rushing.

Jitterbugging will be banned from the highly waxed and polished gymnasium floor. Smoking and refreshments are not allowed inside the building. Dates may not leave the building to return until the dance is over. Guests may, however, stroll, smoke, and refresh themselves on the promenade around the adjoining pool.

Symphony To Hold Opening Meeting This Monday Night

President Alexander Mitchell of the University Symphony Orchestra yesterday said that the first meeting of that organization will be held Monday in the auditorium of Hill Music Hall.

Mitchell and Jess Swan, secretary-treasurer of the orchestra, have been working during the summer in cooperation with Dr. Benjamin Swalin of the Music Department to prepare a full program of activity for the year. Dr. Swalin, conductor of the orchestra, has just returned from a period of study in Europe.

Regular orchestra meetings will take

Few Carolina boys need be told this is George Stirnweiss, shifty-hipped runner and dead-eye passer who is expected to be quite a thorn in the side of Carolina opponents this year. Stirny will give a prevue of his season's doings this afternoon at 2:30 in Kenan stadium.

Wolf On Threshold Of Fourth Season

Sadoff	fb Stubbs

By SHELLEY ROLFE

Standing on the threshold of his fourth and perhaps greatest Carolina season, Raymond B. Wolf sends the Tar Heels against The Citadel this afternoon at 2:30 at Kenan stadium in the opening game of the season for both schools.

Winner of 21 games in three autumns, The Wolf was ready to bring forth a team before the public gaze that may make 1939 a grand victory sweep or make it the season of Wolf's greatest discontent. It is not conceivable that The Citadel will offer any more than first half resistance to Carolina, but in that one half it may give an accurate tip-off on the Tar Heel team that at times in practice has looked to be among the best in the country and on other occasions has appeared to be the absolute worst.

Wolf himself makes no predictions for the season, refusing to look any further ahead than the game at hand. "The Citadel will be tough to take," he says. "They have an experienced fast ball club. Any team is likely to be hard when it has the speed and experience of the Light Brigade." In this he is backed up by Bill Lange, assistant coach and scout de luxe, who watched the visitors lose to state, 14-7, last December. "They had a fine ball club last year," opined the Dan'l Boone, "and will be just as good this season. They may not have many reserves, but it doesn't take any more than 20 men to make a great football club."

RESERVES

If Citadel has few reserves, the story is nothing new for either Carolina or Wolf. Ever since he left the comparative security of an assistant-coaching job at Texas Christian to strike out for himself as a head maestro, Wolf has had to rely on 15 or 16 players, who have failed neither him nor the Carolina faithful. He had hoped that this season he would at least have two teams he could throw into the breach in even the most important games, but instead the reserves have proved to be almost as weak as ever.

From the start, Wolf will be forced to call on the reserves. Three of the men he had counted on for more or less regular duty will play half-time if at all today. George Radman, high scorer last autumn, will not be among those starting bowing out in favor of Don Baker, speedy native of Westbury Long Island and a sore ligament.

NINE APPOINTED MEMBERS OF COED ATHLETIC COUNCIL

Mrs. Beard Urges Women To Engage In Sport Activity

Miss Terrell Everett, president of the Woman's Athletic association, announced yesterday the appointment of nine coeds to the Woman's Athletic council for the fall quarter.

Each council member will manage one coed sport as follows: Miss Jean Breckenridge, swimming; Miss Peggy Holmes, golf; Miss Georgiana Pentlarge, fencing; Miss Dorothy Coble, tennis; Miss Susan Klaber, archery; Miss Ann Williams, bowling; Miss Janet Messenger, social dancing; Miss Emogene McGibony, horseback riding; and Miss B. J. Johnson, advertising manager. The council members will be assisted by dormitory managers from each of the four girls' dormitories.

Student assistants have been appointed to give instruction in each of the sports offered coeds, Miss Ann Moore will coach tennis and bowling; Mrs. Nancy Cooke, dancing; Miss Pricilla Dean, horseback riding and swimming; and Miss Peggy Columbus, archery and fencing. It is hoped that Dr. R. B. Lawson, father of Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, famous woman golfer and former champion, will coach golf.

LETTERS

Letters will be offered in each sport. A coed is required to attend an average of two practice periods a week of her sport.

Mrs. J. G. Beard, director of physical education for women, speaking yesterday on behalf of the Woman's Athletic council, urged coeds to take advantage of the opportunities offered them to engage in sports activities. "Women students this year are offered instruction in a wider variety of sports than ever before," she said. "In addition the department has

Christian Group Sets Up Several Joint Committees

At a meeting held yesterday afternoon in the YWCA cabinet room, the executive committee of the Carolina Christian association, composed of the YWCA, voted to create a number of joint program commissions and committees. The primary task of the commissions is to give direction and guidance of the work of the Christian associations and to provide new, effective, and regular methods of education and action.

NUMBER OF MEN IN DORM COUNCIL MAY BE REDUCED

Group Will Convene Tuesday To Vote On Reorganization

In an effort to facilitate the workings of interdormitory affairs, plans are being formulated to reduce the interdormitory council from its present size of about 100 members to 35. The council will meet Tuesday night at 7:15 to vote on the proposal.

Instead of each dormitory being represented by president, vice-president, athletic managers, and councilors as before, the change would have only the president and vice-president as members.

George Nicholson, president of Battle-Vance-Pettigrew, will head a committee to revise the dormitory constitution as regards this proposal.

COORDINATE GROUP

In the absence of John Singletary, president of the council who is seriously ill, Jack Vincent, vice-president, presided at last night's meeting. Vincent said concerning the action, "This is being done to get a smaller, more coordinate group in place of the present cumbersome, ununited organization with its large membership."

Henry Dillon was appointed chairman of a committee to work out budgets of each dormitory for the coming year.

Councilors and other dormitory officers will be elected Monday night at 10:30 at meetings of the respective dorms.

Tar Heel Workers Report At 9 Today

All members of the DAILY TAR HEEL staff: news, sports, editorial and business will report for work this morning at 9 o'clock.

Seven Sad Sirens Say No One Knows They Are Here

The following letter was found in the DAILY TAR HEEL news office yesterday. Such authors deserve publicity, criticism, and advice.

Dear Editor,

This is a letter of introduction. We, on behalf of the graduate girls, wish to introduce ourselves. After carefully reading the DAILY TAR HEEL from cover to cover, we realize in amazement that no one knows that we are here at Carolina. If we were fat and forty, with cross eyes, snaggle teeth, and bow legs, we would expect this indifference; but, on the contrary, our youth, beauty, and personality entitle us to widespread recognition. We have neither halitosis, lordosis, nor gasposis. We range in types from blonde to brunette, exotic to romantic, and divinely tall to charmingly demure. We're not exactly decrepid. We still have our teeth, and most of us are on the right side of twenty-one. So, why this indifference?

We have privileges but no excuse to use them. Twelve, midnight is our deadline, but the library closes at ten-thirty. We have love seats in our parlors, but who can "love alone and like it?"

If this letter of introduction should not prove effective, we shall be forced to issue our ultimatum. In other words, we'd rather date than be dated.

Attention Called To Dance Rules

Secretary Leon Galloway of the Dance committee yesterday called attention to the rules and regulations of the committee concerning conduct at dances on the campus.

Galloway especially emphasized sections one and two of Article VI in the code of regulations.

The sections are:
 1. Any girl desiring to leave the dance hall during any evening dance with the intention of returning must be accompanied by a chaperone during her entire stay from the dance.
 2. Anyone showing signs of drinking or other misconduct shall be dealt with according to the discretion of the University Committee.

Seniors To Register For Comprehensives

All students who expect to take a comprehensive examination this fall must register at once for it in the office of their dean. It is necessary to obtain permission to take the examination from the head of department in which the student is registered. No student is allowed to take more than three full courses in the quarter in which the examination is to be taken.

Lettermen To Aid Host Committee

All monogram men are requested to meet in front of South building today to help the Host committee of the High School Day program, George Zink, president of the Monogram club announced yesterday. All numeral winners are also urged to come and help.

Frosh Receive Fraternity Bids Today As Prelude To Rushing

First-Year Men Asked To Remain In Rooms Tonight

Bids will be distributed to a majority of the freshman class this evening inviting the first-year men to visit various fraternity houses from 2 to 6 tomorrow afternoon and from 7 to 10 in the evening. The interfraternity council has requested that all first-year men cooperate by remaining in their rooms tonight from 8 to 11 o'clock.

With tomorrow afternoon's visits, rush period will officially begin. For a span of ten days, freshmen will make nightly calls on the fraternity houses between the hours of 7 and 10. The council has excluded Saturday, September 30 from rushing, since many

Robert Ord Marries Miss Ruth Taylor During Past Summer

Announcement of the marriage June 16, 1939, of Robert Laird Ord, Jr., of Philadelphia, to Miss Ruth Taylor of Mt. Holly, N. J., was made last week. The wedding took place at Manassas, Va.

Ord, freshman football star in 1936 who was sidelined by a back injury, would have been a senior this year. He and his recent bride spent Thursday night here seeing friends. They left for Philadelphia yesterday morning and will be at the Hamilton Court apartments, 39th and Chestnut streets.

Ord was known among campus literati as "John Keats" Ord.
