

CPU Rejects Kuhn; Phi To Present Nazi If Student Poll Approves

Two Students Withdraw From University After Paying $600 For Damaging New House

Judge Says Act Of Youths Has Shocked Community

Two University students, Dan Williams of New York and Fred Tompkins of New Jersey, paid $600 damages and $16.70 court costs here yesterday for destruction of properties late Friday night in the newly-constructed Chapel Hill house of Benjamin Edkins, Jr.

The boys' attorney, L. J. Phipps, entered a plea of nolo contendere admitting the guilt of his clients, and said that the two students were withdrawing from the University by advice of the dean of students and other faculty members.

In passing sentence, Judge Andrew McIntosh of recorder's court said that the house-breaking "has shocked the community . . . because it was so uncalled for. Most people in Chapel Hill overlook student pranks and deal lightly with the jubilation of youth, but there was no excuse, rhyme or reason for this act."

Officer C. H. Wright, who investigated the case, said that Tompkins admitted damaging the ballustrade, windows, bathroom fixtures and "scarring up the house right much," and testified that Tompkins said he and Williams were drunk.

Mr. Edkins, who has not yet moved into the house, said that he went to the house Saturday morning to see how the job was progressing. Finding the front door open, he entered and found the balustrade and spindles torn from the steps. A dining room window and an upstairs door had been damaged. Parts of the balustrade, a door and plumbing equipment had been torn away and had been thrown into the yard. Mr. Edkins said that Tillman and Homer, Durham contractors, were holding him responsible for the damage. Tompkins, he said, came to see him about the affair Sunday morning and admitted taking part in the destruction of the house, which is situated in Gimghoul, a wooded residential section of the village.

Roy W. McGinnis, prosecuting attorney, claiming that the case was "one of the hardest in this court," said that the guilt of the two students was apparent. He accepted a plea of damage to property, thereby striking out a charge of felony, a more serious criminal offense.

Collections Staff

Anyone interested in joining the collections staff of the DAILY TAR HEEL please report to the business office at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Juniors, Seniors

All Juniors and Seniors whose last name starts with the initials E, F, G, H, or I, please have your pictures taken today for the 1940 Yackety-Yack.

America Is Freest And Best Country I Know, Says Refugee

Owner Of Candy Plant Driven From Austria Because Ancestor Was Jew

By ZOE YOUNG

"America is the only country in which refugees can have much hope for reestablishing themselves. I've seen many countries but this is the freest and best country I know of," said Edward G. Danziger, 48, World War hero and former owner of Vienna's outstanding candy plant, who today operates a small candy store in Chapel Hill.

Asked to leave Austria because his grandfather was a Jew, Danziger came to this country last March, with the assurance that the German government would leave his property in the care of his wife, an Aryan. Danziger could not at first secure an affidavit for his admission into the United States but as he prepared to leave for Shanghai, he received the necessary papers from a friend in this country. Soon after his arrival here, Dan-

TWO DORM ROOMS LOOTED OF $150 DURING GRID GAME

Witness Thought Thief Was Relative Of Residents

Over $150 worth of personal property was taken from two rooms in Old East dormitory Saturday afternoon during the Carolina-Citadel football game.

The property belonged to Ike Grainger, Marshall Shephard and Murdoch Dunn.

"I saw a man approximately 35 years old, wearing a grey suit and glasses," said Harry Gatton who rooms across the hall, "When I first noticed him, he was carrying a brief case. I figured he must be a relative of the boys and had brought them something."

LOSSES

Grainger's loss consisted of an Arga camera valued at $15, a new pocket watch with a gold chain and solid gold football valued at $35, and other small articles. Shepard suffered the loss of a $45 Foth-Derby camera, and some school supplies. Murdoch Dunn, had a pair of gold

PROPOSED COUNCIL CHANGE Tabled

Dorm Men Consider Three Alterations

Finally tabling the proposed amendment to reduce its size, the Interdormitory council met in Graham Memorial at 7:30 last night.

As explained by George Nicholson, chairman of the amending committee, three sections of the present constitution would be altered. The only proposed change which brought forth any discussion, however, concerns the elimination of floor councilors and athletic managers from membership in the council. By the terms of the amendment, only the presidents and vice-presidents of the dormitories would retain membership.

EFFICIENCY ASKED

Only two members of the council, George Nicholson and Ed Rankin, spoke in favor of the proposed reduction of its membership. These councilors asserted that a smaller membership would make the council more efficient.

Henry Dillion, Vaughan Winborne, Bill Winstead, and Joe Zaytoun were outspoken in their criticisms of the proposed amendment. Maintaining that such a change was unnecessary,

(Continued on page 2, column 3)

Alumni Receive Sports Supplement Of Review Today

Approximately 3,500 members of the Alumni Association will receive today the quarter's first supplementary issue of the Alumni Review. This issue, which like its predecessors is a four-page football supplement, will be devoted chiefly to pictures and stories of the Carolina-Citadel game.

Featuring the football supplement this quarter will be the "Alumni Quarterback," a column written by Andy Bershak, Carolina's All-American end and '38 alumnus. Andy's observations should carry the weight of a scientific knowledge of the game, for since his graduation he has served on the coaching staff in scouting capacity.

Sports writer for the year is Smith Barrier, formerly sports editor of the Concord Tribune, who has returned to complete work on his bachelor's

(Continued on page 2, column 6)

'Lucky' Piece Proves Unlucky

A silver dollar, a "lucky" piece, proved unlucky to Cam Farrington, local negro youth in Recorder's court yesterday.

Cam received five days' work after local officers proved the dollar, coined in 1891, was the one stolen from the clothes of Bill Upton, University student last week-end.

DI SENATE FAVORS INVITING KUHN TO CAMPUS, 15-7

Minority Argues People Of State Against Speech

That Fritz Kuhn be extended an invitation to speak at the University under the sponsorship of the CPU was approved by the Dialectic Senate on a vote of 15 to 7 at the meeting last night.

Since suppressed organizations are most likely to flourish, the Senate felt that Kuhn's views should be expressed by him to the students on this campus.

OPPOSITION

Senators expressing opposite opinions stated that democracy need not destroy itself deliberately by sowing seeds of dissension. That the people of the state of North Carolina are definitely against allowing Kuhn to speak on the campus of the University was shown by the letters received by the CPU.

Applications for membership to the Senate were received and will be placed under consideration.

Senior Executive, Dance Committees Meet Tomorrow

The dance and executive committees of the senior class will meet tomorrow night in Phi hall at 8 o'clock. Organization of the two groups will be the chief purpose of the meeting, Brick Wall, chairman of the executive committee said.

Members of the senior dance committee are: Vance Hobbs, chairman, Dave Murchison, John Parker, Ben Turner, Bert Premo, Joe Hough, Jack Vincent, Ernest King, Tommy Royster, and Preston Nesbit.

Senior executive class members are: Walter Wall, chairman, Misses Jo Martin, Winnie Shell, Marion Igo, Elizabeth Schleeter, and Lois Barnes, George Harrelson, Dick White, Phil Ellis, Bill Winstead, Winford Norman, Charles Moores, John B. Harris, Bill Brown, Albert Mathes, Clyde Brooks, Pete Burkheimer, Bob de Guzman, Bob Woodward, Marshal Karesch, Tom Keys, Marion Hamer, Jesse Pike, Joe Holman, Paul Alford, Howard Guion, Joe Dawson, George E. Nicholson, Frank Robinson, Seymour Tick, Bob Berbert, Dave Bowman, Carlton Watkins, Richard Worley, George Ralston, Morris Rosenberg, Bill Blalock, Gilly Nicholson, Bill Tennenblatt, Ray Stroupe, Hal Armentrout, A. C. Hall, Lamar Gudger, James L. Pittman, John Latham, Bob Council, Jim McCallum, Bunk Anderson, Ray Pittman, Don Ackerman, Billy Weil, Shelley Rolfe, Bill Stauber, Sanford Stein, Martin Harmon, Bernard Nordan, Jack Burton, Sam McPherson, Buddy Chesire, John Laurens, John Singletary and Nick Beadles.

(Continued on page 2, column 3)

String Rehearsal This Afternoon

A rehearsal of the string section of the symphony will be held this afternoon from 5 to 6 o'clock in room 9 of Hill hall. Any other instrumentalist who wishes to rehearse in groups should report at this time.

HORTON ADDRESS OPENS CPU YEAR TOMORROW NIGHT

All Five Aspirants To Governorship May Be Presented

Opening the fourth year of CPU activity in obtaining speakers of all political creeds, Lieutenant-Governor W. P. Horton will speak on democracy and the world crisis in Hill hall tomorrow evening at 8:30. A dinner for the Lieutenant-Governor and his wife will be held at the Carolina Inn, directly preceding the address.

A "Horton for Governor" campaign was begun last week in a barbeque supper held at Pittsboro. The CPU plans to have all of the candidates in the gubernatorial race appear here.

Although indefinite at the present time, this year's slate of CPU speakers numbers many prominent figures in the world of politics. Despite the present special session of Congress, it is expected that the union will present several of the leading candidates for the presidency.

SENATORS

Senators Robert Taft of Ohio and H. Styles Bridges of New Hampshire have already agreed to appear on the CPU platform at their earliest opportunity. Other possible nominees have given their consent to speak, if pressing tension in Washington eases sufficiently for them to leave the Capital.

Attorney-General Frank Murphy, Chief G-Man J. Edgar Hoover, and

(Continued on page 2, column 5)

FOOTBALL CLINIC IS POSTPONED

Wolf Will Speak Tomorrow Night

Due to the failure of the films of the Carolina-Citadel game to arrive on time, the first football clinic of the season, directed by Coach Ray Wolf, yesterday was postponed to tomorrow night at 7:45 in Gerrard hall.

The gridiron mentor will analyze the various systems of play throughout the country, illustrating his lecture with black-board diagrams and charts. During the showing of last Saturday's game, the coach will comment on several of the plays made by both teams.

NINE WEEKS

The Graham Memorial student union, sponsors of the clinic, plan to hold the football analysis each week after the University plays a game. Extending for nine weeks during the season, the clinic will take place every Thursday evening at 7:45 in Gerrard hall. Should the crowd become too large for Gerrard, the lectures will be moved to Memorial hall.

It is hoped by the student union that both the student body and the faculty, and townspeople will get a better understanding of the game, as it is played here on various Saturdays, from Coach Wolf's clinics. The analysis will deal with both the system used at the University and the type of play of opponents throughout the season.

Arts Group To Meet Tomorrow To Discuss Speakers, Members

A tentative list of speakers for the Carolina Arts group this year, will be presented at the meeting tomorrow night at 7:30 in the group room, Murphy 312, Simons Roof, chairman, said yesterday. Among the names to be presented are a brilliant composer, a popular artist, and an internationally known author.

Any undergraduate or graduate student interested in applying for membership are to come to the first part of the meeting, lasting for the first half hour. A formal business meeting for the regular members will follow.

Officers of the group are Simon Roof, chairman; Lee Wiggins, secretary; and Brewster Rogerson, treasurer.

Polls Open Today; 2,000 Votes Needed

Union Declares Fritz Kuhn Is Unrepresentative

Declaring Fritz Kuhn to be unrepresentative of the official Nazi movement, the Carolina Political union yesterday voted, 15-6, not to invite the Bund leader to appear on the union's platform. The decision came after almost two weeks of deliberation by CPU members.

In a statement issued to the press after yesterday's meeting, chairman Harry Gatton once more stressed the union's non-partisan policy in obtaining speakers to appear on its platform. He reviews the past record of the CPU as evidence of its principle to invite leaders of all political creeds to speak here.

STATEMENT

Gatton's statement read in full, "The Carolina Political union at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon voted decisively not to invite Fritz Kuhn, German Bund leader, to address its student audience at the University of North Carolina. The Nazi cause was presented last spring by the German ambassador, Herr Hans Dieckhoff who is held by the union to be a more adequate spokesman. Also, recently, the pro-fascist philosophy was presented here by Mr. Lawrence Dennis, its leading American interpreter. We hold the right to make our own selections in our own careful and responsible way. We deeply appreciate the tested and continuing championship by the University administration of our freedom to invite representatives of all parties and sides, whether popular or unpopular.

"The fact that we are not inviting Mr. Kuhn in no way changes our policy of inviting representatives of the Republican, Democratic, Socialist, Communist, pacifist, or any other party or movement significant in the life of the times.

THREAT

"We especially hold at this time when the very fact of a distant war overseas threatens the very foundations of freedom and democracy that we in America should be on guard to preserve freedom of speech, the press, and religion and the American Bill of Rights as the most precious part of our American tradition.

"The Carolina Political union has had on its non-partisan platform Col. Frank Knox, James A. Farley, John M. Hamilton, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Norman Thomas, Earl Browder, Ambassador Dieckhoff of Germany, Ambassador Troyanovsky of Russia, Dorothy Thompson, Harold Laski, and scores of other distinguished representatives of American parties and world movements as part of its program of education and stimulation of intelligent interest in public affairs. President Graham and the entire University administration stands for this freedom which the students have ac-

(Continued on page 4, column 2)

Four Professors Scheduled On Neutrality Panel Tonight

Jackson To Conduct Memorial Concert Tonight In Lounge

Gibson Jackson will conduct a second in a weekly series of recorded concerts this evening in the Graham Memorial lounge at 7 o'clock.

The program for this week is: Prelude to Act III Lohengrin, Wagner; Ballade in F Minor, Chopin; Ride of the Valkure, Wagner; Meditation From Thais, Massenet; Pagliacci, Prologue, Leoncavallo; Largo From Aexes, Handel; and Romeo and Juliet Overture, Tchaikowsky.

The concert is open to all students.

IRC Applications

Application blanks for membership in the International Relations club are now on hand with Tempe Newsome at the YMCA, Bob Magill at Graham Memorial, Walt Kleeman at 9 Pettigrew, or Lincoln Kan.

Balloting Will Begin In Front Of YMCA At 9

Three hours after the Carolina Political union decided last night not to invite Fritz Kuhn, leader of the German-American Bund, to speak on the campus, the Phi assembly passed a motion to conduct a campus referendum beginning today to ascertain whether or not the student body is in favor of bringing him here. If the majority of a minimum of 2,000 votes to be cast are in favor of inviting the Nazi speaker, he will be invited by the student body through the Phi assembly.

A committee was appointed last night to conduct the referendum, which will be set up in front of the YMCA at 9 o'clock this morning. On a large poster, at the top will be listed on one side "In favor" and on the other side, "not in favor" of inviting the American fuhrer to express his views on the campus. A total of 2,000 votes must be cast either for or against, and a majority of these votes, or 1,001 must be in favor of inviting the speaker. Without this he will not be invited.

MUCH DISCUSSION

Center of much discussion for several weeks and the butt of much adverse criticism, the Carolina Political union last night decided not to invite the German. Upon learning decision of the union, the Phi assembly, in an hour and a half session, and after much pro and con discussion passed four motions to arrive at the ultimate decision to conduct the campus referendum to determine student opinion on inviting the much discussed agent of Naziism to address the student body on the principles and functions of that government.

In the heated pro and con discussion that preceded the final decision, representative Hassell Thigpen said "The student body is too skeptical to be swept off their feet by Kuhn." John Rankin, former speaker of the Phi, said "Our tuition fee does not pay for our education here. The men who preceded us gave us this University and we do not want to hurt them by bringing Kuhn here." Other representatives expressed themselves on both sides but the vote on the motion to invite the speaker was passed by an overwhelming majority.

Induction of new officers and initiation of new members of the Phi will be two weeks from last night, it was decided at the meeting.

Orthodox Services To Be Held Tonight

The Hillel Foundation announced that Orthodox services for the Succoth services will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Graham Memorial. Rabbi Sandmel will speak at the services.

Dean Bradshaw To Lead Discussion In Gerrard Hall

"Can America Stay Out of War," will be the topic of a round-table discussion tonight at 7:30 in Gerrard hall by four University professors.

A student committee of representatives from various leading campus organizations has planned the informal discussion. The professors will be Dr. E. M. Bernstein, of the economics department; Dr. James W. Fesler, of the political science department; Dr. James Godfrey, of the social science department; and Dr. L. O. Katsoff, of the philosophy department.

No formal speeches will be made, but the discussion will be led by Dean F. F. Bradshaw, who will direct questions to different members on the platform. These members will keep, as nearly as possible to the phase of the question in which they

(Continued on page 2, column 6)