President Of Young Republicans' Club To Join Democrats

"My heart is no longer with the Republican party," said Bill Ward, who is resigning as president of the local Young Republican club, as he announced a meeting of that organization in the Grail room of Graham Memorial recently.

"During my term of office I have grown disgusted with the disinterest in the local club exhibited by the North Carolina Republican executive committee," continued Ward, red-haired sophomore from Graham. "Its members have persistently refused to acknowledge receipt of the letters which I've sent them in regard to matters of procedure. I predict the downfall of the Republican party in this state because of similar negligence.

"I intend, as soon as my resignation is accepted, to apply for membership in the Young Democratic club."

Hillel Foundation

Rabbi Samuel Sandmel announced yesterday that the Hillel foundation will hold regular Friday night services in Graham Memorial. Sandmel will speak.

Alexander Stresses Need For Quorum To Pass Budget

Charlie Wood and his orchestra will play for the sophomore class this morning at 10:30 in Gerrard hall when the second-year men meet to vote on the class budget, President Bill Alexander announced last night. Interspersing official class business will be several of the latest numbers by the band which won top honors in last year's campus swing contest.

Alexander once again stressed the necessity of a quorum of the class, approximately 400, to pass the budget. He pointed out that the sophomore dance, scheduled for the week-end of November 4, could not be held unless the money allotted to it in the budget were passed on.

ALLOTMENTS

The budget was recently passed by the sophomore executive committee, as it was presented by Treasurer Truman Hobbs and his finance committee. Besides including the allotment of the dance funds, the budget contains grants for various other class functions and fees.

Today's meeting will be the first this year. At last year's final gathering, the second year men voted for individual pictures in the Yackety Yack.

The class will present its annual dance during Homecoming weekend November 3 and 4. Dan Gregory will play for the Friday night formal, and Dean Hudson will play for the Saturday afternoon tea dance and Grail dance Saturday night.

Carolina plays State here that week-end.

Doctors To Hold Regional Meeting Here Today

Fellows and associates in the exclusive American College of Physicians will hold a regional meeting and dinner here today featuring an address by Dr. O. H. Perry Pepper, national president and head of the department of medicine at the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. W. deB. MacNider of the University medical school is in charge of arrangements for the gathering, which is expected to be attended by between 50 and 60 persons.

Dr. Charles Hartwell Cocke of Asheville, governor of the North Carolina division, will preside over the afternoon session.

PAPERS

Papers will be read by Dr. W. Reece Berryhill on "An Unusual Type of Infection of the Lower Respiratory Tract in College Students," and by Dr. Russell L. Holman on "The Effect of Renal Injury Upon the Regeneration of Plasma Proteins." Both are members of the University faculty.

A round table discussion of diabetes will be led by Dr. T. Preston White of Charlotte, Dr. W. Raney Stanford of Durham, Dr. Paul F. Whitaker of Kinston, and Dr. Roy C. Mitchell of Mount Airy.

Jack Miller's 'Death Dodgers' Hold Five Records For Stunts

By PHILLIP CARDEN

"You won't catch me in the water. I'm scared of it—I served in the navy 11 years," says "Happy" Jack Miller, who will lead his band of 14 "Death Dodgers" in broad-jumping an automobile 50 feet through a flaming wall next Sunday in a combination air and ground show at the Chapel Hill airport. Asked the scientific name for the brain ailment which leads men into his business, he said, "You don't have to be crazy, but a little tetch of it helps a lot."

Five world records are held by members of his group. His parachute jumper, Tommy Boyd, set a new world's record of 24 consecutive jumps in one day, three weeks ago in Ohio. Jimmie Goodwin, the "bat-wing boy," who will jump out of a plane at 10,000 feet with only a pair of home-

Two Cheers

Carolina's traveling football squad will not only have to face one of the heaviest grid teams in the country tomorrow when it battles the Tulane Green Wave, but also will have to fight against a team being cheered by these two young ladies above. They are the Misses Robbert, Carolyn and Nadone from right to left, Tulane's cheerleading sisters.

Monogram Club Will Sponsor Gridgraph On Tulane Game

Large Blackboard To Show Progress Of Grid Contest

Carolina's Tulane invasion will be brought to Chapel Hill Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock by means of a gridgraph account in Memorial hall sponsored by the Monogram club, Jimmy Howard, club secretary, announced yesterday.

The gridgraph has been popular here for the last several years. It consists of a large facsimile of a football field with lights and diagrams on it to show the actual movement of the ball and the path of action on the play.

TRANSMITTERS

Western Union transmitters will be on hand to receive the dispatches from New Orleans and transpose them immediately upon the graph.

"Arrangements are completed for the afternoon," Howard said, and a large crowd is expected to attend. Several outstanding Carolina athletes will be on hand to take charge of the proceedings and to help manage the program. Only the game itself is more fun than the gridgraph."

There will be an admission charge of 25 cents to help defray expenses of the presentation.

COMMITTEE HOLDS SECOND FORUM

Russell And Kuhn Address Session

Films illuminating the present European situation were shown last night under the supervision of DeWitt Barnett, chairman for film-forums, at the second panel discussion sponsored by the campus committee on American neutrality.

The discussion which followed the films was conducted by Dr. William Olsen and featured short talks by Dr. J. C. Russell and Helmut Kuhn.

Three reels were shown. The first, "The International Munitions Ring," revealed arms manufacturers as the cause of war. A travelogue, "A Trip Through Germany," gave the audience a clear conception of the German people and their country. Late arrival of the third film, "Austria

BVP Sponsors Essay Contest On Buccaneer At Woman's College

The executive council of Battle-Vance-Pettigrew is sponsoring an essay contest at Woman's college "in order to further the already cordial relations existing between our two groups," according to an announcement made in the Carolinian, WC weekly publication, by George E. Nicholson, Jr., president of BVP, and W. O. Lankford, III, Battle councillor.

The rules of the contest are as follows:

1. All essays shall have as their subject, "Why I Would Like to Read the Carolina Buccaneer."
2. Each essay shall contain no less than 50 words nor more than 500 words.

SUBSCRIPTIONS

3. There will be two prizes of one year subscriptions to the Buccaneer. In case of ties duplicate awards will be made. The decision of the judges is final.

4. All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight of October 31, 1939.

5. A photograph of the entrant shall accompany each entry.

Poteat And Crudup Remain In Contest For Presidency

YM-YWCA BEGINS DAILY WORSHIP SERIES MONDAY

Student Leaders To Head Vespers In Gerrard Hall

First of a series of services under the joint sponsorship of the YM and YWCA will be held next Monday at 6:40 in Gerrard Hall, Martha Clappitt and Bill Gordon, co-chairmen of the YWCA worship committee, announced yesterday.

Student leaders will conduct these services each week of the quarter. John Bonner and Louise Jordan, the two presidents, with others specially interested in the plan, will conduct the devotions for the first week.

The programs will include quiet music and occasional hymns, with scripture and prayers in accordance with the theme of the evening. The individual leaders may decide to include poems or short devotional readings in the fifteen minute worship service.

"The YW and YMCA hope that many students will find time to drop in at Gerrard hall for these services, as they believe that there is a real need on the campus for a time of relaxation and thought which these services will provide," said the worship chairman.

Bob Doty Says Carolina Caravan Plans Completed

Nearly all plans have been completed for the Carolina Caravan, a chartered bus tour to the Carolina-Penn game in Philadelphia October 28, it was announced yesterday by Bob Doty who is conducting the caravan with Jimmy Howard.

Enough students to fill two buses have already been signed up with Howard. Two busloads of girls from the Woman's college will meet the caravan in Greensboro and all buses and cars going up will proceed from there. Doty is planning a jamboree in Washington where all students, whether on the buses or in their own cars, will meet for a party and then go on to Philadelphia together.

New buses have been chartered from the Carolina Coach company and will leave here about noon Friday, arriving in the Quaker City about midnight that night. If the demand is great enough, one or more buses will go on to New York to take students to the World's Fair, which closes two days later. Buses will leave Philadelphia Sunday noon and arrive here sometime that night.

"Look" magazine has assigned a photographer to cover the caravan from its beginning here to the arrival in Philadelphia, shooting interesting sidelights on the buses, the party in Washington, and other angles.

Any students interested in bus accommodations are asked to contact Jimmy Howard in Graham dormitory.

Three Candidates To Meet In Run-Off For Vice-President

With only 376 freshmen voting out of a class population of 800, no single candidate secured a majority of the votes cast for his office in freshman elections yesterday thus necessitating a run-off ballot next Monday for each of the four offices.

Yates Poteat and Tommy Crudup led the field for president with 93 and 111 votes respectively and will settle their political contest Monday. Other candidates for president lined up as follows: Henry Fitts, 63; Charlie Hancock, 62; Hobart McKeever, 35; and Moyer Hendrix, 22.

Three candidates received sufficient ballots to participate in the vice-presidential run-off. They were Floyd Co-hoon with 154 votes, Wallace Gibbes with 76, and Merlin Martin with 73. Eliminated from the battle for vice-president were Sim Nathan with 50 votes and Earl Yates with 25.

SECRETARY

Alston Lewis with 125 ballots and Buck Osborne with 102 led the race for secretary, eliminating Lem Gibbons with 68, Mike Mangum with 38, George Miles with 25, and Jesse Trevehan with 17.

In the election for treasurer George Adams received the highest number of votes of any man for any office—177. He will enter the run-off with Ernest Hill, who received 89 votes. Eliminated were Bert Feldman with 58 and Bill Thomas with 51.

Several additional withdrawals occurred shortly before the polls opened yesterday morning with Royce Snyder and Bob Wright, who dropped out in favor of Poteat, leaving the presidential race; Bob Whitten and George Peabody quitting the vice-presidential field; and Leonard Levine, Bill Cherry, and Bob Bourne withdrawing from the balloting for treasurer.

Fellowship Club Will Convene Here For Consultation

On October 30, members of the Fellowship of Reconciliation will meet at the Chapel Hill Methodist church for a one-day consultation. The group will include pacifists, conscientious objectors, and those in sympathy with the pacifist group, and among the leaders will be Professor Hornell Hart of Duke university.

The Fellowship of Reconciliation is a group of men and women of many nations and races who have unqualifiedly repudiated the war-method and determined not to sanction or to participate in any future war among nations, classes, or races. The movement depends not upon a large number of nominal adherents but upon those who, accepting the principles fully for themselves, will give time individually and in groups to thinking out what is implied and will set themselves seriously to apply their conclusions.

Further plans for the consultation here will be announced later; however, people interested in participating are asked to either telephone or come by the YMCA office.

Rear-Admiral Foote Believes U. S. Must Increase Defenses

By SANFORD STEIN

"The greatest problem facing this country today is the measures that must be taken to protect our commerce at sea and the American continents from any possible attack on either the Atlantic or Pacific," said Rear-Admiral Percy Foote in an interview yesterday. "To take care of these increased responsibilities, we must strengthen our defenses both military and naval."

Rear-Admiral Foote, having retired from active service in 1936, is now residing in Chapel Hill with his wife and daughter, Diana, who entered the University this fall. He is a man who has led a full and colorful life, and there is nothing he enjoys more than to spin a sea yarn or reminisce about his past.

Perhaps the most interesting part of Admiral Foote's career occurred in the first World war when he was in charge of the transport ship, Lincoln, which helped carry the American troops over to France. On the boat's first voyage in October, 1917, the commander of the soldiers on board was General Sumner, now head of The Citadel in Charleston.

"My job," revealed the Admiral, "was to see that everyone got off the ship safely in case anything happened to it. But I discovered that, while we had 6,000 men on the vessel, there were only 300 seats in the lifeboats. Knowing that whenever people got into a lifeboat, before it was lowered into the water, a lot of them fell out and were drowned, I decided that the best solution would be to put the lifeboats down empty, let everyone jump in the ocean, and first come, first served. After all, an officer and a
