WAR DEBT BILL KILLED BY DI

Senate Challenges Assembly To Debate

With only one dissenting vote, the Di senate at its meeting last night defeated the bill, "Resolved, that the United States take over the West Indies, Newfoundland and a Canadian corridor as payment for Britain's war debts."

The senate issued a challenge to the Phi assembly to debate on any mutually acceptable topic, and challenged the freshmen members of the Phi to debate the freshmen members of the Di. The Phi accepted the challenge and suggested that a committee from each group be appointed to arrange the details.

Indian Lore Is Unusual Hobby Of Joffre Coe, UNC Senior

University Student Is Responsible For Proposed Survey Now Awaiting Action

By ALBERT CLARK

When a WPA project was recently proposed to survey and study all the available Indian remains in North Carolina, Joffre L. Coe, of Greensboro, saw an old dream coming true. The project has been approved by the state WPA office and is now awaiting action in Washington.

A 23-year-old senior at the University, Coe is nationally recognized as the only authority in the two Carolinas and Virginia on the antiquity of the American Indian.

DISPLAY
In the laboratory of anthropology and archaeology, recently recognized as an official part of the University, can be seen arrows and arrowheads, broken pieces of pottery, maps, books, files of information, and an actual infant burial, all of which tell their part of the vivid story of a civilization

E. J. WOODHOUSE NOT TO ENTER SENATORIAL RACE

Professor Says He Is Too Busy To Run For Office

"I do not see how I can find time in the busy life I lead and the effort I am now making to teach real democracy to the students of the University of North Carolina to conduct a campaign for the United States senatorship or any other office," Dr. E. J. Woodhouse, political science professor in the University here, declared yesterday when questioned as to the truth of various reports that he would run for the post of senator in 1942.

"I do not have any definite intentions of running for any office. I am just now interested in taking my small part vigorously in the congressional and gubernatorial campaign of 1940 and in trying to help elect those who seem most able and anxious to represent all the people," Dr. Woodhouse added.

OPPOSES BAILEY

Speaking of incumbent Senator Bailey, the political science professor stated, "North Carolina ought to elect in 1942 a senator who more nearly represents the mass of people than Senator Bailey seems to have done during his two terms of office. I voted for Senator Bailey in 1930 and 1936, but I have been much dissatisfied with his failure on several occasions to support President Roosevelt's efforts to do something for the underprivileged and plain people of this country. In my opinion Franklin D. Roosevelt has been more emphatically and vigorously the people's president than any other president since the civil war, even more so than the great statesman, Woodrow Wilson. Those of the people who have been especially fortunate in having unusual property, business and social advantages are always apt to be well represented in our government and even frequently over-represented. They should have full social justice done to and for them, along with everybody else. I am always especially concerned about a candidate's ability, willingness and even anxiety to represent the interests of those who are less able to look out for themselves."

MISREPRESENTED

"The majority of the democrats of North Carolina are as solidly behind Roosevelt as the democrats of any state in this Union, and I am very tired of our being misrepresented so frequently by some of our congressmen and senators in their votes against measures by our president to help those who need help," continued (Continued on page 4, column 3)

Faculty Club To See Football Movies

Dr. W. A. Olsen, president of the faculty club, announced yesterday afternoon that only members of the club (no guests) will be admitted to the meeting at 8:30 tonight. Coach Ray Wolf will show moving pictures of the NYU and Tulane games.

Wolf To Resume Football Clinics Tomorrow Night

After a lapse of one week, Coach Ray Wolf will hold a football clinic tomorrow evening at 7:45 in Memorial hall. Pictures of the Tulane-Carolina game will be shown at that time.

The head gridiron mentor will review the system of plays used by the Green Wave, employing blackboard diagrams and specially prepared charts. As the films of the game are shown, Coach Wolf will comment on the highlights, particularly the fourth quarter comeback of the Tar Heels.

At the conclusion of the analysis, the audience will be able to question Wolf on any phase of the lecture. The Graham Memorial student union, sponsors of the program, have invited everyone interested to see the pictures of the Tulane game.

300 PENN TICKETS ON SALE AT YMCA

Students May Buy Seats For $2.28

Three-hundred tickets for Saturday's game have been secured for Carolina students who are journeying to Philadelphia this week-end and are on sale at the YMCA for the regular price of $2.28.

Carolina's undefeated football squad, the band, Ramezes, and a horde of Carolina students will board a special train Friday night at 7:30 and cheer their way to the "City of Brotherly Love" while a host of other students will go up for the game in private cars.

HEADQUARTERS

The Warwick hotel will be Carolina's general headquarters in Philadelphia and reduced rates have been secured there for the visit. Jimmy Farr and his orchestra will play for a dance arranged especially for UNC students at the hotel Saturday night.

The tickets are for seats in a special section on the 50-yard line reserved for the Tar Heel rooters.

PERSON GALLERY OPENS EXHIBIT

Display Features Jacocks Collection

An exhibition of lithographs from the collection of Dr. W. P. Jacocks opens today in Person Hall art gallery.

The collection was lent the art department by Dr. Jacocks following his trip to India, where he is doing research for the Rockefeller foundation. Included in the exhibition are portraits, landscapes, and animal studies by such contemporary artists as Thomas Benton, Grant Wood, Jon Carbino, Kathe Kallwitz, and Gordon Grant.

Following the Jacocks show an exhibition of oils by Maurice Braun and an invitation exhibit of water colors by Eliot O'Hare, Millard Sheets, John Wharf, A. L. Ripley, and Andrew Wyeth will open on November 5.

Cosmopolitan Club Will Meet Tomorrow For First Time

The Cosmopolitan club, composed of all students, faculty and townspeople of foreign nationality and those who have visited recently in foreign countries, will hold its first meeting tomorrow night at 8:30 in the social rooms of the Presbyterian church, Herman Boemanns of Germany and a resident of this country for six years, announced last night.

Bob Magill, Bill McKee, and John Bonner are assisting in the organization of this club. Following the social meeting, selection of officers and plans for the organization will be discussed.

At present there are about 15 foreign students enrolled in the University besides the large number of professors and citizens who are representatives of the many different countries.

Commerce Students

A geography placement examination for Commerce students will be given Tuesday night, October 31, at 7 o'clock in 401 New East.

KOCH ANNOUNCES EXPERIMENTAL PLAYMAKER BILL

Tryouts Scheduled This Afternoon For One-Act Plays

Three one-act plays: "Squaw Winter," a tragedy of Maine folk by Frances Fox of Philadelphia; "Strong Hands For Hurting," a tragedy of the North Carolina mountains by Edward Post of Shelby; and "Got No Sorrow," by Carline Crum of Denmark, S. C., will be presented on the sixty-second Playmaker experimental bill November 6, Dr. Frederick H. Koch announced yesterday.

Tryouts for the experimentals will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Playmaker theater and anyone interested in trying out for the casts are invited. The plays announced for production were selected from a group written this quarter in Dr. Koch's course in playwriting. Students in Sam Selden's graduate course in play directing will direct the plays.

PSYCHOLOGICAL STUDY

Miss Fox's play, "Squaw Winter" is a psychological study of three members of a Maine farm family and the effects of a petty theft on their lives.

"Got No Sorrow," Miss Crum's play of South Carolina coastal Negroes, make use of a spectacular religious drama in telling the amazing story of a young girl who could find no remorse for her sins.

Post's "Strong Hands For Hurting" is a gripping drama of a bold, high-spirited man who unwittingly ruined the lives of whomever he touched.

PHI TO SPONSOR "HELLO" WEEK

Assembly Dance Moved To Nov. 11

A campus-wide "hello" week in connection with home-coming will be sponsored by the Phi which was decided at the assembly meeting last night.

The Phi dance will be held November 11 in Graham Memorial instead of November 10 the assembly decided.

The assembly voted unanimously to accept the challenge of the Di senate to a debate minus the stipulation of a reward for the winner and also the challenge to a debate in the near future between the representatives of the freshmen of the two societies. Senator Quarles of the Di issued the challenge at the meeting last night.

Two new officers were elected: sergeant-at-arms, Representative Jimmy Pittman and assistant treasurer, Representative, Art Clark.

The motion, "Resolved, That the Phi assembly favor President Roosevelt to act as a mediator to secure peace in Europe" was defeated by a majority of 36 to 7.

UNEXCUSED ABSENCES

The assembly voted to drop members from the roll after they have had three unexcused absences in one quarter. It also voted to have three pages in the Yackety Yack.

The committee appointed to make arrangements for "hello" week is: Bob Farris, chairman; Mickey Warren and Bill Singletary. Representative Farris said, "The atmosphere on the University is not considered by outsiders as friendly as that on the Duke and State campuses."

DISCUSSION

There was much discussion on the Roosevelt mediation bill. Representative Phil Ellis said that the continuance of the European war will ultimately mean the destruction of civilization.

Representative Pete Burkheimer expressed an opposite opinion when he said, "President Wilson did not do any good when he tried to be mediator for peace in the last war."

Recorded Concert Scheduled Tonight

Gibson Jackson's weekly recorded concert will be given tonight at 7 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

The three numbers on tonight's program are: Saint-Saens' "Danse Macabre," Verdi's "Miserere" from Act IV of "Trovatore," and Tschai-kowsky's "Symphony No. 5 in E Minor."

Swinger

Introducing Miss Frances Colwell, pretty young vocalist with Dean Hudson's band, who will appear here November 4 for the Sophomore tea dance and the evening Grail affair.

ORDER OF GRAIL WILL SPONSOR DANCE NOVEMBER 4

Group Cooperates With Sophomores In Securing Band

Cooperating with the sophomore class so that both groups may have "name-bands," the Order of the Grail will climax Homecoming week-end and State-Carolina activities with an informal dance following the game Saturday night, November 4.

Dean Hudson, who has been secured to play for the Saturday afternoon tea dance in the sophomore series, will perform for the Grail affair. The band has made several Victor Bluebird recordings, including "Washington and Lee Swing," "Liebestraum," "Stormy Weather," "Annie Laurie" and "Miami Dream."

Through the cooperation of the Grail, the sophomores are able to give their dances this fall instead of in the spring, when the schedule is more crowded.

Dean's boys have played as featured artists over WOR and the Mutual Broadcasting system. Miss Frances Colwell is female vocalist with the band.

The Friday evening formal dance in the sophomore series will present the orchestra of Dan Gregory as the main attraction. The Athletic association has worked with the class representatives to arrange special seating facilities for the celebrating sophomores.

Sophomores To Get Special Section

Sophomores and their dats for the November 4 weekend, date of the soph dances, will have a special section of seats reserved for them at the State game, Bill Alexander, second year president, announced yesterday.

Tickets for the seats must be secured at Woolen gym before Saturday, October 28.

Noted Author Visits Campus, Passes Out Tips To Writers

J. P. McEvoy Addresses Class During Brief Stay In Chapel Hill

"All forms of writing are basically the same," Joseph P. McEvoy writer for the Saturday Evening Post, Hollywood, radio, and the author of numerous books, said in an informal discussion to the students of Phillips Rustell's creative writing class and visitors yesterday.

A person who begins to write a story, should have something to say or not try to write at all, McEvoy stressed.

"A story is like a rabbit running for its life, with the audience as the dogs," he continued. "The rabbit doesn't run in a straight line, neither does a story. Finally the rabbit comes to a stone wall that it can't get around. This is the climax in the story, how the rabbit gets away," McEvoy said, adding, "It is the situation that get the audience."

The climax often bluffs the author as well as the audience, McEvoy said, the only difference in the two are that the writer has months to work out the

WELFARE GROUP PLANS INFORMAL PROGRAM TODAY

Institute Members Will Be Received At Graham Memorial

Today will be a day of informality in the program of the twentieth annual Public Welfare Institute being held this week at the Baptist church. After the regular courses and forums this morning, these attending the institute will enjoy an afternoon of recreation and friendly meetings among themselves.

This evening at 8 o'clock a reception will be given at Graham Memorial for the members of the institute. In the receiving line will be officials and representatives of the many agencies registered here. Refreshments will be served, and the occasion is to afford an opportunity for everybody to meet each other informally.

To date there has been a registration of 340. This number is expected to increase to over 400 as the institute progresses. In addition to public welfare agencies there are representatives of such organizations as the WPA, NYA, Commission for the Blind, parole and probation offices, and the Red Cross.

An exhibit room has been prepared in which there are displays fashioned by the University Press, the NYA, and the State Board of Public Welfare. This room is in the basement of the Baptist church.

Mr. H. G. Lawrence, who with Mr. T. S. Howard is in charge of arrangements in Chapel Hill, said that the general informality of the discussion forums and meetings has been found to conform better to the needs and desires of the people attending the institute than would a more strict program.

Group Appointed To Make Plans For Homecoming

Jim Davis, president of the student body, announced yesterday that a special group has been appointed to make plans and arrangements for homecoming and other celebrations which will be held here on November 4. The committee will meet this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

The group is composed of representatives from different campus organizations as well as from the administration and the town of Chapel Hill. These representatives will make plans for decorations on the campus and in town, plans for the program at the football game, and for the Grail dance following the game.

The representatives are: Reddy Grubbs, University club; Vance Hobbs, cheerleader; Studie Ficklen, Interfraternity council; Jack Vincent, Interdormitory council; Melville Corbett, Woman's association; Terrell Everette, Woman's Athletic association; Martin Harmon, DAILY TAR HEEL; Dave Morrison, Monogram club; Dick (Continued on page 2, column 6)
