Professor Koch To Enact Hamlet Role On Sunday

Dr. Frederick H. Koch, director of the Carolina Playmakers, will enact scenes from Shakespeare's "Hamlet" Sunday night at 8 o'clock in the Carolina Playmakers' theatre.

His performance, which will be open to the public without charge, will initiate a series of Sunday evening play readings for this year.

Koch will present several of the most important scenes in the play, acting the leading roles. His style in giving "Hamlet" is similar to that used by America's most famous monologuists, Cornelia Otis Skinner and Ruth Draper. However, he began using the medium as a sophomore at Ohio Wesleyan university many years before the form had become a definite part of the American stage.

Dr. Koch not only does "Hamlet" as a one-man show but has acted the title role in a full production of the play. His performance as Hamlet in the Carolina Playmakers' Forest theatre production of 1935 was one of the notable events of that season.

Law Librarians Will Hold Third Meet In Raleigh

The Carolina Law Librarians, a business association of the law libraries of the University of North Carolina, Duke University, Wake Forest College, the University of South Carolina, and the State Supreme court, is holding its third annual meeting in Raleigh at the Supreme court library today. The business affairs will be disposed of in the first portion of the meeting beginning at 2 o'clock and the scheduled program is to start at 3:30.

The topic of the program will be "Establishing Local Bar Libraries" such as those in Asheville, Charlotte, and other cities. These local libraries are sending representatives or letters to the meeting to aid the discussion, which is somewhat an extension of the work begun last year.

The North Carolina State Bar association and the North Carolina Bar association have appointed a joint committee of 10 members entitled the Committees on Law Libraries and Legal Publication to cooperate and assist the library group in its work.

Pharmacy Elections

First year pharmacy students will elect their class officers at the chapel period Wednesday morning. The election will take place in the Howell Hall auditorium.

Appoints Committees

Jim Davis, president of the student body, who yesterday announced appointment of several student committees to function for the remainder of the year.

DAVIS ANNOUNCES FOUR COMMITTEES

President Makes Final Selections

The following standing committees for 1939-40 have been announced by James Davis, president of the student body.

Student Audit board: Jack Vincent, Walter "Brick" Wall, Dave Morrison.

Student Advisory committee: George Riddle, chairman, Donald Bishop and William Dees.

Student Entertainment committee: Perril Quarles and Bill Broadfoot.

Student Welfare board: Melville Corbett, Louise Jordan, Studie Ficklen, Jack Vincent, Dick Worley, Townsend Moore, and Martin Harmon.

Earl Wynn Named Program Director For Studio Here

Dr. Ralph McDonald, associate director of the University Extension division, yesterday announced the appointment of Earl Wynn as program director of the University studio.

Dr. McDonald, in announcing the appointment, stated that Wynn has had extensive experience in radio work in other universities throughout the country. One position was in connection with the studio at Northwestern university. From this wide experience it is felt by the extension division that he will be well qualified for the position.

Official opening of the studio with scheduled programs will be, by the first of the year, but some programs will be started around the first of December. Already about eight stations have contracted the local studio for its programs. This will mean twenty times the listening public as would be possible to obtain if it were a station.

The programs sent over the wires on occasional Columbia, Mutual and National hook-ups will be as varied as student and University life in Chapel Hill, Dr. McDonald announced.

Did You Swipe It?

The library reported last night that a notebook containing a list of all parallel reading books was taken from the reserve room. It is absolutely essential that they have this list and they urgently request that whoever removed it by mistake return it immediately.

Band Rehearsal Today At 5 O'clock

The University band will hold a rehearsal today at 5 o'clock on Fetzner field before leaving for the Carolina-Pennsylvania game in Philadelphia at 7:30.

All members were urged last night by Bob Simmons, president, to be on time and bring their instruments.

WELFARE MEETING WILL HOLD FINAL SESSIONS TODAY

Jocher To Present Report Of Social Trends Committee

The Public Welfare Institute of North Carolina will hold the final session of its twentieth annual meeting at the Chapel Hill Baptist church today.

This morning's session will include the regular courses in mental hygiene, social case work, supervision, and public welfare and the community. Then at 11 o'clock there is to be a general meeting, with Mr. Nathan H. Yelton presiding, to give some of the discussion forums the opportunity to present their reports which have been drawn up during the week.

At 1:30 Mr. R. Eugene Brown will preside over a general assembly of the institute at which the report of the committee on Social Trends and Practices will be given by Dr. Katherine Jocher, chairman. This statement will be gleaned from the several reports of the forums, and will be the conclusion of this year's institute.

Charlotte Observer Praises UNC Team For Game At Tulane

The following editorial was printed yesterday in the Charlotte Observer:

"The history of American football shows no more heroic and thrilling rally than those Tar Heels staged to score two touchdowns and kick two goals in five minutes of time to tie up the battle" with Tulane last Saturday afternoon, thinks Morgan Blake, writing in the Atlanta Journal.

Mr. Blake is extremely flattering to the gridiron warriors from Chapel Hill as he continues to allow his ecstasy to flow.

"This column nominates the Tar Heels for performing the most astounding and most gallant feat of the season up to date."

The more interesting part of Mr. Blake's appreciated effusion relates to what may have been the inspiration propelling the boys to this remarkable demonstration of sheer grit and determination.

He refers to the telegram of cheer and confidence which the more than 3,000 students of the University sent the team after it arrived at New Orleans, a telegram given the despatcher at Chapel Hill Friday night but which required until Saturday morning for the receiver in New Orleans to transcribe, the message containing the names of the entire student body at the University and containing only a paragraph expressive of the spirit of faith and loyalty in the team.

Mr. Blake is probably correct in his diagnosis that this was the occasion of the spark of inspiration which possessed the players as they faced over-

Retired Reporter Opposed To Repeal Of Neutrality Bill

By HAL TYSINGER

"I am in favor of the MacAdoo resolution that advocates every American mother and father should have the right to decide if their sons become cannon fodder," Edward T. Heyn, retired foreign correspondent in Germany and Czechoslovakia for a number of the metropolitan newspapers in New York, Chicago, London and Paris, said in an interview on the campus.

"I am opposed to the repeal of the present neutrality bill," Heyn answered when questioned about the bill, "for the same reason as expressed in the United States Senate, that it might lead to another Black Tom explosion."

Working as a reporter in Elizabeth, N. J., at that time, he interviewed a number of the refugees from the explosion as they poured into Elizabeth. The investigating committee later proved that the explosion of the munitions plant was done by German spies. Edward Heyn was born in Milwaukee, Wis., and received his education at the German-English academy and high school, the University of Wisconsin, Berlin and Heidelberg.

Play For Graduate Coeds

Ted Ross and his orchestra, who will play for tonight's informal graduate coeds dance in Graham Memorial from 9:30 to 1 o'clock.

Ted Ross And Band To Supply Music For Graduate Coed Ball

Informal Affair Scheduled At 9:30 In Graham Memorial

Ted Ross and his campus orchestra will furnish the music for this evening's informal graduate coed dance, to be held in the lounge of Graham Memorial from 9:30 to 1 o'clock. Tonight's affair is the second dance for coeds which the Graham Memorial student union has sponsored this fall.

The marshalls for this evening's hop are Miss Mary Perry Garvin, Miss Martha Frazier, Miss Elizabeth Huntley, Miss Elizabeth Carr, Miss Nell Booker, Miss Alice Murdock, Miss Sara Crosby, Bob Magill, Charles Learde, Fred Weaver, Vernon Andrews, Noel Woodhouse, Sam Teague, George Steele, and Trez Yeatman.

Ross and his band play "music sweet with a dash of heat" featuring an electric steel guitar as background for the numbers.

19 UNC Students Plan To Attend Baptist Meeting

Carolina will be well represented at the North Carolina convention of the Baptist Student union to be held this week-end at Campbell College, Buies Creek. A total of 19 students and 4 townspeople will make the trip either today or tomorrow.

Some four hundred delegates from the colleges of the state are expected to be in Buies Creek for the convention. The Union is a national organization for college students, and practically every college in North Carolina has a chapter.

Miss Mary Jean Bronson, senior from Durham and State Social chairman of the BSU, will be in charge of the opening banquet to be held tonight. A Halloween program will constitute the evening's entertainment.

The Reverend O. T. Binkley, for-

OFFICIALS SAY 1,500 STUDENTS TO MAKE TREK

Parade Scheduled In Quaker City Tomorrow At 11:30

By DICK YOUNG

At least 1,500 Carolina students will invade Philadelphia Saturday for the Carolina-Penn game, and a gigantic pre-game rally and parade, according to reports received last night from the ticket office in Woollen gymnasium and from Reddy Grubbs, president of the University club, which is sponsoring the rally and parade.

The ticket office said last night that approximately 1300 pasteboards had been sold to date, and that they expected at least 200 more to be sold tomorrow.

Headquarters for the gigantic caravan of nearly half the student body will be in the Warwick Hotel, which has thrown its accommodations open to students and reduced all rates.

The parade, which will be led by the University band, will leave the hotel at 11:30, proceeding by way of Spruce and Broad streets to the City Hall, where the rally proper will be staged. Rameses, in all his glory, will be on hand, along with the corps of cheerleaders, led by Vance Hobbs. Custodians of the pugnacious mascot are Chuck Jenkins and Jack Garland.

Grubbs received a wire last night from Superintendent of Police Edward Hubbs, sanctioning the parade and offering a police escort. The greater part of the 1500 visitors are expected to take part.

The special train will leave Chapel Hill tonight at 7:30 from Pittsboro street station, carrying students, the University band, Rameses, and Coach Ray Wolf's grid warriors. Approximately 50 students of Woman's College will be picked up in Greensboro, and the train will arrive in Philadelphia early Saturday morning.

The band will stay on the Penn campus, being put up for the day by the Penn Student Union, and the team will make its headquarters in the Hotel Philadelphia.

Grubbs said last night the University club had extended an invitation to Band Leader Kay Kyser to attend the pep rally and also the game that afternoon.

All students who purchased tickets to the game here in Chapel Hill will be seated in a special Carolina section where they will have the benefit of Hobbs and his assistants' cheer-leading.

The hotel has arranged reduced rates of $2 per person or $4.50 for a single room for Carolina students.

Documents Of Southern Historical Collection Displayed In Library

The commission of Captain Louis de Rousset of the Regiment of Navarre, signed by Louis XIV in 1674, is one of the many documents of the Southern Historical collection now on exhibit in one of the cases on the ground floor of the library.

The collection, the largest collection of manuscript material in the world, was begun in North Carolina by David L. Swain, former president of the University. For a time, it was allowed to lie idle, but since being taken over by Dr. J. G. DeRoulhac Hamilton, it has become well-known and has been made to include material from the entire south.

Also in the exhibit is a slave trader's account book of 1856-1857, a hand written newspaper of Gaston county, 1872, an account of the Battle of King's Mountain by Colonel Isaac Shelby, who participated in the fight, the only known copy in existence of the broadside of a Virginia society for the preservation of liberty, 1874, and a University autograph album of 1861-1862.

Frosh Inaugurations

This morning in freshman chapel there will be held the inauguration of the newly elected freshman class officers at which time Tommy Crudup, class president, will make a short talk and the other officers will be introduced.

ROSS ADDRESSES MEETING OF ASU

Speaker Discusses Democratic League

The American Student union, at its meeting in Graham Memorial last night, heard Mike Ross, treasurer of the North Carolina League for Progressive Democracy, discuss organization of the league, and also labor problems extant in the state today.

Ross outlined the principles and aims of the league, stating that the organization was on the whole pro-Democratic, although not agreeing entirely with some of the policies of Roosevelt and the New Deal.

Harry Lasker, a member of the ASU, read a report on "Problems in the South," including illiteracy and the sales tax. Sidney Rittenberg was appointed to investigate the possibilities of the ASU's aiding the University extension division in its drive against illiteracy in the state.

It was also decided at the meeting that no action should be taken on the case of Willie Richardson, who is scheduled to die in the gas chamber in Central Prison at Raleigh today. The union had previously contemplated circulating a petition on the campus asking for a reprieve or pardon for the young negro, who was sentenced to death for stealing a pack of cigarettes and a small amount of change.

New members taken into the union were Allen Green, DeWitt Barnett, Richard Trickson, Glenn Hayes Johnson, Joe Knox, Vera Rony, Anthony Dell, Norma Slatoff, Jim Brantley, and Harry Lasker.

General May Attend Homecoming Here

Letters have been sent out this year by the Alumni association of the University in order to find out how many alumni will attend homecoming this year.

A reply to a letter was received from General Albert T. Cox of Washington, D. C. in which he inquired about the condition of the Chapel Hill airport. General Cox, who was a member of the class of 1904 and of the football team, stated that he planned to fly to Chapel Hill for the homecoming celebrations with his pilot.

Philosophy Club

Monday night at 7:30 the Undergraduate Philosophy club will meet in the Grail room of Graham Memorial in its initial meeting of the year. Dr. Helmut Kuhn, of the University's Philosophy department will speak on "Aesthetics in Contemporary Art."

Membership in the club comprises all interested persons who attend the meetings, which will present from time to time speakers on various topics of current value.

Frosh And Sophs

All freshmen and sophomores are asked to go to their advisers this week to obtain their mid-quarter grades.
