SCHINHAN GIVES CONCERT TONIGHT IN MUSIC HALL

Doctor To Present Own Improvisations On Musical Themes

Dr. Jan Philip Schinhan, professor of music, will inaugurate something new in University organ concerts tonight at 8:30 in Hill Music hall by improvising on musical themes submitted by members of the audience. This will give students the opportunity to hear any original tune which may be running through their minds played in concert style by a doctor of music. Dr. Schinhan is well known for his gift for elusive art of improvisation and has also composed several successful songs and orchestral works.

The rest of the program will be divided into three sections, each section representing a different school: Concerto in C major, No. 4, Bach; "Adorn Thyself, Dear Soul," Bach; "Suite Gothique," Leon Boellmann, five short pieces by Percy Whitlock and a choral prelude on the "Andernach," Healy Willan.

REWORKING

Concerto in C major No. 4 is a reworking by Bach of an original composition by Vivaldi.

"Adorn Thyself, Dear Soul" is Bach's setting of a famous Old Lutheran hymn tune.

Leon Boellmann's "Suite Gothique" represents the French school. Boellmann was an Alsatian by birth trained in Paris in the last years of the nineteenth century. The Suite is in four parts: Introduction-Choral, Menuet Gothique, Priere a Notre Dame, and Toccata.

The pieces by Percy Whitlock and "Aldernach" by Healy Willan are from the English school. Willan has held the post of choir master at St. Pauls and principal of the Conservatory at Toronto.

Swalin Addresses Meeting Of YWCA On Christian Music

Dr. Benjamin F. Swalin of the University music department addressed a YWCA group last night on the Christian church music of the middle ages.

The subject, he said, though it sounds formidable is important as it describes a developmental period necessary for the understanding of music. The Christian idea of God and death excited a new interest in religion and singing began in the churches when the congregation chanted its response to the psalms in joyful inspired speech.

Later this response between the priest and people was further developed into a response between one choir and another called an antiphon. This form as well as the psalmody and the early hymn for the praise of God had no harmony, only a single melodic line.

Pope Gregory, crowned in 590 A.D. took an interest in music and collected as antiphonal and encouraged choir singing. The present Gregorian chants are named for him although he did not compose them. All the early music was anonymous.

Senior Committee Will Meet Tonight

An important meeting of the Senior class executive committee will be held tonight at 8:30 in Gerrard hall to consider the class budget.

COMMUNITY SING AND MUSICAL QUIZ PLANNED TONIGHT

Cheerleader Hobbs Will Conduct Show; Bennett To Play

The first combined quiz and community sing in the history of the University will take place this evening at 7:15 in the main lounge of Graham Memorial, under the direction of Vance Hobbs, entertainment impressario of the student union. Tonight's show will be based on Kay Kyser's musical quizzes, heard over a national hook-up every Wednesday evening.

Jeep Bennett and his newly formed orchestra will furnish the musical background for the show, while Dr. Sherman Smith, of the University chemistry department, will lead the community sing.

Hobbs will serve as master of ceremonies, asking the musical questions of the participants who will be selected from the audience. Two groups, one of men and the other of women, will take the platform during the course of the evening to have their musical knowledge tested.

PRIZES

The winners of each division will then meet in a final round, to determine the grand winner of the evening. A prize of $2.50 will be awarded the winner, while one dollar will go to the runner-up.

Tonight's program will also mark the first time that Jeep Bennett's new band will play on the campus. Recently formed, the orchestra will feature the clarinet playing of Jeep. Bennett is not a new figure on the campus, having played and directed several bands in the past.

Dr. Smith has sung in several of the church choirs here, and is noted for his tenor voice. He is a professor in the chemistry department.

In the community sing, both old and new songs will be sung.

Rabbi To Present First In Series Of Sermons Here

Reviving an old custom, Rabbi Julius Mark of Vine Street Temple, Nashville, Tennessee, will be presented Sunday night, November 26, at 8 o'clock in Hill music hall as the first of a series of noted ministers who will preach University sermons here each month.

Rabbi Mark is a graduate of the University of Cincinnati, and did his graduate work in Chicago. He received his L.L.D. degree from Cumberland University. For the past 13 years, he has been a resident of Nashville. Previous to that, he resided for several years in South Bend, Indiana. Since he has been in Nashville, he has been active in various liberal movements in the South, and in civic clubs and social agencies in Nashville and Tennessee. Rabbi Mark has visited, lectured, and written about many of the European countries, and in 1933, he was an observer at the world economic conference in London. Sponsored by the YM and YWCA, in collaboration with other groups, Rabbi Mark will remain in Chapel Hill through Monday, November 27, for conferences. Immediately following the sermon Sunday night, an informal reception will be held at which time members of the audience will have a chance to meet the speaker.

Di-State Debate

Students interested in the Di-State College debate to be held in Raleigh November 16, will meet Pete Willingborn today at 10:30 on the second floor of the YMCA, it was announced last night.

Student Directory

The student directory for 1939-40, published by the YMCA, came off the presses yesterday afternoon. Bound in a brown cover, it contains information on the class, local address, and home town of each student in the University.

Windecker Elected

George Windecker has been elected honor councilman for the third year pharmacy class, it was announced by H. W. Greene, president of the class.

Speaker Bankhead To Represent Congress At Opening Of New Government Building

Will Attend Opening Of Government Building

North Carolina senators and congressmen, who have accepted invitations along with Speaker William Bankhead of the house of representatives to participate in the opening of a new Institute of Government building here November 29. Left to right: Congressmen John H. Kerr, A. L. Bulwinkle, Senator Robert R. Reynolds, Congressman Carl T. Durham, Senator Josiah Bailey, Congressman Harold D. Cooley, Speaker Bankhead, Congressman W. O. Burgin, R. L. Doughton, Graham A. Barden, Lindsay C. Warren and Zebulon Weaver. Congressmen J. Bayard Clarks and A. D. Folger were unable to be present when this picture was made.

STATE OFFICIALS AND LEGISLATORS WILL MEET HERE

Several Hundred Visitors Expected November 29

Speaker William Bankhead of the House of Representatives will accompany the North Carolina congressional delegation here November 29 to meet with several hundred representatives from city halls, county courthouses, state departments, and federal agencies in North Carolina at the formal opening of the Institute of Government laboratory building, it was announced yesterday by Director Albert Coates.

The invitation to Speaker Bankhead to represent Congress on this occasion was extended by Representative Lindsay Warren of the First congressional district, supported by Representative Bob Doughton and other members of the North Carolina delegation. "Speaker Bankhead's acceptance of this invitation," said Mr. Coates, "is an indication of the national significance of this governmental movement originating in North Carolina and developing out of the life and experience of state and local officials."

These joint meetings of city councilmen, county commissioners and federal congressmen were initiated by the Institute of Government on a statewide scale in 1933 to interpret laws passed by Congress and the North Carolina general assembly, and to bring together city, county, state and federal legislators for systematic discussion of their interlocking, overlapping and conflicting problems. The state-wide meeting gave way to district meetings in 1936-7-8, and is being revived this year with the opening of the Institute governmental laboratory building.

Wednesday afternoon, November 29, will be devoted to registration of officials, inspection of the governmental laboratory building and governmental exhibits, a joint supper for local, state and federal officials, followed by the evening's program of discussion of governmental problems, culminating with Speaker Bankhead's address.

On Thursday morning city councilmen, county commissioners and state legislators will assemble by congressional districts in meetings presided over by Congressmen Lindsay Warren, John H. Kerr, Graham A. Barden, (Continued on page 4, column 2)

PHI PASSES BILL ON YACKETY YACK

Assembly To Ask For Coed Section

"Resolved: That the Vanity Fair section of the Yackety Yack be limited exclusively to Carolina coeds" was introduced by Bob Farris and passed by a vote of 27 to 7 at the meeting of the Phi assembly last night in New East.

The assembly decided to send a petition to Jack Lynch expressing its views on Carolina coeds in the Vanity Fair section of Yackety Yack. The committee for the petition consists of Representatives Farris, Barker and Kahn. The members also voted to have a committee appointed to write a letter to the TAR HEEL on the same subject. The committee members are: Representatives Thigpen, Burkheimer and Carr.

Representative Burton of the dance committee announced that Jimmy Farr and his orchestra will play for the Phi dance which will be held Saturday in Graham Memorial from 8:30 to 12. Bids for the dance will be issued to members during chapel period in the lobby of the YMCA every day this week.

The assembly passed with a vote of 24 to 16 the motion, "Resolved: That the two campus political parties should participate actively and openly in all campus elections. The motion that the passed motion be stricken from the records was defeated by a deciding vote by Speaker Dawson.

A large majority voted to back a movement to prevent friction between the Duke and Carolina campuses.

Try-outs for the Di-Phi freshmen debate will be held today at 2:30 in Phi hall in New East. All freshmen members of the Phi are eligible to try out.

Carolina Coed Weds Former Freshman

Miss Louise Opper of Savannah, Georgia, University junior and journalism major, and John Miles Zucker, former member of the freshman class, were married last Wednesday night in Bennettsville, South Carolina, it was announced yesterday.

Lincoln Kan acted as best man at the ceremony.

Negro Musician Presents Lecture, Recital Tomorrow

Dr. R. Nathaniel Dett, famous negro pianist, conductor, and composer, and present director of music at Bennett College in Greensboro, will present a lecture-recital on "Modern American Music" tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Graham Memorial, sponsored by the Carolina Arts group.

Dr. Dett is a member of Pi Kappa Lambda, honorary music fraternity, the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, the Song Writer's protective association, and is associate director of the American Choral and Festival alliance.

Dr. Dett received his bachelor's degree in music from Oberlin conservatory, his master's degree from the Eastman school of music of the University of Rochester, and honorary doctor's degrees in music from Howard university and Oberlin college. He has won the Francis Boott music prize and Bowdoin literary prize from Harvard university and a music award from the Harmon foundation.

The composer-conductor has appeared throughout the nation and in many European countries, receiving many tributes from newspapers. At one time he gave a request performance for the Queen of Belgium.

Endowed Colleges Warned Of New Financial Dangers

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 8.—The endowed universities in this country will have to go out of business, Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, declares today in The Saturday Evening Post "unless they face their financial situation frankly, set their house in order, develop a clear and defensible idea of what they are trying to do and make the public understand it."

The position of the endowed universities, he points out, is precarious because of the economic situation and the low interest yield on investments while the institutions supported by taxation are continuing their advance on all fronts.

Endowed universities, he says, might as well forget their endowments as the future of these funds is so speculative that no program can be based upon them. As a result of "going through the wringer" of economy from 1931 to 1935 it is unlikely that expenses can be cut much more, the article says.

POSSIBLE STEPS

Consolidation of institutions is advocated as one possible step, while Dr. Hutchins also suggests that smaller annual contributions might well be built up to take the place of a few large endowments, or that in some cases it may be necessary to use capital, instead of relying on interest, because it would be wiser investment to meet the needs of the generation of youths now pressing for education than to try to conserve assets for an unpredictable future.

"The needs of the country have changed since most of these institutions came on the scene" he declares. Because of long distances and the de-

SENATE TO PASS SCRIPT PETITION

Di Favors Change In Library Hours

Students will have an opportunity to sign a petition to the administration for reinstatement of Swain Hall script as legal tender in dormitory stores, the Di Senate decided last night. The petition will be placed in the lobby of the YMCA and in the dormitories.

The ways and means committee, represented by Chairman Edward Kantrowitz, reported that the committee thought such a petition would have more weight with the administration than one would from the dormitory managers themselves.

The senate also voted to send a petition to the librarian requesting that he make arrangements for keeping the library open on Sunday nights from 6 to 11 o'clock instead of on Saturday afternoons from 2 to 6 o'clock. The chair requested that Senator Frank Williams, who has been investigating the situation at the library, present this petition from the Di to the librarian.

DEBATE WITH STATE

A debate with the State College debate team has been arranged for the night of Thursday, November 16, by the Senate's debate committee. The debate will be on the bill, Resolved, That military training be abolished at State college and will be conducted as a clash debate, the rules of which were originated by Professor Edwin H. Paget of State College.

It was announced that the annual Di-Phi debate will be held next Tuesday night in Gerrard Hall at 7:45 after a business meeting in New West. Trials for this debate which will be between the freshmen of the two societies will be held at 2 o'clock today in Gerrard Hall. The subject of the debate is, "Resolved, That an R.O.T.C. be established at Chapel Hill."

IRC Sponsors Panel Discussion Tonight

The second panel discussion of the International Relations club during the fall quarter will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in Gerrard hall. The discussion will feature Dr. C. H. Pegg, Dr. C. B. Robson, and A. B. Dugan talking on "Will the Allied Neutrals Fight?"

Five Juniors Needed

Space is available for pictures of five more juniors in the Yackety Yack. Editor Jack Lynch announced last night. The first five to come to Wooten Moulton's today will get their pictures in, Lynch said. All juniors and seniors who have not selected their proofs should do so within the next two days, he requested.

Tryouts For Radio Will Be Held Today In 123 Peabody

General radio tryouts will be held from 3 to 6 o'clock in 123 Peabody, it was announced by Earl Wynn yesterday afternoon. All persons interested in radio production such as all types of actors, announcers, sound effects and turntable men, and control men were invited by Wynn to attend the tryouts. Persons interested in writing continuity for all types of programs were especially asked to come.

The purpose of these tryouts is to get better acquainted with the people that have tried out previously, and to give those that have been unable to try out previously a chance to try out, Wynn said.

From these tryouts, it is hoped that a more definite organization of the radio production group will result.

Today Is Last Day For Medical Test

Today is the last day that applications will be received for the medical aptitude test, it was announced from the division of natural sciences office, 203 Davie hall.

Premedical students who fail to take the test on November 28 will automatically become ineligible for admission to any American medical school in 1940. It is extremely important that all students who plan to enter medical school next fall register for and take this test, officials said.
