Legislature Disapproves Ban On November Buccaneer Issue; Favors Student Safety Council

Four New Members Elected To Group; Will Probe Budgets

Reaffirming its action on a previous Buccaneer bill, the student legislature last night voted 18 to 13 that it does not agree with the move taken by the student council in ordering all copies of the current November Buccaneer destroyed and a revised edition printed.

The student safety council bill, which had been tabled at a previous meeting in order that it might go through the ways and means committee for approval and revision, was unanimously passed.

At one of the first meetings of this year a bill was presented to the legislature which recommended that the Buccaneer be made independent of the University and that the University cease to collect compulsory fees for the maintenance of the publication. This bill was defeated by a large vote, which was reaffirmed last night as the legislature also voiced its opinion on the present Buccaneer crisis.

SAFETY BILL

The safety council bill provides that a student safety group be established on the campus for the purpose of enforcing certain standards of safe-driving and to advance safety education on the campus. The council is to be composed of the chief of police, dean of students, and representatives from each of the following: Woman's association, interdormitory council, and the interfraternity council.

The functions of the council are to be as follows: (1) The council will send a statement of the policy of the council with reference to automobiles to the parents of students. (2) A student license will be issued, providing that the student can comply to certain requirements. (3) Standards of safe-driving will be set up. (4) Licenses will be withdrawn upon the infraction of any of the standards. (5) Students operating cars for temporary periods will come under the jurisdiction of the council.

Assembly To Discuss Action Of Council On Buccaneer Issue

In an effort to find more of the student reaction to the suppression of the Buccaneer, the Phi assembly will open its discussion tonight at 8:30 in New East with the bill: "Resolved, That the action taken by the Student council on the November issue of the Buccaneer was too hasty and that the campus at large should have been more enlightened concerning the facts."

Views on peace and war will be discussed with the bill: "Resolved, That every state university should install optional courses in military training and aviation."

Enthusiasm Greater In Football Contest

The weekly football prediction contest being sponsored by the Book Exchange created more enthusiasm during the past week than any previous week and the scores were closer than in any previous contest, it was announced yesterday.

Due to the Carolina-Duke game this week-end, it is expected that a great many ballots will be cast daily during the week because of the keen interest in this game, and the Book Exchange has had more ballots prepared in order to give everyone a ballot for each day.

The winners of the Carolina sport shirts as prizes for last week's contest are:

B. G. Hawkes, Hugh Quinerly, R. G. Hodges, J. B. Neely, C. B. Kestler, Jim Currie, Mike Wise, J. V. Morgan, Ralph Griffin, Vernon Drewry.

Band Rehearsal

The University band will hold a marching rehearsal with instruments this afternoon at 5 o'clock on Fetzer field, it was announced last night.

FARR WILL PLAY AT SENIOR CLASS BUDGET MEETING

Balloting Process Goes In Effect Tomorrow Morning

Jimmy Farr's orchestra will play tomorrow during chapel period when the senior class meets in Gerrard hall to pass its budget, it was announced yesterday by Bert Premo, who was appointed by president Benny Hunter to see that the budget is passed.

Because of a recent student council ruling, all votes will be taken by ballot and collected immediately after the meeting, the results to be published in Thursday's TAR HEEL. "A pledge must be signed on each ballot," said Premo, "so it is imperative that ALL SENIORS BE PRESENT. This, unfortunately, is one time that the freshmen, sophomores and juniors can't help pass the senior budget. Our class has never had to call more than one meeting to pass any budget during the past four years. So let's keep up our record."

BUDGET ITEMS

President Hunter continued his explanation of the various items listed in the senior budget. Supplies and materials will take $35 and include stationary, programs and advertising for senior week, and ballots. Five dollars has been set aside for postage and telegrams, which will be used mainly

Plaid-Skirted Girls Give 'Highland Fling' On Franklin Street

Plaid-skirted girls from Flora MacDonald college gave a fetching glimpse here yesterday afternoon of Paul Green's historical drama "The Highland Call," which will open in Fayetteville next Monday night.

The dancers performer on Franklin street before a crowd which gathered as they swung into "The Highland Fling." Their informal appearance here was part of a one-day tour of towns and cities in this section to arouse interest in Fayetteville's historical celebration next week.

Heading the tour was John A. Oates of Fayetteville, chairman of the celebration. Also accompanying the dancing troupe was Miss Ethel Bateman, of the Flora MacDonald faculty, who is in charge of dances for "The Highland Call," and W. B. Harrill, of Fayetteville.

The party was met in front of South building by Dean R. B. House and Roy Armstrong, pre-college guidance director. After the performance on Franklin street Mr. Armstrong es-

Scene From Graff Ballet

Writers Acclaim Graff Ballet Which Comes Here Thursday

Critics Of Two Continents Have Praised Second Student Entertainment Program

Grace and Kurt Graff and their company will appear in the second student entertainment of the quarter, when they present their program of theater dance in Memorial hall Thursday evening. The Graffs have appeared in many European centers and in several cities throughout the country, receiving laudatory notices from critics of the leading musical publications.

Billboard, in commenting on the plays which the ballet troupe appeared in, wrote, "The ballets trained by Grace and Kurt Graff proved to be the highlights of the production. 'Renaissance,' a Graff choreographic creation, is a masterpiece in conception and costuming."

BALLET IS SATIRE

Marion Schillo, in her column in the American Dancer, states, "Viennese Trilogy," a new ballet by Grace and Kurt Graff, set to the music of Castelnuovo Tedesco, is a satire on the Vienna of today. The Graffs have here portrayed with continental suavity a stark drama of night life—its awful studied facetiousness. It is a brave venture to embark upon, requiring consummate artistry from choreographer and performer... the portrayal assumes the proportions of a masterpiece, amplified into a truly great portrait of such historical significance that ten years from today, or even twenty, it will still maintain its value."

Walter Winchell also acclaimed the ballet, writing in his column, On Broadway, "The Graffs are a Class A dancing combination. They reveal

Board Appropriates $425 For Revamped Issue Of Buccaneer

STUDENTS MEET TONIGHT TO PLAN FOR INSTITUTE

State Officials Will Gather Here November 29

Representing every county in the state 300 students will meet this evening at 7:30 in Gerrard hall to discuss plans for receiving their local officials at the opening of the Institute of Government November 29.

Working with the Institute in planning the celebration, Bob Magill and Jim Davis, representing the Graham Memorial student union and student government, sent out the invitations over the week-end.

Albert Coates, in charge of the dedication, will present the plan of dividing the group into congressional districts, each of which will elect a chairman to take charge of a unit of the state students.

BANKHEAD TO SPEAK

A complete state-wide representation will attend the opening, at which North Carolina congressmen and Speaker of the House William Bankhead will speak. Joint meetings of city councilmen, county commissioners, and federal congressmen will be held to help interpret laws passed by Congress and the State Legislature, and to bring together city, county, state and federal legislators for systematic discussion of their interlocking prob-

Walt Kleeman Accepts Woodhouse Challenge For New Deal Debate

Walter Kleeman, president of the International Relations club and the debate council, yesterday accepted a challenge issued November 9 by E. J. Woodhouse, professor in the University political science department, to any Republican in the state to hold a debate on the conflicting platforms of the New Deal and the GOP.

Kleeman's letter, addressed to the TAR HEEL, follows: To the Editor, Dear Sir:

It was with pleasure that I read in your publication that Professor E. J. Woodhouse had issued a challenge to any Republican in the state to debate him on the conflicting platforms of the GOP and the Democratic party.

COMMENDATION

Professor Woodhouse certainly deserves commendation for bringing such a vital issue to the fore on this campus, and I accept the challenge. Especially I anticipate a discussion of the foreign policy of the present administration.

It was with even greater pleasure

President Says Revised Edition Due By Friday

Writing finis to one of the most controversial campus issues in several years, the Publications union board yesterday appropriated $425 for the printing of a revised November issue of the Carolina Buccaneer.

The board thus extended its support to action of the student council in ordering the current issue destroyed just before its scheduled distribution. The council had made the order because of possible complications throughout the state resulting from issuance of the magazine.

In announcing the decision, President Ed Rankin said the board would take steps in the near future "to prevent a recurrence of such losses." He did not discuss what steps would be considered.

REMAINING ISSUES

"We feel sure that Bill Stauber (editor) realizes the situation as to state-wide criticism and will act accordingly in the remaining issues," Rankin said.

"Stauber has been as cooperative as possible and will begin work on the revised edition immediately. The new Buc should be on the campus by Friday afternoon at the latest."

Rankin also said that a good portion of the scrapped issue would be used in the revamped edition. The center section and several other parts of the magazine will be used, he said.

COUNCIL'S LETTER

The meeting of the PU board was called after receipt of a letter from Jim Davis, president of the student body, informing of the student council's action ordering "that the PU board be directed to destroy all copies of the present November Buccaneer, returning the material to the editor for revision and change for another November issue to be printed as soon as possible to replace the present, destroyed, issue."

Senate Will Limit Session Because Of Freshman Debate

A special order on the issue created by student council action in ordering suppression of the November issue of the Carolina Buccaneer will replace regular calendar bills at a meeting of the Di senate tonight at 7:15 in New West.

The session will be limited in order to allow members to attend a debate between freshman members of the senate and the Phi assembly, which will be held in the main lounge of Graham Memorial at 8 o'clock.

Query for the freshman debate is Resolved, That an ROTC unit should be established on the University campus.

Representing the Di will be Wesley Bagby, Graham Carlton, and Randall McLeod, with Sinclair Jacobs and Jesse Mock as alternates. Speaking for the Phi will be Bob Wright, Lewis Welles, and Faison Barnes, with Tom Bell as alternate.

Judges will be Professors E. J. Woodhouse, George McKie, and E. H. Hartsell.

Dr. E. L. Mackie was the speaker at the sophomore cabinet meeting last night in one of a series which the cabinet is conducting on the subject. "What Is Man?" He discussed man from the standpoint of the scientist, that "Man Is a Complicated Animal."

It was announced that the picture of the cabinet for the Yackety Yack will be taken tomorrow morning at 10:30 in front of the YMCA.

The speaker next week will be Dean R. B. House, it was said. Alex Bonner, president of the cabinet, presided over the meeting and introduced Dr. Mackie.

YM Membership Cards

YMCA membership cards may be procured in the YMCA building this morning at 10:30.
