Carmichael Appointed UNC Controller

White Phantoms Open Season With 58-49 Victory

GLAMACK LEADS CAROLINA RALLY WITH 27 POINTS

Cagers Tangle With Catawba Tonight At 8

By SHELLEY ROLFE

In danger of falling completely out of sight several times in the early parts of the game, the Carolina basketball team hit something approximating top form in the second half and defeated Appalachian, 58-49, at Woollen gym last night in its first regularly scheduled game of the season.

Refusing to believe the reports of sensational White Phantom successes against some of the best semi-pro teams in the state, the Mountaineers led by a tall Hill-Billy named Byron Stuart, who stood under the basket tapping in field goal after field goal, began scoring points in wholesale lots midway the first period, kept adding them with amazing speed and led, 26-23, at the half. At the time great fear was expressed among the spectators for the safety of the Carolina team and many felt the boys might have difficulty answering the bell against Catawba tonight in the gym at 8 o'clock.

SECOND HALF

But there came the grand awakening in the second half. The Phantoms took over the point-making controls. Mr. George Glamack became the scoring biggie; Paul Severin and Jimmy Howard the spark-plugs and when it was all over Glamack had 27 points and Carolina the victory. Bill Lange, who is handling his first Tar Heel outfit, didn't say so, but he knew that he had a club that would be able to keep above water in any kind of competition once it begins operating with mid-season efficiency.

Carolina took an early lead and held a 16-11 margin at quarter-time.

JACKIE COOGAN TO APPEAR HERE IN STAGE PLAY

Theater Corporation To Present "What A Life" January 16

Jackie Coogan, child star of the movies, will appear on the campus with a cast of several minor motion picture and stage stars next Friday when the Legitimate Theater Corporation of America presents Clifford Goldsmith's "What A Life."

Coogan will play the role of Henry Aldrich, a 10-year-old high school boy, and as the teacher's pest he is the inevitable center of turmoil in school life. His campaign to win the heart of the glamorous junior class president is a highlight of the drama.

PRODUCES OWN PLAY

The play itself was selected by Burns Mantle as one of the ten outstanding plays of the season and ran on Broadway for two seasons. George Abbott will direct the comedy and is one of the few top-flight producers to take the trouble to direct the play he produces.

In addition to Coogan the cast includes Frank McGlynn, who will play the role of the high school principal, Mr. Bradley; Miss Cyrilla Dorne, who plays the part of Barbara Pearson, student sweetheart of Henry Aldrich; and Miss Josephine Dunn as secretary to the high school principal.

The play will be presented on one night only, January 12. All seats for the performance will be reserved and prices will range from $1.65 to fifty cents. Tickets may be obtained at Ledbetter-Pickards or at 316 South Building.

"Spike"

Gentlemen, this is Glen Gray, better known as "Spike," who will bring his Casa Loma band to the campus to play for the Mid-winter German dances February 16 and 17.

CASA LOMA BAND TO APPEAR HERE FEBRUARY 16, 17

Orchestra Co-Stars Kenny Sargent, Hunt On Vocal Selections

Glen Gray and his Casa Loma band will play for the Mid-winter German dances February 16 and 17, Louis Sutton, secretary-treasurer of the German club, announced yesterday.

The nationally known band features the singing of Kenny Sargent and Walter "Pee Wee" Hut. Glen Gray, who is known as "Spike," has been leading the band only about two years. Before that time he played the saxophone and there was no regular "front" man.

Smooth and swing arrangements are performed in excellent style by the band, which consists of 16 members. Among the favorite popular tunes played by the swingers are "Blue Or" (Continued on page 4, column 1)

Lacking Finishing Touches, New Dining Hall Is Now Open

$210,000 Plant Can Seat Over 1,050 Persons

The recently completed University dining hall went into operation Tuesday as the winter quarter began and students returned to the campus to resume work.

The $210,000 plant is a great improvement over Swain hall, the old cafeteria, and will be capable of serving more meals and at a lower cost to the student.

The new dining hall, which will have over twice the seating capacity of Swain hall, or 1,050, includes three separate dining rooms, two cafeteria and one luncheonette style, and is said to be one of the finest and most modern in the country.

LOCATION OF BUILDING

The structure, which is 200 feet long and 121 feet wide, is located directly south of the Law Building and east of the Commerce School, directly between and in close proximity to both classrooms and dormitories.

Atwood and Weeks of Durham were the architects, and A. H. Guion and Company of Charlotte the general contractors.

It was constructed with a Federal PWA grant and loan as a self-liquidating project. The University's share is to be paid out of the revenues therefrom without a cent of cost to the state.

The old dining hall was feeding approximately 1,400 students at the low average daily cost of 70 cents for three and 50 cents for two meals, and making a small profit at the same time.

FEEDS ECONOMICALLY

University authorities estimate that the new, modern plant will enable it to cut labor and other expenses, rather than increase them, and to feed still larger numbers for the same or less money.

E. F. Cooley, manager of the dining hall, has received much of the credit for its about-face in popularity and business the last three years.

The year before he took it over, the number of boarders had fallen from 600 to approximately 250 students (the rest ate at private places out in town), and with each drop in patronage food and service naturally fell off further.

This was not the fault of the University nor the students nor those in charge at that time. The plant and system had just gone out of date, even as they do in private businesses. And the University did not have the funds at the time to renovate and remodel.

SWAIN HALL REOPENS

After a year's shutdown, a limited sum was finally made available, and with a little paint and remodeling, plus a change to cafeteria style, Swain (Continued on page 4, column 3)

LEE WIGGINS IS ELECTED NATIONAL CHAIRMAN OF ASU

Local Student Picked At Meeting In Wisconsin

Lee Manning Wiggins, president of the University chapter of the American Student union, was elected national chairman of the ASU at its fifth annual convention at the University of Wisconsin December 27 through 30.

He was one of several speakers on the Wednesday program whose opinions on "America's Attitude Toward the Second World War" was broadcast. The same evening a program on "The United States and the Soviet Union" included as speakers: Browder, communist party leader; Yakhonoff, former officer in the Czarist Russian army; and Seidman, socialist party leader.

DISCUSSIONS HELD

Round table discussions of "Foreign and Domestic Policy," "Role of the University in War," and "Building the ASU" were held Thursday and Friday. Recommendations from these small group meetings were the basis for resolutions adopted by the conference at full meetings Friday afternoon and evening.

Keynote of the meeting was "Keep America Out of War." The union voted to begin a drive to raise $10,000 to finance peace propaganda. Resolutions were passed by the conference endorsing the CIO legislative program, progressive farm legislation, reasserting its belief in civil liberties, academic freedom, repeal of the poll tax, and its opposition to any kind of American participation in European wars. Wiggins succeeds Molly Yard, of Washington, D. C. as chairman of the ASU. Miss Yard is now organizing secretary of the Far Eastern student service fund, which is organized to aid Chinese victims of the war in the East.

Approximately 500 delegates from high schools and colleges all over the United States attended the conference. Wiggins was the only representative from Carolina.

In his position as chairman he heads the executive committee which directs the activities of the national organization for the year. The committee is composed of 50 members, three of which are full time employees in the New York office of the union.

U. S. Voters Lead Students In Support Of Roosevelt

American Student Opinion Surveys Make Coast-to-Coast Referendum of Collegians

Although a good majority of American college students continue their approval of Franklin D. Roosevelt as president, campus opinion has not kept pace with the increasing support that the U. S. voter has been giving the chief executive since the European war broke out.

A coast-to-coast referendum of collegians taken by the Student Opinion Surveys of America shows that more than three out of every five "generally approve of Roosevelt today as president." This is only nine-tenths of one percent less than the vote of approval students gave F. D. R. a year ago this month, according to the continuous index of his popularity that the survey has kept. These scientific polls of college thought are conducted through the cooperation of nearly 150 member undergraduate newspapers, among them the DAILY TAR HEEL.

MAKE COMPARISONS

Significant are the comparisons that now, after more than a year of measuring student opinion, the Surveys can make with other national polls. It is clearly shown that the moving world and national events of recent months have not influenced student opinion as much as national opinion, which since the start of the war has far outstripped the collegians in approval of the president. Here is the record:

Approve of F.D.R.	Dec. '38	Now
Poll of U.S. Voters	55.5	64.9
Poll of U.S. Students	62.8	61.9

Thus, while last December there was a greater percentage of students in favor of Roosevelt than there was of voters, events since then have caused the rank and file to change its (Continued on page 2, column 4)

BATTLE OF MUSIC FEATURES FARR, JOHNSON BANDS

First Grail Dance Of Winter Quarter Slated For Saturday

The Order of the Grail will present a "Battle of Music" featuring orchestras led by Jimmy Farr and Freddie Johnson at the first Grail dance of the winter quarter Saturday night, Richard Worley, exchequer of the order, said yesterday.

For the first time this school year, the Tin Can will be the place of amusement. Since it may be decorated in a more elaborate manner than the Woollen gymnasium, the building will be transformed into a colorful ballroom. Streamers of purple and white crepe, the Grail colors, will be used in decorations. Both bandstands will be appropriately arranged.

SURPRISE ON TAP

To many students, particularly first year men and transfer students, the interior of the Tin Can and the elaborate manner in which it may be decorated will come as quite a surprise.

Those board members attending are: Jim Davis, president of the student body; Fred Weaver, assistant to Dean of Students Bradshaw; Martin Harmon, editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL; Bob Magill, director of the student union; and Dewitt Barnett, Graham Memorial film director.

TRUSTEES FINALLY NAME SUCCESSOR TO C. T. WOOLLEN

University Alumnus Is Selected For High Official Post

William D. Carmichael, Jr., of New York and Durham was elected to the office of Controller of the Greater University of North Carolina by the University board of trustees on December 28 at that board's meeting in Raleigh.

Although it involves a financial sacrifice from his present connections as a prominent New York business man and member of the Stock Exchange with his own firm, Carmichael has accepted the position. He will succeed the late Charles T. Woollen.

UNIVERSITY GRADUATE

The new controller is a graduate of the University with the class of 1921 and is a director and former vice-president of the University Alumni association. When at the University as a student, Mr. Carmichael was outstanding in scholarship and extra-curricular activities. He was a member of the basketball team and business manager of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

The Chapel Hill Weekly states: "It would be hard to find a man with a greater devotion to the University. He came by this devotion by inheritance. His father is a graduate of the University in the class of 1897 and it was here that his father and mother first met. He and his three brothers were students here. He was born and brought up in Durham, where his father was superintendent of schools before becoming an official of the Liggett and Myers Tobacco company."

AIR CORPS MEMBER

Carmichael was a member of the United States Army Air corps in 1918 and took his B.S. degree in 1921, and was a graduate student at the University the following year.

"Besides having natural ability, enriched by experience, he is sociable and engaging. He is the sort that 'knows how to get along with people.' He is interested in all manner of activities—the pastimes as well as the serious affairs of life. Persons like University professors, officials, and trustees might employ impressive (Continued on page 2, column 5)

SENIORS TO USE CARDS TO PASS BUDGET THIS WEEK

Council Loans $15 To Finance Mailing System

Post-card ballots for the senior class budget will be mailed to the fourth year students this week in the third attempt to secure an affirmative quorum in the voting, Benny Hunter, class president announced yesterday.

The Student council loaned the seniors $15 to finance the plan. Double cards will be mailed to the 594 seniors with a copy of the budget submitted by the executive committee on one half and a voting blank on the other where the senior may check his preference. The latter half has a reply address and is pre-stamped.

Hunter pointed out that the seniors can take the card from their boxes, check their vote and immediately mail the ballot without inconvenience. "It is very urgent that these cards be mailed promptly. The budget must be passed this time and I think this post-card idea will work," he said.

Passbooks

Athletic passbooks and Student Entertainment passbooks will be given out in Woollen gymnasium beginning today and continuing through January 13.
