ON THE CUFF

RALEIGH, March 1.—What with the party sponsors, all the basketball games, visiting celebrities and smooth, suave city slickers who are always willing to bet a million and lift bank-roll and expense money away from us poor country boys, you have to stay on your toes to notice everything that happens around here.

For instance who should happen by Thursday afternoon but Mr. James Francis Lalanne of Lafayette. Mr. Lalanne, looking as fit as ever, made the announcement he was ready to return to school next quarter, anxious to begin spring football practice, and most important of all, of course, prepared to give another amazing account of himself on the gridiron come next autumn.

The gentleman with the extremely educated passing arm quit his hotel-cleaning job in Greensboro Tuesday. "There's the matter of some studying I have to do before the spring quarter begins. I feel swell and I'll be out there for spring practice," Jim said.

Ray Wolf, hampered by weather, will hold spring workouts this year for the first time in the memory of a number of original natives. Maybe the head-man merely wants to give James F. an opportunity to get back in the football feel of things.

BACK TO BASKETBALL. . . The sophomores are about to run away with tournament honors. There's always been a brilliant sophomore or so every year to live things up and cause the jaded juniors and seniors to lift their eye-brows and wonder why such people have the energy, pep and vigor to bounce around at top speed for three days.

Three years ago it was Jim Walker; Banks McFadden after him and George Glamack and George DeWitt last year. The tournament rookies unveiled Thursday included Rapid Robert Rose of Carolina, Mearle Duvall of Maryland, and Clyde Allen and Bill Mock of Duke.

There will be no recounting of the heroic deeds of Our Bob. Rose started slowly but came around midseason and towards the close was positively the hottest scorer on the squad next to Glamack. Bob and George hung it on Clemson and if Rose does not merit some kind of All-Tournament mention then there is no justice in the world unless you have a bigger cannon than the other fellow.

Duvall merely supplied the impetus for Maryland to down seeded Washington and Lee. There wasn't much known about him before the tourney. The Terps didn't get down this way and word of their club was carefully concealed around College Park, Baltimore and Washington which are important metropolitan centers, having not much use for the rest of hick stops on the conference wheels. Mr. Duvall is from Baltimore, stands 5' 10" and shoots very much in the manner as McFadden. That gives you a general idea of how good he is. W & L got their idea (Continued on page 4, column 2)

Phantoms, Dolphins In Tourney Finals

THIRD CONTEST IS RUBBER GAME—ONE THAT COUNTS

By SHELLEY ROLFE

MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM, Raleigh, March 1.—Duke, seeded number one, moved into the finals of the finals of the conference basketball tournament with Carolina, ranked second, by defeating Maryland, 44-32, tonight without too much difficulty or effort.

The Blue Devils, hard-put to down Citadel in the opening round of play yesterday, were never in trouble this trip out. Maryland gave some sign of early resistance, but it promptly ended when Duke turned the steam on after the Terps had tied the score at 6-6. Thereafter it was a test to see how many points the Dukes could make when not pressed.

The Dukes will be hard-pressed to win the championship over Carolina tomorrow. Carolina has advanced to the finals over two tougher teams, Clemson and Wake Forest, than either Citadel or Maryland. The Phantoms have George Glamack at top operating speed. Duke has beaten Carolina once this season but even then it took a second half Carolina blow-up to hand the Devils the game.

Duke has Glen Price back in first rate shape. Price made a second half stand against the Citadel that got the Blue Devils into the semi-finals. It was his first serious playing in over a month and he was all over the court passing and shooting.

Price was hot again tonight. His floor-work was tops, his passing fast and true and his shooting—well, he collected 11 points and was positively the Duke man of the hour the second half.

Clyde Allen, who is edging Chuck Holley out of the first string center job game by game, made one more point than price to lead the scoring. Eddie Cameron kept changing players and not many of the Dukes were in action long enough to rack up points or make any kind of an impression.

Maryland suffered a tremendous let-down from its superlative effort against W & L in the first round of play. George DeWitt was woefully off; Mearle Duvall, the tall sophomore who made such a brilliant debut yesterday, couldn't get going the first half and only hit the basket three times the second. The Terps' fast break was slowed down to a walk. It just wasn't Maryland's night. Duke went to work early in the first half (Continued on page 4, column 1) and have almost the same team back with more experience, the Clemson mermen lost the 300-meter medley relay title and 10 points that go with it when Duke put Captain Dave Emmett in its medley team and won. The Durham swimmers went out in front with 10 points, Clemson got eight for second, Carolina got six for third, and William and Mary was awarded four and State two for fourth and fifth places.

The Tar Heels were never any better than fourth until Captain Ed Mueller started on his anchor 100-meter free style leg and sprinted home in third.

But when Emmett won the medley for Duke, he put himself out of a possible place position in the 200 and knocked the Duke team out of any chance it might have had of winning the meet. He qualified for only the 400, but even should he win, the Devils with only five other qualifying places don't have much hope.

Carolina meanwhile became the only one of seven teams sending up finalists in each of the seven individual events and it was claimed that should the Dolphins lose out today it should be blamed on sabotage or something very much like it. Sixteen Tar Heels survived the first day, while finalists for Duke numbered seven, State six, Washington and Lee five, William (Continued on page 4, column 4)

Baby Fencers Seek Second Win Today At AMA; Zeta Psi Remains Undefeated In Volley Ball

Zetas Defeat Dekes, End Season Unbeaten

Paced by the fine spiking of Wilson and Carr, Zeta Psi completed its regular volley ball season yesterday afternoon with a perfect record by easily trimming DKE in two games. The victors will meet Chi Psi, defending champions, Tuesday afternoon in a play-off game to determine the fraternity championship.

With Wilson and Carr doing excellent spiking and Davis making perfect set-ups the winners had little difficulty in taking the opening game 15-3. The second game was a different story as DKE, led by Hand, threatened by scoring seven points before going down under the spectacular playing of the entire Zeta team.

CHI PSI

Staging one of the finest rallies ever witnessed in intramural volley ball, Chi Psi completed a perfect regular season by downing undefeated Kappa Sigma 2-1. The defending title-holding team killed two birds with one stone as they not only halted Kappa Sigma's undefeated record but also moved into the fraternity play-offs against Zeta Psi, the only other (Continued on page 4, column 4)

Leading Scorer

George Glamack, the Ambling Alp from Allentown prep, hit the nets for 28 points last night against Wake Forest and helped the White Phantoms win. Glamack scored 28 points once before this season, when Carolina beat Davidson at Winston-Salem.

George Helps Shake Second-Half Lapse

Glamack made the points, and as has been the case most of the season it all added up to a Carolina win.

The Phantoms pushed off in the first half as if they had every intention of crushing the Deacons as effectively and as quickly as possible. Glamack made 18 markers and the half time count was 27-18.

Wake Forest showed remarkable second half recuperative powers in its first round game yesterday against Richmond and for a while the medicine seemed ready to work again. While Carolina could pick up only five points, Glamack had three and Mathes two, the Deacs went about the scoring business in a business and man-like fashion. They quickly made up the 10 point deficit. Finally tied the score at 33-33, but then fell behind again for good, as Glamack and Carolina pulled themselves together.

Mathes opened the period with a twisting shot from the right side of the court. H. O. Barnes made one of the same kind a moment later for the Deacons. Glamack pushed in a basket on a rebound of a pivot shot. Convery, having all the time in the world, sank a long shot.

Glamack clicked on a charity shot and then for almost seven minutes, Carolina made only two points. Wake Forest picked them up in wholesale quantities and threatened to make an almost miraculous come back.

Davis followed Glamacks foul with a free shot Barnes pitched in another field goal. He added two more markers on two foul shots. Glamack sank a free shot for the Phantoms that set the count at 33-27 and removed Pete Davis from the premises.

Barnes, very much the Deacon man about the court in the second half, slapped home another two pointer. Convery made a long shot and Sweel tied the count at 33-33 with a shot from mid court that marked the peak of the Deacon fortunes.

For Howard quickly sent the Phants back in front with a set shot from the right side of the court. Herb Cline missed a foul for the Deacons and Rose took the ball off the backboard and sent it down to Pessar who put in a field goal.

PHANTS IN FINALS

Lange put Glamack and Bobby Gersten back in the game and George responded with a foul and two straight field goals that once and for all indicated the Phantoms would be in the finals for the first time since 1937 when they were beaten by Washington and Lee.

It was all Glamack and too much Glamack the first half. George made the first five Carolina points while Vinnie Convery was picking up exactly one field goal for the Deacs.

With Glamack doing most of the pitching with his favorite bucket shots, the Tar Heels kept moving and got the score up to 17-4 before Wake Forest could find itself and hit something approximating even sub-normal form. Glamack had seven field goals and four fouls during the period. Dilworth, Howard, Gersten and Mathes each collected one two pointers; Dilworth had a foul.

Cadets are sure starters: lead-off star Murchison, who kept up a pretty fast pace in the first meeting, although he only won one, and Captain Walker, who almost dumped the Tar Baby wagon over by winning two, barely dropping the third but 5-4 to Sam Wallace.

IMBREY, WALLACE

Carolina will also have two of its three original starters on the strip. Howie Imbrey and Sam Wallace, in that order will begin for the Tar Babies, followed by either Tom Easterling or Sam McDuffie. Harry Vinokur will be the fifth man to make the trip.

Although Easterling, McDuffie and Vinokur are no slouches in foil, the majority of the point making will be looked for from Imbrey and Wallace. Imbrey stands a good chance of going undefeated today, for he has reached his peak in the past (Continued on page 4, column 5)
