Full Week Of Drama Begins With Delegates From 15 States

Religious Plays To Be Presented In Theater Today

By WALTER SPEARMAN

A full week of drama from 15 Southern states opens today with the first four days given over to the 17th annual State dramatic tournament and the last three days devoted to the Southern Regional Drama Festival.

This evening three religious plays will be presented in the Playmakers Theater by the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church of Greenville, Atlantic Christian College of Wilson, and the Fellowship Miracle Players of Asheville.

A presentation by a junior community group, the original play contest and production contest by senior colleges, the production contest for city high schools, and a presentation by community and WPA groups are scheduled for tomorrow; contests for city and county high schools, junior colleges are among Tuesday's features; and a directors' meeting and Little Theater and junior college contests are included on Wednesday's schedule.

REGIONAL THEATER

On Thursday morning, the regional theater festival will begin, with the theme of "Drama in the South" carried out by the production of nine one-act plays from seven Southern states, reports by directors of college and community theaters in 15 Southern states, and a series of luncheons, open forum discussions on the theater, and addresses by prominent theater personages.

President Frank P. Graham will bring greetings from the University and Frederick H. Koch, founder and director of the Carolina Playmakers, will discuss "Drama in the South," sounding the keynote of the festival. (Continued on page 2, column 3)

News Briefs

By United Press

LONDON, March 30 — Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, tonight forecasts the intensification of the European struggle at the possible expense of small neutral states, but emphasizes that the allied powers will strive to "live on good terms" with Italy and Japan. Toward Russia, Churchill takes a middle-of-the-road stand, declaring that "it is no part of our policy to see war" with the Soviet Union, and there is no need for the Soviets to be drawn into the conflict.

BERLIN—The German press hammers away with charges that diplomatic representatives of President Roosevelt were accomplices in what newspaper headlines call the "war guilt" of allied powers. The charges are based on purported official Polish documents published yesterday designed to put the blame for starting the war on Great Britain and France.

LONDON—Polish sources, without confirming the authenticity of the German White Book charging that United States representatives aided in starting the war, suggest that the Polish documents possessed by the Nazis must have been handed over to them by Soviet Russia.

NANKING—Wang Ching-Wei becomes head of a new Japanese-supported government of China and in elaborate inaugural ceremonies broadcasts a promise of close cooperation with Japan in the establishment of a new order in east Asia.

WASHINGTON—Secretary of State Cordell Hull announces in a statement reiterating this nation's condemnation of acts of aggression that the United States will not recognize the new puppet Chinese government which the Japanese have established at Nanking.

Silly Sensational Singing Sextet

Singing Clowns To Present Concert Of Classics, Jive For Entertainment Series

Comedian Harmonists Appear On Stage Tomorrow Night In Memorial Hall At 8:30

In a concert ranging from the classics to modern "jive," the Comedian Harmonists, a sextet of singing clowns, will appear in the first student entertainment program of the spring quarter tomorrow evening at 8:30 in Memorial hall.

A cross between the Ritz Brothers and the Metropolitan's "Sextet from 'Lucia'", the Harmonists have been featured vocalists in five continents during the last ten years. They just recently returned from a 32 week engagement in Australia.

After the trip back from "Down Under," the group told ship reporters that they definitely preferred high "Cs" to the high seas. It seems that on board ship, only Eric Collin, second tenor, maintained a state of equilibrium. At the outset of the trip, the sextet looked dubious at the prospect of the long journey, and would have called the whole thing off if they had not already been committed to make appearances. They finally decided to brave the storm, but took precautions before leaving.

SLUMBER IS SWEET

They repaired to their cabins, took potent sedatives and fell into a deep slumber. Eight hours passed in utter peace, and then they awoke, happy with the thought that they had overcome the elements.

Just as they came out of their contented visit in the realms of Orpheus, the Harmonists came up on deck and found, much to their dismay, that their boat, which had not budged out of port because of the storm, just weighing anchor and setting out to sea.

After the sextet concludes its tour of the United States, the group will (Continued on page 2, column 6)

Student Legislature Will Set Election Date Tomorrow Night

Proposed Bill Places Date For April 18

At its first meeting of the spring quarter the student legislature will tomorrow night take action on a bill drawn up last week by the ways and means committee setting Thursday, April 18, as the date for election of campus officers for 1940-41. The meeting will be called to order at 9 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

According to the proposed bill, official nominations will be held Tuesday, April 16, at 10:30. Student body officers will be nominated in Memorial hall; senior class, in 103 Bingham; junior class, in Di hall in New West; and sophomore, in Phi hall in New East.

State College Boy Named To Succeed Dees As President

A banquet at the Carolina Inn last night followed by the election and installation of new officers for the coming year brought to a close the 11th annual North Carolina Student federation which has met here for the past two days.

New officers elected for the coming year were Bill Friday, of N. C. State, president; Henry Bahnsen, of Davidson, vice-president; Adelaide Curtis, of St. Mary's, secretary, and Virginia Cothran, of Queens, treasurer. Friday succeeds Bill Dees, of Carolina, as president of the federation.

Individual discussion groups and a talk by William B. Aycock, former president of the North Carolina Student federation, were the highlights of yesterday's program.

INTRODUCES MEMBERS

Bill Dees, president of the federation, introduced Aycock who addressed the afternoon session at the Carolina Inn.

"The trouble with most student governments," Aycock said, "is that not enough participate. Every college student who becomes a good American citizen will take an active part in city, county and national government after he leaves college."

"It is your duty, as student government officials, to educate your student body," he said. "Let them know the aims and purposes of your student government. Until you have mass (Continued on page 2, column 5)

T. Z. Koo To Address Joint Cabinet Meeting

"The Needs of Students in Our War Torn World" will be the subject of a talk by Dr. T. Z. Koo, World Student Christian Federation secretary, at a joint supper forum of the Freshman Friendship council, the sophomore YMCA cabinet and the junior-senior YM-YWCA cabinets tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Presbyterian church.

Reservations can be made at the YMCA. The cost will be 25 cents per plate.

Freshman Chapel

Fred Weaver announced yesterday that the first freshman chapel of the spring quarter will be held tomorrow. All freshmen must attend.

STAFF TO NAME CHOICE FOR NEW EDITOR OF BUC

List Of Those Eligible To Vote Is Released

Opening a week of publications staff nominations, members of the Buccaneer magazine staff will meet tomorrow night at 7:15 in the banquet hall of Graham Memorial to make the official staff nomination for editor of the magazine next year.

The next issue of the Buccaneer will be the final one for present editor Bill Stauber. After this, the new editor, who will be elected in the general campus elections next month, will assume office and publish the final issue of the year, the May number.

OTHER PUBLICATIONS

Other nominations for editor will be made by the remaining publications, the Carolina magazine, the Yackety-Yack, and the DAILY TAR HEEL, during the rest of the week.

Those students eligible to participate in the nomination tomorrow night are: Mack Hobson, Bill Seeman, G. B. Lamm, Henry Moll, Gene Witten, Charles Colby, Dave Blalock, Bobby Koch, Sanford Stein, Norman Levinson, Simons Roof, St. Clair Pugh, Larry Ferling, Jack Mitchell, Elbert Hutton, Helen Plyler, Skipper Bowles, and Courtland Dawson.

"Refreshments will be served in case there is a tie," Editor Stauber said yesterday.

YW-YMCA TO OPEN DRIVE TO HELP FOREIGN STUDENTS

Koo Will Begin Campaign With Talk Tomorrow

A drive to secure funds for foreign students in warring countries will open tomorrow and continue through Thursday under the direction of the YMCA-YWCA.

A talk by Dr. T. Z. Koo, secretary of the World Student Christian Federation, in Gerrard hall at 10:30 will open the campaign. At the same time coeds will solicit contributions at the YMCA. Posters will be put up in the dormitories and business establishments in Chapel Hill.

A supper forum will be held tomorrow night at the Presbyterian church at 6:30 at which Dr. Koo will speak on "The Role of Students in the Present Day World."

MEAL DONATIONS

Wednesday night each student will be asked to contribute a sum equal to the price of his meal that night to the fund. Boxes will be placed at the cashier's desk in the new dining hall and the larger eating establishments downtown for this purpose. The fraternities will be asked to contribute the same amount either individually or as a group.

The goal of the campaign is to secure 300 dollars to contribute to the general fund being collected by the International Student Service of Geneva, Switzerland, and the National YMCA-YWCA of Shanghai, China to aid needy students in Europe and Asia. The Far Eastern Student Service Fund is collecting 35,000 dollars in the United States, as the intermediary of these international groups, to rehabilitate Chinese and Japanese students and help them go on with their education despite the war. The European Student Service Fund is similarly collecting 35,000 dollars for the relief of students in France, Rumania, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Finland, Germany, Poland, and Czechoslovakia. Bradshaw To Speak At Bull's Head Tea

Continuing the practice of having weekly teas, the Bull's Head bookshop will give its first tea of the spring quarter Wednesday afternoon at 4:15 in the staff room of the library. Dean Francis F. Bradshaw will discuss Mortimer J. Adler's "How to Read a Book."

Roof Accuses Green Of Misconstruing Platform Statement

Says Mag Editor's Letter Needs Interpretation

By BUCKY HARWARD

Accusing Magazine editor Allen Green of completely misconstruing his platform statement opposing staff nominations, Simons Roof, Carolina party nominee for the editorship of Magazine, yesterday continued his exposition of the injustice of staff nominations. His statement was as follows:

"I wonder if it were not a bit presumptuous of Allen Green, in yesterday's TAR HEEL, to refute 'charges' supposedly made by me 'particularly at the Magazine' which were never made. I fail to see the validity of his sudden vehemence. Furthermore, his own statements need generous interpretation. His statements were made 'in regard to charges of dirty politics' in publications staff nominations."

"He choose one of three points I announced in opposition to staff nominations, erroneously personalized it, and completely misconstrued it. Throughout my original remark I not once mentioned either Allen Green or the Carolina Magazine. My original statement is this: (Continued on page 2, column 4)

Miss Charlotte Hamilton

MISS HAMILTON TO GIVE RECITAL THIS AFTERNOON

Contralto Opens Spring Quarter Union Programs

Miss Charlotte Hamilton, Montclair, New Jersey, contralto, will inaugurate the spring quarter series of Graham Memorial concerts this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the main lounge of the student union, when she presents a program of varied classic and light modern compositions.

This afternoon's concert will be divided into four parts, each presenting a different period of musical life. Miss Hamilton will begin with several eighteenth century folk-tunes, among which are: "My Days Have Been So Wondrous Free" by Francis Hopkinson; "I Know Where I'm Goin'," an Old Irish tune; "Drink to Me Only with Thine Eyes," an Old English song; and "An Elegy on the Death of a Mad Dog" by Milford.

COSMOPOLITAN PERIOD

The second part, representing the Cosmopolitan period will feature "Songs My Mother Taught Me" by Dvorak; "Tune Thy Strings" also by Dvorak; "Lithuanian Song" by Chopin; and "Hopak" by Moussorgsky. Part three will consist of a lively ditty from Saint-Saens' "Samson and Dalila," "Amour! Viens Aider." The concluding portion will consist of "Thou Art Like a Flower" by Ada Weigel Powers; "A Little China Flower" by Leoni; "Yellow" by Marsh; and "Awake! It Is the Day" by Cecil Burleigh.

Miss Hamilton is at present on a tour of the East and middle-Atlantic states. Previous to her appearance here this afternoon, she gave a concert at Columbia university in New (Continued on page 2, column 6)

Dr. T. Z. Koo To Give Sermon At 8 O'Clock Tonight In Hill

Dr. T. Z. Koo

... lecturer ...

President Graham Will Introduce Chinese Speaker

Known to thousands of Americans as one of the ablest and most interesting Orientals who have come to this country, Dr. T. Z. Koo, speaker, world traveler, and Christian leader, will deliver the first University sermon this quarter tonight at 8 o'clock in Hill music hall.

Starting work as a railroad executive in China, Dr. Koo later determined to work with the Christian forces in that country and became one of the outstanding world leaders of the Christian movement. He joined the staff of the national committee of the Young Men's Christian association of China, with special responsibilities toward the colleges and universities, to which duties was later (Continued on page 4, column 2)
