

26 Coeds Are Nominated For Participation In May Court

EDITORIALS:
Last Line Of Type

The Daily Tar Heel

THE ONLY COLLEGE DAILY IN THE SOUTHEAST

"The moving finger writes: and having writ
Moves on: nor all your piety nor wit
Shall lure it back to cancel half a line,
Nor all your tears wash out a word of it."
—Omar Khayyam.

Z 525

VOLUME XLVIII

Business: 9887; Circulation: 9886

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., SUNDAY, APRIL 21, 1940

Editorial: 4356; News: 4351; Night: 6906

NUMBER 152

Davis Announces 12 Run-Offs, 9 Recounts

National Hook-Ups To Air CPU Affair

News Briefs

By United Press

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., April 20.—President Roosevelt calls upon his party to nominate a liberal candidate for the presidency and charges that Republican candidates are offering only a return to 1929 conditions which precipitated the worst social and economic collapse in history.

STOCKHOLM—British, French and Norwegian troops are reported massing at three points on the west coast of Norway for a powerful counter-offensive against the German army north and south of Trondheim.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y. — Rescue workers, aided by searchlights and watched by thousands of spectators, continue to extricate more torn bodies from the twisted, steel wreckage of the crack express, the Lakeshore limited; 27 bodies have been removed and a death toll of at least 30 was indicated; nearly 100 were injured.

BERLIN — German armed forces mark Hitler's 51st birthday anniversary with report of smashing air and sea blows against the Allied powers, but admit that British expeditionary forces have landed south of the Norwegian west coast port of Trondheim.

LONDON—Great Britain's powerful naval and air forces report that they have fought off an intensive fighting Nazi aerial attack in Norwegian waters and that an Allied expeditionary force has occupied "certain points of vantage" in the Scandinavian counter-offensive against Germany; air ministry reports that German planes flew over the Thames estuary vicinity before midnight without inflicting damage.

WASHINGTON — Democrats open fire on District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey thereby adding somewhat to the evidence, reportedly of his backers, that he is the leading man for the Republican presidential nomination.

April showers which turned into driving downpours send streams out of their banks in the Ohio, Alleghany-Monongahela and Connecticut river valleys; the American Red Cross and WPA order immediate emergency aid to the inundated area.

Openings Available For Dorm Advisers

Students interested in securing the remaining dormitory adviserships must apply at the dean of students' office in South building before May 10. The pay is $75 a year. Applicants must be either rising juniors or seniors or graduate students. Duties will consist of acting as counselor and guide to the freshmen in the respective dormitories.

Invitations On Sale Through Wednesday

Late orders for commencement invitations will be taken until Wednesday in the lobby of the Book exchange every morning from 10 to 11 o'clock and every afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock. Mac Nisbet and Buddy Nordan, co-chairmen of the senior invitations committee, announced yesterday. After Wednesday the price of the invitations will increase.

Sound And Fury Note

There will be a very important rehearsal of the first and second scenes of the Sound and Fury show, "One More Spring," tomorrow night in Memorial hall. The first scene will be rehearsed at 7 o'clock and the second scene at 9 o'clock. Please be prompt and bring scripts.

Campus Organization Celebrates Birthday Tuesday Evening

State and national hook-ups will carry the fourth anniversary celebration of the Carolina Political Union Tuesday evening, Harry Gattton, chairman of the union, announced last night. Burton K. Wheeler, senior senator from Montana now making his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, will be the featured speaker of the evening's program.

Julian Price, president of Jefferson Standard Life Insurance company, will give a dinner for Wheeler, several visiting Congressmen, and members of the CPU in the Carolina Inn at 6:30 before the far western senator makes his address in Memorial hall. During the course of the banquet, the University broadcasting studio will have a roving announcer who will informally interview the guests. This program will be carried over a state-wide WBIG network.

WHEELER'S ADDRESS

Senator Wheeler's address, which is expected to deal with either labor legislation or the international situation, will begin at 9:30 sharp, at which time all the doors of Memorial hall will be locked. The program in Memorial hall will get underway at 9 o'clock with the introduction of the visiting Congressmen and other guests from the nation's capital and throughout the state. At

(Continued on page 4, column 5)

30 OIL PAINTINGS ON EXHIBITION IN PERSON HALL

Russell T. Smith Will Lecture This Afternoon

Thirty oil paintings by seven important contemporary artists compose one of the outstanding exhibitions of the season at Person hall art gallery.

The exhibit opens today at 2 o'clock, and continues through May 12. The artists represented are Jon Corbino, Nicolai Giflovsky, Bernard Karfiol, Katherine Schmidt, Lamar Dodd, Maurice Grosser, and Frank London.

The paintings by Corbino are being shown through the courtesy of the Macbeth gallery of New York city, and paintings by Giflovsky, Karfiol, and Schmidt, through the courtesy of the Downtown gallery of New York City. The other canvases

(Continued on page 4, column 5)

Dorsey And Father Played One-Nighters In Coal Regions

Tommy Learned His Music On Brass Before He Joined Popular Band In 1924

Tommy Dorsey and his famous orchestra, who will play for a public concert opening a series of five events, including two tea dances and two evening formal next week-end in the annual dance series, the May Frolics, are comparatively young.

It was in Shenandoah, Penn., that Dorsey made his debut as a musician. His father, an accomplished instrumentalist, gave Tommy an intensive training through instruments of the brass section before the trombone was selected. Dorsey and father played one-nighters together, travelling through the coal regions of Pennsylvania.

Becoming interested in popular music, Tommy joined Jean Goldkette's band in Detroit in 1924. That en-

(Continued on page 4, column 5)

Don Bishop And Charles Barrett

Pictured above are Don Bishop, recently elected editor-in-chief of the TAR HEEL, and Charlie Barrett, lately appointed managing editor, both of whom will take over their new duties tonight at the annual installation banquet. Making their farewell speeches will be editor Martin Harmon and managing editor Morris Rosenberg.

Borders Defends ASU Program Against Dies Committee Probe

Questions Right Of Committee To Investigate

William Borders, executive committeeman of the ASU yesterday issued a statement defending the policies of the ASU against the coming of investigation of communism in the University by the Dies committee. His statement is as follows:

"The coming of the Dies Committee circus to town is turning many eyes on the ASU, on the assumption that it will be the main victim of the inquisitorial scrutiny. I should like to bring to the attention of the campus that it is not only those who have stuck their necks out for progress, for peace, and in the defense of civil liberties who are endangered by the activities of this committee.

"First I should like to state briefly the ASU program as the best reply to all charges of subversive conspiracy. "We want peace. We want to keep this country out of war by avoiding any and all actions which endanger our neutrality. This position, adopted at the last convention, has become increasingly popular among the public in inverse proportion to the growing menace to our neutrality.

"The ASU believes in democracy. It believes that the principles of democracy should extend into all phases of our life—on the campus, in the class rooms, in political forums. This includes the right of students to learn from all available sources, their right to organize as they see fit, to hear any

(Continued on page 2, column 1)

Free Student Guide Service Established For Spring Visitors

With hundreds of visitors and sight-seers arriving at Chapel Hill every week-end, especially now that the dogwood and other beautiful flowers are in full bloom, a free student-guide service has been established at Carolina. It was announced yesterday by Administrative Dean R. B. House.

Each Sunday afternoon headquarters of the guide-service will be open at the Old Well in the center of the campus, and visitors may request the services of students to conduct them on tours or drives through the campus and village.

The Coker Arboretum, which has more than 500 species of native and exotic plants, Bowman Gray memorial swimming pool, Woollen Gymnasium,

(Continued on page 2, column 5)

Check Shows Possible Miscount In Campus, Class Head Races

15 GIRLS TO BE CHOSEN TUESDAY IN COED VOTING

Burroughs, Hudson, Corbett, Winton In Race For Queen

By VIVIAN GILLESPIE

Twenty-six girls were nominated yesterday for the May court, from which 15 will be chosen in an all-coed election to be next Tuesday.

The queen and her two attendants will be chosen from among Bobbie Burroughs, Melville Corbett, Louise Hudson, and Bobbie Winton. The fourth girl in this group will be a member of the court.

Peggy Leonard, Betty Kennison, Jeanne Herrmann, B. J. Johnson, Barbara Liscomb, Helen Ann Jacobs, Janice Cobb, Pat Dickinson, Susan Fountain, and Ruth Curtis Robeson were nominated from the senior class. Five of these ten girls will take part in the court.

JUNIORS, GRADUATES

Six girls will be chosen from among the following juniors and graduate students. Ethel Laidlaw, Jane Putnam, Alice Murdoch, Frances Dyckman, Marjorie Johnston, Elinore Mayer, Sara Frances Crosby, Frances Bucklew, Eleanor Jenkins, Jane Gassaway, Mary Susan Robertson, and Rose Winther.

The girls were picked on a basis of height and grace, as well as beauty. Senior girls predominate because the May court is considered a senior honor. The girl receiving the highest number of votes among the group nominated for queen will be the queen of the May court. The two girls receiving the next highest votes will be her attendants, and the fourth girl will make up one of the six seniors in the court.

The nominating committee was made up of members of Alpha Kappa Gamma, a representative of AD Pi sorority, and a representative from each women's dormitory. This method of selection was decided on at the recent Women's Association meeting.

Bishop Calls Staff Meeting Tomorrow

Present members of the DAILY TAR HEEL staff who intend to work on the paper next year will hold an important meeting tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 when the new staff will be announced, Don Bishop, incoming editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL, said last night.

IRC Sponsors Student-Faculty Quiz On International Affairs

Woodhouse, Godfrey Face Kleeman, Lerche Tomorrow Night

A student-faculty quiz program will be conducted by the International Relations club tomorrow night at 7:30 in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. Dr. E. J. Woodhouse of the political science department and Dr. J. L. Godfrey of the history and social science department will oppose Walter Kleeman and Charles Lerche of the International Relations club.

Questions on international affairs of a factual nature will be asked by the audience. Questions will be submitted to the speakers through the chairman, Manfred Levey, president of the club. Each contestant will be asked ten questions, and will be scored on these. A prize will be awarded the expert with the highest score.

Davis Expresses Regret, Promises Finals Tomorrow

By LOUIS HARRIS

As the results of last Thursday's elections still remained shadowed with doubt, Jimmy Davis, outgoing president of the student body, last night said that 12 candidates had requested run-offs in next Thursday's election and nine others had requested recounts by student council members.

Miscounts in races for secretary-treasurer of the student body and for the presidency of the rising sophomore class seemed probable, since in the former, the total vote was 160 off the count for the student body president's vote, while the latter was a full 100 off in one precinct alone.

Davis said last night that all recounts and checks would be done by student council members, and added, "We are sorry for the confusion which has reigned since Thursday's election, but we will have definite, final results when the votes are checked tomorrow." Members of the honor councils, student council, and various other parties counted votes in last week's balloting.

Run-offs were requested last night

(Continued on page 4, column 2)

McKIE TO GIVE PUBLIC READING OF BROADWAY HIT

Program To Begin At 8:30 Tonight In Campus Theater

"Life With Father," the dramatization of Clarence Day's delightful story of family life at the turn of the century, will be read by Dr. George McKie, of the English department, this evening at 8:30 in the Playmakers theater.

The reading, which will be open to the public without charge, is the sixth in this season's series of Sunday evening play readings offered by the Carolina Playmakers. Opening with Professor Frederick H. Koch's monologue performance of "Hamlet," the program has included appearances of Paul Green, Samuel Selden, Earl Wynn and Elmer Hall.

"Life With Father," which has been running on Broadway since last Nov.

(Continued on page 4, column 5)

Dr. Hornell Hart To Deliver Final University Sermon

Taking for his topic, "Life Ought to Be Thrilling," Dr. Hornell Hart, professor of sociology at Duke University, will deliver the final University sermon of the year here next Sunday night, April 28 at 8 o'clock in Hill hall.

Born in St. Paul's, Minnesota, Dr. Hart graduated from Oberlin college, Oberlin, Ohio, and did graduate work at both the University of Wisconsin and the University of Iowa. He has taught at the University of Iowa, Bryn Mawr, Hartford Theological seminary, and has been teaching at Duke since 1938. In 1930 and 1931, he was an investigator for President Hoover's commission on social training.

A lecturer on social and religious

(Continued on page 4, column 1)