Di, Phi Will Discuss Coed Cheerleaders

Dr. Newsome Will Address Di Session

Reception Planned For Old Members

The problem of the continuance of coed cheerleaders and drum majorettes will receive a thorough going-over when the Di senate meets tonight at 7:15 in New West for the first session of the year.

A bill is slated to be introduced stating that "duly chosen coed cheerleaders and majorettes of the University of North Carolina continue to serve actively," with promise of a lively discussion.

The opening address of this first meeting will be delivered by Doctor A. R. Newsome, of the history department, who will speak on the contributions of the Di to the history of the University. Dr. Newsome will be introduced by Arthur Link.

Following the address the meeting will be turned over to regular business, including discussion of several bills.

Immediately after adjournment, a reception for all old members and guests will be held at a place to be announced. At this time freshmen and others interested in the activities of the Di will be introduced to the fall quarter officers of the organization.

Perrin Quarles is president; Truman Hobbs, president pro tem; Diana Foote, clerk; Randall McLeod, sergeant-at-arms; and Noland Ryan, critic.

A welcoming committee has been appointed to make arrangements for the session, greet the newcomers, and provide for the reception. Randall McLeod, chairman of this committee, has announced that all interested freshmen are invited to attend.

Playmaker's Work Will Be Reviewed By Proff Koch

Dr. Frederick H. Koch will show more than 100 slides of Playmaker activities in a lecture tomorrow evening, at 7:30 in the Playmaker Theater. His subject is "Adventures in Playmaking," reviewing his experiences during the past 22 years in folk playmaking.

Famous Playmakers who will be pictured on the screen and in word sketches, include the late Thomas Wolf whose last novel, "You Can't Go Home Again" has been published this fall; Paul Green, author of "The Lost Colony" and "The House of Connelly" which will be presented by the Playmakers during the year; and Kay Kyser, nationally known orchestra leader, radio and screen star. Med Students Must Take Test

All students planning to study medicine were reminded yesterday that medical aptitude test is required by the Association of American Medical Colleges as a prerequisite for admission to medical schools. The test is offered only once a year and this year the date is November 8, 3 p.m., Room 206 Phillips Hall.

Applications should be made as soon as possible, and not later than October 19, to Dr. R. E. Coker, Chairman of the division of the natural sciences, Room 207 Zoology Building. Time is required for securing from the central office the necessary number of tests. It is necessary only for the applicant to write on a card: "Medical Aptitude Test" with his name and address and then deposit the card in the box provided in the Zoology Building, or in a mail box with proper postage.

THEY BEAR THE BURDEN of leading student and faculty leaders into an intelligent, unprejudiced decision on the very mixed-up coed cheerleader-drum majorette situation. President Graham, left, issued a statement yesterday accepting responsibility for and clarifying the administration's views. President Morrison has been a leader in defense of student freedom.

President Graham Accepts Responsibility for Action

Statement Clears Coed Situation

"I accept full responsibility for the action taken at Saturday's game in connection with the coed cheerleaders," Dr. Frank Graham, University President, said in a statement late last night.

The statement was made in an effort to clear up many of the rumors that have been circulating around the campus in connection with the failure of the coed cheerleaders and drum majorette to appear at the Wake Forest-Carolina game Saturday.

A committee, appointed by President Graham, Dean House, and Dave Morrison, president of the student body, met this afternoon and discussed the issue at length. However, no action has yet been taken. The group will meet again this afternoon.

Officially both Jane Rumsey and Jeanne Connell, the coeds who are the center of the controversy, are still active members of the cheering squad. Boots Thompson, the new drum majorette, has yet to perform with the band, but Rumsey and Connell appeared in action at the Carolina-Appalachian game on September 21.

President Graham's complete statement concerning incidents that have taken place to date is as follows:

"With regard to Saturday's advice from athletic authorities and from the adviser to women, in view of the attitude toward the situation and developments for that game, it was decided best that women students not participate.

"The administration including Dean House, Dean Bradshaw and myself concurred in the advice.

Town Boys Meet Tonight

Plan to Elect Four Legislature Delegates

Four representatives to the Student Legislature will be elected at the first meeting of the Town Boys association tonight at 7:30 in Memorial hall so that they may attend the special session of the Legislature tomorrow night, President Pat Winston said yesterday.

Administrative Dean R. B. House and Intramural Athletics Director Herman Schnell will speak at the meeting.

Six representatives, the number allotted to Town Boys, were elected last spring, but four of these did not return as town residents this year.

Secretary Charles Pittman also did not return as a town boy and a new secretary will be elected.

Schnell in his speech will outline intramural activities planned for the (Continued on page 4, column 6)

Tumbler Design Wanted By Nelson

Charlie Nelson took time out yesterday from his current cheering problems to announce that his squad of pepper-uppers is sponsoring a contest for the best design for the new tumbler with the squad, Johnny Feuchtenberger. The wampum awarded will be in the form of two greenbacks ($2.00) in trade at Jack Lipman's haberdashery emporium.

The design is to be in Carolina blue and white and on the general theme of a clown. The finished designs are to be turned in at Lipman's store not later than 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The winner will be announced in the DAILY TAR HEEL at a later date.

The tumbler will do acrobatics in front of the University band while it is on the field and will act with the cheerleaders in whipping up the student section at athletic events.

Phi Speaker Will Deliver Inaugural Talk

Plans Started For Broadcast

The present controversy over the participation of coeds as cheerleaders and drum majors will be discussed by the Philanthropic assembly at its regular meeting tonight, which will be held at 7:30 in Phi hall, fourth floor New East.

The bill, as drafted by the officers of the Assembly, reads as follows: "Resolved, That the coed cheerleaders and drum majorette should be given a fair trial."

Sloan Will Speak

Speaker Bob Sloan will open the year's work at tonight's meeting, the first this quarter, with his inaugural address, "The New Phi Assembly."

The second bill up for discussion at the meeting is "Resolved, That the Phi Assembly favor the establishment of a 'Willkie for President' Club on the campus."

Plan to Broadcast

Sloan declared that plans are being made to conduct in the near future a broadcast similar to that staged by the assembly last year.

All members of the assembly will be allowed to take part in the broadcast.

In reviewing last year's work, Sloan declared that the broadcast by members of the assembly from the University station was one of the outstanding of the year.

Other projects conducted last year included the Freshman Reception Ball, and a campus poll conducted to ascertain sentiment concerning the invitation to Bund Leader Fritz Kuhn to speak at the University.

Freshmen and other new students are especially invited to attend tonight's meeting and take part in the discussion.

Adie Addresses North Carolina Welfare Institute

The United States will "never have an adequate general relief program throughout the country," David C. Adie, New York State Commissioner of Public Welfare, told the 21st North Carolina Public Welfare Institute here tonight, "until we apply the principle of federal grants-in-aid for general relief administered by local subdivisions with state supervision."

"The burden is too great for the states and localities to carry alone," declared the Scottish-born head of the nation's largest welfare agency, "and the Federal government is too remote from the scene of operations to determine the needs of the local relief population."

The welfare workers settled down to their schedule of five courses today. Mr. Adie's address was the highlight of the general night session, presided over by the North Carolina Commissioner, Mrs. W. T. Bost. Two social events, a reception and square dance, concluded the day's crowded program.

Dissecting and weighing the many-sided relief problem and programs, Mr. Adie advocated putting both relief and works progress on a permanent basis, but gearing them closely (Continued on page 4, column 1)

LEGISLATOR — Martha Clampitt, above, was elected representative to the Student Legislature by the Woman's association yesterday. She fills one of about 25 places which were still vacant when Speaker Bill Cochran called an early special session to settle the perennial Buc problem.

Buc Action Is Deferred

Legislature Will Organize Tomorrow

The Buccaneer problem will not come up at tomorrow night's session of the Student Legislature, Speaker Bill Cochran said yesterday.

The call meeting, which will be in Gerrard hall, will be purely an organizational session, he said, and will not be open for spectators.

"We don't want to organize in too big a rush because the committees that will have to be appointed and the chairmen who will be elected will have to serve throughout the year," he said.

To Meet Every Night

"The Legislature will meet every night, however, until all immediate business has been settled including the Buccaneer. As soon as organization has been completed all sessions will be open."

The work of electing the representatives not already chosen got under way yesterday as the Debate council, the Woman's association, the Pan Hellenic council, and the four women's dormitories held their elections.

Martha Clampitt will represent the Woman's association and Julia McConnell, the Pan Hel. The dormitories were scheduled to hold their elections at 10:30 last night.

Tom Long Elected Debate Chairman

Tom Long was chosen chairman of the Debate council last night at its first meeting of the year.

Other officers elected were Ed Maner, executive secretary and Maury Kershaw, representative to the Student Legislature.

A meeting of the squad was called for tonight at 9 o'clock in the Grail Room on the second floor of Graham Memorial.

The squad is not a formal organization and anyone interested in debating may attend the meetings. Discussions of topics of current interest are held and from them debates are organized and debaters chosen.

The Debate council is made up of four students and three faculty members. The campus at large elects two of the members in spring election and the Di senate and Phi assembly elect one member each.

This year's student members are Tom Long and Ed Maner, campus representatives; Maury Kershaw, from the Di; and Bill Ward, the Phi. Faculty members are Dr. William Olsen, public speaking professor; E. J. Woodhouse, professor of political science; and Dr. George McKie, professor of English.

Woman's AA Meets

Woman's Athletic Association will meet this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Woolen Gym lounge. All managers and officers are asked to attend.

Representative Group Has Long Debate

But No Decision Reached; Past Events Clarified

A decision on coed cheerleaders and drum majors—an issue which flared to white intensity over the weekend—was tossed yesterday in the lap of a nine-man committee of student, faculty and administration leaders.

The committee debated for hours yesterday on advisability of coed cheerleaders and drum majorettes and on whether the administration invaded student freedom in dealing with the matter last week.

It was emphasized that all previous actions merely concerned Saturday's game and that a permanent solution would be worked out by the committee. President Graham, Dean R. B. House and Dave Morrison appointed the committee and are expected to receive its recommendations late today.

The committee agreed that athletic games, where cheerleaders and drum majors appear, are not student events alone but three-way affairs among students, administration and faculty, and alumni and public.

Concerning Saturday's Game

Chief development in the group's discussion was the revelation of the somewhat "accidental" way in which the situation developed concerning Saturday's game.

It was stated that all developments were in a conversational stage, until Friday morning when administration leaders gathered to consider the mounting swell of criticism and comment spreading throughout the state.

The consensus of that meeting was virtually unanimous that it would be unwise for the girls to appear at Saturday's Wake Forest game. However, reportedly no particular person or office was given responsibility for (Continued on page 4, column 5)

John Diffendal Chosen Secretary Of University Club

John Diffendal was elected secretary of the University club at the club's regular meeting last night. He will replace Grady Stevens, who was called away from school for National Guard duty.

During the two hour session, provision was made for several new members of the club to replace those members absent this year due to ineligibility and other reasons. The new members will be selected at a future meeting.

Another meeting of the club has been called for Thursday night at 7:30 in the banquet hall of Graham Memorial, it was announced last night by President Ferebee Taylor. This was deemed necessary because of the unusual amount of business to be cleared up.
