Heavy Vote Forecast For CPU Poll Today

Ballot to Reveal Campus Reaction To Conscription

A heavy student vote—approximately 2,000—is expected today in the Carolina Political Union's questionnaire poll designed to reveal campus reaction toward the conscription bill and presidential campaign issues.

Voting precincts, to be supervised by Union members, will remain open in the YMCA lobby from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m., and in the cafeteria lobby during meal hours.

Operation of this year's poll will vary somewhat from previous ones in that the CPU will use the printed ballot instead of the customary voting machine.

Instead of tabulating the votes on a total basis, Chairman William Joslin said that they would be classified this time according to political party, sex and home states. "This method of tabulation, he said, should indicate regional feeling toward the issues.

Today's vote should reflect a significant light on the current campus activity of the ever-querying Willkie and Roosevelt club scouts.

"We hope," Joslin said, "that all student will avail themselves of this opportunity to show how they feel about conscription, about fighting for Britain, and about the presidential candidates, because they will be the ones who will have to bear the burden of the rearmament program and who will have to do the fighting, probably under the leadership of the man chosen by the voters in November."

Joslin left this morning for Washington, where he hopes to make definite arrangements with the Roosevelt and Willkie forces to send high party officials to the campus to explain in detail the questions listed on the ballots.

Politicking on the campus for both presidential nominees has been more intense than during any national campaign in recent years, observers say.

Carolina Dames Fete Students' Wives At Inn

The Carolina Dames, a social organization of wives of students, held its first fall meeting in the Carolina Inn Tuesday night, with Mrs. T. Wilmot Wood presiding.

An introduction party was held to acquaint old and new members, after which several reports were made, including roll call by Mrs. E. S. Miller. Sixty-two were present.

Patronesses for the organization presented at the party were: Mesdames C. P. Spruill, M. A. Hill, Jr., J. B. Woosley, Frank W. Hanft, Robert B. Sharpe and Arthur P. Hudson. Mrs. Robert Osborne, last year's president, traced the history of the group and led a game session.

Announcements by activity chairmen were given by Mrs. Emil Epple, book group; Mrs. A. W. Pierpont, dances, supper parties and bridge; and Mrs. William W. Bass, sewing group. Plans for a tea honoring married couples in the University, which will be given October 6, at Graham Memorial, were discussed.

Square dancing, Carolina's most popular social activity during both sessions of summer school, will be presented to the entire Carolina student body Saturday night for the first time.

Sponsored by Graham Memorial, dancing will take place in the Tin Can from nine until 12 o'clock. Music will be furnished by the Chatham County Ramblers, and admission is free.

"Both boys and girls are invited Saturday night," Richard Worley, director of Graham Memorial said, "and either can come without an escort."

Worley also stated that those who have never attended a square dance before are especially invited to attend. "They will be taught what to

Final Napier Rites Today

No Services To Be Held Here

Funeral services for Benjamin Napier, French instructor who ended his life here early Tuesday night, will be conducted by the Rev. Nutt Parsley, pastor of St. Joseph's Episcopal Church in Wilmington at 3 o'clock today in Long Cane Church near Greenwood, S. C.

His body was removed yesterday to Duke hospital for cremation and will be sent back to the Andrews Funeral Home at 9 o'clock this morning, from where the procession will leave immediately. There will be no service in Chapel Hill.

Napier had been in ill health for some time and was recuperating from pneumonia. He left a Durham hospital Monday, September 23, and had taught several classes this fall.

President Graham and several members of the romance language department have expressed regret at the loss of a brilliant man.

Napier, a native of Fayetteville, was graduated from the Wilmington High School and attended Virginia Military Institute a year before entering the University, from which he was graduated in 1931. He traveled

Paul Green's Play Featured Loretta Young

Beautiful Loretta Young, the movie star, took the part of Eleanor Dare, mother of Virginia Dare, first white child born in America, in a radio version of Paul Green's "The Lost Colony" which was broadcast from WEAF in New York last night.

Green's historical drama which has drawn thousands to Manteo during the last three seasons, was presented as the first in a new series of "Cavalcade of America" programs sponsored by Du Pont.

do in just a few moments, and during the remainder of the evening they will have the time of their lives," Worley added.

On Square Dancing
Commenting on square dancing Worley said:

"Square dancing and folk dancing has a psychological value in educational work. It is a superior method for teaching beginners to dance.

"It is attractive for many reasons. The formations in groups, circles, and squares, with frequent changes of partners, make them truly social. If hilarious enough to make good wholesome fun."

A large crowd is expected to attend, as this is the only social event taking place on the campus this week-end.

Grads Seek Legislature Representative

Smith Dormitory Asks Amendment To Constitution

As the Student Legislature convened last night for the first time under the new student government constitution a movement was already under way to add an amendment to the document.

Under the leadership of Harry Ganderson, secretary-treasurer of the Graduate club, a petition will be circulated shortly in an attempt to give Smith, the graduate men's dormitory, a representative in the legislature.

If one-sixth of the student body signs such a petition the Student Council is required by the constitution to call a general campus referendum within 20 days after it receives the paper.

"Graduates are part of the student body and deserve representation in student government along with undergraduates," Ganderson said yesterday.

Four Graduate Dorms

There are four graduate dormitories, only one of which is directly represented in the legislature. Woman's dorm No. 3 has a representative. Carr, the law students' dorm, and L, the med students' dorm, are represented only by the law and med school representatives. Smith is not represented at all.

Sentiment has been strong on the campus for several years to give graduate students more representation in student government, but little was done toward that end until the present constitution was drawn up last spring allowing the law and med schools one representative each in the legislature. There was some talk last year of giving graduate students a representative on the Student Council.

Smith dormitory is not even represented in the legislature through the Interdormitory council.

"This amendment proposal will give

Hardy Appoints 69 Seniors To Class of '41 Committees

Williams to Head Executive Group

By Orville Campbell

Herb Hardy, senior class president, yesterday named 69 seniors to compose eight committees which will conduct senior class activities during the year.

In making the appointments Hardy stated that every student was selected on his ability to serve the class, and not on the political pull or power they might hold on the campus.

"Every member of the senior class was considered in the selection," Hardy said. "When I was elected president of the class last spring I made no political promises, therefore it was easy for me to select the best possible students for each committee," he added.

Last year, Benny Hunter, senior class president, named 75 students to the various senior class committees. Felix Markham, senior class prexy in '37, made only 26 appointments. Committee Chairman

Kenan Williams, who was appointed chairman of the executive committee by Hardy, heads the list of chairmanships. Other committee chairmen include Bill Wall, chairman of the ring committee; Bob Farris and Al Hewitt, co-chairmen of the invitations committee; Charles Barker, chairman of the senior regalia committee; Coleman Finkel and Allen Grimes, co-chairmen of the cap and gown committee; Archie McIntosh, chairman of gift committee, and Carl

Japanese Warn of 'All or Nothing' Struggle if Americans Ban Exports

By United Press

TOKIO, Oct. 3.—(Thursday)—The newspaper Asahi warned British and Americans today that if they banned oil, rubber, and tin exports to Japan the Japanese would choose an "all or nothing struggle" rather than "waiting for death."

The newspaper said there was an opportunity for Anglo-American reflection toward eliminating unnecessary international friction but added that the new tri-partite pact most likely will cause a stiffening instead of a softening of Anglo-American Far Eastern politics.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Relays of British heavy bombers striking deep inland behind Germany's coastal invasion force tonight attacked a chain of Nazi air dromes in a savage assault aimed at wrecking the hopes of Adolf Hitler's aerial siege of Britain.

The assault followed wide range bombing blows, 24 hours earlier in which Berlin was said to have been shaken by "terrific explosions" that ripped apart vital war plants in the northwest outskirts and heaped destruction on 20 cities and seaports.

Sanford New Ways-Means Chairman

Buc Comes Up In Committee This Afternoon

By Philip Carden

Terry Sanford was elected chairman of the ways and means committee of the Student Legislature last night as the body organized for the year in less than an hour without any fireworks.

Immediately after adjournment, Sanford called an open meeting of his committee this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Grail room of Graham Memorial to start work on the Buccaneer proposal.

No one was nominated to oppose Sanford and the election was made unanimous. This procedure was followed also as the Legislature lethargically elected Ridley Whitaker reading clerk, Johnny French parliamentarian, Sam Leager chairman of the rules committee, and George Hayes sergeant-at-arms.

The only offices for which two nominations were made were the chairmen of the elections committee and finance committee. Jick Garland was chosen finance chairman over Mary Clinard and Martha Clampitt was unanimously chosen elections head when Mitchell Britt asked that his nomination be withdrawn.

Speaker Bill Cochrane appointed the following members of the ways and means committee: Mitchell Britt, Martha Clampitt, W. J. Smith and Sam Leager. Other appointments were postponed until tonight.

Dave Morrison made a brief talk late in the meeting emphasizing the importance of swift but clear thinking on the Buccaneer issue as well as another problem of "great importance" (Continued on page 4, column 1)

New Cheerio Club Meets Tonight at 7 In Gerrard Hall

The second meeting of the newly formed Kay Kyser Cheerio Club has been set for tonight at 7 o'clock in Gerrard Hall, it was announced yesterday by cheerleader Charlie Nelson.

The main purpose of the meeting will be to approve the constitution drawn up by the Constitution Committee and to select the officers for the coming year.

New yells and stunts prepared especially for the T. C. U. grid battle will be aired for the first time.

The club, started this year by the cheerleading squad, is modeled after the cheering sections organized by Kay Kyser when he was head cheerleader here. It is strictly an honor group using special routines, yells, and possibly card displays. As a trained group, it will be utilized as a nucleus for the student body at athletic events so that more concentration (Continued on page 4, column 3)

News Journal Seeks Typical Collegians

Underneath those plaid packets and knee high red hose there lurks the heart of America's typical collegians and the Durham News Journal is out to prove it.

News Journal photographers are swarming the Hill campus snapping candid shutters like mad to find this mythical being and turn him, and her, into flesh and blood replicas. Between the evening hours of 3 and 5 there awaits a camera on the second floor of Graham Memorial and if you think, have the slightest notion, or intuition, or other psychic information to the effect that you may be the typical Betty Coed or Joe College, why drop around.

You ain't got nothin' to lose. Which makes it a safe bet at any rate. Last year's pair of saddle shoes, and your kid brother's plaid coat, grampa's checkered vest, and the plaid skirt of some highland lassie that you picked up at a bargain counter for premium prices may pay dividends yet. Drop around. As the guy says, you may be it. Who knows?
