

Students Favor Entry In War To Save Britain

CPU Poll Shows Roosevelt Leads On Campus, 2-1

By Ransom Austin

University students, casting a record-breaking consensus vote of 2,000 in the Carolina Political Union's questionnaire poll Thursday, went on record heartily favoring American entrance, if necessary, into the European War to save Great Britain from defeat.

The final tabulation showed a total of 1,113 votes favoring participation as against 860 disapproving and 40 undecided. Besides this military sentiment, students also freely sanctioned civilian military conscription by the overwhelming count of 1669 to 860, with 40 votes cast in the undecided category.

Students were none the less hesitant in placing the affirmative check on this question: Would you favor establishing military training at Chapel Hill? The vote of 1220 to 675 favoring the issue was somewhat a surprise to CPU officials because of past anti-military meetings and discussions by various student organizations. There were only 22 ballots in the undecided bracket.

Roosevelt Leads 2-1

The presidential race, which has drawn torrid comment on the campus and provoked razor-sharp activity among Willkie and Roosevelt supporters, will be won by President Roosevelt if the 1338 votes placed in his favor, as against 603 for Wendell Willkie, are indicative of his national strength.

North Carolina students stuck tenaciously by the old tradition—voting decisively democratic—and registered 791 votes for Roosevelt, 302 for Willkie, 15 for Thomas, four for Browder, and one for Garner.

Out-of-state students were not as liberal with their Roosevelt votes as were North Carolinians, but nevertheless gave the sizeable count of 339 for the president, with 234 going to Willkie, 13 to Thomas, two to Laguardia, one for LaFollette and one for Browder.

One of the most salient features of the poll was the manner in which

Sound and Fury Still Receiving Applications

The Sound and Fury office on the top floor of Memorial hall will be open on Monday and Tuesday from 2 until 4 o'clock for the benefit of those who weren't able to attend the meeting held yesterday. The organization is very anxious to recruit all talent this fall and urges that applications be filled out immediately.

Plans for the year are already well underway. Director Carroll McGaughey discussed the various phases of the productions with a large group of old and prospective new members yesterday afternoon. Special emphasis, he said, will be placed on chorus work and it is expected to be one of the best features in the winter revue and in the musical comedy to be presented next spring.

A membership committee will choose 75 students from the applicants within the next week and send cards to the chosen members.

Berle's Speech To Be Broadcast

Assistant Secretary of State Adolph A. Berle's speech will be broadcast Monday night from Memorial hall, Manfred Rogers, president of the International Relations club, said yesterday.

Station WDNB of Durham as well as other stations throughout the state will schedule the 45 minute talk at 8 o'clock. A recording of the speech will be made by WPTF of Raleigh, to be broadcast later in the evening.

The United States official's talk is the first to come from the state department in several months, and is of particular significance because of the present international crisis. Berle is an authority on Pan-American affairs, and it is probable that he may speak on some phase of Western Hemisphere defense.

Elliott Puts 33 Juniors on Committees

Erwin Bowie, Bill Alexander Are Chairmen

Following closely on announcement of senior class committees, Pinky Elliott, president of the junior class, yesterday named 33 third-year men to lead class activities for the year.

"After carefully considering the leaders of our class and the positions," Elliott stated, "I chose those whom I felt are best suited for them."

"In selecting these committees I have tried to get ample representation and yet keep them small enough for cooperation and efficiency," he said.

Erwin Bowie was named chairman of the executive committee while Bill Alexander, last year's sophomore class president, is chairman of the dance committee.

Members of the committees are:
Executive committee: Jimmy Helms, G. I. Kimball, Horace Benton, Bill McKinnon, Deever Biggerstaff, George Hayes, Stanley Leary, John Smith, Julian Hawkins, Ann Peyton, Morty Ulman, Lloyd Hollingsworth, Ellen Wimberly, Charles Pyle, Gwynn Nowell, Erlene Clayton, Bill Felts, Carl Suntheimer, Betty Lou Fletcher, Mack Murphy, and Blaine Stroupe.

Hitler, Mussolini Reportedly Plan Winter Blitzkrieg Against Britain

Explosion at Solvent Plants Shake Terre Haute; Fate of Ten Occupants Unknown

By United Press

ROME, Oct. 4—A smashing winter assault upon the British Isles in an effort to end the war before spring and thwart possible U. S. intervention on Britain's side was reported to have been mapped by Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini today in a council of war at Brenner Pass.

There were reports fully unconfirmed that Italy's forces might join in the assault to deliver a knockout blow to the British Isles simultaneously with a speed-up of Italy's drive across Egypt toward the Suez canal.

Mussolini and Hitler conferred on Italian soil for three hours surrounded by their military leaders and foreign ministers in their third meeting this year.

Reports abroad that the Axis is bringing pressure to have France openly declare war against Britain were branded by high Fascist authorities as "fantastic and without any foundation." Such a move would be contrary to Axis policy, which is aimed at keeping France in an inferior position, it was said.

The Axis dictators also were early

DTH News Staff Summoned

The DAILY TAR HEEL staff will report for work this morning at 10:30. Or explain by telephone.

THERE'S MORE to this picture, but this is enough to recognize Miss Boots Thompson, new coed drum major. A cold has done what others tried and failed to do—keep her out of the Winston-Salem game.

Cold Delays Appearance Of Majorette

Coed Drum Majorette Boots Thompson climaxed a week of controversy over her appearance with the band at football games by succumbing to a cold which will prevent her participation at the Carolina-Davidson game in Winston-Salem today. However, the coed cause will be upheld by coed cheerleaders Jane Rumsey and Jeanne Connell.

According to Jeanne, if the Infirmary officials had had their way, she also would have been conspicuous by her absence. "But I decided to give my all for Carolina and dragged myself from the sick bed," she said.

Philosophical
Boots tries to be philosophical about her disappointment, and there is some consolation in the fact that the skirt she was supposed to wear today didn't arrive on time.

"It looks as if the way between here and Winston will be lonesome for my presence at least," Boots commented between sneezes. "What I think of this anti-climax ain't fit to print in a family newspaper."

Sparse Population
In the Infirmary yesterday Boots had for company only Jo Andoe who was having her troubles, too. Just having been chosen for the leading role in the Playmakers' first major production, Saroyan's "Love's Old Sweet Song," Jo is worried about learning her lines and missing first rehearsals.

"I never thought I'd be here to see

Malkin Speaks At ASU Session

"If we were really for democracy, and the administration says that we are, why not support fully the struggles of colonial peoples for freedom and democracy?" Moses Malkin asked the Carolina chapter of the American Student Union at its second meeting of the year Thursday night.

"The American people are now being urged to give aid to Britain . . . more and more aid. And the cry for war is now being raised," he said. "If we go into it (the war), we can expect that in ten years our professors will write books on 'How We Got Into the Second World War,' or 'How We Were Betrayed.'"

Malkin, who is executive secretary of the chapter, outlined the national ASU's stand on domestic and foreign issues. With this speech as a basis, the policy of the chapter will be formulated in a series of open forum discussions, the first of which was held immediately after the speech.

Hillel Foundation To Begin Lectures

This Sunday at 11 o'clock in Graham Memorial, the Hillel foundation will conduct the first in its series of Sunday Morning Hours, informal discussions, led by Rabbi Sandmel, on questions pertaining to Jewish history, customs and literature. The meetings are open to all.

Tar Heels Meet Wildcats Today In First Attempt To Salvage Season

Hearn Names 40 Sophomore Committeemen

Selections Include Coed; Heyward Heads Executive Committee

Johnny Hearn, sophomore class president, yesterday appointed 40 second-year students, including one coed, to positions on class committees.

Approximately the same number of positions were named by last year's president of the class of '43, Tommy Crudup.

"Appointments have been made on a basis of worth of the student," Hearn said, "and I think our class will really do great things this year as the committees are formed of conscientious hard-working sophomores."

Marie Walters, coed member of the executive committee is the first girl to serve on either a freshman or sophomore class committee.

Twenty-two try-out survivors began rehearsal last night of the Carolina Playmakers' production of "Love's Old Sweet Song," the William Saroyan comedy which will begin the year with a four-night run, October 23 through 26.

Cast in the leading roles are Lynn Gault and Josephine Andoe. Gault will play Barnaby Gault, a smooth-tongued pitchman who wants to rest in the "sweet shades of love," and Miss Andoe will appear as Ann Hamilton, a ripening spinster who welcomes home the lover who never existed.

Lillian Prince, a familiar name in Playmaker lineups, will be seen as Leona Yearling, the Okie mother of a stupendous brood of 14 children, Her

Twin City Makes Big Preparations; Sophomore Stars Will Dot Lineup

By Leonard K. Lohred

Carolina's first opportunity to salvage what started out as one of the University's greatest football years comes today, when the Tar Heels battle Davidson college's "thin red line" at Winston-Salem with very earnest desires of getting back on the list of winners before their big games with Texas Christian, Tulane, Fordham and Duke roll around. The kick-off is scheduled in Bowman Grey memorial stadium at 2:30.

Graham Memorial To Broadcast Game

Graham Memorial will become a center of athletic activity this afternoon.

The Duke-Tennessee game will be broadcast in the main lounge, it was announced yesterday by Director Richard Worley. Western Union reports of the Carolina-Davidson grid battle will be posted in the lounge at regular intervals, and a radio in the grill will carry a play-by-play account of the World Series. A box score of the game will be carried in the main lounge.

Worley Calls Figures in Square Dance Revival With Music by Chatham County Ramblers

By Orville Campbell
Square dancing, something most of us thought passed out of existence before our first love, will be revived again tonight when Graham Memorial will sponsor a dance in the Tin Can from 9 until 12 o'clock. Admission is free, and everyone is invited. Music will be furnished by the Chatham County Ramblers.

Richard Worley, director of Graham Memorial, will call the figures, and several members of the student body who have been square dancing lately will teach the beginners.

"It makes no difference whether you have ever square danced before," Worley stated. "Many students have learned how to dance to popular music by just attending square dances. One

The Tar Heels are now ready, after a week of getting over their 12-0 upset defeat by Wake Forest and much effort spent at rebuilding, for what would ordinarily be just another game, and their coming battle next weekend with TCU is not out of mind completely. But like all athletic coaches, Raymond B. Wolf of the Tar Heel masterminding forces is taking this game as it comes. The Wildcats clawed viciously last year in what was considered the breather before the Duke contest, and when the afternoon was over George Radman was laid out for good and Paul Severin had a shoulder injury that hampered his play against the Devils.

Winston-Salem has made elaborate preparations for this game, which is the only Big Five attraction scheduled in the Twin City this year, and the parade last autumn is to be repeated for supporters of both teams and other visitors. The Carolina and Davidson bands and a special "Bandmasters band" drawn from throughout the state will march in the morning parade and be on hand at the sidelines. A near-capacity crowd is expected at Bowman Gray stadium, which was dedicated only two seasons ago.

Students will be admitted to the Davidson game by exchanging "Passbook slip No. 3 and $1.00 for a reserved seat at the student gate of Bowman Gray stadium.

Davidson's Win—Not Impressive
Davidson's victory over Rollins two weeks ago and the defeat by State college last Saturday were not impressive. But the Wildcats have always

Vesper Services
Begin Monday
In Gerrard Hall
This year's first service of the Evening Vesper services will be held Monday night at 7 o'clock in Gerrard hall with Syd Alexander, president of the YMCA, leading the program.

A nightly feature begun last year under sponsorship of the YMCA and YWCA, these services are under direction of a Worship commission, composed of members from both organizations.

Vespers are conducted entirely by student leaders and will be held Monday through Thursday nights in Gerrard hall.

According to plans announced for this year, other joint commissions of the YM and YWCA include the Social Service, Student Christian Movement, Campus Affairs, Political and Social Problems. Chairmen for these commissions will be selected in the near future.

Another regularly sponsored affair, the Junior-Senior supper forum, will begin Monday, October 13, with a supper meeting. Dr. Taliferro Thompson of Richmond will be leader of the Monday affair.
