Dorm Council 'Cracks Down' On Offenders

Dance Chairman Announces Plans For January Set

Stating that the Interdormitory council would soon begin to "crack down" on dormitory offenders, Ben Heath, president of the council, at last night's meeting, instructed the members to inaugurate a more vigorous policy in dealing with offenders in the future.

Heath said that the lower quadrangle council met last Monday evening to discuss the situation and as a result of the meeting he felt certain the fullest cooperation will be very much in evidence in the future.

He explained that the council would do everything possible to stop the commotions that have featured the relationships between the lower quadrangle dormitories. No actual rule or regulation has been drawn up, he declared, for the present rules when strictly enforced will be sufficient to handle any cases that may arise.

Dance Plans

Figgie Briggs, chairman of the dance committee, announced that plans for the dormitory dances had just about been completed. There will be a set of three dances, the first to be given Friday afternoon, January 31, the second Friday evening, and the third Saturday evening.

Briggs said that the first two dances would be for dormitory residents only. Outsiders will be permitted to attend the Saturday evening dance, however. The dances will be held in cooperation with the Grail, and Briggs explained that the dormitory residents are entitled to the first two dances free of charge. The Saturday night dance will cost $1 a ticket. Briggs said the tickets will be issued in books of three. If the third ticket is not wanted it will be removed from the book.

The band that is to perform Friday afternoon has not yet been engaged, but Briggs said the committee would select either the Duke Ambassadors or a campus orchestra. For the Saturday afternoon and evening dances the committee is arranging to have Jimmy Luncford and his band appear.

Chi Beta Phi Elects Head

Warren Harrelson was elected president of the newly-organized national honorary scientific fraternity, Chi Beta Phi, at its first official meeting last night. Sherrill Gregory was elected vice-president; 'Dutch' Siefert, recording secretary; Bennett Crech, corresponding secretary; and Bill Stone, treasurer.

The fraternity was organized on the campus this fall to bind together students in the field of science for study and discussion of scientific subjects and accomplishments. Students in chemistry, physics, botany, zoology, psychology, geology and mathematics who make a high scholastic average are eligible for membership. Dr. Sherman Smith of the mathematics department is the faculty adviser.

The club's purpose of furthering scientific learning of the students will be accomplished by presenting fac-

Sanders Explains Pacifism, Denies Communistic Ties

By Bucky Harward

"True pacifism has no relation whatsoever to communism," Pacifist J. Oicutt Sanders yesterday declared in an interview.

Southern field secretary for the American Friends Service committee, Sanders interpreted the pacifist position before the Monday freshman assembly and yesterday some twelve interested students.

"The only correct charge that can be made," he went on, "is that true pacifism, when carried to its ultimate end, upholds the supreme worth of the individual. If that be a fault, make the most of it."

"On the other hand, pacifists respect the intellectual honesty of those who believe in an interventionist and pro-war policy. But we know that their viewpoint is short-sighted and

Metropolitan Opera Star, Bjoerling, To Sing Here

Tenor Scheduled To Sing Dec. 5

The Student Entertainment committee will present as its second attraction of the year Jussi Bjoerling, young Swedish tenor of the Metropolitan Opera company, on Thursday night, December 5, at 8:30 in Memorial hall.

Bjoerling, (pronounced Bee-yor-ling) is the youngest lead in the famous opera company—still in his twenties. He is a veteran of the opera, however, having made his debut ten years ago in the Royal Opera at Stockholm, and having sung over fifty different roles in many leading European opera houses since that time.

He was born on February 2, 1911 at Stora Tuna, Dalarna, Sweden, about 200 miles north of Stockholm. He was eight years old when he first came to America on a concert tour in a Swedish quartet with his father and two brothers. Eighteen years later he returned, trained by the famous baritone and impresario, John Fordell.

Arriving here in November, 1937,

Jussi Bjoerling

he scored sensationally in three nationwide broadcasts and twenty concerts. His New York concert debut, January 4, 1938, was sold out and it established him as a recitalist of first rank. See TENOR, page 4

Heavy Reinforcements Stem Italian Retreat In Albania

Senate Passes Walter-Logan Bill

By United Press

ATHENS—A big battle was being fought tonight in the Argyrocastron-Sante-Quaranti sector of southern Albania where the Italians were fighting desperately to keep from being pushed back to the coast as heavy reinforcements of crack Fascist troops were being rushed into the front lines.

Well-informed military quarters said that General Ubaldo Foddu, director of the Italian campaign against Greece, appeared to have stemmed the Italian retreat at some points by bringing up heavy reinforcements.

It was reported that General Foddu was hurrying crack Fascist troops into the front lines following the coast to the Yugoslavian frontier while the Italian battle policy of decimating units for deserting positions appeared to have been halted.

The Greeks, however, were said to still be driving into Albania with their many-pronged attack. In an effort to check the drive, Italian planes throughout the day roared up and down the 120-mile battle front bombing villages and bridges and often bare mountain tops. It was believed that a mighty effort was being made to curtail the Greek advance by cutting communications.

OHRID, Yugoslavia-Albania Frontier—Albanian rebels tonight were reported harassing Italian troops from the rear in the mountain Koritza sector as Greek forces pushed forward in a drive toward Elbasan.

From the night of the Albanian mountains it was reported that rebels are sniping Italian soldiers wandering through the snow covered hills.

LONDON—(Wednesday)—Raiders made a short but severe attack last night on a town in western England which has been bombed three times in as many days and scattered incendiary

Student Union Plans Holiday Activities

By Elsie Lyon

Those poor lonesome souls who are staying here over the Thanksgiving holidays, and not to study either, will find the doors of Graham Memorial thrown open to them from 7:30 in the morning to 10 o'clock at night, Director Fish Worley announced last night.

A complete program of dances, movies, broadcasts, and concerts has been planned to keep homesickness at a minimum. In fact, from the looks of the schedule, the Carolina stickers will probably have a better time than their homeward-bound brethren.

"If there's anything we don't have, we can get it, including dates," stated the "true-to-his-word" Fish.

A recorded program of college songs and band marches from 2 to 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the main lounge will start off the holiday program. See STUDENT UNION, page 2

Portinari Exhibit To Open Sunday

An exhibit of work by the modernist artist, Candido Portinari, will open at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Person hall art gallery, John V. Allcott, head of the art department, announced yesterday. A gallery talk on surrealism in relation to the exhibit will be given at 5 o'clock by Allcott.

Born on a Brazilian coffee plantation of immigrant Italian parents, "Portinari paints the natives of Brazil with the warmth and color that is only seen by a native," Allcott said.

Supporting himself by painting conventional portraits, so that he may then paint his peasant scenes in his distinctive modern style, Portinari is considered one of the outstanding new painters, and is ranked with Salvador Dali and Tanguay.

Gallery hours for the show, which will continue through December 20, are 10 until 1 o'clock and 2 until 5 o'clock.

Thanksgiving Comes But Twice A Year—

Notwithstanding presidential fickleness, tomorrow is Thanksgiving for citizens of the Old North State. The TAR HEEL staff is thankful for the four days rest.

The profs are thankful for the four days rest. The students are thankful for the four days rest. In view of all these irrefutable facts the DAILY TAR HEEL suspends publication until Tuesday morning.

The stooge in the back row says, "May you have a joyous weekend and may your digestion be spared the agony of a TAR HEEL over your breakfast coffee."

Letter Men Receive New Club Room

Carolina Athletic Association Gives Monogram Club $250

Sid Sadoff, president of the Monogram club, saw months of endeavor reap its reward recently when his organization was presented by the Athletic association with a new club room in the field house of Fetzer field and with $250 to redecorate it.

Sadoff said that definite improvements have already been suggested and were approved by the members of the club Monday evening.

"The first step that will be taken toward improvement," Sadoff said last night, "is to supply steam heat to the club-room. Arrangements have been made to tap the supply from Woollen gymnasium."

He said that the room is to be painted, leather upholstery installed, and made generally attractive. Pictures of teams of former years and photos of outstanding players will be framed and hung around the room.

The Monogram club has had quite a time securing permanent quarters this year. The room in Woollen gymnasium which was formally given over to the club is now used by the Naval unit. The club-room was moved to the Alumni building, but that proved unsatisfactory.

Sadoff expressed the opinion that the new club-room will suit the members better than any previous place. He said that an important part that the club-room will fill on the campus is that it will be the official meeting place for the University alumni. This will be kept in mind while the club-house is being revamped.

"A tentative plan to add interest to the club-room, Sadoff said, "is to build a large exhibit case. In it, we will display all the trophies of the year that the University wins in athletics. Every year, a new exhibition will begin."

Koch Announces Cast For Bill Of Experimentals

Complete casts for the second bill of experimental productions of original plays were announced today by Dr. Frederick H. Koch, director of the Carolina Playmakers.

Playing in "Swing, You Sinner," a negro musical comedy, by Tom Avera, of Rocky Mount, are the author; Mrs. Flo Wilson, Lucille Culbert, Walter Spearman, Lynn Gault, Paul D'Elia, Frances Gibson, Jimmy Earle, Milton Harding, and Billy Rawls. It will be directed by Sanford Stein.

"Sermon on a Monday," a social play by Joseph D. Feldman, of New York city, under the direction of Sanford Reece of Chapel Hill, will be played by Joseph Salek, Tom Avera, Emile Johnson, Eleanor Jones, Lillian Prince, Arthur Conescu, Mary Elizabeth Rhyne, Betty Bolce, Bill Chichester, and Marian Maschin.

Marian Maschin's play of a mental hospital, "Nine Hour Shift" has in its cast Hortense Kelly, Constance Smith, Eileen Smith, Bette Orvis, Barbara San, Olive Conescu, Lucille Stoker, and Beth Torpin. Merle McKay is directing "Nine Hour Shift."

Student Council Reveals 'Sample Cases' To Explain Procedure to Student Body

By Phil Carden

A student at Carolina decided that showing of sex movies would bring a profit, another failed to keep his checking account straight, another reported on a book which he had not read, and another drank some old mean liquor-whiskey in the infirmary. Each of them has his name in the Student Council's minute books.

The names are still safely concealed between the covers of the books, but the rest of the information about the cases becomes public information for the first time today. The council has decided to break its tradition of complete secrecy and let the campus know that the honor system and the campus code are still enforced.

This decision has come as a result of the council's conclusion that the secrecy policy has partially defeated

Pepper Will Speak On Foreign Policy

SENATOR CLAUDE PEPPER of Florida will speak in Memorial hall Monday night on his views concerning United States loans to belligerent nations and little-known angles of the conscription bill.

CPU To Present Florida Senator Monday At 8

Following closely upon Lord Lothian's statement that Britain expects American financial aid next year, Senator Claude Pepper's address, "America on Foreign Policy," from Memorial hall Monday evening at 8 o'clock is expected to throw some light on the government's reactions to the British Ambassador's declaration.

Senator Pepper, Florida Democrat and ardent New Dealer, together with Senator James F. Byrnes, South Carolina Democrat, has been generally regarded as very close to the administration since the election. Some sources believe that Senator Pepper will soon institute proceedings to have the Johnson act repealed. The Johnson bill states that the United States may extend no credit to any belligerent nation.

Bill Joslin, chairman of the Carolina Political union which is sponsoring Pepper's speech, wired Pepper yesterday inquiring as to Pepper's reaction to the Johnson act as it stands today, but as yet no response has been received from the Senator.

Joslin announced plans had just about been completed for the Senator's visit. A banquet will be held at 6 o'clock Monday evening in his honor at the Carolina inn. The banquet will be open to the student body and those wishing to attend should communicate with Bill Joslin or Ike Taylor. Plates will be $1.00 per person.

Senator Pepper's speech will be broadcast, and at 7:30 he will talk to the people of the state in the first of the campus radio station's round table discussions. In addition to the Senator, Professors E. J. Woodhouse, A. R. Newsome and H. K. Beale, and possibly Dr. Frank P. Graham will participate. See PEPPER, page 2

Language Meet Opens Friday

More than 200 members of the South Atlantic Modern Language association from five southern states are expected to convene here on Friday and Saturday for the 13th annual meeting. Dr. A. P. Hudson announced yesterday.

Dr. Waldo G. Leland, director of the American Council of Learned Societies, will be the principal speaker at the meeting. His subject will be "The Americas Discover Each Other: Some Recent Developments in International Intellectual Relations." A closely related topic, "As the Other Americas See Our Literature," will be treated in an address by Professor John T. Reid of Duke university.

Before the entire association and at the various section meetings, over forty papers and addresses will be delivered.

Institutions represented on the program are: State Teachers College of Alabama, University of Alabama, Birmingham-Southern college, Catawba college, Emory Junior college, Emory university, University of Florida, University of Miami, Davidson. See LANGUAGE, page 4

Religious Meet Convenes Here

Conference Begins Here Next Week

The National Conference of Christians and Jews will hold its Institute for Better Understanding at the University on next Tuesday and Wednesday, December 3 and 4.

Harry F. Comer, secretary of the YMCA, will be in charge of local arrangements, and the local faculty students, and townspeople have been invited to join with the out-of-state delegates in the program.

Dr. M. Ashby Jones of Atlanta, Ga., Dr. Morris S. Lazaron of Baltimore, and A. W. Gotschall of Washington will be the principal speakers, and the latter's talk will telescope "The Structure, Function and Place of the National Conference of Christians and Jews."

The completed program will not be announced until next week, but the other sessions will continue through Wednesday afternoon, and will be presided over by Dr. Graham, Rabbi F. I. Rypins of Greensboro, Mr. Gottschall, and Henry L. Caravati of Richmond.

In-state Speakers

Other prominent in-state speakers will include: Dr. Howard W. Odum of the University; Dr. Howard E. Rondthaler, Winston-Salem; Dr. Shelton Smith, Duke university; the Most Rev. E. J. McGuinness, Raleigh, and See CONFERENCE, page 4

Dilemma Overtakes Junior-Senior Tilt

The junior-senior tag football classic was rained out yesterday, and although neither Herb Hardy nor Pinky Elliot, class presidents, could be reached for statements on when the game is to be played, observers predicted that the game would be re-scheduled soon after the Thanksgiving holidays. If it is postponed too long, they say, the game will be forgotten, and if it is played too soon, no one will be in condition to play.

which didn't sink in during orientation week.

This week's revelation, which was released by W. T. Martin, includes a case to show that too many checks drawn on an overdrawn account can be as serious as one drawn on no account at all. It also gives case history to correct the impression that falsification of book reports is as bad as cheating on exams—that showing sex movies just isn't gentlemanly—that drinking in the infirmary and leaving without doctor's permission may result in an enforced vacation.

Rubber Checks

There is—or was (dates share the same place as names in most council revelations)—a plutocrat on the campus with a fifty-dollar-a-week allowance who didn't think it worth the
