

Envoy Bullitt Postpones IRC Speech

Ambassador Speaks Here on January 7; Lothian Also Slated

William C. Bullitt, former United States Ambassador to France, who was scheduled to appear here on December 10 under the auspices of the International Relations club, has postponed his speaking engagement until January 7, IRC President Manfred Rogers said yesterday.

Bullitt will be unable to fulfill the engagement this quarter because of "pressing duties in Washington and a physician's orders that he remain inactive for three weeks."

Lothian May Speak

Rogers also announced yesterday that Lord Lothian, British Ambassador to the United States, has tentatively agreed to speak in Chapel Hill "sometime in February."

"In these two speeches," Rogers said, "the IRC is placing emphasis on supplying of sufficient background material for students and visitors to draw a clear picture of the present European conflict."

According to the announcement, Bullitt has promised to make several "very important" revelations concerning the war and related events. The former Ambassador has been returned from France for about three months, but has yet to make a speech of noteworthy consequence.

Boomed for English Post

Highly significant with Bullitt's appearance is the fact that a new ambassador to the Court of St. James is to be named in the near future, and reliable capital reports have pointed to Bullitt as successor to Joseph P. Kennedy.

Rogers declared that he was informed by the former Ambassador that the University speaking engagement was chosen over 225 requests from other schools and organizations.

Regardless of the change in date, the IRC is going ahead with its original plans for the speech, which include arranging for a nation-wide broadcast, inviting of special guests, and securing coverage by Life and Time Magazines.

Student Union Will Present Bridge Tourney

A duplicate bridge tournament will be held next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial, Director Fish Worley announced last night.

The tournament is open to students and faculty and those who wish to play are urged to sign up now in the office of Graham Memorial or at the "Y". Each person entering must have a partner.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners and the runners-up. The four loving cups are now on display in Graham Memorial.

"Duplicate contract bridge will be explained and the rules of the tournament fully explained before actual playing gets under way," Bob Lovill, director of the tournament, said last night.

Play Same Hands

"In duplicate bridge everyone plays the same hands, thus giving everyone a fair chance," Lovill added.

This is one of three bridge tournaments which will be given this year. Graham Memorial has just purchased complete duplicate bridge equipment which is available for private parties.

"We furnish tables, playing cards, score pads, and peanuts for parties or practice," Worley said last night.

French Plays Show at Duke

Members of the French club are invited to attend a program of two one-act French plays to be presented at Duke university this evening. The program is given for the benefit of British War Relief. There will be no admission charge, but a collection will be taken for the relief.

Members of the club wishing to go should meet in the small lounge of Graham Memorial at 7 o'clock.

Here transportation will be available to Durham. The first play will start at 7:30.

Barrett, Carden Injured in Wreck

Charles Barrett, managing editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL, and Phil Carden, night editor, were injured in an automobile accident last Tuesday night on the Raleigh road when their car collided with a fish truck.

Both students were taken to Rex hospital in Raleigh for treatment by some other Carolina students who stopped immediately after the accident. Carden was then taken to Watts hospital in Durham and Barrett remained in Rex hospital.

Yesterday they were released from the hospitals and went to their homes in Durham and Raleigh. Both students are expected to return to their classes sometime this week.

Studio Aims Five Programs

Students, Profs Broadcast Today

Five programs will be broadcast by the University radio studio between the hours of 2:30 and 9:30 today.

Dr. Otto Stuhlman of the Physics department will lecture on the "Contributions of X-ray to Mankind," from 2:30 till 2:45. This program will be carried over station WPTF.

The Weekly News Round-up prepared by Joe Morrison and presented by Carroll McGaughey will be carried by the same station from 2:45 till 3 p. m.

The program, "Books, Plays and Problems," will feature Dr. Archibald Henderson, head of the mathematics department, speaking on "North Carolina Cultural Contributions in the Eighteenth Century." His topic is based on a section of his new book, "The Old North State and the New" or "Essential Features of a New History of North Carolina," which he expects to be published about January 1. This program will be carried by WDNC and WBIG from 4 till 4:15.

Katsoff to Lecture
Dr. L. O. Katsoff will lecture on "The Scientific Society," a topic which he has lectured on in his series "Freedom, Science, and the Social Order." Stations WDNC and WBIG will broadcast this program from 4:15 till 4:30.

Dr. Jan Philip Schinhan, of the music department, will give an organ recital on the University music hour to be broadcast by these same stations from 9:05 to 9:30 p. m. Dr. Schinhan's program will feature music appropriate to the Christmas season.

The program will contain "Puer Natus Bethlehem" by Bach; "Cancion Religiosa," a Christmas Carol of 16th century Spain, by Antonio deRadezon; three selections by Alexandre Guilmant, titled "Noel Langue Docien," See STUDIO, page 4.

Council Plans First Debate Trials Tonight

New Team Meets Randolph-Macon Tomorrow Night

Tryouts for the first intercollegiate debate of the year will be held tonight at 9 o'clock in the Grail room of Graham Memorial, Ed Maner, executive secretary of the Debate council, announced last night.

The team selected tonight will meet a team from Randolph-Macon college of Ashland, Virginia, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

Carolina will uphold the negative of the question, "Resolved, that the nations of the Western Hemisphere should form a permanent union." This is the question of the year selected by Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary debating fraternity.

To Choose Speakers

Both freshmen and upperclassmen are eligible to try out for the team. Applicants are urged to prepare a complete ten-minute speech and present a five-minute summary of it tonight. Speakers for the debate will be chosen tonight after the tryouts by members of the Debate council.

Tomorrow's debate will mark the first appearance of a team from Randolph-Macon men's college on this campus in several seasons. The public is invited to hear the discussion.

Freshman Squad

Last Tuesday night, the recently organized freshman squad opened their season by traveling to Wake Forest for two debates on the Pi Kappa Delta question.

Charlie Johnson, Paul Rubenstein, Wiley Long, Bob Rosenast, Bill Cobb and Roscoe Barber represented Carolina in the Wake Forest meet.

'H' Dorm Prepares For House Party

Faced with the prospects of entertaining their best girl friends in the first dormitory house party in the history of the University, men of "H" dormitory returned from their Thanksgiving vacations with all kinds of lace finery with which to decorate their rooms. Reason: dates of the dorm residents will stay in the dorm.

Harry Belk, president of the dorm who has been credited with originating the idea, announced yesterday that plans for the event were nearly complete, with only a few minor details to be cleared up before the first event—open house in Graham Memorial Friday night—scavenger hunt and a party, designed after the ideas of Fish Worley, will complete Friday's plans.

Saturday the girls will be entertained at a banquet to be followed by a dance in Graham Memorial.

Pepper Urges Unreserved Aid To Britain in CPU Address

Worley Uses Wedding and Concerts To Amuse Students During Holidays

By Elsie Lyon
Graham Memorial was the scene of action for those who kept the home fires burning (literally, too, as a cord of wood went to ashes in the lounge fireplaces) over the Thanksgiving vacation.

Everything from a wedding to concerts, broadcasts, movies, dances, peanuts and kisses—including candy—entertained the "damn Yankees" and stray rebels (who insisted they stayed to study, but who knows?)

After advertising that they would provide anything upon request, the "Provide - Anything - For - Anybody" Company wasn't even caught unprepared when they received an urgent plea for a wedding.

The wedding march from "Lohengrin" made a hurried entrance, witnesses were recruited from the main lounge, and the wedding of two Durhamites took place with Graham Memorial's best blessings.

"If I hadn't been bodily dragged from slumber we'd have even furnished rice," Fish wistfully and apologetically explained.

Equipped for Weddings

"On all future occasions, however, we will provide rice, old shoes, and bells—in fact, we might even make Graham Memorial a new and better Gretna Green," he added.

During the showing of a rare collection of old-time movies Friday night, an enthusiastic crowd hissed the villain, applauded the hero, and complained to the management.

The crunching of 26 pounds of peanuts, the munching of 37 pounds of candy kisses, along with appropriate piano accompaniment, made up for the fact that Charlie Chaplin and Harold See STUDENT UNION, page 2.

Favors Repeal Of Johnson Act If Necessary

Senator Claude Pepper, ardent opponent of President Roosevelt's foreign policy, last night unreservedly lashed an appeasement move on the part of the United States with regard to dictators and advocated this country's entrance into the war should present aid to Britain prove insufficient.

Declaring that "if all else fails we shall fight for our country, our institutions, our principles, and our integrity" Senator Pepper, Florida New Deal Democrat, addressed close to a thousand students, faculty, and townspeople last night in Memorial hall.

The Senator, speaking under the auspices of the Carolina Political union, further stated that when Britain needs our financial aid, "I'm heartily in favor of repealing the Johnson act and extending that aid." Pepper is regarded by some sources as being close to the Administration and his speech is considered to reflect the administration's attitude.

United States

If Britain goes down the United States will "have to face the terrifying force of the totalitarian forces almost single handed," he said, and since the two systems can no more exist than darkness and light in the same space because the totalitarian powers have "a peculiar world of their own to house, and the temples of democracy will not fit in," we must have great power and vision "to defend the nation we love."

Hull, Morgenthau Advocate $160,000,000 Loan to China

Germans Move To Quiet Rumania

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2—Congressional opposition to new United States credits of $160,000,000 to China collapsed today after Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau told the Senate and House monetary committee that the American position in the Pacific was at stake.

The cabinet officers appeared before a joint council meeting to justify the "guidance" of Congress—the implication embodied in the program which President Roosevelt announced Saturday.

The committees—the Senate banking and currency committee and the House coinage committee—promptly gave the proposals a unanimous vote of confidence and Morgenthau returned to the Treasury immediately to put the necessary machinery in operation. Hull and Morgenthau were said to have pointed out that China, with increased United States financial and material aid, can continue to wage a vigorous defense against Japan and thus indirectly halt Japanese aggression to the southward.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 2—Frontier reports today said that Rumanian army officers and soldiers fleeing from Iron Guards rioting in mutiny had crossed into Hungary where they surrendered and were disarmed. The reported flight of the Rumanian soldiers followed reports that General Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German Supreme Command, had been dispatched to Rumania by Adolf Hitler in an effort to suppress terrorist disorders.

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 2—Agitation for an Egyptian declaration of war against Italy crystallized by Greek military successes increased tonight after announcement that Egypt has delivered a protest to Italy against Fascist bombings of non-military objectives.

BUCHAREST, Dec. 2—Premier General Ion Antonescu is prepared to set up an Italian-German regime in Rumania, neutral diplomats reported today after German troops staged an See NEWS BRIEFS, page 4.

Elliot Calls Junior Practice on Eve Of Classic Game

With only one more day before the junior and senior classes meet in the annual "Eight-Bowl" classic, the major post season game for Carolina students, Junior Class President Pinky Elliot calls a practice session today to toughen his warriors for the battle Wednesday.

"I am confident," Elliot said in an exclusive DTH interview, "that the junior team will fight tomorrow the way everyone expects and knows they will." He refused to enlarge upon this statement.

Any members of the junior class who feel that they are of All-American calibre and who are willing to do or die for the class are requested to meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock on the intramural field. The following brawny brutes are especially urged to be present:

George Coxhead, Tommy Sparrow, Hal Pope, Bill Alexander, Bo Reynolds, Jack Connelly, Clayton Moore, Bob Gersten, Ed Shytle, Bob Rose, Piggy Briggs, Ossie Johnston, Bill Looch, Tom Mordecai, Bobby Strange, Holt Flynt, and Julian Miller. Tea will be served.

Di Senate To Have Executive Session

Di senate meets tonight at 7:15 in New West in an executive session. All members are required to be present under penalty of fine for unexcused absence.

There will be election of officers for the winter quarter. All committee reports for the fall will be submitted.

Officers of the senate who will be succeeded by those chosen tonight are Perrin Quarles, president, Truman Hobbs, president pro-tem, Diana Foote, clerk, Randall McLeod, sergeant-at-arms, Louis Poisson, treasurer, and Noland Ryan, critic.

Hobson Says It Feels Good To Be Outside Jail Again

By Faye Riley
It all began back on a Saturday night last July when Mack Hobson, a University student and editor-elect of the Carolina Buccaneer, walked into a crowded dime store in Dunn, whipped out a pistol and emptied it at Aleese Tart, his sweetheart who jilted him. Two negro women were slightly injured when the bullets went wild.

Mack received a four-month sentence in the Harnett County jail, which he completed November 27, by serving a total of 85 days, the rest of the time off for good behavior.

Smiling and looking much better than before, Mack said it was wonderful to be home on Thanksgiving. "It feels so good to be outside again." He grinned as he told that instead of receiving a new suit of clothes and ten dollars of free money when he left the jail, he was given a Persian kitten which had kept him so much company while serving his sentence.

Well-known and well-liked for his outstanding work here at the University, Mack received many letters and telegrams of encouragement from students. He said it made him especially happy for his friends and fellow students to "stand by him" and he wishes to thank every one of them.

Likes Tar an' Feathers
The Tar an' Feathers made a hit with Mack. He said that it was an excellent issue and that Gene Witten was the "best man for the job." Mack fears that the new magazine will slip back into the tracks of the Buccaneer and become just a Buccaneer with a new See HOBSON, page 2.
