

Winter CAA Applications Now Available

Mann Announces University Quota Remains at Forty

Applications for aviation training in the winter quarter were made available by W. R. Mann, instructor of the course and manager of the local airport.

Since the quota assigned the University this fall by the Civil Aeronautics Administration will remain the same, only 40 students will be accepted.

Anyone interested in registering for the course who has not applied already should leave his name and address with Mrs. S. W. J. Welch at the South building information desk some time during the week. Mann will soon begin interviews with the applicants.

Not Only Students

Mann emphasized yesterday that the enrollment will not be confined to University students. Also eligible are those who have completed two or more years of accredited college work acceptable to the local authorities.

Several other requirements will constitute eligibility. The applicant must be a citizen of the United States and have reached his nineteenth but not his twenty-sixth birthday by October 1, 1940. He must also obtain written permission from his parent or guardian.

If enrolled in college, he must be a fully matriculated degree candidate and have completed one full year of satisfactory college work. No one who has never been disqualified from the pilots' training program by action of the advisory board will be eligible.

The candidate must also pass two physical examinations. One will be administered by a Civil Aeronautics medical examiner for a student pilot certificate with a commercial rating. The other examination will be given by a

Graham Memorial Decorated for Xmas

"Graham Memorial is spreading Christmas cheer all over the campus" said director Fish Worley last night of the decorations being put up to remind students that December brings holidays as well as exams.

At the present stage of erection, the decorations consist of a large scientifically-decorated Christmas tree in the lounge, a small one on the roof outside, wreaths on the lounge curtains, and electric wreaths on the front windows.

The most pressing job, of course, is to hang up the tons of mistletoe which have been on order since last January. "Mistletoe over every door, especially over the door to room 100" is the new motto of Graham Memorial, cleverly expressed by Fish.

To add to the (dry) Christmas cheer, frequent programs of Christmas carols will be heard in the main lounge.

Get Registration Tables Today

All students in the School of Commerce and the College of Arts and Sciences must secure their registration schedules today between the hours of 9 and 5 on the second-floor lobby of Memorial hall.

These schedules will determine the day on which the holders may register. Those students who report for them first will be able to complete their registration that much sooner.

To be eligible to sign up for winter quarter courses, students in the Arts and Sciences must already have not only this schedule but their permit to register and approval of their study program from their major adviser. Commerce students will need only their schedules and permits.

All students who failed to come by on the appointed day for their permits to register must report by for them today on the stage of Memorial hall. No student may register without his permit.

Graham Speaks Here Today

Will Address Philosophy Club

President Graham will give two lectures on the campus today, speaking before Edgar W. Knight's class in American educational history this morning and before the meeting of the Faculty Philosophy of Science club tonight.

He will speak on federal aid to education to Professor Knight's class. The lecture will be given in 208 Peabody hall at 9:30 and the public is invited.

At the meeting of the Philosophy club Graham will speak on "The South and National Defense." This meeting, to be held at 8 o'clock in Gerrard hall, is also open to the public.

Graham was a member of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's Advisory Committee on Education which recommended that the federal government give financial aid to educational institutions.

YM-YW Ask Help For Xmas Baskets

The YM-YWCA is cooperating with the local welfare office in order to obtain information concerning needy families for those interested in making up Christmas baskets.

Several dormitories and fraternities have already made plans for filling baskets.

All campus organizations are urged to cooperate in helping the unfortunates of this section during the coming holiday season.

Information may be obtained at the Y or from Elizabeth Campbell, Woman's Dorm No. 1, chairman of the committee.

Britain Wins Italian Base In Desert Coup

U.S. Decides Not To Feed Hungry European Nations

By United Press
BRITISH MIDDLE EASTERN HEADQUARTERS IN CAIRO, Dec. 11—Britain's desert blitzkrieg has captured the Italian base of Sidibarrani, most advanced point of Premier Benito Mussolini's invasion of Egypt, and taken great numbers of prisoners including three generals, it was stated officially tonight.

(The capture of at least 10,000 Italian prisoners in the desert fighting was reported in London where the capture of Sidibarrani was described of "great strategic and moral importance" and a victory which probably will have serious effects on Italian morale.)

The victory after three days of heavy desert fighting and virtual encirclement of the important town lying along the Mediterranean coast broke the head of the Italian drive 75 miles across Egyptian soil toward Alexandria and the Suez Canal.

The situation of Italian divisions around Sidibarrani is "perilous" because the British forces have drawn an arm of entrapment around the town for a distance of 45 miles, it was stated.

ATHENS, Dec. 12—(Thursday)—Italian forces have launched "violent" counter-attacks along the 125-mile Albanian front but have failed to hold the Greek advances surging upon a half-dozen key positions, a high command communique reported early today.

LONDON, Dec. 12—(Thursday)—Great Britain today firmly warned the

General Person's Desk Presented To Art Gallery

Secret drawers once filled with a patriot's private papers are cleverly concealed in the personal desk of General Thomas Person which was recently given to Person hall art gallery. General Person, for whom Person hall and Person county were named, was a Revolutionary war leader and a charter trustee of the University.

The original flap of the desk was hacked by troops sent by British Governor of North Carolina, Lord Tryon, to get evidence against General Person, a leader in the Regulator movement. The injured flap has been replaced, but otherwise the desk is just

THE BIG PROBLEM for George Glamack, Carolina's big All-American basketball center, is not whether to buy a Sound & Fury season ticket, but from whom? The quintet of pretty girls causing George to do all that scratching is composed of, from right to left, Mary Caldwell, Marjorie Johnston, Frances Gibson, Dolly Erickson, and Peggy Lou Futrell.

Playmakers Plan Road Tour Into West, North Next Fall

Will Give Green's 'House of Connelly'

Professor Frederick H. Koch will realize a dream of 22 years next fall when his Carolina Playmakers cross their southern boundaries and play a two-month roadbill of Paul Green's "The House of Connelly," in cities and colleges in the Middle West and New England.

The 1941 tour will mark the fulfillment of the dream of a State Repertory company which came to "Proff" Koch twenty-two years ago and which has remained uppermost in his mind during thirty-seven barnstorming tours through Dixie and into the North and West, as far as upstate New York and St. Louis. Professor Koch, founder and director of the Playmakers, envisioned the formation of a traveling company which would break through the limitations of the necessarily short annual tours and offer talented Playmakers an opportunity for further study and achievement in dramatic arts.

Final negotiations for the tour were started this weekend when Crawford A. Peffer, president of the Redpath Lyceum bureau, booking agents, made a special trip from New York to witness the performance of "The House of Connelly" at High Point.

Mr. Peffer declared afterwards: "I was delighted with the production. Please congratulate all the members of the company for me and tell them their performance was worth coming down all the way from New York to see." He was in Chapel Hill for the Regional Theater Festival last spring

YDC Will Meet Tonight At 7:30

Membership Cards To Be Distributed

Membership cards in the Young Democrats club will be given out tonight at a meeting of the organization at 7:30 in 212 Graham Memorial, Wink Norman, president, announced yesterday.

Norman requested all members to bring receipts for their dues if they have already received them. He also said that if members are not present tonight they will have to wait until sometime during next quarter to get their cards.

The club will appoint student representatives from each congressional district in North Carolina tonight. These members will serve to bring about closer contact between the campus club and YD clubs in the various districts.

Plans will be discussed at the meeting for a Jackson Day dinner to be sponsored by the club.

Campus Programs Broadcast Today

"The Desert Shall Rejoice" a play by Betty Smith and Bob Finch, who sold the movie rights to Warner Brothers, will be broadcast from the campus radio studio in Caldwell hall today.

The authors received the offer after their play was produced last year over the Mutual hook-up and sold the movie rights. The Carolina Playmakers will produce the play over stations WRAL, WAIR, WSTP, WSOC, WFTC, and WGTM from 2:30 to 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Immediately after this program the University School of Music will present William Klensz, cellist, playing the "C Major Sonata for Cello alone" by Bach. Stations WDNC, WBIG, and WSJS, will carry this program from 4 to 4:15.

Dr. S. E. Leavitt of the Spanish department will lecture on "Columbia." This is the second in a series on "Our American Neighbors" being broadcast from the campus studio. WDNC, WBIG, and WSJS will carry this program from 4:15 to 4:30.

Gridiron Stars To Be Honored Monday Night

Twenty-nine Men Will Be Given Gold Footballs

Outstanding performance on the gridiron this fall will earn individual gold footballs for twenty-nine varsity players when Coach Ray Wolf presents them with the tokens of the student body's appreciation Monday night at 7 o'clock in Memorial hall.

Immediately following the presentation, color movies of the famous Duke-Carolina game will be shown, concluding the quarter's series of football movies sponsored by Graham Memorial.

The footballs, purchased by contributions from the student body, are embellished with the University monogram and the name and position of the player receiving the token. Tar Heel mentor, Ray Wolf, will present the footballs to the players. There will not be a lecture as has been the custom at previous football clinics. The program will be cut as short as possible due to its occurring during exam week.

University Club Sponsor

The University club, campus spirit organization, handled the collection of contributions and the purchase of the footballs. The club will have charge of the program.

Speaking for the student body, Ferebee Taylor, University club president, said yesterday, "It is an expression on the part of the student body to the football players for the brand of ball they have played throughout the season."

Head Coach Wolf, Line Coach Johnny Vaught, Backfield Coach Chuck Ericson, End Coach Bill Lange, and Trainer Chuck Quinlan will be similarly honored with the presentation of the gold footballs.

Steele Dorm Publishes Monthly Newspaper

Instituting a new step in dormitory life, Steele will circulate the first issue of a newspaper for its residents tomorrow night at the dorm's annual Christmas celebration.

The paper, originated by Steele president, Coleman Finkle, will be issued once a month solely for the occupants of the dormitory. Stanley Leiber, who submitted the title The Steele Pen, won the name contest which was judged by Don Bishop, editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Orville Campbell, member of DTH editorial board and resident of Steele, is serving as temporary editor until a permanent editor is chosen in elections to be held after the holidays.

The new paper will attempt to give accounts of the dormitory residents, their activities and records. Editorials and a gossip column will also be carried in the journal. An additional interesting feature will be polls taken in Steele on items of vital campus interest and on national affairs.

Finances for The Steele Pen will be taken from dormitory funds until the paper is self-supporting. Only about one hundred copies of the first issue will be made, to be distributed mainly among the dormitory residents.

Field Artillery School

The Field Artillery Troop school will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in Davie hall. The subject to be taken up is "The Firing Battery, Occupation and Organization of the Position."

APPOINTED RECENTLY by the YM-YWCA, Co-chairmen Sis Clinard and Ike Grainger are busily making plans for the annual Student-Faculty day celebration on February 5. Definite arrangements have not been released but the co-workers say that the program will be "something constructive."

NO KIDDIN'—this is a boy standing on his head while shadowy figures and balloons typify a South American carnival. It is one of a number of surrealist paintings by eccentric Candido Portinari, Brazilian modernist, which are now on exhibit in Person hall.
