Baby Dolphins Defeat Durham High Lads, 35-31

Shumate, Hammond, Eshelman Perform Best for Freshmen

By Harry Hollingsworth
DURHAM, Feb. 12. — Without the same man swimming twice, the Carolina freshman swimming team took its own time in defeating Durham high school, 35-31, here this afternoon in the Durham high school pool.

The victory was the 17th consecutive win for the Baby Dolphins and their second triumph over the Durham boys this season. The loss was the third of the season for the Bulldogs, having lost to the State freshman team earlier in the season.

The Tar Babies' "victory trio" — Denman Hammond, Jack Eshelman and Ed Shumate — contributed the best efforts of the Carolina team. Eshelman marked up a :56.3 time in the 100-yard freestyle, Shumate a 2:28.2 record in the 220-yard freestyle and Hammond a sizzling 1:02.2 mark in the 100-yard backstroke. Excellent Times

All three of the times were considered excellent since it was the first time the frosh has competed in a 20-yard pool.

Eshelman was pushed for the first 75 yards of the 100-yard freestyle by Woodson Venable, star sprinter for the Bulldogs, but the high school lad faded on the last 25 yards and could not match Eshelman's finishing strokes.

Shumate and Hammond had a comparatively easy time in their races, since Durham could not enter men capable of the same performances as they. Shumate lapped the entire field, including his teammate, Henry Ortland.

Venable Paces Durham
Durham's top performer was Woodson Venable with a first in the 50-yard freestyle and a second in the 100-yard event. Kenneth Saturday did the breaststroke leg on the winning medley relay team and placed second in the breaststroke event.

Kappa Sigma No. 2, 23; Sigma Chi 16.

Volleyball
Phi Alpha, 2; Kappa Phi, 0.
Kappa Sigma, 2; Zeta Psi, 0.

In the feature game yesterday in the intramural basketball tourney Chi Phi took a 35 to 34 victory over Beta Theta Pi. The lead changed several times. In the other tilt played Kappa Sigma No. 2 defeated Sigma Chi 23 to 16.

Although Chi Phi held an 18-13 lead at the half, the Beta's rallied in the third period and went ahead 26 to 23. In a hectic final quarter the Chi Phi five forged ahead in the closing minutes and clung doggedly to its slim lead. Cooper with nine points and Donovan with eight markers were the top scorers for the winners. For the losers Hazel with 14 points was the big man.

The Kappa Sig-Sigma Chi tilt was a tight game the first half with the Sigma Chis holding a 7-6 lead at the halfway mark. In the final half Tom Harvey started sinking long shots for the 'Kappa Sigs and they went into the lead never to be headed. Harvey with eight points and Mann with six led the scoring.

Babies Edge Cubs, 37-35, In Close Tilt

By Ben Snyder
Horace "Bones" McKinney, actor, basketball star and rustic extraordinary, put on a great show last night, but the command performance wasn't quite enough, and Carolina's Tar Babies shaded the State frosh 37-35 to avenge their only setback of the season.

"Bones" held the center of the stage throughout by scoring five field goals and four fouls for the evening's individual high of 14 points, and delighted the crowd with such routine tricks as booping the referee, grovelling on the floor in agony after an "unjust" decision and just generally keeping the ball rolling by a song and dance act that had Tar Heel fans laughing from start to finish.

Wilson Is High Man
For the Carolinians, who notched their ninth victory in ten starts, Ben Wilson was high with four buckets and a foul for nine points while center Sim Andrews and Captain Ellis Freedman tallied seven apiece.

Siewert's club started off fast on two set shots from way out by Freedman and Lew Hayworth and the Babies were never headed. McKinney and "Big John" Magee did manage to tie matters up at 10-all with eight minutes remaining to play in the first half, but Marshall Chambers, Jim White and Wilson combined with a series of twin pointers to pull the locals out to 21-15 at intermission.

The giant McKinney only had four points at this point, but what was more important he had collected three personal fouls. It was a golden opportunity for Sim Andrews and when See FROSH BASKETBALL, page 4.

Comprehensives May Keep Kimball, Farris on Bench

Coach Mike Ronman began to whistle a tune called the "Comprehensive Blues," as he faced the loss of two of his mainstays for the Maryland match Saturday.

The two senior mittmen taking the examinations this week-end are Heavyweight Gates Kimball and 145-pounder Bob Farris, and it is feared that their absence will subtract noticeably from the Tar Heels' chances against the strong Terrapin team.

In replacing Farris, Coach Ronman will probably experiment with a new line-up in the 135- and 145-pound divisions. Jack Jones will take over the 135-pound task if he can make the weight. In the 145-pound class Ronman will use either Jack Johnston or Milt Harris, both regular 135-pounders. If Jones fails to make the lighter weight, he will return to his usual 145-pound post and either Johnston or Harris will shift back to 135-pound event.

No Easy Task
Replacing Gates Kimball is no easy job but Coach Ronman thinks he has found a capable substitute in Walter Williams. Williams is six feet one and one-half inches tall, weighs 235 pounds and has been working out all season to help Coach Ronman meet the emergency.

Durham Defends State Mat Title In Tourney Play

The annual state high school wrestling tourney will start this afternoon in Woollen gymnasium with three schools already definitely entered, and participants from at least two others expected to be on hand for the opening matches. The meet will start at 8 o'clock.

The three teams that have already sent in their entry blanks are Durham, 1940 tournament champ, Greensboro and Barium Springs. Salisbury and High Point are expected to participate in the tourney.

Durham Defending Champs
Durham captured the top honors in the tournament last year after breaking a successive winning streak held by Barium Springs extending from 1934 to 1939. Both teams will have strong entries, and the general competition is expected to be extremely See HIGH SCHOOL, page 4.

Quinlan Moans Lack of Men In Drill Room

Looking around the almost bare practice room yesterday, Coach Chuck Quinlan started first with a low moan, which mounted gradually into a voluminous threat against those various and sundry slackers that comprise the main portion of the mat team.

Only a handful of men were on hand for the regular afternoon practice. In fact, not enough were present to warrant holding organized calisthenics, the backbone of the wrestling diet.

"It's the reserves that are giving us all the headaches," Quinlan stated. "The varsity men report regularly but those who need the work most are staying away in droves."

The few men that did show up for the workout were put through mild exercises for the Virginia Tech meet Saturday. Although not expecting too much trouble from the Tech team, Quinlan is taking no chances of a possible upset. In their last engagement, the Techmen dropped a 34-0 decision to VMI. The Tar Heels tied the Cadets, 14-14, February 1.

Elimination bouts and trials will not be held this week, since the high school matmen will be occupying the wrestling room.

Coed Fencers Duel Both W&M Groups In Sword Matches

Coed fencers will compete with another college in tourney play for the first time in two years, when they duel both divisions of William and Mary.

The top four fencers of the coed squad—Aline Brawley, Mary McCormie, Jean Beeks and Helen MacKay—will make up the team that meets the coeds of the Norfolk division of W&M tomorrow and the Williamsburg division Saturday.

Fencing Instructor Adele Austin will accompany the squad as manager, with Mrs. J. G. Beard, director of women's sports.

The fencing squad was selected from a class of 15 coeds by means of a ladder tournament following instruction that has been given all year.

Glamack Registers 31 Points As Varsity Takes 60-30 Win

By Leonard Lobred
Carolina's White Phantoms assured themselves of at least a tie for first place in the Big Five by routing N. C. State last night, 60-30, and winning their twelfth Southern conference game in a row. George Glamack was high man as usual, this time with a total of 31 points collected in all but eight minutes.

By the time he was removed late in the second half, the Blind Bomber had done more than his share of ball-handling in addition to scoring. By maintaining his point-per-minute pace, Glamack raised his three-game total to 97—22 against Duke, 45 against Clemson, and 31 against State.

George was the favorite of the fans because of his 45-point record performance the other night, and he didn't let them down. He racked up 22 points in a terrific first-half, fading in the last period only because State began picking up the pace. Second Win Over State

Carolina gained its second win over State and made the season record six wins and no losses in the Big Five, with games remaining only with Davidson and Duke. Wake Forest, with a record of two and two, is the only other team that has a chance at the mythical state crown. The Phantoms made themselves ready for a game tomorrow at 4 o'clock with the Tar Babies.

The Red Terrors tried hard, but couldn't keep up with Glamack and Jimmy Howard in the early moments. When Jack Tabscott began to find the range with overhead set shots, the game was too far gone. State committed a total of 20 personal fouls, and Joe Mills was evicted from the game in the last few minutes for arguing too vehemently with the umpire. Levin, starting guard, fouled out, and three other Red Terrors had three fouls called before the end of the game. For Carolina only Bob Rose operated under the handicap of three personals, all collected in the first half.

Rose Tops Floor Play
Rose, despite a scoring letdown, continued his dependable floor game, passing, intercepting and aiding guards in advancing the ball from back-court to front-court. Jimmy Howard, too, played a steady game, and pushed in the points that kept Carolina ahead in the early minutes. Bobby Gersten, after being cut over the eye, returned to play one of his finest defensive games. Hank Pessar, whose two-pointer after 14 minutes of the first half was the first Carolina bucket not accounted for by Glamack or Howard, used his height to great advantage, and was one of the decid-

Carolina, Terrapin Runners Dominate Lionel Weil Mile

It has been traditional for the Carolina and Maryland runners to dominate the Weil mile in the Southern conference indoor games since its inception two years ago by the prominent Goldsboro alumnus, Lionel Weil, Sr.

In 1939 the Terps' Mason Chronister beat out the Tar Heels' Jim Davis. Last year Davis reversed the procedure and won over Chronister to set a new conference indoor record of 4:12.5. Davis' performance was the second fastest collegiate mile in the entire nation last year.

Having graduated, those men no longer figure in the conference picture. Both of these stars, however, have worthy successors; Dick Van See TRACK, Page 4

For the first time since 1929 the Carolina fencing team turned in an undefeated season in the South Atlantic conference. The Tar Heels have chalked up five loop victories, and have matches remaining with only CCNY, Seton Hall and the conference tourney.

This is the first season for the Tar Heels under the tutelage of Coach R. B. Lawson, and his work has been instrumental in the results of Carolina's standing to date. Coach Lawson is busy preparing for the rest of the schedule.

One of the outstanding factors in Carolina's victories has been the ability of the team to win without depending upon any one performer. The records show six men with ten or more victories. Lorne Payne leads the See FENCING, Page 4

Cornsweet Confirms Reports Of His Receiving Job Offers

Coach Has Directed UNC Lacrosse Team For Three Seasons

Dr. Albert Cornsweet, who has volunteered his services as mentor of the non-University supported lacrosse team for three years, stated yesterday in reply to questioning that he has received offers from other Southern conference institutions that desire him as a coach.

Although he would prefer to stay at Carolina, Dr. Cornsweet is considering a transfer to another school unless the University gives "some further thought and consideration" to lacrosse here. He has been employed at the University for about five years in scientific research, but despite his educational background consisting of several graduate degrees is willing to combine scientific research with coaching.

Dr. Cornsweet refused to name the schools from which he has received offers for a coaching position, but said that one was a nearby Southern conference member. His statement thus limits the field to Duke and Washington and Lee, which with Carolina and Virginia, no longer a conference member, form the Dixie lacrosse league. Carolina is the only Dixie league member at which lacrosse is not a recognized sport. Duke adopted it a year ago at the same time that boxing was abolished.

Tentative Slate Arranged

Cornsweet has already arranged a tentative 11-game schedule for the lacrosse team this spring, but his departure would leave the stickmen without a competent instructor to guide them through the season. With Carolina now recognized in the south as a lacrosse school, the schedule at present includes games with Dartmouth, West Chester State Teachers college, (Pa.) Blue Ridge college (Md.), Springfield college (Mass.), Navy "B" squad, and two games with each of the Dixie league members.

Having been All-American in lacrosse in his undergraduate days at Brown university, Cornsweet is recognized as one of the leading experts on lacrosse in the south. He has a complete understanding and knowledge of the game, and has shown himself to be the only person on the campus capable of tutoring lacrosse.
