

Earl Spicer Sings Ballad Program This Afternoon

Baritone Appears In Student Union Lounge at 5 O'clock

Earl Spicer, British baritone, will present a program of traditional English and American ballads in his recital this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

This concert is one in a series by outstanding artists being sponsored this year by Graham Memorial.

Spicer is the only singer today who presents a complete program of ballads since he considers that "ballads were made to be sung, not read."

Fuller Brush Man

Appearance throughout England, Ireland, Canada, and the United States during the last five years were climaxed last season, when Spicer sang for President Roosevelt and the Governor-General of Canada.

For three years, he was radio's Fuller Brush man who came "knockin' at your door" over the National Broadcasting company. He has also sung over the networks of the Canadian and British broadcasting companies.

The first half of the program this afternoon will feature English folk songs: "The Cornish Dance," arranged by Moss; "Lord Randal," arranged by Cyril Scott; "The Crocodile," arranged by Earle Spicer; "Barbara Allen," arranged by Roger Quilter; "The Bashful Lover," arranged by Johnson; "Lord Lovel," arranged by Sharp; and "Up From Zomerzet," arranged by Sanderson.

BALLADS are the specialty of British baritone Earl Spicer who gives a concert this afternoon in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

rival teams and players say about the only way to stop it is to keep the ball out of the gym.

No Joke to Opponents

Glamack frequently misses easy craps and passes. Often it would be funny if it weren't so pathetic to see the big giant rub and squint his eyes, or lose his balance and go sprawling, for the simple reason that he cannot see. But not so to either his teammates or rivals, who have the highest regard for him as a player and person, or to big easygoing, uncomplicated, philosophic George.

It's quite a handicap for one of the fastest of all college games. But when the players or fans call him the "Blind Bomber," George just passes it off with a grin and wisecrack. "Say, that eyeball fracture when I was a kid was worth All-American to me," he laughs. "That and the way it made me practice shooting crazy shots every day in order to get anywhere."

Embarrassing Moment

Some of his mates stack up pretty well as wisecrackers, too. Bob Rose, who ranks tops at passing and "feeding" the ball into the big pivot man and scoring machine, cracks right back:

"Don't worry, George," he hollers, "I'll make you All-American again." Bob was a part of Glamack's most embarrassing moments.

The two boys went out to a Johnson county high school basketball frolic, and Bob was telling his homefolks that the big fellow with him was George Glamack, the great All-American player from Carolina.

Johnson county's farmers didn't believe Bob, they thought he was kidding. Glamack decided he would show them that he was the real article and between halves of a game he went out on the floor, picked up a ball and began shooting for the goal. He missed the basket 19 consecutive times.

Likes Math, French

Glamack is a studious lad, makes good average grades, and his favorite studies, oddly enough, are two of the hardest, French and math. He enjoys all the typical college recreations like dances, parties, and weekend trips, which he often takes in the typical "thumb-riding" college-boy fashion. George's numerous hobbies include the movies, swimming, golf, and music. He plans to coach or go into politics after graduation, but his suppressed ambition is to lead a band.

George read this feature yesterday and said the most important thing had been omitted. He wanted to thank the Carolina student body for their wonderful spirit and attitude both in and outside the gym. He wanted to tell them that he thinks they are a part of the team. He wanted to say THANKS in capital letters.

collegiate and a national championship in wrestling. He participated for three years on the Brown lacrosse team, making All-American honors in that sport. He played on the Oxford-Cambridge lacrosse team that won the American Flannery cup, and the championship of the United States and England. Besides being the only athlete ever to win nine letters at Brown, he won his "Blue" at Oxford university while there as a Rhodes scholar.

Athletics were not his only strong forte; for his records indicate excellence in scholastic endeavors. He holds several graduate degrees, a doctor's degree, membership in Phi Kappa, Sigma Xi, and has published many original scientific articles.—L. L.

Sound and Fury Coeds

All coeds in the Sound and Fury dancing chorus are asked to be present at an important rehearsal this afternoon at 3:30 in Memorial hall. Both boys and coeds must come to the rehearsal tomorrow night at 5:30, at which time the conga routine will be fully mapped out and cast.

IRC To Sponsor "Bull Session" Tomorrow Night

The International Relations club will hold the fourth in its series of campus "bull session," to which the public is invited, tomorrow night at 7:30 in the Institute of Government building.

The discussion will center around the British victories in North Africa against Italy and their relations to the war in general.

Movie Features Fairbanks Sr.

"The Thief of Bagdad," starring Douglas Fairbanks will be presented in the Playmakers theater this afternoon as the sixth showing in the Playmakers Film club program for the winter quarter.

One of the first large "Spectacle" films, "The Thief of Bagdad" shows Fairbanks at the height of his career as a romantic hero, and makes use of many of the technical tricks so common in movies today—the flying carpets, and the like.

The showing, which begins at 2:30, is open to all members of the Film club.

German bases in France last night produced fires and explosions on a scale "never seen before."

In East Africa the British, aided by the navy and war planes, drove across Italian Somaliland to seize the important port of Chisimaic, 250 miles south of Mogadiscio, capital of the colony. Occupation of the port gives the British a base for a drive up the coast which might make Italian positions throughout East Africa untenable.

Meanwhile Greek reports said Germany was bringing pressure on her to make peace with Italy. Greece is "negotiating with nobody" and will fight the war to its end, the official news agency said. The Greeks said their offensive in Albania was proceeding successfully and 100 more Italian prisoners had been captured.

In the Far East the Japanese government attempted to allay the fears of its nationals in North and South America by asserting that reports of friction between Japan and the United States were exaggerated. Japanese-American relations give "cause for concern," it was admitted, but there is no justification for forecasts of war.

At the same time, however, the Japanese parliament completed action on a $1,611,433,000 general budget and a $1,145,824,000 military budget, and

Dj Senate Invites Latin Students To Attend Meeting

The Di senate will play host to the South American students on the campus Tuesday night. Invitations have been sent to all of the "summer school" students to attend the regular session of the senate in New West.

A reception will be given the guests following the meeting.

The main bill on the calendar to be discussed during the session will be "Resolved that the North and South American republics shall form a permanent union."

The time of the meeting has been advanced from the usual 7:15 to 7 o'clock so that the session will be over in time for any who wish to attend the concert by the National Symphony orchestra.

reports persisted that the Japanese fleet was patrolling off the Thailand coast—in striking distance of Dutch East India, the Philippines, or Singapore.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. — Foes of Administration's British-aid bill could count no more than 30 votes tonight on the eve of Senate debate on the measure, so they decided to center their fire on some amendments restricting President Roosevelt's power.

Isolationist and non-interventionist leaders conceded that they have little if any hope of being able to defeat the bill but they were optimistic about the chances of appending to it amendments which would prohibit the use of U. S. naval convoys and prevent the President from disposing of any part of the navy.

Administration leaders were confident of enacting the measure in substantially the form as approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. They believe this can be done within two weeks or less.

Meanwhile, Senator Robert R. Reynolds, (D-NC), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee who supported the measure in committee, said he would seek support for an amendment specifying that Russia shall not get any aid under the bill.

Davant turned in one of the best performances of his career, as he pinned Tech's Jackson twice.

The 145-pound battle was a slow, lifeless affair, with Carolina's Bill Somervell showing decided superiority over Bill Alexander of the Virginia school, to take an undisputed decision. Roger Weil, ace 155-pounder, won his fourth straight bout, although he had some difficulty in the earlier stages of his match with Bill Kemp.

Captain-elect of the 1941 Tech football team, and winner of twelve out of thirteen collegiate bouts over a period of three years, Bill Zydiak, fighting in the 175-pound class, gave one of the most polished performances seen on Carolina mats in a long time, as he pinned his inexperienced but game opponent.

Experimentation, illness, and forgetfulness, plus an aggressive group of Baby Gobblers combined to hand the freshmen a shattering 33-3 blow, as they captured only one bout of the evening, and lost five bouts via pins.

Three bouts passed before the frosh recorded their first and only victory. In the 121-pound class, McCarthy pinned Thompson. Dekker of the Baby Gobblers won on forfeit, and Morrison decided Richards, subbing for the sick John Robinson. Bob Stockton, making his first appearance of the year, turned in a first rate performance to record the only win for the Tar Babies, as he decided Barlow. Parker pinned Tar Baby Johnson, fighting in Ben Townsend's 155-pound post, in 1:20 of the second period, and Townsend, fighting ten pounds above his regular class, was pinned by Fuller in 1:41 of the second period.

Sylvan Shapiro, who salvaged the W&L match at the last moment a week ago, made an about face last night, and fighting in the 175-pound class, was pinned in 2:55 by Connellee. John Begley, another Tar Baby who took the mat for the first time this week, was pinned in 30 seconds of the second period by Hill.

play, there was plenty of action in the dormitory tourney. K No. 1 walked off with high scoring honors for the week by rolling up 64 points against a hapless Aycock No. 2 club that could garner only nine points. With an offense built around Ralph Crawford and Russ Davis, the K team will be hard to stop. These two tallied 28 and 20 points.

The two teams representing Grimes dormitory both won their first round games. Grimes No. 1 ran into some stiff opposition in Lewis No. 2 but managed to eke out a 26-24 victory. Grimes No. 2 had a much easier time in defeating Old West, 25-14. Mangum may cause some teams some discomfort before it is eliminated. Led by Jack Markham and Tommy Sparrow, it defeated Graham, 39-to-18.
