Senate Hears Supporters Argue For Lend-Lease Bill

By United Press

SOFIA, Bulgaria — Adolf Hitler appeared tonight to have cleared the way for a German push across Bulgaria, presumably to force Greece into a negotiated peace, after Turkey and Bulgaria issued a joint declaration of "perpetual friendship" and non-aggression.

The declaration announced today was generally reported to mean that Turkey, following the lead of neighboring Russia, will remain fast when and if the Germans occupy Bulgaria.

WASHINGTON — The Senate opened debate on President Roosevelt's British aid bill today with bipartisan supporters picturing a possible invasion of England and declaring the United States would go to war if necessary in case of a German conquest of Britain.

The day was devoted entirely to argument in support of the legislation. The oppositionists will hold the stage tomorrow and leaders still hope to pass the measure within a fortnight.

BERLIN — Germany and Italy have reached a new agreement for "waging a common sea war against England," it was announced tonight, and the Nazi High Command reported the destruction of vital British shipping in new U-boat and bombing attacks.

FUNCHAL, Madeira — (Tuesday) Feb. 18. — Survivors reaching here today charged that a German sea raider flying a British flag steamed along with a British Atlantic convoy for four hours one night last week, and then suddenly opened fire with all its guns on the unsuspecting ships.

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court today upheld the conviction of Earl R. Browder, general secretary of the Communist Party in the United States, of charges of illegally using a passport allegedly obtained fraudulently.

Browder was convicted in New York City last year and was sentenced to four years imprisonment and fined two thousand dollars.

WASHINGTON — Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, the government's No. 1 trust-buster, today told the House judiciary committee that labor union practices are boosting the nation's bill for food and housing.

SANTANDER, Spain — Nearly one-third of this Bay of Biscay city has been destroyed tonight by fire, resulting from a terrible week-end hurricane, and half of Santander's 25,000 population were estimated to be homeless.

WASHINGTON — Wendell L. Willkie tonight urged House Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., to remain as Republican National Committee chairman during an hour-long conference.

ATHENS — Greek forces along the Albanian frontier have taken new heights in the central sector and have captured 330 Italian prisoners, most of them Black Shirts and Alpini, a government spokesman said early today.

Hitchcock Speaks Here Tomorrow

Henry Russell Hitchcock, Jr., noted student, writer, and lecturer on modern architecture, will appear in a feature address at the University tomorrow night.

His lecture, which will be on "The Contribution of the United States to Modern Architecture," will be preceded by a film on "The Evolution of the Skyscraper," borrowed from the Museum of Modern Art.

A reception for Hitchcock will be held in the art gallery by the Friends of Person Hall following the lecture. The visiting speaker is the author of two well-known books, "Modern Architecture" and "H. H. Richardson and His Times," and his studies, writings, and lectures are said to have done much to establish an esthetic of modern architecture.

National Symphony To Appear In Concert Tonight at 8:30

The National Symphony orchestra of Washington, D. C., under the direction of Dr. Hans Kindler, will present its third concert before a Chapel Hill audience tonight at 8:30 in Memorial Hall as the year's outstanding attraction of the Student Entertainment series.

The 80-piece orchestra, composed in the main of young men, was organized in 1931 by Dr. Kindler, and since that time has become one of the major symphonies performing in the United States today.

Dr. Kindler, before organizing the National Symphony, had already achieved world fame as a cello virtuoso and had played throughout the world. He came to America in 1914 and decided to stay here when the World War broke out.

He played as soloist with the Philadelphia orchestra until the demand for solo appearances lured him away. After much touring he decided to give more time to conducting, the field in which he felt he could contribute more to the advancement of music in America. This led to his organizing the now famous National Symphony.

For the past two years the orchestra has been well received by the townspeople and students of Chapel Hill, who always look forward to hearing the orchestra again.

Students Meet To Form Nucleus For Local SDD

Miss Patricia Clement, field organizer for the Student Defenders of Democracy, met with a group of campus leaders yesterday at the Carolina Inn in order to form the nucleus for a local chapter of SDD.

At the luncheon meeting, Miss Clement outlined the program advocated by the SDD, which includes: first, the circulating for signatures of a statement made and upheld by the organization, its policy, and purpose; second, what she describes as SOS, or Share Our Strength, through distribution of funds to local charity and war relief. The money will be raised through the circulation of penny banks and the sale of "Bugle" pins.

The third point in the SDD program concerns possible radio programs and debates, including a public forum between two American college students and two young Britishers.

Pat Winston and Jim Boyd were discussed as possible chairmen for the local group, and George Simpson was elected corresponding secretary.

Girls' Glee Club Will Meet Today

An important meeting of the girls' glee club will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock in Hill Hall. Everybody who expects to be in the glee club this quarter and next is requested to attend.

Legislature Approves T-F Budget

Revived by a long overdue two-thirds quorum, the Student Legislature last night finally passed the Tar an' Feathers budget.

Since six members had either resigned or left school, Speaker Bill Cochrane ruled that the 30 present constituted the necessary quorum and in ten minutes the Legislature unanimously passed the budget that had been waiting two months for approval.

Budget Already Working

Frequently referring to the legislature's delay, PU Board Representative Andy Gennett explained that the budget was already working well.

Tar an' Feathers, according to the budget, will operate at a $261 deficit this year. Total income will amount to $4,632; total expenditures, $4,893.

Urging that the standing begin to refunction, Cochrane threw out several proposals for consideration within the coming week.

The ways and means committee was asked to investigate hold-over members for the legislature, the basis for legislature representation, the advisability of a speaker pro-tem, more democratic election of town representatives and the possibility of electing all legislature members in the spring.

W. J. Smith was confirmed as temporary reading clerk until the return of Ridley Whitaker, who has left school because of sickness.

Gersten's Guarding Holds Generals' Pinck Scoreless for First Time In 12 Years

By Leonard Lobred

There was added cause for wondering what Carolina has that other Southern conference quints don't have, following the White Phantoms' performance last night in Woollen gymnasium in which they repeated their earlier conquest

Money Body Acts Today On Budget

The state legislature's joint appropriations committee meets in executive session today to have its say on the Greater University's budget for the next biennium.

Principal figures in the committee's recommendation will probably be unofficially released this afternoon, but the entire appropriations bill will not reach the assembly until later this week.

The appropriations already recommended by the committee for other state agencies indicate that the University's will be close to the advisory budget commission's report which hacked over a million dollars from the allocation requested by President Frank P. Graham.

Graham and Controller W. D. Carmichael appeared in a hearing before the appropriations committee February 5 to reiterate the University's need for the total requirements budget of $9,962,123 originally requested.

The minimal building program asked for, which includes a wing for the Carolina library, would necessitate another issue by the state.

S&F Tickets Are Available This Week

All holders of Sound and Fury season booklets may get first choice of tickets for next week's revue, "Standing Room Only," from 2 to 5 in the main lobby of Memorial Hall today until Friday, President Carroll McGaughey announced yesterday.

Tickets for the production, which will be presented Wednesday and Thursday, February 26 and 27, will go on sale to the general public Friday afternoon.

"We hope that all season ticket holders will get their tickets for the revue as soon as possible," McGaughey said, "because after this Friday seats will be given out on the basis of 'first come, first served.'" Since "Standing Room Only" will be given for two performances, there are enough good seats for everyone, but, naturally, if you wait until the night of the show to get your ticket, your choice will be limited. Our last spring show was almost completely sold out for both performances. Incidentally, mikes will be used for most of the musical numbers so that no matter where you sit, you should be able to hear satisfactorily everything that's sung."

"Standing Room Only" is a collection of songs, skits, and dances — 25 in all—plus numerous side touches which are guaranteed to be as much a surprise to many of the cast as they will be to the audience.

All of the skits and many of the songs deal with various aspects of life on the Carolina campus. The opening number is a musical tour entitled "Visit Chapel Hill" and the finale is a march called "The Tar Heels Are Marching On." Between these two numbers a spectacular, full chorused conga will be presented; the advantages of the second floor Graham Memorial telephone booth as an ideal place for pitching woo will be musically expounded; the plights of three

SP To Name Senior Class President

Session Tonight Will Also Nominate Campus Officers

By Philip Carden

The Student party's nominating machinery tonight will grind out a few more of the 37 nominations to be made before election time rolls around.

Candidates for the presidency of the rising senior class and "as many other officers as we have time for" will be selected when the party's convention meets tonight at 7:30 in Gerard Hall.

"Half the University party steering committee was on hand for last week's convention," Britt chuckled yesterday. "We hope that half the student body will be there this time to see how our candidates are nominated."

Would Be Pleased

He would also be "pleased" if more than half of the party's convention delegates are present too. He added that the convention may delete names of inactive delegates from the voting rolls.

Last week the party nominated Dub Martin for vice-president of the student body and George Hayes for secretary-treasurer. Truman Hobbs was chosen as the party's candidate for president at the first convention two weeks ago.

Each of the two parties has nominated three candidates to date. This makes it appear that both parties are running on the same schedule as last year, since the SP nomination of Herb Hardy last February 15 was the seventh announcement of that season.

Di Invites Latins To Attend Meeting

South American students at the University have been invited to attend the regular weekly session of the Di senate tonight in New West to hear and participate in the discussion of the main bill on the calendar, "Resolved, that the republics of North and South America shall form a permanent union."

The meeting will begin at 7 o'clock instead of the usual 7:15. This is to enable those who so desire to attend the concert of the National Symphony orchestra.

Following the regular business there will be a short reception and refreshments will be served. Officers of the senate are asked to wear formal attire.

of Washington and Lee, but this time under a 65-32 score.

While George Glamack led the way with 30 points and increased his season total to an even 500 points, the Phantoms established themselves as somewhat of a wonder team as they neared the completion of their conference schedule without suffering a single defeat. Washington and Lee's record was changed to eight wins and three losses—twice beaten by Carolina and once by Duke's Blue Devils, against whom the White Phantoms end their season Thursday night. Carolina won the first engagement, 43-39.

Outside of Glamack's 30-point performance, which was somewhat taken for granted, the great effort of the evening was that of Bobby Gersten, who held the Generals' all-star forward, Dick Pinck, scoreless for the first time in 12 years. When Pinck, the fellow who once held the conference record at 34 points, wound up the first half without any points, the W&L publicist reported that it was the first time in his collegiate career that he had been held pointless in any half. When the game was over, Gersten, along with Reid Suggs and Ed Antolini, had set some sort of record by holding him for the complete 40 minutes.

Four In Last Home Game

Glamack, Co-Captain Jimmy Howard, Paul Severin and Hank Pessar played their final home games for the Phantoms and received great hands before and after leaving the Woollen court for the last time. Shouts of "We want Glamack," raised by fans who are not paid money to coach the team, only spoiled the evening. Glamack was hot enough as it was, and was removed, as in the past, only because he was tired.

The Allentown Ambler, in racking up 16 points the first half and 14 the second, came within nine points of equalling the season record of 509 held by Stutz Mozelewski of Rhode Island State, which is the highest mark known to Chapel Hill experts. With the Duke game to go and a possible three games in the Southern conference tournament, Glamack might go over 600 points.

The other seniors played roles just as important as Glamack, for it was Howard getting the ball away from General forwards, and Severin and Pessar passing to Glamack and following numerous shots at the backboard. Bob Rose and Bobby Gersten, both juniors, also contributed great performances; Rose with his follow-ups and passes, and Gersten even if only for his defensive play against Pinck.

Carolina experienced a little trouble

Phi To Discuss Ludlow Measure

The Phi assembly will meet tonight in New East at 7:30 to discuss the bill "Resolved, That the Phi assembly favor the proposed Ludlow amendment to the Constitution."

This measure, if ratified, would make a national referendum necessary before a declaration of war could be made, and would not go into effect if this nation or any part of the western hemisphere is attacked.

All members are urged to attend the meeting tonight and the public is cordially invited.

S&F Cast To Meet Today at 2 O'clock

All students who are in the cast of the Sound and Fury revue must check by Memorial Hall before 2 o'clock this afternoon to find out this week's schedule for all the skits and musical numbers.

Every one must be present at all their respective rehearsals on time and no absences will be excused unless okayed by Director Carroll McGaughey, who added that "even if you have only one line in a skit, your presence is as equally important as that of any of the leads."

Bagby Will Address Pre-Med Fraternity

Dr. English Bagby of the psychology department will address a meeting of Alpha Epsilon Delta, national honorary premedical fraternity, tonight at 7:30 in 213 Graham Memorial.

Members will meet at 7 o'clock for a short business session.
