Committee Approves $540,000 Budget Increase

White Phantoms Seek Second Victory Over Duke Tonight

Class Reorganization Bill To Start Today On Way to Legislative Action

Politics May Prove Barrier To Passage

By Bucky Harward Backed by the almost unanimous endorsement of the Student government committee, the plan to reorganize class government starts today through the ways and means committee on its way to the legislature.

Discussion in a two-hour session of the Student government committee yesterday, when it was formally decided to sponsor the bill, indicated that serious opposition to the proposal may develop on the legislature floor.

Members said that political party leaders in the legislature might oppose the bill because it would "cut into the 'grave trains' and might upset political promises already made."

The plan recommended yesterday by the Student government committee includes two proposals which "will make for more efficiency in executing what functions the classes still have and at the same time leave class government a chance to vindicate itself."

Proposed Recommendations Since the offices of class secretary and treasurer together carry only a small number of duties, the first recommendation asks that these two offices be combined into one.

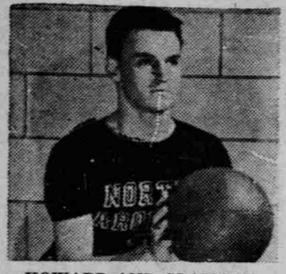

Aimed at eliminating cumbersome, deadwood committees, the second recommendation proposes that all class committees be limited to one administrative body of 15 students appointed and headed by the president.

Both parts of the plan were suggested by Truman Hobbs, Student party candidate for student body president, at the committee's regular session.

Hillel Foundation Announces Second Judaism Institute

The B'nai B'rith Hillel foundation of the University announced yesterday that it will hold its second Institute of Judaism there tomorrow and Saturday nights.

Speakers during the two day session will be Dr. Jacob Billikopf, past president of National Conference of Jewish Social Service; Irving Fineman, author of "Hear Ye Sons" and "Dr. Adams"; Rabbi Jesse Finkle, Rabbis Newport News, Virginia; Rabbi Mordecai Thurman, 2nd Rabbi of Wilmington, N. C.

HOWARD AND GLAMACK are only two of the White Phantom team which faces Duke's Blue Devils tonight.

Japanese To Counter Moves Of 'Anglo-American Bloc'

'Strangle Japan' Plan Is Alleged

By United Press SHANGHAI, Feb. 20. — (Thursday) — Britain's sensational military moves in Singapore and elsewhere in southeast Asia are part of a joint British-American plan to "strangle Japan," and will be countered with "appropriate measures," Japanese spokesmen said today.

In broad outline, as the Japanese saw the rapidly unfolding Far East picture, the "Anglo-American bloc" is seeking to achieve these ends:

- 1. To gain the initiative in east Asia and stifle Japan's plan to create a "greater east Asia co-prosperity" before it makes more headway. 2. To bolster the Chinese nationalist government in Chungking so that it will intensify its war of resistance against Japan and keep that country so thoroughly engaged in China that no activity can be attempted elsewhere. 3. To sabotage negotiations in Moscow for a Russo-Japanese accord.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. — The House today approved a bill authorizing expansion of naval air bases at Guam and Samoa, astride the western Pacific sea lanes to Japan, after Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, said bluntly that if Japan took offense it would be unmerited meddling in U. S. affairs.

The measure, calling for $245,228,500 for improvements on strategic bases in the Pacific, the Atlantic, and in continental United States, was passed by voice vote with Representative Vito Marcantonio, American Laborite of New York, the lone dissenter.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19. — Senator Josiah Bailey, Democrat of North Carolina, today advocated United States intervention in the European war and told the Senate that if passage of President's British-aid bill means war, "I am ready to go."

He said during the third day of debate on the measure that the bill "is not neutrality" but "is intervention." He conceded that the Axis powers may regard the legislation "as an act of war, but they do not attack because of provocation."

LONDON, Feb. 20. — (Thursday) — Britain may seek to transfer formidable land and air forces into Greece before Adolf Hitler can consolidate his Balkan diplomacy and move to force the Greeks into a dictated peace with Italy, it was intimated in British quarters last night.

Determined to keep their foothold in the Balkans, the British were reported in informed British quarters.

Carolina Five Is Undeclared In Conference

Glamack May Break National Scoring Record Tonight

By Leonard Lobred All will be secondary when the White Phantoms play Duke at Durham tonight at 8:30 except the desire to win. If Carolina can defeat the Blue Devils a second time this season, they will be within one fairly easy step to an undefeated Southern conference season.

Whether or not the 51-33 margin piled up by Carolina last February 7 is indicative of the comparative strength of the two quintets, the White Phantoms are certainly in for a tougher time tonight than almost any time this year.

On their home court and with the memory of that 18-point margin still in mind, the Blue Devils will be much tougher than usual. They returned from early-season defeats by State, Wake Forest and Washington and Lee to win, and now have only to turn back to Carolina to call their season successful.

Davidson Is Last Hurdle

The White Phantoms have a game remaining with Davidson at Winston-Salem tomorrow night, and should be able to turn back the Wildcats despite their resistance shown at their meeting here just before the Duke game.

The University of South Carolina won all of its regular-season games against conference opponents that winter, but was upset by State college that season, the second that the Southern conference tournament was held in Raleigh.

Carolina's last undefeated season was 1924, before the old Southern See BASKETBALL, page 3.

Knox To Play Recital Sunday

Harry Knox, a graduate of Carolina and piano assistant in the Julliard school, will appear in recital Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

The Knox concert is being sponsored by Graham Memorial as one in a series of appearances by prominent North Carolina artists.

Knox graduated in 1936 and was awarded a fellowship in the Julliard School, after which he was given a position on the teaching staff.

Latins To Visit Raleigh Today

Group Will Tour State College

The University's 110 South American visitors will celebrate Raleigh Day in the state capital today, Secretary J. C. Lyons announced yesterday.

The event is being sponsored by State college, Meredith college, and the Raleigh Rotary club, and the good neighbor delegates will spend the morning and afternoon, respectively, in tours of State college and the capital city.

Special entertainment events will include an ROTC parade at State at 12:15, a luncheon with the Rotary club at the Sir Walter hotel at 1 o'clock, and a reception and a tea at Meredith college at 4:30.

Lieut.-Governor to Speak Lieutenant-Governor Reginald L. Harris, Mayor Graham Andrews, and Dean J. W. Harrelson head the speakers for the welcoming exercises, which will be held in the YMCA auditorium at State college at 9:30.

Although the Inter-American Institute has made one side trip into Virginia and another to Winston-Salem, this will be their first group visit to the state capital, and the afternoon tour will be crowded.

Among the points of interest to be visited are the State House, Supreme Court, City Auditorium, Housing Development, Peace Institute, St. Mary's college, residential section, Little theater, and State Dairy Barn.

The committee in charge of the reception and tea at Meredith college at 4:30 o'clock is headed by President Carlyle Campbell.

Ex-Poilu Jacques Hardre Tells of Service in France, Escape from Nazis Back to UNC Graduate School

Fellowship Holder Here Called In September, 1939, For Service In French Army

By Vivian Gillespie A University student who was in the bombardment of Rouen, who retreated before the German Panzer divisions, and missed being trapped in Dunkirk by a chance order, has returned to his studies here, after serving with the French army. The expoliu is Jacques Hardre, who is doing graduate work in the department of romance languages.

Hardre, son of a French college professor who has been teaching in this country since 1922 and is now in the romance language department of the Woman's College at Greensboro, had a teaching fellowship at the University when war broke out in Europe in September, 1939.

Five days after the invasion of the German forces into Holland, Hardre and the rest of the men at a military school for advanced training, petitioned the commanding officer to allow them to return to their regiments.

Chapel Hill Appropriation Totals $770,571 — $130,000 Above This Year

By United Press

RALEIGH, Feb. 19.—The legislature's joint appropriations committee tonight approved increases totalling more than $540,000 above the budget commission's recommendation for the Greater University during the next biennium.

As approved, the appropriations bill will give the University at Chapel Hill a total of $770,571 for 1941-42—$94,758 above recommendations of the advisory budget commission and almost $130,000 above the University's estimated state allocation for the present year.

State college in Raleigh was voted an increase of $100,975 for the coming year, and $64,730 above the commission's figures was tentatively approved for the Woman's college at Greensboro.

The Greater University appropriations, including all three branches, will total $1,612,675 for 1941-42 and $1,657,269 for 1942-43 if the appropriations measure as amended tonight is finally approved by both houses of the assembly.

CPU To Bring Patterson Here

Secretary May Talk On Labor Policy

Robert P. Patterson, assistant secretary of War will speak from Memorial Hall this Tuesday night at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Carolina Political union, chairman Bill Joslin announced yesterday.

Patterson, a republican appointed by President Roosevelt, at the same time that the President appointed his superior Secretary Knox, is in charge of all industrial procurements for the War department, and his duties include housing, army contracts, and various armaments.

Probably Speak on Labor

His speech topic has not been announced yet, Joslin said, but he will probably touch on the labor policy of the War department.

Patterson caused much comment in Washington circles a few months ago when he asserted that the War department was aware that it was issuing armament contracts to firms violating the labor laws, but he explained that it was only done because of the time element. He promised that the practice would stop.

Recently, Patterson has been conducting experiments with various air raid shelters. The 50-year-old assistant secretary was born in Glen Falls, New York. He attended Union college and then went to Harvard. During the war he saw action overseas and was decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal for bravery.

Hitchcock Talks On Architecture Of Modern U. S.

"Contrary to the popular conception, the average height of the buildings in New York City is less than in Paris," said Henry-Russell Hitchcock, critic of American architecture and head of the department of art at Wesleyan university, when he spoke on "The Contributions of the United States to Modern Architecture," at Hill hall last night.

"Chicago, and not New York, is the city which saw the birth of the skyscraper," Hitchcock declared. "The skyscraper idea spread from there throughout the middle-west before reaching New York."

The skyscraper, the suburban house, and industrial building design were discussed by Hitchcock. He considers these three features the chief and only contribution of the United States to modern architecture.

"The skyscraper had Sullivan as its architect; the suburban house had Frank Lloyd Wright; but as yet there is no outstanding architect of industrial architecture," declared Hitchcock.

Brought to the campus by the Inter-American institute for the South American summer school students, Hitchcock's lecture was also open to the public.

Sound-Fury Warns Ticket-Holders

Sound and Fury season ticket holders are warned that today is the last on which they will have first choice of seats for next week's production of "Standing Room Only."
