

Tar Heel Trackmen Upset Princeton, 71-55

Dave Morrison Tops Burrowes In 1:53.8 Half

By Ben Snyder
Led by co-captain Dave Morrison, whose 1:53.8 half-mile was good enough to break a Princeton-Carolina dual meet record and to beat the Tigers' great Eddie Burrowes, a promising Tar Heel track club showed unexpected scoring power yesterday afternoon in beating the northern visitors, 71-55.

It was a tight meet all the way, one that saw the score tied after the completion of ten events, and one that kept the spectators in their seats until the very last returns had made a Carolina victory certain. Again it was hurdlers Warren Mengel and Mike Mangum who managed to swing the decision Tar Heel way. With only three events remaining, and the Carolinians clinging to a slim 50-49 margin, Coach Johnny Morris' reliable pair came through to take first and second in the low hurdles, giving the Tar Heels a respectable lead that was never challenged.

Mengel Stars
For Mengel, it was another great afternoon. The blonde junior had already taken first in the high hurdle event, winning a split second decision over teammate Mangum in :15.2, and a second in the discus to lead the individual scoring. Anti-climactical to his pair of winning performances, and rounding out his afternoon's scoring record of 16 points, was his splendid leap of 22 feet 7½ inches in the broad jump to take second place behind Princeton's Jim Corbett.

Princeton posted three outstanding stars in Paul Douglas, winner of the 220 and the quarter-mile runs and third place runner in the low hurdles, Jim Corbett, winner of the pole vault and broad jump events, and Bob Jackson who took top honors in the 100-yard dash and second behind Douglas in the furlong.

Morrison Outstanding
The half-mile was easily the outstanding race of the meet and Dave Morrison, seemingly in the best condition of his career, gave a superb performance.

Netmen Route State, 9-0; Favored Over Duke Today

By Abby Cohen
The Tar Heel netmen smothered a weak State team yesterday in the accepted Carolina tennis fashion, 9-0, rolling up the score for Coach John Kenfield's clubs to 45 straight wins. The next victim to go under the netmen's axe will be the Duke aggregation when the two teams meet for their annual meet to this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Longest match of the day was Harris Everett's encounter with Owen when the Tar Heel ace toyed with the State player to prolong the affair to twenty games. Everett could have won at 6-0, 6-0, had he wished but he used the time to experiment with new shots and, in general, have an enjoyable afternoon for himself.

The rest of the Carolina singles men barely had time to remove their sweaters, all of them pulverizing their opponents without dropping more than two games.

With the match already won, Coach Kenfield experimented with three new doubles combinations and all of them won handily.

Trackmen Report
Time trials will be held this afternoon for all freshman and varsity reserve track candidates with the field events getting under way at 2:30 and the running events, in regular meet order, at 4:15.

The names of those going to the Virginia meet will be posted at the track, and there will be no work for the men who competed in yesterday's meet, but they are to come to the track to limber up and get a rubdown.

45 in a Row
Carolina 9, State 0.

Singles
H. Everett (C) defeated Owen (S), 7-5, 6-4.

Capt. Z. Carver (C) defeated Baker (S), 6-1, 6-0.

DAVE MORRISON, in defeating Princeton's famed Eddie Burrowes, ran the splendid time of 1:53.8 yesterday when Carolina topped the Tigers. This is good time at any time in the season, and especially at so early a date.

Tar Babies Play Durham Nine Today

By Harry Hollingsworth
Rapidly proving that it will live up to its pre-season expectations, the Carolina freshman baseball team meets Durham high school here this afternoon on Emerson field at 4 o'clock in their third game of the season.

Today's game opens a three-game schedule which will send the Tar Babies against Raleigh high school tomorrow and Wake Forest freshmen Saturday afternoon.

The Tar Babies already hold one victory over the Durham Bulls, who are currently leading the Eastern Class A high school race, and should be able to name the score at will.

Whom Coach Jim Tatum would send to the mound against the high schoolers was an unknown question yesterday afternoon. Frank Cantrell, who hurled the Babies to a 5-2 win over State Tuesday afternoon, could go to the hill if he is needed. But it's very likely that he will be saved for use against Wake Forest Saturday.

Jack Hussey, who is no slacker on the mound, stands a good opportunity to draw the starting assignment. Bill Boseman and Monk Whiteheart, both of whom have appeared on the mound for a short while, may pitch.

Mark Van Kirk, curve-ball pitcher, has shown much promise in practice, but hasn't yet been given a chance in a game. He is probably the best bet against the high school lads.

In this runfest five Lambda Chi errors were a big help to SAE who also added four hits including a homer by Strange to help the cause.

Bob Strange was on the mound for the winners and did an excellent job limiting the losers to four scattered hits. SAE collected 12 safeties off

Nine Meets W&L, VMI This Weekend

Whatever happens now, it is unlikely that the Tar Heel baseball lineup will be changed. As Carolina prepares for this weekend's engagements with Washington and Lee tomorrow and VMI Saturday, all positions appear settled for good. There remains a battle at short stop and possibly in right field, but the answer seems to be at hand.

Popeye Jones and Johnny Hearn still are about even at short stop, and all that one can predict is that they will continue to alternate. Coach Bunn Hearn used Jimmy Howard in a similar manner last year at third base, with Charlie Rich having the edge throughout the season.

Will Alternate
Jones, although a great hitter after his debut last spring as a pinch-hitter, has been slightly disappointing this season, and Hearn has failed to demonstrate any superiority at the plate. Were Popeye to regain his former batting style, he would doubtless win the short stop post easily. All that can be done at present is to alternate Jones and Hearn until one shows himself to be the better.

Their battle for short may eventually come to a selection of the better fielder. There, too, would be a difficult problem, for fielding abilities are measured by standards other than

ZBT, SAE Take Easy Mural Wins

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS
SAE No. 1 — 11, Lambda Chi Alpha 3; Pharmacy 18, Law School No. 2—6; ZBT 7, Kappa Alpha 0

Behind the five hit pitching of Murray Sims, ZBT shut out Kappa Alpha, 7-0 in the feature attraction on the mural softball program yesterday.

The winners did all their scoring in two big innings, the fourth and fifth. In the fourth frame they combined hits by Schwab, Freedman, and Levy with two errors to count three runs. They came back in the next inning to add four more on four hits, two walks, and one error to finish the scoring for the day. Schwab was the leading batsman for ZBT as he garnered two singles. For Kappa Alpha, Sebrill led with two safeties in three trips to the plate.

Students Attend Baseball Film

Through the courtesy of the American league, some 600 students saw "Batting Around the American League," a motion-picture with sound, demonstrating fundamentals of baseball and showing important plays of the 1940 World Series.

Physical education classes in both baseball and softball took time Tuesday and yesterday to see the film, and other students saw it Monday at Graham Memorial. The movie was written and directed by Lew Fonseca, former Chicago White Sox infielder.
