

Legislature Hears Fees Bill Tonight

Passage Sought For Bill On Second Attempt

The student fees amendment, labeled by campus leaders as potentially the most important step in student government since the establishment of the student council, will have to wait another year unless two-thirds of the legislature shows up tonight for the special session at 7:30 in Phi hall.

A chance to approve the proposal, which would transfer the power to allocate student fees from the administration to the legislature, was snuffed last Monday night when the necessary two-thirds quorum was not obtained.

Even after the amendment is passed by the legislature, it must be ratified by the student body on general elections day. Since all ballot forms will be printed tomorrow and Saturday, the legislature, if it fails tonight, will get no third chance to pass the proposal.

Speaker Bill Cochran has already sent out special notices and postcards to all representatives urgently requesting that they realize their responsibility to attend.

Serious opposition to the bill within the legislature appears unlikely despite several members who raised arguments in Monday night's brief discussion.

Principal opponent of the amendment as it now stands was representative Andy Gennett from the Publications Union board, who objected against the absorption of the PU board surpluses into the fund blocking all student fees.

Other objector was Don Bishop, who argued that the Athletic association fee should also be included in the proposal.

Chairman Terry Sanford of the ways and means committee reminded Editor Bishop that the special committee which drew up the plan and to which Bishop belonged had concluded that the amendment stood a better chance of passing the administration and board of trustees in its present form.

Daniels Family Sets Up Award

To the leading Naval ROTC cadet in Naval Science and Tactics, will go a new award—the Josephus Daniels medal—presented to the Carolina naval unit by the Josephus Daniels family of Raleigh.

Daniels, an alumnus of the University, is now ambassador to Mexico from the United States and editor of the Raleigh News and Observer. He was secretary of the Navy under President Woodrow Wilson, carrying out a long tradition of North Carolina navy secretaries.

Cadet with the highest average in the corps here will receive his award on Award Night, May 22, when all other campus awards will be presented along with the other two ROTC prizes; one for individual drilling, the other for the best drilled platoon.

High School Week Opens

Debates, Athletics Feature Activities

Annual High School week opens here today when Chapel Hill welcomes more than a thousand contestants and other visitors for the finals in debating and athletic activities.

Representing 64 North Carolina high schools, 256 debaters will compete for the Aycock Memorial Cup offered by the two University debating societies, the Philanthropic Assembly and the Dialectic Senate.

The query is "That the United States should adopt a policy of requiring one year of military training of all able-bodied men before they reach the age of 23." The debaters coming here won out in the 29th annual state-wide triangular contests on March 28 participated in by 240 high schools.

McKie To Welcome Debaters

At 2 o'clock today Prof. George McKie will give an address of welcome to the debaters in Memorial hall. After the address, drawings will be made for sections and pairs.

The first preliminary will begin at 7 o'clock tonight, the second opening at 8:30 tomorrow morning, and the finals at 8 o'clock Friday night. Dean W. W. Pierson of the Graduate School, will preside and Dean of Students F. F. Bradshaw will award the Aycock cup.

Friday evening at 7:30 in Memorial hall, where the final debate is to be held, an organ recital will be played by Robert Brawley, assistant in the Music department, and a concert will be given at 7:45 by members of the University Glee club and the University quartet under the direction of Prof. Clyde Keutzer, voice instructor.

The Student Union, the Freshman Friendship council, the University club, and the Dialectic Senate will give a reception in honor of the debaters.

Greek Battle Waging Along 150 Mile Front

British Annihilate Italian Convoy Of Reinforcements

By United Press

LONDON, April 16—The battle of Greece has begun with "heavy fighting" between British and German armored forces at various points along the 150-mile-long Allied battlefield hinged on Mount Olympus, the British war office announced tonight.

"Heavy fighting is taking place at more than one sector along the Allied line," the announcement said a few hours after the Middle East command of General Sir Archibald Wavell had reported that:

"In Greece our troops are now in contact with the enemy along the whole of our front."

"All-Out" Struggle

The battle, expected swiftly to become a show-down, "all-out" struggle, raged westward from lofty Mount Olympus across the plains and mountains toward the Albanian frontier.

German claims that the Allied line had been broken around Mount Olympus and the plain of Larissa were said to "lack confirmation" in London.

The Germans were said unofficially to be attacking at various points along the Allied line while the Greek forces in Albania retired to join the formidable British left wing on the line.

Familiar Faces To Be Shown In Art Exhibit

Familiar faces of campus and town celebrities will regard visitors to Person hall art gallery from April 27 until May 11, when an informal exhibition of Chapel Hill portraits will be shown, Miss Harriet Adams, curator of the gallery, announced yesterday.

"The folksy, homespun touch will characterize this exhibit," said Miss Adams. "Louis Graves of the Chapel Hill Weekly will write the captions for the pictures in the spirit of the exhibit, and we expect them to be very appropriate."

Carefully selected, these portraits of Chapel Hill personalities have never been publicly exhibited before. Foreign and American artists will be represented.

Chairman of the organizing committee for the exhibition is Dean R. B. House. Other members of the committee are Mrs. W. C. Coker, Louis Graves, Archibald Henderson, William Meade Prince, Marion Saunders, Phillips Russell, and Mary Thornton.

WC Girls To Stage Aquacade Tomorrow

Under colorful spotlights girls from Woman's College will stage a college version of the "Aquacade" at Bowman Gray Memorial pool here tomorrow night at 7 o'clock as a part of the state convention of the Athletic Federation of College Women being held here over the weekend.

Men of the Carolina swimming team will stage a diving exhibition in connection with the water pageant. Students and townspeople are invited to witness the spectacle.

Curry Jones Enters Cheerleader Race On Independent Ticket

Dean Hudson To Play For Frosh Dances, April 25-26

Frosh-Grail Dance Open To Campus

Dean Hudson and his Florida Clubmen will play for the annual freshman dance set on April 25-26, chairman Charlie Harris of the freshman dance committee announced yesterday.

First-year students will have the opportunity to attend three informal dances. The set will begin on Friday night with a dance from 9 until 1 o'clock, and a tea dance will follow the next afternoon. Bids to both, issued only to freshmen, will cost nothing.

Frosh-Grail Dance

A freshman-Grail dance Saturday night from 9 until 12 o'clock will be open to the whole campus. Admission will be $1.00.

Hudson played here last year for the homecoming and freshman dances. Regular broadcaster over national networks, he still features the same "sweet and swing" that has been recorded on several Bluebird waxings. All three dances will be held in Woolen gymnasium.

Aycock Resident Will Run Against Charley Nelson

By Paul Komisaruk

Curry Jones kept the political fire burning last night with an announcement that he would run on an independent ticket for the head cheerleader position against Charley Nelson, who has received both parties' nomination.

Jones' announcement came as a surprise, after both parties had completed their slates, and had entered into the final week of the campaign.

Jones, who is assistant manager of Aycock, remarked that a number of people had approached him, and asked him to oppose Nelson.

Member of Squad

From Asheville, he was a member of the cheerleading squad last year, was a member of the University band, and was recently elected to the University club. He was head cheerleader in high school.

Aycock dorm residents will nominate him tomorrow at the official nominations, he said.

Heading his brief campaign, and managing his program will be Ben Tillet, Jones said.

Explaining his objectives, Jones remarked that "my chief interest is Carolina, and the best way to serve it is to get the student body behind the school." Jones said he plans "to improve the squad, and bring a closer relationship between the entire squad and the student body."

Nelson, who until last night was running unopposed, was elected co-head cheerleader last May, together with Jane Rumsay. Miss Rumsay was the first coed head cheerleader in Carolina's history.

Mouzon, McCall, CPU Roundtable Broadcast Today

Dr. O. T. Mouzon of the Economics department will talk on "The Industrial Role of North Carolina and the South in The National Defense" on the sixth program of the National Defense series being broadcast by the various departments of the University which are cooperating in defense preparation. Stations WDNC, WBIG, and WSJS will carry this program from 4:15 to 4:30 this afternoon. Morton Flower will announce the program while Philip Stamm and Gloyd Awalt assist with production. Rex Coston will be the technician.

Professor Fred B. McCall of the Law School will lecture on "The Law and the Family; Parent and Child" over stations WDNC, WBIG and WSJS from 4 to 4:15 this afternoon. George Wilson will announce, Philip Stamm will assist in production, and Rex Coston and Gloyd Awalt will be technicians.

"Should America Declare War Immediately?" will be the question discussed by the CPU round table over station WDNC from 8 to 8:30 tonight. The affirmative stand will be taken by Bill Joslin and Mac McLendon while the negative side will be taken by Melville Corbitt and Ed Kantowitz. Ridley Whitaker will act as moderator for the broadcast. Marnie Snyder will be announcer.

Brown To Lecture On Parasites Today

The Society of Sigma Xi announces a public lecture by Dr. Harold W. Brown, Professor of Public Health of this University entitled: "Intestinal Parasites of Man in North Carolina." This lecture will be held in the Auditorium of the Medical School tonight at 8 p. m.

All interested are cordially invited.

DTH Offers Nickels For Back Issues

The DAILY TAR HEEL business office will pay five cents a copy for each copy of the paper published on March 9 and April 4. Bring them by between two and four o'clock. The nickles are waiting.

Coeds From 11 Colleges To Convene Here Today

Meyer Speech To Highlight Conference

Carolina's coeds will be hostesses to women from 11 state colleges today, tomorrow and Saturday, when delegates from WCUNC, Duke, High Point, Meredith, Peace Junior College, St. Mary's, Guilford, Catawba, Salem Academy, ECTC, and Greensboro College meet here for the North Carolina State Conference of the Athletic Federation of College Women.

Highlights of today's activities will be an address by Dr. Harold D. Meyer of the Sociology department, a problem hour led by Miss Marie Hartwig, national secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of College Women, a rifle shooting exhibit by Carolina coeds, and demonstration dancing lessons.

Johnston, Beard To Preside

Delegates will register at the Carolina Inn at 11 o'clock, and will then meet at the official opening session at luncheon in the Inn. Dr. Meyer will speak at the luncheon, Marjorie Johnston, president of the Woman's Athletic association and co-chairman of the conference along with Mrs. J. G. Beard of the athletic department, will preside. Mrs. Beard will extend greetings to the visiting coeds during the luncheon.

Group pictures will be taken on the porch of the Carolina Inn at 2:30 o'clock. The Problem hour directed by Miss Hartwig will be held at the Inn at 3 o'clock. At 4:15 representatives will be taken on a tour of the campus.

Coed marksmen coached by Lt. M. M. Riker of the Naval ROTC will give a shooting exhibition at the Armory in the University Dining hall at 5 o'clock.

Totten Refuses To Release Deliberations of Committee

Still declining to release deliberations of his faculty committee on absences, Dr. H. R. Totten said yesterday that "when the general faculty meeting passes on the recommendations, they can be printed."

The committee chairman also declined even to disclose results of a special tabulation made on absences last quarter and on the first day of school this quarter, or to say definitely whether or not he would let students present their views to his committee.

When it was pointed out that the faculty committee on examinations had published its decisions, Dr. Totten commented, "That was a mistake."

Student Body President Dave Morrison's student committee on cuts met earlier in the quarter, decided that rules on absences should be left to the discretion of individual instructors. The student group released its decision, expected to meet with the faculty committee or else present its plan to the general faculty conference.

Dr. Totten asserted that he hadn't decided whether the students would convene with his committee, but did state that "we are taking everything into consideration."

Dean F. F. Bradshaw, member of the faculty committee, has just completed tabulations on the number, types, and excuses of absences that occurred last quarter. Comparatively exact figures have been compiled but because of the stand taken by Dr. Totten, Dean Bradshaw declined to release the results.

Seniors To Place Invitation Orders In Y This Week

"Orders for graduation invitations may be given at the Y lobby every morning at chapel period and in the afternoons from 2 until 5 o'clock," Bob Farris and Al Hewitt, co-chairmen of the Senior invitations committee, announced yesterday. A member of the committee will be stationed in the Y to take the orders.

Farris said that prices would be 10, 20 and 30 cents per card depending on the quality desired. The thirty-cent ones are leather-bound, the others are of "quality paper."

"Orders must be made by April 25," he said.

Student Body Candidates List Campaign Managers

Martin, Hayes Name Supporters

W. T. Martin, Student party candidate for vice president of the student body, yesterday announced that Ben Heath, president of the Interdormitory council, is conducting his campaign.

At the same time George Hayes, SP nominee for secretary-treasurer announced that Pat Witherington, president of Graham dormitory, and Walter Hargrove, athletic manager of Steele, are serving as his campaign managers.

President of Interdorm Council

A resident of Steele, Heath has been a member of the Interdormitory council for two years and last spring won the presidency as a dark horse candidate. He is also a member of the University club, the board of directors of Graham Memorial, and the freshman orientation committee.

McCormick Selects Williams, Alexander

Overcoming a late start, John McCormick, nominated by the University party for secretary-treasurer of the student body just three days ago, yesterday announced Kenan Williams and Bill Alexander as his campaign managers.

Williams, a senior, has been chairman of his class executive committee for the past two years. On the senior honor council, he is freshman adviser in Manly dormitory and a member of the freshman orientation committee. He comes from Sanford.

Alexander, a junior, was president of the sophomore class. He is now chairman of the class dance committee and a member of the junior honor council. For the past two years, he has been a member of the Graham Memorial board of directors and the freshman orientation committee.
