

Legislators Plan Repeal Of Campus Reorganization Among First Acts of Fall

Sanford, Harris Agree on Measure In Conferences

Officially on the books but admittedly of no value, the campus reorganization bill, dividing the student body into groups of 400, 40, and 10, for surveying student opinion, will be repealed next fall as one of the first acts of the 1941-42 Student legislature, it was learned yesterday.

This became known following conferences between Terry Sanford, speaker, and Louis Harris, chairman of the ways and means committee through which the repeal bill would go to the floor. Both agree that the reorganization bill is almost impossible to put into operation, and that rather than have it lie dormant on the legislature records it should be erased.

Criticisms of the bill, which originated immediately following its introduction last autumn, have mounted in the last week since the legislature's most recent meeting. Student leaders, pointing out that the campus doesn't have enough capable men for the positions created by the reorganization bill, now feel no need for the measure.

Although Speaker Sanford has ordered legislature activities ended for this year because of approaching law school exams, he has said that in the fall, when the legislature is again in session, repeal will be brought up, probably without opposition. Sanford fears that because only about 35 of the 48 members have been chosen so far, a quorum would be difficult to obtain; and also believes that the repeal is of insufficient importance for immediate consideration.

To prevent further legislative and committee action and also because legislature membership is not complete, Sanford has withheld announcement of committee members. Harris, ways and means chairman, has stated, however, that when he is given his 15-man committee, repeal of the reorganization bill is his first order of business. See LEGISLATORS, page 4.

Playmakers' Production

'Romeo and Juliet' Opens Friday in Forest Theater

"Romeo and Juliet," the first performance in the Forest theater since the spring of 1939, will be produced by the Carolina Playmakers Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights this week to celebrate the reopening of the theater after its $20,000 WPA reconstruction project.

Final major production of the current season, Shakespeare's timeless drama of "star-crossed" love, now taking shape under the direction of Professor Frederick H. Koch, will be portrayed with scenery, action, costumes and lighting all planned with an eye towards color and variety.

Lynn Gault, Playmakers' scene designer, has created a romantic setting in the early Italian style. The most elaborate set ever built for the Forest theater, it provides five acting levels and areas. Its color scheme of white, gold, and pink affords a background appropriate to the spirit of the picturesque story in which Shakespeare tells of young love triumphant over hate and finally over death.

Ora Mae Davis, Playmakers' costumer, has designed a collection of

Awards Night Plans Complete

Special Seating Arrangements Made

With the awards night resurrection slated for tomorrow evening at 7:15 in Emerson field, Fred Weaver, aided by student assistants, yesterday rushed last-minute preparation, continued the streamlining process with a crowd-drawing exhibit in the library, and announced special seating arrangements for the program.

The spotlighted field will house the once-traditional event, as President Frank Graham and Governor J. M. Broughton head the roster for the evening. Dean R. B. House, acting as master of ceremonies, will introduce those who present the awards. The band, NROTC, and glee club will keep the stepped-up program moving.

Spectators will sit in the regular stands, speakers will use a specially-built platform, the band will be in a section directly in front of the permanent stands, and recipients of individual honors will be provided with seats on the first three rows of a temporary section on the field.

Members of Phi Beta Kappa, Beta Gamma Sigma, the Monogram club, the band and the glee club will sit with winners of intramural medals, publication keys, and Playmaker masks in the rows behind the individual winners. Monogram men will wear their letters during the program.

The University club will seat winners in the special section before the regular program starts. Individuals and groups scheduled to sit in the temporary field seats must be at the field by 7 o'clock.

Eleven Coeds Initiated In First Valkyrie Rites

Newly Named Woman's Honorary Society Conducts Sunrise Ritual in Arboretum

The Valkyries, highest coed honor society on the campus, inducted eleven women students into membership at 4:30 this morning in the arboretum.

Chosen for their qualities of "leadership, scholarship, character and unselfish service," eight juniors, two seniors, and one graduate student became the first group to be tapped by the Valkyries which last year disassociated itself from Alpha Kappa Gamma, took a new name, became a purely local organization.

When the sun rose over the arboretum, formal tapping rites were held and the ceremonies involved in attaining the coed's "Golden Fleece" were completed.

Honorees were: (juniors) Mary Caldwell of Tallahassee, Fla., new president of the Woman's Association; Cornelia Clark of Scotland Neck, vice-president of the YWCA; Jean Hahn of Wyomissing, Pa., member of the Pen-Hellenic council; Hortense Kelly of New Church, Va., president of the Woman's Athletic association; Randy Mebane of Blowing Rock, vice-president of Sound and Fury; Muriel Malison of Lafayette, Va., president of the YWCA; Eva Mae Nee of Norfolk, Va., secretary of the WAA; Anne Peyton of Concord, president of Chi Omega;

(Seniors) Mary Susan Robertson of Hillsboro, president of Dorm 1; Anne Thornburgh of Carnegie, Pa., member of the Interdom council; and (graduate student) Mary Jane Yeatman of Columbia, Tenn., graduate representative to the woman's council.

Honorary Valkyrie Mrs. Marvin Stacy addressed the new group at breakfast in Episcopal parish house before the tapping ceremony.

Initiated into Alpha Kappa Gamma last spring, Mary Ann Clinard, Peggy Arnold, Marjorie Johnston, Gene Loaring-Clark, Julia McConnell, Jane McMaster, Betty Moore, and Ann Williams presided over the induction. Also present were three inactive members: Louise Jordan, Polly Pollock and Melville Corbett.

Active on the campus, the Valkyries this year staged and directed the May Day ceremonies, and this Sunday are sponsoring an intercampus sing. At Awards night tomorrow the Valkyries will present a cup to the outstanding coed of the year.

Field Expected To Be Finished By September 1

By Paul Komisaruk

Out of the blue print stages, and rushing towards completion, Carolina's aerial expansion program—which will result in the largest college air field in the country—will be completed by September 1, if the present rate of work continues uninterrupted, W. R. Mann, airport manager disclosed yesterday.

Covering 607 acres of land, approximately 300 acres will be developed for the entire field, runways, hangars, and cleared land. Of this 300 acres, it was learned, almost 150 have been cleared, or are in the process of development now.

Work on the project began a few months ago, and since then the sweeping stretches of land have taken shape as University engineers put their plans into effect.

Over Half of Grading Completed

The $210,000 development required at the outset the moving of almost 700,000 cubic yards of dirt, and men and machines, working 14 hours a day, six days a week have already moved about 400,000 yards.

The field proper, when completed in September, will contain three runways, among the largest in the United States. They cover 200 acres of land, with another 100 acres given over to hangars, cleared lands, and other developments.

Half of the NE-SW runway, 1800 by 300 feet, is completed and now in use for current CAA student pilots, while part of another runway 1,600 by 500 feet, has also been finished and is being put to temporary use.

Working at an incredibly rapid rate, "as much as 45 acres of land have been cleared in two weeks," J. R. Gove, assistant engineer, said yesterday.

Rough grading for the three runways will be completed by July 1, Gove stated.

Welch Announces Draft Information

Keeping step with government regulations concerning college students and the draft, the University's chairman for national defense, S. W. J. Welch, yesterday announced that the latest requirements of the draft would be distributed today in letter form to those affected by the conscription act.

With the letter, explaining the facts about deferments, will be a card to be turned to the University for permanent files. The information will be given out in the Y from 9 until 1, and from 2 until 4:30.

Record-Breaker

Jimmy Dorsey and Orchestra To Play for Finals, June 6-7

Climaxing this year's series of traditional Carolina dance weekends, America's ace saxophonist, Jimmy Dorsey, and his orchestra will play for the Finals set, June 6 and 7, Tom Wright, chairman of the German club, announced yesterday.

Dorsey will play for three dances, all to be held in the Tin Can, and the open concert. The concert will last from 4:30 to 6 o'clock on Friday afternoon, June 6. The Friday night formal will be held from 10 until 2 o'clock Saturday, the tea dance will last from 4:30 until 6:30, and the Saturday night formal is to be held from 9 until 12 o'clock.

Wright announced that bids may be obtained from any member of the German club for $6.00. The club is composed of the following 10 campus social fraternities: ATO, Beta Theta Pi, DKE, SAE, Sigma Nu, Zeta Psi, Kappa Sigma, Kappa Alpha, Delta Psi, and Sigma Chi.

Also Authorize Advanced Standing Program Changes

By Ernest Frankel

Moving toward greater co-operation in national defense and possible increased enrollment, Monday's faculty meeting, in action interpreted in many quarters as "significant," passed the long-considered resolution to extend facilities for defense and vocational training, and approved a plan for increased advanced standings.

Faculty and administrative leaders—usually non-committal—freely discussed the possible implications of the legislation, and implied that an even greater surprise would come out of Friday's meeting. The faculty has met three times in as many weeks—that fact in itself suggesting the importance of current business.

The cut system, now out of committee and on the floor, should be acted upon at the next meeting. Rumor suggested that "attendance may be left up to the individual instructors, making for practically optional cuts."

National Defense Allowances

By authorizing various departments and the extension division to provide non-credit courses for two-year men, the faculty "was making allowances for the increasing number of students who wish to take subjects that may aid them in national defense work." Present plans are to offer work in the handling of office machines, typing, and bookkeeping, but so far definite steps have not been taken.

On paper, the extension of these facilities means increased enrollment by men who would otherwise attend business schools or drop out of college. The new arrangement would allow students to take credits for business courses. See FACULTY, page 3.

Valkyries Hold Intercampus Sing Sunday Evening

First affair of its kind at Carolina, the intercampus sing, sponsored by the Valkyries, honorary woman's society, will start at 8:30 Sunday evening on the steps of the library.

Groups from all fraternities, sororities, and dormitories will compete for the silver cups to be awarded to the winning men's and women's groups.

The winners will be presented with silver cups on which their names will be engraved. They will keep the cups until next spring at which time a similar sing will be held.

Mary A. Clinard, president of the Valkyries, requested yesterday that all organizations notify her or Temple Newsome immediately as to the songs they plan to sing.

Chinese Envoy Cancels Speech

IRC Experiences 'Speaker Trouble'

Speaker trouble hit the IRC yesterday with the announcement that the speech by Dr. Hu Shih, Chinese ambassador to the United States, scheduled for Sunday, May 25, has been cancelled.

The address, to have been presented under the auspices of the IRC, was considered one of the outstanding events of the spring quarter, as the Chinese envoy was expected to give, from his inside knowledge, the part that the Far East is playing in the world conflict.

"Pressing Business" However, yesterday officers of the IRC received a telegram from Dr. Hu Shih, expressing his regrets that "pressing business" out of his control would prevent him from appearing here. The nature of the "business" was undisclosed.

Officers of the IRC, who interviewed Dr. Hu Shih in Washington at the time he agreed to come to Chapel Hill, said that he seemed very anxious to visit the University.

In the telegram from the ambassador he indicated that he might be able to speak at the University next fall.

Treasure Hunt Winners To Meet

Prizes will be given out.

Sophomores To Vote Today On Yackety Yack Pictures

Palmer, Tillett Work Out Plan

Rising sophomores go to the polls today to vote on the proposed assessment for individual pictures of the class of 1942 Yackety Yack.

The ballot reads, "Proposed: That the class of 1944 have individual pictures in the 1942 Yackety Yack. These shall be paid for by a fee of $2.00 which will be collected in three installments (66c, 67c, and 67c) at the time of registration."

Dotson Palmer, class president, and Charlie Tillett, editor of the 1942 Yackety Yack, have worked out the plan. The sophomores must vote the assessment each year because the administration will not sanction a permanent settlement of the issue since it is "reluctant to raise fees unnecessarily."

The past two sophomore classes have voted for the inclusion of individual pictures, and Palmer and Tillett stressed the importance of voting to secure the simple majority of the 750 members of the class needed to pass the measure.

Polling places will be open in the YMCA lobby from 9 to 12 o'clock and from 2 to 5 o'clock, and in the UDH lobby from 12 to 2 o'clock and from 5:30 to 7 o'clock.

Freshman Meet Advisers Today

Members of the freshman class must meet their advisers today at 10:30 to get information concerning appointments for pre-registration for the fall quarter. The present plan, instituted several years ago to do away with waiting in line, will be explained.

The meeting places are Dr. Edmister, Venable 304; Dr. Emory, New East 112; Mr. Hill, Phillips 206; Dr. Huddle, New East 203; Miss Huntley, Saunders 201; Dr. Cecil Johnson, Saunders 314; Dr. R. P. Johnson, Murphy 111; Dr. Klais, Venable 302; Mr. Lovejoy, Davie Hall auditorium; Mr. McKie, Bingham 103; Mr. Parker, Venable 208; Dr. Perry, Peabody 202; Mr. Spruill, Bingham 108; and Dr. Wells, New West 101.

At the meetings students will be advised on arrangements for a class meeting in Memorial hall at 10:30 tomorrow, when registration blanks will be distributed.
