Not to Mince Matters

By Harry Hollingsworth

With nothing else to do (you know, with exams coming TAR HEEL men have nothing to do) we stopped by the coed field yesterday afternoon to watch our first game of coed softball this season.

The game was quite interesting, at times, what with the pitchers hitting home runs and the outfielders fanning and umpires calling plays they didn't see.

We envy the men in K dorm. They get a box seat at all the games, and as each girl came to bat yesterday the K residents, pulling for one side or another, would pass remarks about the hitting and fielding ability of the girls.

Mary McCormic, the winning pitcher, received the biggest build-up of the hitters, but Ditty Kelly, playing shortstop, was the fielding sensation.

Shortly before the game started, Dick Jamerson, looking from the window of his office in Woollen gymnasium, remarked that her throwing arm was much better than many men's on the campus.

Judging from the amount of fuss the coeds made, they either don't take their baseball very seriously or they just don't believe in arguing with the umpire. Even when an umpire called a play she didn't see, the girls accepted it in good grace and kept their thoughts to themselves.

Gathering Bits

Charlie Rich, third baseman and leading hitter for the Tar Heels this season, refused a contract with a Class C Virginia team last week. . . . Harry Montgomery, winner of the Patterson award in 1936 and one of Carolina's football greats, stopped by the gymnasium yesterday. . . . Since it was the first time we had ever seen the former gridiron star, we were quite surprised to see such a small man. . . . In checking through the records in the Athletic office yesterday for three-sport men, we astonished at the number of two-sport men Carolina has had. . . . Three-sport men are almost a rarity.

Frosh Netmen Rack Up Seven Wins for Year

By Mannie Krulwich

Winning seven meets and losing two, the Carolina frosh tennis team recently completed its 1941 season.

Marshall Chambers, Harold Maass and Barden Winstead, No. 1, 2 and 3 singles players during the entire year, played consistently well and appeared to be the principal men developed by the team.

Two Defeats

Charlotte high school and Scarborough Prep gave the Tar Babies their only defeats of the season. Carolina defeated Charlotte in a second meeting between the two clubs, 5-2.

In the opening meet of the season Charlotte gained its victory over the Tar Baby team, 5-4. In all fairness to the team, however, it should be said that when Scarborough defeated it, Chambers and Maass were playing in the North-South at Pinehurst, and were unable to be in Chapel Hill for the meet. Scarborough won, 9-0.

Sinks Peddie

Following its defeat in the first match of the season by Charlotte high, the team gained its first victory of the year by whipping Peddie prep, 6-3.

The Blue Imps fell twice during the year to the Tar Babies, 8-1 the first time and 7-2 the second time. In the first Duke meet Milton Cash, Mark Griffin, Shelton Coons and Fred Rutledge were regulars in the lineups and were turning in some well-played sets.

Flashy Finish

Defeating State twice, 7-2 and 9-0, and Winston Salem high school, 6-3, the frosh closed their season with three impressive wins.

Two matches, one with Washington and Lee frosh and the second with State frosh, were rained out during the season.

Giving every man on the team an opportunity to play, Coach John Kenfield used every freshman who reported and stayed out in at least one match.

High School Track Clinic Previews Potential Stars

Meet Shows Progress Of Scholastic Track In Recent Years

If the results of the first University-sponsored high school track clinic, held at Woollen gym Friday and Saturday, are indicative of what is to come in future years, then it seems apparent that the affair will become an annual fixture.

True, each and every scholastic track star tendered an invitation didn't rush to the Hill in the fall, but a sufficient number of the schoolboys, eager and hopeful to learn the finer points of the cinder sport, came up to the University to merit the reputation of the event next season.

The two day conference, which drew some 20 athletes from eight state high schools, proved to be a success not only from a good-will standpoint, but also from a competitive point. The

Winner of Letters In Football, Boxing, Baseball This Year

By Harry Hollingsworth

The second name among the men receiving monograms for baseball in last Saturday's paper was M. E. Bobbitt, known among his friends as Mike and listed in the student directory as Mike E. Bobbitt, 4, M., Greensboro.

That letter was Mike's third monogram this year in a major sport, having already received letters in football in the fall and boxing in the winter.

By receiving the letter in baseball Mike became the fourth Carolina athlete in recent history to get three letters in the same year in major sports. Stewart Chandler, '33, received letters in football, basketball and track, and George Brandt, '34, received letters in football, basketball and baseball.

Back in 1921, '22, '23, '24 Monk McDonald, probably the greatest athlete Carolina has ever had, was awarded letters in football, baseball and basketball for four consecutive years. The Southern conference had not been formed then and men were able to compete for more than three years in sports.

First Diamond Letter

Other than his three letters which he received this year, Mike has other letters in football and one more in boxing. His baseball letter was the first he has received in the diamond sport.

Because he was injured in pre-season practice last year, Mike was unable to compete in baseball and, therefore, has another year of eligibility, but doesn't think he will be back next spring to play.

Overnight Star

Having played only football and baseball before coming to Carolina, he was induced by Coach Ronman of the boxing team to come out for the ring sport, and his success was practically overnight. He responded to Ronman's coaching and developed into a first-team man in his first year.

Although he played three years of football, his junior year was his best season on the gridiron. At the blockingback post in the backfield, which contained at one time or another George Stirnweiss, Jim Lalanne, Harry Dunkle, Sid Sadoff and George Radman, Mike was a consistent performer in all the games.

Played End

Ray Wolfe, coach of the team, shifted Mike to end last season when he was unable to work into the single wingback formation Wolf planned for the team.

WINNER OF LETTERS IN THREE MAJOR SPORTS in one year, Mike Bobbitt, of Greensboro, will go down in Carolina athletic history as one of the top ranking athletes of the University.

Spencer Tramples Chi Omega To Clinch Baseball Crown

McCormic, Umpstead Blast Out Homers; Dorm Team Wins, 13-5

Insuring its already-acknowledged championship of the coed baseball tourney, Spencer yesterday defeated Chi Omega, runners-up, with an easy 13-5 victory to end the season undefeated.

Pitching for Spencer was Mary McCormic, one of the best coed mounders to appear this season. Just as good at bat, Mary made a home run today, as did Sarah Umpstead, pitcher for Chi Omegas.

From the first inning on, Spencer easily led the out-classed Chi Omegas. Kay Gould made two hits in three trips to the bat for Spencer, and Nolia Hollowell scored two hits in two trips for the dormitory girls.

Captain of the victors was Jean Lindsay, and heading the Chi Omega team was Ann Thornberg.

The final game in the tourney will be played tomorrow when ADPI meets combined Dormitory No. 1 and No. 2 team at 4 o'clock on the coed field.

The dormitory team is favored to defeat the ADPI club which has failed to hit the win column this season.

Strass Defeats Steel, 6-1, 6-2 In Tennis Finals

Magery Strass became the new coed tennis champion yesterday by defeating Ella-Keen Steel, 6-1, 6-2, in the finals play-off.

Dark Horse Wins

A dark horse throughout the tournament, Margery showed a strong game to lead Ella-Keen from the beginning of the match. Previously Ella-Keen had been favored to win, taking her semi-finals game from Mary McCormic, seeded number-two player of the tourney.

An excellent forehand and frequent neat placement shots sent Margery out in front with the first game of the first set, and kept her there with only three exceptions for the entire two sets.

Spencer Keeps Plaque

With her win, Margery retains the championship plaque for Spencer dormitory. Kay Gould won the fall tourney to bring the shield to the dormitory.

Pessar, Croom Break Record In Two Events

By Earle Hellen

Finals in the annual intramural track meet will get underway at Fetzler field this afternoon at 3:30 with the field events followed by the running of the opening track events at 4:00 o'clock. Semi-finals were completed yesterday and those qualifying in the various events enter the finals today.

New Records Set

Two new records were broken in the dormitory semi-finals yesterday. Big Hank Pessar tossed the discus 125 feet to break the existing record of 121 feet set last year by Bob Stoinoff of K. Mebane Croom of Grimes dormitory shattered the broadjump mark with a jump of 20 feet, 10 inches. The old record was 19 feet 2 1/2 inches set by Roy Connor of Lewis last year.

Croom made six jumps none of which were under 20 feet and set his mark on his second jump. Ed Shytle of Everett and Bill Thomas of K both broke the old mark with jumps of 19 feet 3 inches, but Croom's mark was much farther. All marks set in the semi-finals are carried over to the finals and count there.

Hambright Leads Frats

Jimmy Hambright was the leading performer in the fraternity semi-finals. The Kappa Sig took firsts in both his heats in the 60 and 100-yard dashes and qualified for the finals in the broad jump. Bob Sumner of Kappa Sigma was right behind his teammate taking firsts in both his heats in the 60 and 100-yard dashes. The Kappa Sigs won first places in all three heats in the 60-yard dash when Jim Lalanne won the third heat.

Kappa Sigs are favored to repeat and take the team title again this year. They are strong in the sprints with Hambright, Sumner, and Lalanne and LeBlanc can be counted on to pick up points in the field events. Beta Theta Pi, SAE, and DKE will be in the thick of the fight though.

Lewis Holds Edge

In the dormitory meet Lewis and Mangum will fight it out for the championship. Lewis won last year and they hold a slight advantage in today's meet. Lew Hayworth, who qualified in three events yesterday, Toby Webb, and Charlie Baker are the leading performers of the Lewis crew.
