Debate Heads Refute Charge Of Inefficiency

Dorsett Claims Action Taken By Council

By Ed Lashman

Partially answering charges by Elsie Lyon, Mac MacLendon, and Dick Raily of "inefficiency" in the Debate Council, Dewey Dorsett, University party member of the debate council, said that the council had already taken action on the reforms suggested by the three squad members and that their statements, though justified, were "a little behind the times."

In a letter to the editor of the Daily Tar Heel, Carrington Gretter refuted statements made by Miss Lyon in her column, and said that he was "elected president of the council by council members, and that he was representative to the council from the Di, not a politician."

Offering as evidence the fact that the council met Tuesday night after the squad meeting and acted on the resolutions by working out plans whereby the squad could have decision debates whenever they wanted to, that the squad is going to enter the Rock Hill tournament November 3-6, and that plans are being drawn up for the nomination of councilmen to be elected by the campus on a merit system and by the squad, Dorsett said that action had already been taken and that reforms and reorganization were being worked out now.

Worley Invites Coeds To Union Activities

Fish Worley, with a wicked gleam in his eye, sent out an SOS yesterday for more coeds to come and enjoy the beauties of his domicile, otherwise known as Graham Memorial.

"We are fixing up Room 214 with a coffee table, and four easy chairs for a game of bridge or record programs," said Fish in trying to entice the coeds to his lair.

But that's not the only new improvement, for Graham Memorial is now the home of the Sound and Fury office, full length mirrors are being placed in the ladies' reception room, and there are now two coeds on the board of directors of Graham Memorial.

"Coeds pay the student union fee as well as the men, and we hope they will come in and take advantage of our reading room, the 50 albums of classical music and popular records, and the new free game room."

Luftwaffe Bombers Launch Savage Raids on British Isles

By United Press

German bombers today made their most savage attack on the British Isles in more than three months as Nazi authorities took bloody reprisals for mounting sabotage and the Soviet High Command claimed success on all battle fields. Luftwaffe bombers swept coastal areas from Scotland to the Straits of Dover, and it was feared casualties and damage would be high in at least two towns.

Terrific anti-aircraft fire and fighters battled the raiders in clear moonlight. A late Soviet communique said Red troops, in a stubborn two-day battle in the Ukraine, had slain 2,700 Germans and captured more than 500, and great stores of supplies.

The revolt against Nazi repression surged across the occupied countries of Europe and had invoked German reprisals responsible for almost 1,000 executions—with firing squads adding to this total daily.

Berlin admitted the Russians were on the offensive, but said their attacks were repulsed with heavy casualties. In the Nazi drive on the Dometz industrial basin, Axis armies were said to have taken an important railway junction, 70 miles south of Khartov.

WASHINGTON, October 2.—Congressional "appeasers" and "obstructionists" were challenged today by Senator Claude Pepper to seek a vote of confidence in the two houses. Pepper frequently has anticipated major policy moves by President Roosevelt.

At the same time he urged the President not to engage Congress in a battle over repeal of the Neutrality Act and suggested strategy by which it could be avoided.

He said that it is necessary only for Mr. Roosevelt to invoke the proclamations which make combat areas into which American merchantmen may not enter. If Congress disagrees, it can reinstate the area.

WASHINGTON, October 2.—The White House expressed hope tonight that "an entering wedge for the practice of complete freedom of religion" in Soviet Russia is "definitely on its way."

Issuance of the statement coincided with rising controversy over President Roosevelt's statement that the Soviet Constitution provides the same rights to freedom of worship as those enjoyed by Americans.

LAKELAND, Ga., October 2.—A quiet middle-aged grandmother who was a schoolteacher before she became Georgia's first lady for four years, tonight was given much of the credit for having prevented an armed political crank from kidnapping her husband, former-Governor E. J. Rivers for ransom. The would-be-kidnapper committed suicide by shooting himself in the mouth two hours after he failed in the attempt to abduct Rivers from his home last night.

Football Contest Blanks Are Available Today

One of the four meal tickets in this week's football contest will go to a coed, announced Fish Worley last night, suddenly becoming coed-conscious.

Blanks have been placed in the entrance hall of Graham Memorial and any student who would like a free meal ticket in Lenoir Dining Hall is asked to come by and fill out a blank.

Entrants are asked to give the score of the Carolina-Davidson game and pick the winners in 19 other games to be played tomorrow. Entries must be in by tomorrow noon.

Student Legislature Officials Appoint 16 Representatives to Committees

Coed Senate Provides Representation from Town

Hahn Appoints Committee Heads

Attacking the problem of coeds living off campus, the coed Senate yesterday afternoon passed an amendment providing that a representative from the newly-formed Town Council become a regular member of the interdormitory council.

The nine off-campus houses elected house presidents Wednesday night and these presidents will form the Town Council which will try to link these off campus houses with the coed dorms.

Speaker Jean Hahn of the coed senate also appointed permanent committee chairmen for the three standing committees of the senate. June Love, treasurer of WGA, heads the finance committee, Elsie Lyon is chairman of the elections committee, and Jean Wire will have charge of the point system.

The Senate also decided to meet regularly at 5 o'clock Thursdays in Caldwell Hall every other week. The first open meeting of the Senate yesterday was attended by 11 non members.

New presidents of the town houses and the houses they represent are: Mary Lib Masengill, Mrs. Strowd; Betty Booker, Mrs. Foote; Connie Elliot, Mrs. Basin; Martha Heggall, Mrs. Funderburk; Janie Lewis, Mrs. Johnson; Sarah Gordon, Mrs. Phillips; Emma Didier, Mrs. Graham; Marilyn Sandifer, Mrs. Rankin; and Alice Morgan, Mrs. Keutzer.

"Victory" Sandwich Designed by Professor To Aid Defense Effort

Swing, slang and sandwich constitute the three "S's" of American youth and promise to occupy high places in the American folklore that is now in the making. Psychologists have pointed out that this oddly-matched trio contributes in large share to American vitality and influences in just as high a degree the natures and dispositions of millions of youngsters from high school to college ages.

Yet, even these typically American "S's" are undergoing changes in the light of the National Defense program. Swing has become militant, slang reflects the blitzkrieg-dive-bomber era and now the sandwich "goe vitamin" in a large, constructive way.

Dr. Tom D. Spies, professor of medical research at the University of Texas and the University of Alabama, associate professor of medicine at the University of Cincinnati, and world-famous for his fight on pellagra in the malnourished areas of the South, recommends a "Victory" sandwich—

Peeled wheat bread and yeasted peanut butter.

"A combination of this bread and yeasted peanut butter," Dr. Spies told a conference of vitamin experts at the University of Chicago recently, "is a most effective or therapeutic agent."

"Healthful"

"Such a product, peanut butter, when combined with up to 20 per cent of brewer's yeast, is a rich source of the natural vitamins of the B complex, and a good source of protein, fat and calories as well.

"Peeled wheat bread," produced by the Earle flotation process of manufacture, which removes only 2 per cent of the whole grain, furnishes more proteins, vitamins and minerals than does white bread or other so-called whole wheat bread."

The Earle flotation process peels the

DTH Tryout Class Postponed

The Daily Tar Heel tryout class previously announced for this afternoon will be postponed until next Friday because of the number of staff members going to the Davidson game.

Tryouts and regular reporters are strongly reminded that they are to check by the news office every day.

Congress May Alter Draft Act

College Students Would Be Deferred Under Langer Bill

Announcement came yesterday from Selective Service headquarters in Washington of pending legislation in Congress which may alter the draft act to allow for mass deferment of college students until the end of the academic year.

Boards all over the nation were notified that the Langer Bill, now before the Senate Military Affairs committee, includes clauses which will "continue the flow of trained leaders so much needed both during and after the present war period."

Revamped Law

The revamped law would allow any person who has entered college, and completed at least one year of work toward a recognized degree, to finish the academic year, and make preparation for continuing the courses after service in the armed forces.

Coming on the heels of a previous survey by the government which revealed that 85 per cent of college seniors and 45 per cent of college juniors are of Selective Service age, the bill will "assure the continuation of colleges and universities that may otherwise be jeopardized by loss of students."

At present local boards are being advised by national headquarters to fully investigate the applications for deferment, and act in the best interests of the government and the student.

Playmakers Hold Tryouts Today

Tryouts for The Male Animal, first major production of the Carolina Playmakers, will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock and Monday night at 7:30 in the Theatre, Dr. Frederick Koch, director of the group, announced yesterday.

Registration in the Dramatic Arts department is not necessary for participation in plays sponsored by this group. Members of the cast, which includes parts for five women and seven men, will be chosen entirely on the basis of ability.

Copies of the comedy are on reserve in the library for the benefit of those who wish to study for tryouts.

S&F Adopts Constitution; Elects Two Minor Officers

St. Clair Pugh Named Vice-President

In their first meeting of the year under the presidency of Randy Mebane, Sound and Fury last night instituted its new constitution—providing for the creation of an executive committee to handle the organization's affairs—and elected St. Clair Pugh vice-president, and George Grotz producer.

St. Clair Pugh won the vice-presidency over two other nominees, Jack Dube and Ted Royal. George Grotz was unanimously selected as business manager.

The Student entertainment committee is to underwrite Sound and Fury productions in the future, and a budget will be made to take care of this expense. An executive committee, made up of officers and members who care to tryout for the positions will be in charge of all activities for the group.

Regularly enrolled students are eligible for active membership, subject only to the approval of the executive committee and the 175 membership limit.

Legislature To Meet Wednesday

Priming the legislative machinery in preparation for the first meeting of the legislature next Wednesday night, officials and chairmen of the various committees last night appointed 16 representatives to make up the committees for the coming year.

Listing the review of the student activities and the scrutiny and approval of the class budgets as the most important business slated for the meeting next week, Speaker Terry Sanford stated last night that the much-publicized proposal concerning the abolition of student automobiles would be taken up by the Ways and Means committee before being brought onto the floor of the legislature.

Bills Pending

Other bills slated for survey by the student group are those relating to the debate council, the "hatch act", and the conduct of spring elections.

Definite action will be made on the act setting up time and regulations for freshmen elections, which are scheduled on the campus calendar for the near future.

Ferebee Taylor, chairman of the Finance committee, will bring the recommendation of the Student Welfare Board's sub-committee that the Block Fee proposal be postponed until campus situations become more stable before the legislature for official approval. The unprecedented bill, which would place the administration and control of the mass of student fees, totaling more than $55,000 annually, in the hands of the student legislature and further by a broad step the progress made in independent student government, requires the approval of the Administration and Trustees before being placed in actual operation.

Committee Incomplete

Awaiting the elections of the new members to the legislature, the four committees stand incomplete in membership—10 more members to be appointed, in total.

Stressing the need for the election of these new members in order that the committees may be fully appointed, Sanford said last night that all organizations which have not elected their representatives are to consult with Bucky Harward, chairman of the Elections committee or report to W. J. Smith, Reading Clerk.

Charged with the detailed handling of the Block Fee proposal, the Finance committee is headed by Ferebee Taylor. W. J. Smith has been appointed secretary of the committee which is composed of George Hayes, "Bo" Reynolds, Jane Dickinson, Warren Mengel, Roy Strowd, and Walter Haas.

The Ways and Means committee is headed by Louis Harris and is com-

Athletes To Speak On Program

Band, Cheerios To Lead Parade To South Building

Urging that as many students as possible be on hand tonight, Steve Peck, president of the University club, announced the first open air pep rally of the year to be held on the steps of South building at 8 o'clock.

Members of the football team will not be present at the rally because of a final night practice, Peck said, but outstanding athletes of other sports will be on hand as speakers for the occasion.

Curry Jones and his 150 Cheerios will be in the parade and rally to bolster spirit and to add to the noise with their megaphones.

The University band will start a cross-campus parade in King Court at 7:45 tonight and end up at South building where a public address system will be in use so that the crowd will have no trouble hearing the speeches.

Peck reminds all students that they can get into the Davidson game for only $.50 and that as many who could get rides to the game should be on hand "to cheer the team on to victory."

"In any event," he said, "turn out for the pep rally and make enough noise so that the team will hear that twelfth man over in the stadium at practice."

"Even though the game is going to be played out of town, let's show that the famous Carolina spirit is still alive. Let's see everybody at South building at 8 tonight."

Decorate Won With Paintings

SAN JOSE, Cal. (UP)—Marques E. Reitzel, head of the art department of San Jose State College, has become one of only three persons in the United States, who have won their Ph.D., with oil paintings.

The two others, are well known eastern painters one of whom is a woman.

Reitzel was awarded a degree of Doctor of Philosophy, at Ohio State University where, after taking a summer course in advanced studies he exhibited to the examining board a collection of 27 paintings.

Ordinarily, candidates for the doctorate are required to write a dissertation on some subject not previously studied to any great degree. The writing is preceded by years of research work and the candidate's knowledge of the subject is frequently tested by a board of examiners who finally pass upon his dissertation.

In the case of Reitzel, his 27 paintings constituted his "dissertation" for his degree.

Of these paintings, four had won prizes in major art exhibitions; 18 had been exhibited in national art exhibits, and the remainder had never been shown before, having been painted especially for his "doctorate" examination. They are chiefly landscapes.

As the examining committee studied his paintings, he was "quizzed" about the principles of art, its various techniques, and the influence of different schools of artists. At the end of the exhibition and the examination, Prof. Reitzel, became Dr. Reitzel.

Reitzel came to San Jose State College as head of the art department in 1938. He had taught previously Chicago's Studio School of Art, at Rockford, Ill.; at Colorado State College of Education at Greeley, Colo.; at Western Reserve University at Toledo, O.; and at the University of Southern California.

His "doctorate thesis of oil paintings," is on an exhibition tour of the country.

License Distribution Set For Next Week

Student auto licenses will not be given out until sometime next week, Mac MacLendon, chairman of the safety council announced yesterday.

There will be another announcement giving the time and place at the beginning of the week.
