

Myers Paces Frosh to 26-0 Win Over Virginia

Virginians Feel That All Will Not Be Well for Tar Heels

Carolina Favored In Fray

By Harry Hollingsworth
 RICHMOND, Nov. 7.—In this Virginia city tonight there is a feeling that all won't be so well with the Tar Heels of the University of North Carolina tomorrow night when they play Richmond University in a Southern conference game. The contest starts at 8 o'clock in the City stadium.

Reports reaching here late this afternoon said that Carolina looked impressive in its last home workout and deserved the title of favorite which it received from the experts and pointers. The Tar Heels, beaten five times in seven games, have a record almost identical to the Spiders, but are still rated from seven to 14 points better.

But you can't make a rooster for this Virginia team believe that this year's edition of the Tar Heels are that much better than the Spiders. They remember last year's game in which the Tar Heels were rated two or more touchdowns stronger than their favorite team, and they remember with much glee the results of that very happy occasion for them. The score was 14-13, and the Spiders had marked up one of the biggest upsets of the 1940 season. Although Carolina went on to defeat Duke and Virginia in its remaining games, the sting of that defeat was still present and Spider fans recall happily that Richmond beat the team which licked Duke.

Gotta Win
 Carolina, outplayed by State, Wake Forest and South Carolina, outlucked by Fordham and humiliated by Tulane, has its poorest record in years and almost has to win this game tomorrow to look anywhere near respectful in organized football company.

And for this all-important comeback try just the week before the Carolina-Duke game, Coach Ray Wolf is sending into the fray a veteran all-senior line which averages 191 pounds. From end to end this line is composed of BILL FAIRCLOTH, veteran Carolina guard, has been hampered all season with injuries but he is back in shape now and is expected to stand-out in today's affair with the Spiders.

Coach Casey Is Smiling; His Frosh Won Yesterday

By Horace Carter

There was one fellow in Chapel Hill last night that would have smiled even if the Germans had smashed through Moscow's streets and were goose-stepping over all opposition, and that fellow was genial Ralph Casey, coach of Carolina's freshman swimming team.

And he had a perfect right to smile because his yearling proteges set two pool records yesterday afternoon when they trounced their upperclass opposition with 25 points tallied as compared to their nearest opponents' 17—the sophomore class in the annual interclass meet.

Bringing up third place was the senior class with 15 points and the juniors followed closely behind with 14.

The frosh were not content with taking the team title and added to the humiliation of the upperclassmen by monopolizing upon all the individual honors, taking four first places from the eight events.

Frosh swimmers in the limelight were Mallison in the 220, Whitner in the breast stroke, Herr in the 50 and Crone in the diving maneuvers. Whitner pulled the day's star upset when he came from behind to lick Bob Ousley, varsity start, in the 100 meter breast stroke.

Mallison Was Great
 Mallison also turned in a pool best in the 220. He overcame an early lead established by Sophomore Ed Shumate and took the event in 2:22.5. Herr won the 50 with a magnificent burst near

Babies Drive To First TD Early in Game

By Earle Hellen

LAMBETH FIELD, Charlottesville, Va.—Billy Myers, the sweetest runner on a freshman team since Jim Lallane, sparked the University of North Carolina Tar Babies to a 26-0 victory over the Virginia freshmen.

Time and time again Myers ripped off long gains through the Baby Cavaliers and did a neat job of passing as well. Sam Arbes, the fullback from Westfield, N. J., showed plenty of drive to prove a capable running mate for Myers.

The Carolina team was superior in all departments to the Virginia club. They piled up 14 first downs to four for Virginia, two coming late in the game when the reserves were playing. The Tar Babies tried 15 passes and completed seven, while Virginia attempted 10 aeriels and completed only three.

Babies Score Early

The Tar Babies drove to their first score early in the first quarter. Joe Wright intercepted a pass on his own 35 and returned to the Virginia 39. Al Moneyhan on a reverse made 11 yards. Myers and Arbes made a first down on the 17. After Myers had gone off tackle for six, Arbes drove through center to the six-yard line for a first down. Arbes got two at center, before Myers went off tackle for a touchdown. Myers kicked the extra point.

Myers started the Tar Babies to their second score a few minutes later when he returned a punt 17 yards to the Virginia 37. After driving for a first down on the 25, Myers picked up five to the 20. He faded back and passed to Moneyhan on the 12. Carolina was penalized five yards for too much time, but Myers passed to Andy Smith who was downed on the two. Arbes went over on the second try.

Winner Plays

Joe Winner replaced Myers when he was injured in the third period and sparked the Tar Babies to their third score. Starting from their own 34, Winner passed to Joe Wright who was brought down on the Virginia 46. Winner and Arbes drove to a first down on the 30. Winner circled right end and picked up 12 yards on a pretty piece of running. Arbes and winner carried the ball to the nine, but Carolina was penalized five yards to the 14 for off sides. Winner faded back and shot a pass into the arms of Rivers Johnson on the three and the Warsaw boy went over the goal line for a touchdown.

Helping Hand

Charles Lee and Pig Thomason aided Myers in driving for the final touchdown in the last quarter. Lee started things off when he intercepted a pass on his own 20 and returned it to the 29. Thomason and Myers

Harriers Put Perfect Record at Stake Today; Dukes Are Set for Upset

By Bill Woestendiek

An undefeated record will be at stake this afternoon when the Carolina cross country team runs its traditional rival, the Duke Blue Devils over the four mile course here this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Duke is the only regular season obstacle remaining in Carolina's attempt to maintain a perfect record in the hill and dale sport this fall. The first-year men of both schools will also meet this afternoon.

Captain Mike Wise, Doug Moody, Rich Van Wagoner, Frank Hardy, Arthur Truxes, Tom Jewett, Chuck Howe and Dick Hollander are the men who will carry the Blue and White colors of Carolina today. This is the strongest team that Coach Dale Ranson could assemble on the basis of the squad's showings this season, and it should be able to take the Blue Devils, but the potent factor of the intense rivalry between the two school remains as one of the factors that might decide the meet.

Dukes Set

The Duke harriers, Coached by Red Lewis, former Southern conference one-mile record holder, are all set to provide cross country fans with a stunning upset this afternoon—but whether or not they will be able to do it remains to be seen.

Wendy Lockwood and Henry Profenius will lead the Duke team against the Tar Heels. In fact, most of the Blue Devil hopes are pinned on these two men, who have finished ahead of everyone on the present Carolina team in past Southern conference track meets. Profenius led Rich Van Wagoner across the finish line in last year's conference mile race, and aims to repeat that performance again today. The speedy Tar Heel ace has his own ideas on the subject, however, and intends to avenge his defeat at the hands of Profenius. Harvey Branscomb and Bob Beeson are two other runners on the Duke squad who must be reckoned with this afternoon.

Frosh Run Too

The Carolina freshman team will attempt to lift its season's record above the .500 mark against the Blue Imps. The freshman race will start a few minutes before the varsity runners swing into action.

Marvin Fairchild, fast first-year man from Roanoke, George Lewis,

Arnold Pestronk, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., runner, Buddy Grinstead, Bob Williams, Daryl Webb, Ned Mewborn, Jack Breakstone and George Belli will represent Carolina against the Duke frosh.

Listen Tonight !!

Stations WDNC, in Durham, and WPTF, in Raleigh, will give brief after-game reports of the Carolina-Richmond game tonight at 11:00 o'clock or very shortly afterwards.

VMI-William and Mary Game Holds Conference Limelight

Deacons Clash With Strong Boston College

By Earle Hellen

The spotlight in the Southern conference this week-end will be centered on the VMI-William and Mary clash and two intersectional contests involving Wake Forest and South Carolina.

At Williamsburg, Va., the Sovereigns of William and Mary meet the Keydets of VMI in a traditional battle that promises to furnish plenty of fireworks. William and Mary will run up against its toughest test to date in its quest for a share of the Southern conference crown. Coach Voyles' eleven, fresh from an intersectional victory over Dartmouth, is undefeated in the conference and is vying with Virginia for the state crown in the Old Dominion. VMI with its two great backs, Joe Muha and Bosh Pritchard, has won its last two games and will be tough for the Indians, but William and Mary has a better defensive team and should win. Deacs Meet Eagles

Peahead Walker takes his Wake Forest Deacons on a long trip into New England to meet the Boston College Eagles at the Bean City. Last week the Deacons went west into West
