

Lt. Don Baker to Interview Prospective Marine Officers

Former Student Here Next Week

Lt. Don Baker, former star football player and trackman at the University, will return here to interview and examine students interested in obtaining a commission in the Marine Corps next week.

Lt. Baker, Carolina '41, played right halfback for the four years and was sprinter and quarter miler. As vice president of the senior class in 1941 he was awarded the Graill Award for the highest average of any member on the varsity football squad.

Not only are seniors to be selected but juniors and sophomores may also apply, for the corps, spending their summers training in the Candidates' Class instruction course at Quantico, Va. The seniors begin training upon graduation at the Officers school also at Quantico.

To avoid confusion and delay those interested were asked to prepare beforehand a birth certificate, a recent photograph, three letters of recommendation from citizens in the students' home town, one letter from the Dean or President of the school and also from a teacher. Seniors were requested to get a copy of their college credits and those under 21 must have the written consent of their parents in order to enlist.

Medical, dental, and theological students will not be eligible for enlistment in the Candidates Class but may enter the Marine Corps otherwise and after three months apply for their commission.

SWIMMING

trowsky left the bank before Mohoney finished his leg.

Eshelman produced another fine relay leg in the medley, but the margin between him and Joe Perkins, VMI's anchor man, was too much for him to make up in 100 meters.

Andy Weiss secured a dual meet mark for Carolina by winning the 400-meter freestyle race in 5:37.2 as compared to old dual record of 5:51.2, held by Carolina. He stayed with Billy Stone for the first 300 meters but pulled gradually away from him on the final 100 to finish with a fast sprint.

Coxhead Triumphs

George Coxhead, after losing out to VMI's Captain Joe Wilkins in the 50-meter freestyle by bare inches, came back in the 100 to whip the same Wilkins in a rather convincing fashion. Wilkins led for the first 50, but Coxhead snatched the lead from him on the way home and held it despite a last-minute bid by Wilkins.

With all the divers giving a rather poor exhibition, Carolina's Johnny Feuchtenberger won the event over his teammate Don Nicholson by eight and six-tenths points.

Henry Ortlund, the smallest man on the Carolina team, showed the value of consistent training by resisting a last-second sprint by VMI's Joe Potts to win the breaststroke event. Ortlund took the lead from the start and maintained it throughout.

Swimming nearly 85 meters underwater, Buddy Crone, frosh diver, gave an exhibition just before the diving started. It is believed that Crone holds the record for under-water swimming in this section.

UNC Philosophy Club To Hear William Dukes

William Dukes, Instructor in Psychology, will present a talk on "Operationism in Psychology" to the Undergraduate Philosophy Club tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the small lounge at Graham Memorial.

135-pound division. Robinson was never in serious trouble and held the advantage throughout most of the match.

Gene Davant, scrappy 145-pound grappler, added another three points to Carolina's total when he won a 9-6 decision over Sterling Edwards. Davant took Edwards down early in the first period and soon had the VMI boy in his famous figure-four hold. From there on it was no contest with the Carolina man continually downing his opponent and urging him to fight.

In the 165-pound class Frank Mordecai lost the decision to Captain Jim Wilson of VMI. Mordecai put up a great fight against the VMI leader, but couldn't pile up enough points to gain the decision.

Pinky Elliott, wrestling in his first inter-collegiate meet, was pinned in 30 seconds of the second period by Jim Dorrier. Dorrier, conference champion, had the match much his own way and pinned Elliott after several minutes of hard grappling.

Sasser Scores Victory

John Sasser added a final three points to the Carolina total by gaining a close decision over Charles Marks, VMI's unlimited entry. Sasser, fighting hard for the pin necessary to tie up the meet, fell just short of pinning his man before the bell stopped the match.

In the freshman 121-pound match Bill Nachamson never had a chance to show his stuff and was soon pinned by Moyer. The Baby Keydet had the Tar Heel entry on the mat in 2:15 of the first period.

The 128-pound match went to VMI via the decision route when Buford gained an 8-3 advantage over Dick Weintraub. Weintraub seemed sluggish and never opened up during the whole nine minutes.

Reitzel Morgan scored first for Carolina when he earned a 9-8 decision over Redwine of VMI. Morgan rode his man for most of the match and gave a creditable account of himself in yesterday's battle.

Art Bluethenthal continued his winning ways and chalked up a 5-0 win over Walker of VMI in the 145-pound class. The Carolina man had the match to himself all the way and made it evident that Walker was no match for his superior matwork. Bluethenthal held the advantage for all but seven seconds of the entire match.

Zirple Pleases Crowd

Irv Zirple, crowd pleaser and aggressive wrestler, rode Truitt for the entire nine minutes and added three more points to the frosh victory drive. Zirple, inexperienced at the start of the season is rapidly developing into one of the most promising freshman grapplers in many years.

too experienced for Bruton and though battered about considerably in the first two rounds, Bruton managed to last through until the final seconds of the last round.

Carolina's Lyman Higdon, fighting with an injured left arm, was decisioned by Lou Samusson of the Cadets in the 165-pound battle. Samusson had Higdon against the ropes during the final round and threw lefts and rights in rapid-fire fashion at the tiring Higdon for the win.

al stations. Mrs. Roosevelt was quick to add, "I don't believe it is wise to cut or eliminate these expenditures." An examination of the records, she says, indicates that positions for youth, that Congressmen insist exist due to the war production effort, do not reveal that these jobs are actually to be had. Furthermore, she said, due to the great industrial turnover, there is still a great deal of unemployment. "This problem of unemployed youth exists, and will continue to exist," she said.

Mrs. Roosevelt maintained that the present emergency is merely an opportunity for those congressmen who have constantly opposed NYA appropriations to insist upon its elimination. She reiterated her statement that records prove unemployment among youth is still high. Detroit was cited as an example where industrial turnover has caused a tremendous amount of unemployment.

tied for first in the high jump, each man clearing six feet in a fine performance. Mengel, most versatile man on the team, is a senior and Capel a junior. Soph Dick Young and freshman Norm Davis tied for third and first-year men Auten and McKenzie did likewise for a fifth-place tie.

only tell I hope not," she declared when asked if the President would seek a fourth term. The defense of the country, Mrs. Roosevelt concluded, is the job of everyone. "Every possible interest at every level should be represented in the management of the war. Youth's voice should be heard. None should feel that they haven't got a part in the defense of the country."

Present with Mrs. Roosevelt at the closing conference session last night in Memorial hall were the Honorable J. M. Broughton and his wife; Dr. Frank P. Graham; Mr. and Mrs. James B. Carey; former ambassador to Mexico, Josephus Daniels; Miss Malvina Thompson, secretary to Mrs. Roosevelt; Arthur Sweetser; Dr. John Millett, and Dr. Donald Blaisdell.

Faculty Musicians To Appear in Concert

Continuing the series of Graham Memorial Sunday afternoon concerts, William Gant, Hans Haas, and William Klentz will appear in a piano-violin-cello program of chamber music this afternoon at 5 o'clock, in the main lounge. There is no admission charge.

The guest artists are members of the faculty of the University and have long been applauded for their fine performances. The program includes: "Allegro con brio," "Andante Cantabile con variazioni," "Menuetto," and "Finale," from "Trio in C Minor, Op. 1, No. 3," by Ludwig von Beethoven; "Andante and Scherzo" from the sonata for cello and piano, by Alberto Williams; "Moderato assai," "Allegro ma non agitato," and "Finale" from "Trio in G Minor, Op 15," by Friedrich Smetana.

will be held in the purple and white-decorated Tin Can. Door admission will be $1.10. Freddy Johnson, campus maestro, and his orchestra will mount the Tin Can bandstand Friday night for the first dance of the set, Friday night from 9 until 1 o'clock.

Born in Fort Worth, Texas, June 18, 1910, McKinley got his first break in national musical circles with the Ben Pollack band; Glenn Miller, Benny Goodman and many other current "big names" were playing with it then. The chance came, it is reported, because the members of the band remembered the Texan for having been shot in the leg during a Chicago cabaret incident. Pollack later recommended him to a band known as Milt Shaw's Detroiters where he first met Will Bradley, and roomed with him.

He next played with Smith Ballew until Glenn Miller got him a job with the famous Dorsey Brothers orchestra. He later played with Jimmy Dorsey for several years, including one year on the Bing Crosby radio show. When Bradley formed his band over a year ago, McKinley left Dorsey to join his old pal.

Vermont is the only state not represented by a student at the University of California this year.
