Author Feldman To View Own Work

Joseph D. Feldman, author of "Behold, The Brethren!", current Playmaker hit, will arrive in Chapel Hill tomorrow, to see his first full length play performed by The Carolina Playmakers.

His visit will be a flying one, as he is only getting three days leave from Scott Field, Ill., where he is stationed with the army air force.

He will meet his mother here, who came down from New York City last Tuesday in order to see her son's

It has taken Feldman a long time in negotiations with the authorities at Scott Field to get this leave, but his captain finally relented on Wednesday and gave his OK.

He will come down by train, but owing to the shortness of his leave, he may have to fly back. It is expected that he will arrive tomorrow afternoon, stay long enough to see his play and say hello to his friends.

He will return the same night. Mrs. Feldman, who is staying at The Carolina Inn revealed yesterday that Joe had practically laid siege to his captain for several weeks and that the captain had finally relented, because he got sick and tired of always finding "that playwright around his quarters." "Behold, The Brethren!" will continue its successful run tonight and tomorrow night at 8:30. All seats are reserved and tickets may be obtained at The Playmakers business

Deacon's Defense Stops Tar Heels For Second Time

By Earle Hellen MEMORIAL AUDITORIUM, RAL-EIGH, March 5 .- The Wake Forest zone defense did it again tonight.

For the second straight time this year Carolina's White Phantoms were unable to solve the Deacon zone and Wake Forest eliminated the Phantoms from the Southern conference tourney,

Student Bills To Be Payable At Registration

Student bills will be payable at the time of registration for the spring quarter, the cashier's office announced yesterday. For reasons of economy the University has decided to discontinue its present system of mailing student bills home.

Instead of student's parents receiving a bill during the holidays, as was done at the end of the winter quarter, each student will be handed a bill at the time of the spring quarter registration. Payment of bills may be made to a cashier who will be present at that time in order to enable the student to complete his financial arrangements in advance of the opening of classes for the spring quarter.

The bills will be approximately the same as those for the winter quarter which will enable the student to estimate the amount he will be expected to pay. A closer estimate may be made by adding tuition fees, lab fees, and room rent. For the convenience of those who do not know these amounts, the following information is given:

Tuition in regular academic schools -multiply the number of hours by the zone charge, $1.65, $3.65, or $6.00. Tuition in the professional and special schools-consult catalogue of school in which you are registered.

Frats Asked to Aid Waste Material Drive

OSCD chief, Louis Harris, yesterday requested all fraternity house managers to leave any waste paper or old rubber in a cardboard box in front of the house on Saturday morning.

Part of a wide program to reclaim waste materials important in war production, this salvage of paper and rubber is "particularly essential," Harris announced. All fraternity house managers are asked to cooperate.

"Please do not include tin cans in the material because what usable metal they contain is irreclaimable," officials requested.
