Bailey To Deliver Only Campaign Speech Here Outnumbered Bataan Defenders Surrender To Jap Forces

India Accepts British Plan Of Government

WASHINGTON, April 9—(UP)—The battle of Bataan, an enduring epic of brave men who preferred to die fighting rather than to yield, came to a tragic end today. Greatly outnumbered, sick, and hungry American-Philippino forces—36,853 against 200,000—fell from sheer exhaustion after five days of continual pounding by Japanese forces.

These men, under siege for the past three months, did not quit. Indeed, their valdictory was a courageous, spirited, but futile charge against their oppressors. Their legs simply failed them. Overwhelmed by weariness and by weight of numbers from land, sea and air Jap forces, most of these valiant men face death or capture.

However, the battle is not over. Fighting still goes on by American and Filipino guerillas from the islands of Corregidor, Drum, and Frank. Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson announced today that efforts had been made to evacuate the defenders as much as possible to Corregidor Island, the mighty, rock-hewn fortress in Manila Bay, but it is unlikely that a large number could be saved.

NEW DELHI, April 9—(UP)—Great Britain and India have reached a general agreement on the self-government plan creating the first All-Indian national government in two centuries, and threw all India squarely behind the war effort.

The plan entrusts the problem of Indian defense to the native government, except for the problem of war strategy which Britain will retain control over, it was announced here today.

KUIBYSHEV, April 9—(UP)—The reinforced Red armies today absorbed successfully the first impact of the German spring offensive, repulsing a mechanized attack including an assault by more than 100 tanks in the Crimea, in their strongest defense since the defense of Moscow, a communique said today.

Legislature Defeats Changes In Veto, Judicial Review Power

Constitution Prepared For Soph Vote

By Westy Fenhagen

Radical measures including the limiting of class committee memberships to seven, submitting of complete committee reports each month, and setting up of four new class committees designed to eliminate "political tools," are included in the long-awaited sophomore constitution released yesterday by President Dotson Palmer.

The measure, drawn up and presented by Ernie Frankel and Wiley Long assisted by four other members of the constitution committee, will be submitted to the class for approval next Thursday on general election day. Mimeographed ballots will be passed out as the students go to the polls and a majority of the class, approximately 400, will be needed to pass the measure, Palmer stated.

Purpose of the new constitution, first of its kind in Carolina history, is to outline the powers and duties of class officers and to educate the officers and committeemen in the principles of student government, Palmer, proponent of the idea, stated yesterday. The new committees set up under the measure will have real functions and membership will be reduced to a minimum.

Instead of executive, dance, and finance committees, an executive board, social committee, ways and means committee, and a student government committee, will be set up, Palmer explained. Except for the executive board, which will be composed of the chairmen of the other three committees, the four class officers, and the three representatives from the student legislature, PU board, and student council, no committee may consist of more than seven members. This provision cuts out the useless political positions by which some committees have had as many as 30 members.

Each committee will be required to turn in a monthly report of what it has accomplished to the executive board. The latter will have veto power over all of the committees.

The student government committee will set up a program for training class

WAA, WGA Nominees To Be Chosen Today

In case more than one coed is named by a majority vote, primary elections will also be held this afternoon. The general election will be held Tuesday afternoon, it was announced.

Representation Reapportionment Approved by Student Law-Makers

Two proposals to amend the constitution to grant the president of the student body sole veto powers and the Student council sole powers of judicial review were defeated last night by the Student legislature in a two and one half hour session.

Amendments to reapportion the Student legislature representation, to grant the Elections committee of the legislature power to compute the representation under the new system, and to regulate the limitations of legislature membership were approved.

Question Unchanged

The question of the seat of the authorities of judicial review and veto power, which has split campus opinion during the last decade, remains unchanged. The Student council, which includes the president of the student body, retains the privilege of judicial review and veto.

The new representation, established by the amendment is as follows:

"A. Three elected representatives from each class, chosen in the regular class elections. No class representative may be a class officer or a campus officer.

"B. One representative elected by and from the law school, one by and from the medical school, and one by and from the pharmacy school.

"C. One representative from each dormitory on the campus elected by and from the residents of the dormitory.

"D. A number of fraternity representatives equal to the quotient (or nearest round-number) obtained by dividing the number of fraternity residents by the average number of residents in a dormitory, elected by the Inter-Fraternity Council from among the fraternity residents.

"E. A number of sorority representatives equal to the quotient (or nearest round-number) obtained by dividing the number of sorority residents by the average number of residents in a dormitory, elected by the Pan-Hellenic Council from among sorority residents.

"F. A number of town representatives equal to the quotient (or nearest round-number) obtained by dividing the number of town residents by the average number of residents in a dormitory, elected by the Pan-Hellenic Council from among sorority residents.

Gleicher Names 'Tiny' Hutton As Manager

Stud Gleicher, UP's nominee for editor of Tar an' Feathers last night named 300-pound "Tiny" Hutton to be his campaign manager in his fight for editorship of the humor mag.

Hutton brings with him to his new post a broad experience in Carolina affairs, having been an integral part of the Carolina scene for the past four years. During that time the diminutive Hutton has played drums for many campus orchestras and has earned the reputation as the "only drummer in the world who can be seen behind a brass drum."

Speaking of his candidate Hutton said, "I have worked with Stud on various entertainment programs and know he has the stuff to present a really humorous magazine to the campus. He is the only candidate in the race who has had actual experience in editing a publication and has been the sparkplug of Tar an' Feathers for the past two years."

CPU Signs NC Senator For Address On May 12

By Paul Komisaruk

North Carolina's senior senator, Josiah William Bailey, seeking his second re-election to the Senate Chambers, has selected Chapel Hill and a Carolina Political union platform as the site of his only campaign speech, it was learned yesterday.

Announcement was made by CPU head Ridley Whitaker, who disclosed that Baily would speak here on May 12 on a coast-to-coast radio hook-up.

Pressing duties in Washington and ailing health prevent the senator from making more than one campaign address, officials pointed out.

Plans Completed

Bailey signified his intention of accepting the CPU invitation last week, but plans for his appearance were not completed until yesterday.

His speech from the Memorial hall rostrum will mark the first time a North Carolina congressman has addressed the state since the United States' entrance into the war last December.

Bailey, who two years ago was the subject of much criticism due to his strong opposition to President Roosevelt's domestic policies has recently found himself back in the public's favor as senatorial spearhead for the President's foreign policies.

The 65-year-old senator, who took his first seat in the Senate Chambers in 1930, was re-elected in 1936, and now seeks his third six-year term.

A University trustee since 1930, Bailey, a Raleigh native, served as US Collector of Internal Revenue in North Carolina in 1913-14, and as a member of the North Carolina Constitutional Commission in 1915.

He studied law at Trinity College and at Wake Forest, and was admitted to the bar in 1908.

Delegates from all sections of the country attended the clinic which was held jointly with Duke and featured such speakers as Dr. Katherine Jocker, UNC; Miss Elsa Butler Grove, Columbia; and Mrs. Norma Warren, Lakeland, Florida.
