Dancers en Route to Entertain Chapel Hill for Second Time At April 21 Dance Production

By Janice Feitelberg

SYLVAN MEYER was elected editor of the Carolina Magazine over Harley Moore by 138 votes.

Dancers en Route, who started out across the country three years ago in search of audiences, bring to Memorial Hall on Tuesday, April 21, at 8:30 a troupe which has developed into one of the outstanding young dance groups in the nation.

Members of the troupe all have had unusual training and wide experience. Miss Ethel Waters, who heads Dancers en Route, was nationally known even before the organization was formed through her work with the Hanya Holm troupe. She appeared in vaudeville on the West Coast and went East when she obtained a scholarship at the Denishawn School.

Linda Locke, another member of the troupe, began her dance career on the West Coast with Veronica Patak and became a member of the Allied Dance Group in San Francisco. After having an opportunity to appear with Hanya Holm's production "Trend," she became a regular member of that troupe.

Bill Meyers, the newest member of Dancers en Route, has had concentrated work in the New Ballet Theatre under the direction of Alicia Markova and Anton Dolin. His interest in the ideas of Ted Shawn led him to study at the Shawn School at Jacob's Pillow, Lee, Massachusetts.

The members of the troupe have brought a fresh viewpoint to their art and have sought constantly to be a creative organization. That they have succeeded is evident by the audience reaction to their work. Unlike many artists, these dancers are keenly interested in actual audience reaction rather than mere applause. They have sought and obtained audience comments on specific dances presented during their performances.

Everyone listed will be expected at the Forest Theatre Monday evening at 7:30 for a reading-rehearsal of acts I and II.

All rehearsals will be at the Forest Theatre, except when notice to appear elsewhere has been given.

FDR Sets Today For Book Campaign

Today has been designated Victory Book day by President Roosevelt, Washington circles report. Authoritative but undisclosed sources confirmed the rumor that the book drive had been set during one of Mr. Roosevelt's press conferences.

Ten million books have been set for the goal. "Each student should contribute at least one book. Paper bound, inexpensive books are perfectly acceptable," said Miss Nellie Roberson yesterday.

Books should be left at the Library or Miss Roberson's house. Books will be called for, Miss Roberson said, if the donor notifies her.
