

Five-Star Panel Opens CWC Festival Tomorrow

BUCKY HARWARD AND BOB HOKE are next year's Daily Tar Heel editors. Harward was unanimously elected editor, succeeding Orville Campbell; Hoke was recently appointed managing editor by the Publications Union board, succeeding Sylvan Meyer. Both will be inaugurated at the annual Tar Heel banquet tonight at 7 o'clock, although neither will take over their official capacities until next fall.

Air Officers To Explain Enlistment

Members of the Army Air Force personnel will explain the new Air Force Enlistment Reserve program at a mass meeting of the student body Tuesday night, at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall.

Dr. W. D. Perry, director of the bureau of military information stated yesterday that the University band will play during the program and the martial air will be further heightened by a special showing of the latest March of Time issue. The sound film deals with the operations and various activities of the air corps.

Major John S. Snyder and Lieutenant Robert H. Bowling will arrive early Tuesday to hold conferences with Colonel Raborg of the CVTC, Dean of Administration R. B. House, and the deans of the various University colleges. Nearby colleges are sending official representatives to these meetings which will proceed the student mass meeting in Memorial hall. The officers are from Craig field, Alabama.

The enlistment of college students on a deferred service basis is the new program being initiated by the Army Air Corps. It is essentially similar to the Navy's V-5 classification. It allows students to complete their college courses and graduate before undertaking active Aviation Cadet training.

Communications with the Craig field officials indicated that no enlistments would be made at the meeting Tuesday. On May 11 the officers will return with an Aviation Cadet Examination board to interview and examine applicants.

Dean of Students F. F. Bradshaw, C. P. Spruill, dean of the general college and Dr. Perry will go to Washington tomorrow to confer with the War Department on further plans for the enlistment of students on the deferred service basis in other branches of the army.

The new Air Force Enlistment Reserve program is designed so that it may "disrupt the nation's educational system as little as possible considering the fact of war, and will provide the Army Air Force with a great reserve of qualified officer material."

FIVE WELL KNOWN representatives in the various fields of creative art who will lead discussions featuring the Workshop's Spring Festival which opens here tomorrow and continues through May 1. They are: James Boyd, author; Lee Simonson, one of the leading stage designers in America; Clare Leighton, noted English woodcut artist; Dr. Clarence Adler, country's foremost chamber music pianist; and Paul Green, the playwright. All five will take part in a panel discussion in Graham Memorial at 8 o'clock tomorrow night, when the topic will be "The Artist in War Time."

Shotwell Leads Ten-State Conference

A conference of members from 10 southeastern states will be held here May 15 and 16 by the Southern Council on International Relations with Dr. James T. Shotwell of Columbia University as principal speaker.

Plans were announced by Keener C. Frazer, professor of International Relations at the University and executive secretary of the council. "The International Interests of the South" will be the general subject of the conference, which will include several addresses and numerous round table discussions during the two days under the direction of leading educational, civic, church and business men of the South.

Three main questions for this fourth annual meeting will be "The Impact of the War on the South," "The South's Part in the Organization of Peace" and "The South's Interest in Inter-American Cooperation."

Dr. Shotwell, who will speak at the Friday evening session, is an authority on international relations, the League of Nations and efforts for world peace. A professor at Columbia University in New York since 1908, he is the author of a number of books and articles in his special field.

The Southern Council on International Relations is made up of 500 members and directors from 10 southeastern states. It was organized to provide information on international affairs for school, church and civic groups throughout the South. Dr. Frank P. Graham of the University of North Carolina is president.

Boyd, Adler, Simonson, Leighton, Green in Debate

By Walter Klein

James Boyd, Clarence Adler, Clare Leighton, Lee Simonson and Paul Green will sound the opening of the Carolina Workshop Council's Spring Festival in a panel discussion tomorrow night.

Discussion of "The Artist in War Time" will bring together the "Free Company" originator, the country's leading chamber music pianist, England's famous woodcut artist, the king of stage designers and a Pulitzer Prize playwright. The panel will begin at 8 o'clock in the main lounge of Graham Memorial.

Richard Adler, Workshop chairman and son of the pianist, is directing the CWC's five-day Festival, which will end Friday night with the awarding of keys to student artists and election of next year's Workshop officers.

Simonson and Adler left New York City today to attend the first three days of the Festival. Miss Leighton is living in Chapel Hill while she chronicles the South in a series of woodcuts. Boyd and Green are both North Carolina residents.

According to Adler, the site of the artist forum will be shifted at the last minute to Memorial hall if the 350-person capacity of Graham Memorial is reached.

Tuesday night at 8 o'clock the Carolina Playmakers will take up the program in presenting three new plays.

JSL to Stage Charity Ball

Annual Spring Charity ball will take place Saturday night at Lenoir dining hall, with Jimmy Fuller and his campus orchestra officiating for the 9 to 12 o'clock dance. Junior Service League executives announced that the price of each ticket is $1.00, couple or stag. Duets may be purchased at the door the night of the dance for $2.00. They are now on sale at Eubanks drug store and at the Information booth in South building.

Officials stated that the entire proceeds from the sale of tickets will go to the support of the baby clinics and the pre-natal clinic meetings which are held regularly in Carrboro.

Mrs. William G. Morgan is general chairman of the charity ball. Committee chairmen are Mrs. A. H. Shepard, tickets; Mrs. Thomas Wilson, decoration; Mrs. George E. Shepard, entertainment; Mrs. H. D. Bruner, concessions and Mrs. Lawrence F. London, publicity.

UNC Musicians Suffered Long For State Concert Tomorrow

By Bob Levin

When the curtain rises on the 62 members of the North Carolina State symphony orchestra in Raleigh's Memorial auditorium tomorrow night, five Carolina students will, by their music, have a legitimate excuse for cutting classes during the past two weeks.

Deborah Rubin, May Jo De Nardo, Truet Bennett, Harris Mitchell and Alexander Harper, the University's contribution of near musical perfection to the symphony, will be compensated for their overtime practices, sleepless nights and long bus rides with the realization that the Raleigh Sesqui-centennial concert marks the tenth anniversary of the first state symphony in America and the awakening of the state to its "people's orchestra."

Recently 1,100 students and townspeople jammed Memorial hall to hear this group play and demanded encore after encore. When an orchestra composed of bridge engineers, salesmen, teachers, students, clerks, and housewives can travel from one end of the state to the other and give a concert as they did here—that's coordination.

Miss Rubin plays violin in the orchestra and is one of few members of the group who has studied abroad. Harper, freshman, also plays violin having had quite some experience with state orchestras before coming to Carolina. Mitchell is a graduate student who has played French horn with the WASHINGTON, April 25.—(UP)—American troops have landed on the island of New Caledonia, strategic Free French possession 800 miles east of Australia, War Department sources said tonight.

VICHY, April 25.—(UP)—General Giraud, 63, Commander of the Allied armies of the north before the collapse of France, has escaped from a German prison fortress to Switzerland and the Germans have posted a reward of 100,000 marks for his capture.

Di, Professors Debate Petition To Free Browder

Dialectic Senate officers will petition President Roosevelt to free Earl Browder if Di members pass a bill at Tuesday night's meeting.

The Di has invited seven University professors and instructors to discuss the Free Browder petition, according to Roger Mann, president.

Mann yesterday would not discuss the names of the faculty members because "we don't wish to force any uncomfortable explanations from anyone." He indicated, however, that four of the men specially invited are those who endorsed a petition two weeks ago.

"The Di is inviting these men to take any stands they wish on the recent petition sent to President Roosevelt. We are trying to clear away the emotional hullabaloo by giving the campus a chance to discuss the facts of the case calmly and rationally."

The faculty members and Di senators will speak on the session's first bill: "Resolved that the Dialectic Senate petition the President of the United States to release Earl Browder."

Students throughout the campus are being asked to attend the meeting, to be held in Di hall, third floor New West building, at 7:14 Tuesday.

Clerical Exams Slated Next Month

An announcement from Dr. Frank T. de Vyver, NC Merit system supervisor, has been received by the local health and welfare departments stating that a new series of examinations will be held during May for all types of clerical and stenographic personnel.

All such personnel who are employed by these departments, as well as by the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare, State Board of Health, Unemployment Compensation Commission and the State Commission for the Blind must be drawn from the Merit council register and it is hoped that all persons in the community who are eligible for the examination will take them, even though they already have a job.

Applications should be filed with Dr. Frank T. de Vyver, Box 2328, Durham, not later than Monday. Application blanks may be secured at the health department office.

Simonson to Attend Playwriting Class

Paul Green's class in the problems of playwriting will meet tonight at 7:30 in the Green room of the Playmakers Theatre. Lee Simonson, Workshop speaker, will sit in on the class along with other visitors.

LONDON, April 25.—(UP)—Swarms of British bombers and fighters spread destruction along a 200-mile stretch of the French invasion coast today in one of the heaviest daylight assaults of the RAF's second-front offensive that already has wrecked two of Germany's four major Baltic ports.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(UP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson, apparently paving the way for the over-all price ceiling expected to be promulgated next week, tonight established maximum prices for all commodities and products sold for export.

Men's, Woman's Glee Clubs Sing Tonight

Clyde Keutzer to Lead 'Command Performance' In Popular Ballads, Classical Specialties

By Ben Snyder

Highlighting the University's extensive spring musical program, Carolina's Men's and Woman's glee clubs, under the direction of Clyde H. Keutzer, will sing tonight at 8:30 in Hill Music hall.

Always well attended, the joint concert has come to occupy a distinctive position in the welter of entertainment that perennially hits the campus with the dawning of the new season. This year, particularly, will stand out above preceding years with the coming of Keutzer's groups to national prominence.

Both clubs have sung over country-wide radio hook-ups this quarter and each has attained a fine degree of recognition in its own right. The men's broadcast occasioned a deluge of favorable comments from all corners of the nation, while the woman's concert, broadcast over Mutual yesterday, was judged a huge success.

On the strength of last year's contract showing, the men's group was contracted to See GLEE CLUBS, page 4
