

Nunn, Poole Lead Duke Linksmen To 21-6 Win Over Tar Heels

Henderson Plays Everett In Navy Relief Benefit

Two Doubles Matches Included in Special Tennis Exhibition

By Mark Garner

Starting at 3 o'clock this afternoon, local net fans will be treated to one of the best tennis matches of the season when former student and one of the leading amateur netmen in the country, Archie Henderson, meets Carolina's Co-captain Harris Everett in the feature of a three-match card played for the benefit of the Naval Relief Society. Admission to the match will be 35 cents.

A doubles and a mixed doubles engagement are also on tap for spectators. Southern conference doubles champs, Everett and Ham Anthony, will cross rackets with Henderson and Vic Seixas, recent winner of the annual North and South tourney at Pinehurst where he won his crown by defeating Everett in a five-set finals contest. Everett will pair off with Holly Smith against Anthony and Pat Fuller in a mixed doubles event. Henderson, former State Champ

Henderson, son of Professor Archibald Henderson, graduated from Carolina in 1937 after three years of brilliant tennis. He was state champion in 1936 and finalist in the circuit tournament in 1937 when teammate Carleton Rood won the title.

In the spring of 1940 Henderson extended Don Budge, then at the height of his career, to a three-set win here at Chapel Hill in an exhibition match. Henderson took the first set from his famous opponent, 6-2, but Budge displayed the skill that made him amateur and professional king and won the next two sets from the less experienced Henderson.

Later that year Henderson added an upset victory over Bobby Riggs. See TENNIS page 4

Frosh Netters Defeat State

Dropping only one doubles engagement to a weak team of State freshmen, Carolina's yearling net team thumped the visiting Baby Terrors by the score of 8-1, yesterday for its fourth victory of the season against one defeat.

Doubles Team Loses

Londis Temple and Gene Hord, State, captured the second doubles match from Al Stern and Oscar Lubow for the only point made by the visitors. The State twosome took the initial set by a 7-5 count and had match point in the second set five times, but each time the Tar Baby duo would rally and bring the score back to deuce. Lubow and Stern copped the next two games pulling up to five-all and won the set finally by a 7-5 score. Hord and Temple came back strong in the final series of games and won with ease over the tiring Tar Babies, 6-3.

Seixas Wins

Vic Seixas, in the top spot for the Tar Babies, started things off right with a 6-3, 6-1 victory over Jim Messick and Scott Stickle added a win over Newton McDiarmid, 7-5, 6-2. Frank Warren blanked State's No. 3 netter, Temple, 6-0, 6-0, and Art Bluethenthal dropped only two games winning from Earl Frazier, 6-1, 6-1. Stern and Lubow fared better in the singles competition with each winning his match. Lubow handed Hord a 6-4, 6-3 defeat and Stern eliminated Ed Barton, 6-2, 6-1.

Seixas and Stickle bested Messick and McDiarmid, 6-1, 6-2 in the No. 1 doubled match, and Bluethenthal and Wayne Harrison tripped Frazier and Barton, 6-0, 6-4.

Graydon Liles Top Player For Carolina

DURHAM, April 29—Duke's powerful undefeated golf team overcame Carolina's linksmen, 21-6, here on the Hope Valley course today. The meet was a lot closer than the score indicates as the Tar Heel golfers put up a game fight.

Dewitt Nunn was the outstanding performer for the Blue Devils today. The Duke golfer shot an excellent 67 for the low score of the meet. George Case, his opponent, was blanked 3-0 in match play.

Graydon Liles was medalist for the Tar Heel golfers, shooting a 71. He defeated Bill Goldthorpe, 2-1 in a close and well-played match.

Rumph Wins, 2-1

Dave Rumph was the only other Carolina golfer victorious. Rumph downed Chapman, 2-1 to give Carolina two points.

In the best match of the meet Carolina's captain, Shooky Neese, put up a great fight against Grover Poole, Southern intercollegiate champ, although he lost 3-0. Neese had Poole beaten on the first eight holes, but got bogged in a trap on No. 9 to lose the first nine holes. On the second nine holes Neese was leading Poole, two-down on the thirteenth, but the Duke golfer rallied and won the match on the eighteenth and last hole. Poole shot a 70, while Neese had a 72.

Carolina's golf team will meet the Davidson linksmen today on the Hillandale course in Durham.

Jack Dewitt, Duke star, and Dick Doeschler tangled in a close match and Dewitt emerged winner, 2-1. In the final match Duke's Frank Garrett blanked Billy Peete, 3-0.

Today's victory was the second for the Blue Devils over the Carolina team this year. In a match several weeks ago, Duke won 16-11.

Lloyd, Bennett, Holzman Give Track Team Valuable Points

Pole Vaulters Have Been Overlooked, But Deserve Praise

A typical University athletic organization customarily emerges with one or two outstanding competitors whose luck it is to obscure the work of lesser teammates by virtue of outstanding performances.

Such a team is Carolina's track and field unit. Rich Van Wagoner, Mike Wise, Roy Cathey and several others have been grabbing the headlines for years with clock-like regularity. The job that they have been doing cannot be over estimated, but yet it is well to look at the other side of the picture. There are at Chapel Hill a number of men without whose work in piling up vital seconds and thirds, as well as occasional firsts, the track team would be far from the attainment of its present record.

Lloyd, Bennett Star

Of such calibre is Coach Bob Fetzer's pole vaulting twosome of Jim Lloyd and Truitt Bennett. For two years now, Lloyd and Bennett have been rendering valuable service in the interests of Tar Heel track and field might and have picked up little recognition in doing it. Last season they were an indispensable part of the resurgent Carolina club that almost caught Duke napping in the conference meet and this season they have proved to be an even greater asset. Actually the pair hasn't been

Red Benton Faces Wake Forest Deacs At Raleigh Today in Big Five Feature

Tar Heels Seek Second Victory Over Baptists

Having already appeared in six out of the past eight baseball games, Red Benton, ace of Carolina's mound staff, goes after his sixth win of the season this afternoon when the Tar Heels meet Wake Forest in Raleigh at 1:30 in the first game of a double bill baseball attraction in the athletic feature of the Capital City's sesquicentennial celebration being held this week. State plays Duke in the second contest.

Benton, who Tuesday limited Davidson to seven well-spaced hits to win his fifth victory of the season, will be attempting for the second time this year to pitch a game after only a one-day rest period.

Benton Beat Deacs Once

Fifteen days ago Benton hurled the Tar Heels to a 4-1 decision over Wake Forest in the Deac's back lot and two days later won a brilliant 5-4 triumph over State.

Against Wake Forest last time Benton was touched for only six hits. He fanned four—two of the strikeouts coming when the Deacs filled the bases with only one man out. He left nine men stranded.

Wake Forest Improves

Wake Forest has shown considerable improvement and will provide Carolina some tough opposition. Either Art (Lefty) Vivian or Jackie Pearce, whom the Tar Heels belted out of the box in the first tilt between the clubs, will oppose Benton.

Should Coach Bunn Hearn change his mind at the last minute and hold Benton out of the game, Charlie Moore, who has won three games without a loss, will get the starting nod. Moore, a 6 foot 3 inch right-hander, licked Virginia Tech 6-3, South Carolina 12-1 and Virginia 18-1.

Starting lineups today will be: Wake Forest—Fletcher 11, Primm 2b, Reid 1b, Whitner rf, Cochran cf, Cole lf, Smith 3b, Hawkins c, and Vivian or Pearce p.

Carolina—Hearn ss, Gersten lf, Johnson 1b, Reynolds cf, Hussey rf, Hayworth 3b, Morris 2b, Myers c, and Benton p.

Hearn is taking a long shot today in starting Benton. Should the husky mound ace prove to be okay, he should fare very well against the Deacs. And if the Baptists start hitting him too much for comfort, Hearn will be

Tying the game at 1-all in the last of the seventh and going ahead in the eighth, SAE edged out TEP in a close 2-1 win. Arnold Salzberg, TEP hurler, pulled himself out of a bad spot in the seventh, allowing only one run after the bases had been loaded with none out, but Claude Strickland singled home the winning run in the eighth to give SAE the contest.

Kappa Psi downed Phi Gams No. 2 in another overtime contest, pushing across two runs in the first of the eighth.

Kappa Sigma No. 1 continued its undefeated march by taking a 9-3 win over a previously undefeated DKE No. 2 team. Cecil Wooten gave up only four hits and struck out seven batsmen. Leo LeBlanc homered for Kappa Sigma with two on in the fifth.

Coed Archery Tournament Begins Today

The spring archery tournament for coeds begins this afternoon at 2 o'clock on the coed field. The shooting will consist of 12 arrows for each distance of 20, 30, and 40 feet. The competition will last until 4 o'clock, and entries may participate at any time until then. Those unable to enter Thursday may do so within the same time limit Friday afternoon.

The tournament is open to all coeds, those who have had archery elsewhere as well as the girls who have taken in the regular classes at Carolina.

Lewis or Sparger To Pitch Game For Tar Babies

By Bill Woestendiek

Definitely back on the winning trail again, the Carolina freshman ball club will clash with the Company E, 134th Medical infantry team from Fort Bragg on Emerson field today at 4 o'clock. Either George Sparger or Bart Lewis will toe the mound for the Tar Babies.

The frosh gave their best baseball performance of the current season over in Durham Wednesday when they administered an 11-4 drubbing to the Duke yearlings for their fifth victory of the year. The Tar Babies will be out for No. 6 against the army club today.

Fort Bragg Strength Unknown

The Fort Bragg nine is of an unknown calibre, but will undoubtedly field a strong team against the home club in this afternoon's game. George Sparger and Bart Lewis, right-handed frosh hurlers, have each won one game this spring and one of these two men will be seeking his second win. Lewis has suffered one loss, while Sparger is undefeated.

Praise is due in large quantities to the Tar Babies for their excellent showing against the Blue Imps Wednesday. The men were all in top form and Coach Jim Tatum stated that he was greatly pleased by the performance.

Green and Lee Praised

Special bouquets should be given to the batterymen, Joe Green and Bill Lee. Green turned in what was by far the hurling masterpiece of the freshman season in being the first frosh slinger to pitch a complete game. The Weldon lad completely subjugated the Imps with the exception of one bad inning in which he walked three men and turned in a performance that Coach Tatum termed "wonderful."

Bill Lee, former Fuquay Springs high and Darlington prep star, has come a long way since the start of the season and is now one of the team's top performers. Placed in the No. 1 receiving spot at the start of the season by the ineligibility of Truck Holtzclaw, Lee took over in a
