Army Reserve Enlistment Put On Deferred Service Basis

More Qualified Students Stay Inactive

Voluntary enlistment in the Army Enlisted Reserve Corps has been placed on a deferred service basis for college students, it was announced by Dr. W. D. Perry, director of the Bureau of vocational and military information, following official release from the War Department.

Enabling students of superior qualifications to remain in inactive status in order to continue their education, the new plan parallels similar programs announced by the Navy and the Army Air Forces.

Details of enlistment and types of service will be released in the near future, Perry indicated.

The Army and Navy attitude in creating the new program was stated as "imperative to the success of the war effort that there continue to flow not merely into industry but also into the armed forces numbers of men having the requisite educational background for rapid assimilation into certain increasingly important and increasingly technical fields of industrial and military service."

The Army and Navy will enlist a substantial number of men in the appropriate enlisted reserve corps, and under present conditions will leave them on an inactive status to continue their education, subject to immediate call of the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy, if the emergency requires it.

Appropriate examinations will be given in the second year of college to all enlisted men, and enlistees who do not meet the required educational standard "or who otherwise are not deemed to be carrying on their education with promise of developing capacities of leadership," will be called to active duty at once, it was stated.

Pretty Miss Masengill Wins Sound And Fury Loving Cup

Attractive Mary Lib Masengill, junior from Johnson City, Tennessee, was Saturday night awarded the annual Sound and Fury loving cup given to the most beautiful girl attending the Junior-Senior dances.

The presentation was made just before intermission at the bandstand of Red Norvo and his orchestra by Ben Hall, president of Sound and Fury. Miss Masengill was chosen by members of the Sound and Fury executive committee, composed of Shelley Coons, producer, Artie Fischer, vice-president, Joe Leslie, business manager and Ben Hall, president. She is president of Pan-Hellenic council and appeared in the May day celebration "Carolina Meets the Challenge" in the queen's court. She also took part in the Sound and Fury stage show Saturday afternoon, being Varga's June bride girl.

Truman Hobbs, student body prexy, escorted Miss Masengill to the formal Saturday night.

The award, made for the first time last spring by ex-president Carroll McGaughey, has already become an established campus tradition. Basis for the presentation is beauty, personality, and Carolina spirit. Last year the cup was won by lovely Hulda Warren of New York.

Learning of the results, McKinnon said, "Sylvan is capable of putting out a magazine which will be very popular with the student body. I will work as hard as possible in my capacity as humor editor to help publish a good magazine."

Any student interested is requested to turn in suggestions for the name of the new magazine to Meyer, who will give them to the PU Board. The Board will then select the one they think best suited for the new mag.

The position of literary editor of the new magazine is still open. Any student desiring to apply for the post is asked to turn in a short written application to Meyer, it was announced yesterday.

there was a difference between mathematics, the natural science, and physics for Nordics and the rest of the races.

In conclusion, Professor Kattsuff stressed the point that the warfare between National Socialist ideas and free science has begun in earnest and it will not cease even after Nazism is wiped out. This Nazi theology of state will limit the freedom of science, unless we apply rational, scientific thinking to the problems facing us now and those to face us after the war.
