Large Enrollment Expected For Summer Term

General Convocation Scheduled Tonight

Convocation Tonight Opens Summer Term

Administration heads will officially open the 1942 Summer quarter tonight at 8 o'clock in Memorial hall with brief addresses of welcome to the entire student body.

Dean of Administration R. B. House will address a brief talk of welcome to the summer students meeting together for the first time.

Dean of Students F. F. Bradshaw will introduce Dean of Men Roland B. Parker who will explain the student government setup and other questions.

Mrs. M. H. Stacy, Dean of Women, will give comments on the life of women students on the campus.

The Navy's Pre-Flight training school recently commissioned on the campus will be represented by Commander O. O. Kessing who will explain the position of the Navy on the campus and discuss relations between students and the cadets.

Commander Kessing will be the first to explain the Navy's program to the summer students.

President of the Student Body Bert Bennett will close the convocation with an address to the students. Bennett will head the student body during the summer quarter and will serve as president of the student council.

Emphasis will be placed on the accelerated program of the University which has made the normal summer session into a "fourth quarter." Officials will discuss readjustments necessary on the part of the students in the wartime University.

First mass meeting of the summer quarter student body, the convocation tonight is hailed as "vital" important to all students.

Osborne Lists Interfraternity Rushing Rules

Fraternity rushing rules for this summer were announced yesterday by Bucky Osborne, president of the Interfraternity council, after approval of the council.

Rule 1: No freshman attending school for the first time this summer will be allowed within a fraternity house or on its premises.

Rule 2: All fraternities are forbidden from doing any organized rushing during the summer.

The summer interfraternity council has been formed to enforce the above rules. Any form of rushing is to be discouraged so that it doesn't become competitive and unfair to those fraternities not functioning this summer.

Co-ed privileges for the summer were also issued at the same time. No fraternity will be allowed to entertain co-eds under any condition until granted special permission by the summer Interfraternity council and the Woman's Honor Council.

Plans are being worked out where-by fraternities that meet certain requirements may have summer coed privileges.

Helen Dugan Appointed Head Of Summer Activities Program

The reorganization of the Summer Activity Organization, under the leadership of Miss Helen Dugan, was announced today by G. B. Phillips, director of summer school.

The organization has been set up to conduct summer activities and to assist dormitories, classes, or any campus group to carry out desired social or recreational activities.

The activity office will be located in the Y and is open from 8:30 to 5 o'clock Monday through Friday, and from 8:30 till 1 o'clock on Saturday.

The main organization for the summer, all extra activities originate and function through this office. Any individual or group may seek a wide variety of services from this office. Parties and picnics will be arranged

Orientation Of Freshmen Scheduled

First Summer Class Numbers Over 75

The Freshman Orientation Retreat will open the first full freshman program inaugurated for the Summer quarter in the history of the University.

A program formulated to aid the entering freshmen in orientating themselves to Carolina has been drawn up for the first few days of the summer quarter.

The YMCA is operating the special program so that at the last meeting of the Retreat the Freshman class will organize itself by electing officers and appointing committees into a summer Y council and a class representative to the Student Council.

The Retreat Program starts at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening with an opening banquet. There will be a speaker and a chance for questions afterwards.

On Saturday, there will be four discussion divisions throughout the day which will enable the Freshmen to further acquaint themselves with Carolina, and a meeting will be held at 7 o'clock in the evening devoted to the work of the Student Council in the Student Government.

Bert Bennett will preside at the meeting and enable the Freshmen to get a good insight into Student Government.

All Freshmen are invited to a free movie at 8 o'clock at the Carolina theatre. On Sunday the group will attend a final forum in Gerrard Hall at 10 o'clock to clear up questions and will proceed to church in a body to sit in a section reserved for them. Rev. Jones will preach a special sermon to the Freshmen.

At 4 o'clock there will be a campus tour ending at President F. P. Graham's house for a Lawn Reception.

At 7 o'clock, Dr. Graham will address a final meeting of the Orientation Retreat, after which class officers will be elected and various committees appointed.

Stacy Announces Dormitory Rules For Coed Students

Regulations for the coeds during the summer session were announced today by Mrs. M. H. Stacy, Dean of Women.

The closing of the women's dormitories during the week will be at 11 o'clock; Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights will be at 12 o'clock. After school dances 1 o'clock will be the time limit. Activities which necessitate irregularities in this routine must be explained in advance to the dorm hostesses so that special permission may be obtained.

Fraternity houses are not open to coeds during this quarter, and until the interfraternity council and the women's honor council approve, no coed is permitted to enter them.

COMMENTATOR, Raymond Gram Swing, who addressed over 800 graduates at the 148th Commencement exercises Tuesday night.

Doubt Cited By Swing As Virtue

'42 Graduates Hear News Commentator

Doubt and courage and inexperience are the virtues that belong to the young generation today—the young generation that will fight this war, finish it, and take the lead in building the world of tomorrow, Raymond Gram Swing, famed news commentator and former correspondent in Berlin and other important posts, reminded members of the 1942 graduating class who received their diplomas at the 148th Commencement exercises in Kenan Stadium here Tuesday night.

"I am not sorry for you," he declared. "I do not lament that you have come upon the scene in this tragic hour. You have the stamina and the fortitude to bear the exactions of deep change. You will dare to examine all, to doubt all. You will build the new world with the bricks and the mortar of doubt."

"You will erect and then have to change your plans. You will rebuild and redesign. But you will press forward. The forward-movers always are the doubters. You, too, will toss on your pillows. You too will feel the dread that goes with growth. You will know that you do not know. Well may we put our positive faith in you for you give promise of being what we your fathers were not able to be, a generation of builders."

Climaxing the three-day program, the exercises Tuesday graduated the largest class in the history of the institution. More than 800 young men and women received their diplomas from the hands of Governor J. Melville Broughton, after which President Frank P. Graham bade them farewell.

Administrative Dean Robert B. House presided over the ceremonies.

Termining this period in the history of the world an Age of Doubt, Mr. Swing professed a belief in the virtue of doubt, asserting that underneath it is a foundation of positive faith.

"There is faith in the need for freedom and in the practicability of freedom, freedom of mind and freedom under the law," he declared. "Such faith is the cornerstone of democracy. For democracy itself is a paradox, a society of individuals who are true to their own visions, but who are concerned with the rights of other individuals. . . . For democracy, whatever its constitutional form, is dedicated to the protection and fulfillment of the individual, and the individual can only grow if he has the courage to doubt."

It is only the Fascists who are sure of themselves, Mr. Swing averred. "But there is one certainty we do have—we are sure we reject the Nazi and Japanese concept of society. We would rather die than to be slaves to their mastery, or to compromise our prospects of remaining free."

"But when we say that we are fighting—"

The enrollment procedure will continue until 5 o'clock Tuesday. No changes in registration will be accepted after that time, it was stated. Registration after today will be done through the Deans of the various schools. ### Holmes Reports Linguistic Group To Open Today

The Linguistic Institute, held every summer to encourage study and research in languages, will open June 11 with the regular summer session of the University, Director Urban T. Holmes declared yesterday. With instructors and students from scattered areas, the Institute makes possible a curriculum in language study that is seldom obtainable elsewhere.

This year Portuguese will not be taught at the Institute. Instead, another course in this language will be taught by Mr. and Mrs. Peixoto, who, along with twelve woman students in Portuguese, will occupy the Alpha Delta Pi house.

One of the outstanding features of the Institute has been the laboratory course in recording and analyzing living languages spoken by native informants.

Bennett Heads Council For Summer Term

Meeting Slated To Elect Members

The Student Council, symbol of Carolina's liberal student government, will function through the summer quarter this year.

Bert Bennett, newly elected president of the Student Body, stated that the large increase in summer enrollment this year makes it imperative that the Student Government Organization operate through the summer session, paralleling as nearly as is feasible that of the regular session.

The summer council will be composed of from seven to nine members. All class presidents, present Student body officers, and representatives from the Law and Medical Schools will make up the body.

Temporary class heads and student body officers will be elected at a meeting of the student body soon to take the places of those members who will not be here for the summer quarter. All regular officers who are enrolled in school this summer will automatically serve.

Although there will be no Inter-dormitory council this quarter, the Student Government Organization will

Tar Heel Operates Semi-weekly Here

The TAR HEEL will be published twice weekly throughout the Summer quarter and will be distributed every Tuesday and Friday afternoon. Students living outside the limits of Chapel Hill and beyond delivery areas are asked to leave their addresses at the newspaper's offices in Graham Memorial. The paper will be distributed to all students at their respective residences.

Notices to appear in the TAR HEEL must be in the news offices by either Monday noon or Thursday noon to appear in the paper.

Open House Entertainment Slated Tomorrow As Student Union's First Summer Activity

Activities at Graham Memorial, the student union building and center of recreation and entertainment, get underway tomorrow night at 8 o'clock with an open house to which students and faculty are invited.

Punch and cake will be liberally dispensed, with dancing in the Air Raid Cellar, and Bingo and other games in the main lounge.

During the summer months each year the regular program of the student union becomes a part of the University's Summer School Activities program, of which Miss Helen Dugan is director this season. Miss Dugan will work in cooperation with Henry Moll, new director of Graham Memorial.

The week end will be rounded out by a square dance Saturday evening at the YMCA court at 8 o'clock, and a music recital at 4:30 Sunday afternoon in Hill Hall.

Plans are being made for a "Music

Under the Stars" concert Sunday evening at 8:30 in Kenan stadium, but this program depends on whether or not a portable amplifier can be obtained. Notices will be posted in case the concert is to be held at that time, it was announced.

Accelerated Summer Work Begins Today

Phillips to Head Summer Quarter

The largest summer session enrollment ever witnessed in the history of the University is expected to throng registration tables this morning with the opening of the first summer quarter in World War II.

Conservative estimates by administrative officials border on the 2,500 mark for the first session of the summer quarter as final preparations for first "fourth quarter" summer session ae begun to be tested.

Unique from former summer sessions in being a continuation of the regular school year, this summer's quarter will witness the admittance of a complete freshman class at the beginning of the summer quarter as the University's speed-up program steps from theory into reality.

Undergraduates
Preparations are completed for an undergraduate enrollment of triple the normal number of students from the regular session who enter summer school, Guy B. Phillips, director of the summer quarter, stated.

The summer quarter will be divided into two terms of six weeks each, the combination of which will be the equivalent of a full quarter of work in the University. Utilizing the summer quarters, students may complete the four year requirements for an undergraduate degree in three years.

To improve and facilitate this normal capacity for the speed-up program—essential in wartime—University officials have sought to simulate as nearly as possible the summer quarter to one of the normal regular session quarters.

The University is operating on the four quarter basis with particular stress on the needs for hastening graduation and to meet special course problems in connection with war activities. Plans are being made to meet the needs of the undergraduate students who wish to advance their graduation date.

Satisfactory Program
Under the speed-up program, students may now enter in June, September, January and March. Officials state that a student can begin at any one of these points and be able to get a satisfactory program.

The usual undergraduate offerings, plus special types of work, will be available, Phillips stated recently. Many college students from other institutions have already been accepted to carry on particular courses which fit into an accelerated program at their own institutions.

Graduate work for public school teachers and administrators has been given special emphasis in order to make it possible for them to meet the recently adopted certification requirements in connection with higher ratings.

The summer quarter is open to high school graduates, high school students not having a diploma but who have successfully completed certain examinations, students in other institutions,
