IRC Asked to Shift Hassan Bey's Address; New Date is October 7

IRC's address by Egyptian Minister Mahmoud Hassan Bey has been shifted from Sunday afternoon to next Wednesday evening, October 7, in Memorial hall, President Grady Morgan said yesterday.

A telegram from the Royal Egyptian Legation in Washington informed IRC officials that Hassan would be unable to speak Sunday. The minister said he would deliver his address either Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday night. Morgan picked Wednesday as most ideal for the campus.

Playmakers Hold Tryouts Tomorrow For '---Old Lace'

Tryouts for the first Playmaker Production of the year, "Arsenic And Old Lace," will be held in the Playmaker's Theatre, tomorrow at 4 and 7 o'clock.

There are approximately 15 mixed parts, including some excellent parts for character actors.

"Arsenic and Old Lace," by Joseph Kesserling, is an "uproarious" comedy of wholesale murder. It is now showing its third season on Broadway starring the nation's Frankenstein, Boris Karloff.

Copies of the play will be on reserve in the library for interested participants to look over before the tryouts.

Proff Koch's office announced that season tickets to the Carolina Playmaker's five shows this year are now on sale. They may be obtained at 113 Murphey, 209 Phillips, or at Ledbetter-Pickards in town. The price is $2.00 plus tax.

IRC Membership Blanks Available

International Relations club application blanks are now available at the YMCA office, President Grady Morgan reported yesterday.

Applications for IRC membership are to be filled out and returned with 100-word letters to the YMCA desk. The letter should describe the applicant's reasons for wanting to become an IRC member.

The club's membership committee will not be able to handle membership applications for several days, Morgan said, but applications will be considered in consecutive order.

For the first time applicants will be given oral examinations to determine their knowledge of international affairs. The tests will be given during regular personal interviews.

LYMAN HIGDON, Junior class vice-president, who was instantly killed with one other in a tunnel accident this summer.

Junior Class Election Postponed Carr Must Appear Before Legislature

The appointment of a vice president for the Junior class has been delayed for approximately another two weeks, Mike Carr, president of the Junior class stated today.

The vacancy was left by the untimely death of Lyman Higdon, the vice president of the class for 1942-43. Higdon was killed the latter part of this August while working on a tunnel job for the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Another worker was killed and four others were injured in the cave-in. Higdon was Pi Kappa Alpha and toastmaster of his fraternity. He was a member of the varsity boxing team and a member of the Sophomore Dance committee in 1941.

Plans had been completed by President Carr before the opening of school to have a new vice-president fulfilling the many duties of the office when school opened. However, due to a provision in the Legislature, Carr must appear before that group with his plan for their approval. This will delay appointment two weeks — two weeks more that the Junior class must remain without a vice-president.

The plan, proposed by Carr, calls for the appointment of an executive committee which will nominate and elect the new vice-president. Names of the members of the committee are being withheld by Carr, out of respect to Higdon, that no element of politics will enter into the appointment.

Green Speaks At Di Senate

Paul Green, noted playwright and author, opened the initial fall meeting of the Di Senate last night with a discussion of "Nazism and American Culture."

Green's discussion opened debate on the first bill on the Di calendar. Resolved: "That the victory of Nazism would mean the virtual extinction of American culture." Wesley Bagby, Di president, introduced the guest speaker.

Freshmen and new students were invited last night to secure application blanks for the Senate from the YMCA office any time this week before Friday.

Hassan will travel to Chapel Hill by car. He will be accompanied by a staff of aides from the legation and perhaps his wife.

The International Relations club speaker is officially termed the most important representative from his government in this country. His title, embellished by honorary degrees and honors bestowed by six governments, is listed as minister plenipotentiary and envoy extraordinary.

Hassan is expected to give the south its clearest and most informative picture of the war in Egypt. The envoy has promised the IRC president a "factual, fighting speech."

Special emissary to the United States since 1938, Hassan was once a judge of the International Courts of Egypt. He was legation secretary in Paris, legation secretary in Belgium, Charge d'Affaires in Belgium, Charge d'Affaires in Czechoslovakia and Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary in Sweden.

Hassan's speech will be the first of the IRC's fall series of guest addresses by famous diplomats and experts on international affairs.

Pre-Flight Graduates 158 Cadets

After a short graduation ceremony yesterday, marking the completion of their Naval Pre-flight training, 158 Naval Cadets boarded busses headed towards various Naval Reserve aviation bases throughout the United States.

Completing the first leg of the journey in becoming full-fledged Naval Air Force officers, these cadets will now begin their actual flight primary training.

The Naval Reserve air base at Squantum, Massachusetts, will receive 35 men, the NRAB at Philadelphia will receive 15, and 20 will go to Memphis, Tennessee.

Forty cadets will be stationed in Saint Louis, Missouri, 20 at Norman, Oklahoma, 20 at Peru, Indiana, and eight men will receive lighter-than-air training at Lakehurst, New Jersey.

Etz Announces New Coed Senate Rule

Betty Etz, chairman of the Coed Senate electorate committee, announced a unanimous decision to replace the vacancies in sorority representatives by candidates next in line in the coed elections of April 14, 1942.

First case to be so decided was that of Holly Neaves, recently married. She will be replaced by Ann Carpenter, Chi Omega, as a sorority representative in the Coed Senate.

Town Students Hold Second Of Four Nightly Conventions

Fifty third district town students assembled last night to elect Intertown council members and plan the year's program in the second of four nightly town conventions.

Warren Johnson of Greensboro was elected district chairman and Paul Boger was voted intramural manager at the session, held at the Carolina Co-op at 206 Cameron avenue.

Monday night, at the second district convention at 150 East Rosemary street, Lawrence Britt was installed as district chairman and George Whitley was elected intramural manager.

Walter Rabb, director of the University intramural department, addressed the assembly. Rabb described the fall program of the intramural department and signed town students to participate in intramurals.

Last night's meeting was conducted by Barry Colby and Don Willard, both members of the Intertown council.

Tonight town boys from south Chapel Hill will meet at the fourth district rally at 215 Vance street. Rabb will again describe intramural activities and elections will be held.

Last session will be held tomorrow night at the Forest theater, when students living in the eastern section of town hold their district session.

The series of four rallies is being sponsored by the Intertown council to coordinate town sports and entertainment programs and to strengthen power to solve town issues and increase representation in the student legislature and University club.

A meeting of the Intertown council Sunday will end the organization program. The meeting will be held in Dean Roland Parker's office in South building.

Legislature Committee Meets Today to Prepare Amendments

Graham Memorial Flooded By Unconnected Radiators

The arrival of the first brisk autumn weather yesterday was accompanied by only one misfortune as two unconnected radiators flooded the three floors of the Graham Memorial Student Union with a half-inch of boiling water.

Students entering the Union at 9:30 yesterday morning were confronted with the sight of steaming water rippling out the front doors, the front foyer completely covered by the rust colored liquid and water cascading down the right staircase.

The main lounge, called the "most beautiful paneled room in Chapel Hill," had taken on the semblance of a shower room. The steaming water dripping from the ceiling and oak beams onto the furniture and rugs below and only the quick work of the Director, students present and the janitors rescued the expensive couches and piano from being scalded.

The flood started on the second floor from the outlets of two radiators in the former TAR HEEL room which soon inundated the second floor, started going through the floor to the Lounge and began running down the stairs. Most unfortunate was that this room was the only one on the floor to be painted shortly before. The newly sanded and waxed floor seems to be due for another overhauling since the flood. The radiators had been disconnected when the TAR HEEL room was being painted and they were to be re-installed earlier this week by the University Buildings Department.

The requisition from the Union to have the radiators reinstalled was sent by the Union Director, Henry Moll, the first part of the week with an admonition of a flood unless they were connected before the University heating system was turned on. The sudden brisk weather and opening of the heating system were the cause of the misfortune, but it was not until it had occurred that the long-due plumbers arrived at the Union. No estimate has yet been made of the damage, but it seemed considerable yesterday morning.

Membership Provisions To Be Changed

Amendments to the student legislature constitution will be prepared this afternoon at a six-man session of the legislature's ways and means committee.

Speaker W. J. Smith said the most important amendment will provide for an extensive reshuffling of membership clauses of the constitution. Several members no longer have dormitories to represent, many town students are without representation and many legislature members have moved to new quarters.

"Quick action" is needed on the bill, Smith said, so that the legislature can resume its business as soon as possible. Half the student body must vote to pass the membership amendment. Second amendment would allow a vote of three-fourths of the legislature to pass a constitutional amendment.

A suggestion for an amendment allowing a majority of the student body to override legislature action will be discussed at today's meeting.

The committee's bills will be introduced at the legislature's first meeting Monday night at 7:45 in Phi hall. Two-thirds of the members must be present to consider the amendments.

Today's meeting will be held in the student union Grail room at 2 o'clock. Members of the committee include Wylie Long, chairman, Lem Gibbons, Buckley Harward, Roy Stroud, Johnny Snell and Terrell Webster.

Buice Promises Senate More Efficient Setup

"The Woman's senate will be organized more efficiently this year," stated Ditz Buice, speaker, at the opening meeting yesterday.

"In the past no member was assigned to any special job, and therefore responsibility could be laid on any one person," she continued. Plans this year call for each representative to be assigned a committee on which she will be head. Other committees will be made up of co-eds not on the senate, except for the social rules committee which will be made up of members of the inter-dormitory council. Each chairman will appoint her own committee, with Ditz Buice acting as head over all committees.

Chairwomen of the respective committees are: Pat Henritzy, Budget; Mary Jane McCaskill, Point Committee; Julia Mebane, Social Rules; Frances Allison, Sub-committee chairman of Fraternities; Hollie Collier, Conventions; Edith Fore, Amendment; Martha Guy, Membership; Betty Atz, Election committee; Grace Hamrick, Working with student legislature committee, and Sarah Umstead, Dormitory drive.

Holly Smith resigned as sorority representative to the senate and motion was made that the person next in line in the last election be appointed.

The cadet ball was discussed and arrangements made similar to those of the co-ed ball to get girls dates.

Tentative arrangements were made to hold senate meetings bi-weekly at 5:30. The next meeting will take place in the banquet hall of Graham Memorial October 30.

Koch Explains Program Tonight

There will be an informal gathering of everyone interested in the Carolina Playmakers tonight at 7:30 in the Playmakers Theatre.

Following an introduction of the staff and guests, Proff F. H. Koch will explain the different phases of the department of Dramatic Art—stage setting, scenery, acting, and make-up.

He will then introduce the program calendar for the year, and explain the requirements for membership in the Carolina Playmakers and the point system for the Playmakers mask and key awards, and the Roland Holt Cup in Playwriting.

University Club Meets in Gerrard

An important meeting of the University club will be held in Gerrard Hall this afternoon at 5 o'clock. All members are urged to be present.

Parker Announces Chapel Schedule

Freshman Chapel will be held only on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays, Dean Parker stated yesterday.

Sororities Hold Parties Open House Today For All Rushees

The Pi Phi, Chi Omega and ADPI sorority houses will hold open house this afternoon for all rushees between the hours of 4 and 6 o'clock. Silence rules will not be in effect during these hours, but after 6 o'clock tonight silence will last until the sorority parties Friday night.

Friday and Saturday nights the sororities will give the first parties at which they will be allowed to serve refreshments. Due to Pan Hellenic ruling nothing could be served at the introduction parties on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday nights.

Invitations for the parties on Friday and Saturday will be issued before 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon and answers must be in the Woman's Government room before 10 o'clock Thursday night.

Invitations for the final indication parties on Sunday night will be out Sunday morning and answers must be in the Woman's Government room by 1:30 Sunday afternoon.

Workshop Meets This Afternoon

Members of the Carolina Workshop will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock in Sam Selden's office in the Playmakers theatre, Dick Adler, chairman, said last night.

First Sunday Night Session To Be Full of Surprises

The first of a new series of entertainment, the Sunday Night Session, will be inaugurated this Sunday at 8 o'clock, it was announced yesterday by Hurst Hatch, chairman of the Committee responsible for the show.

Stressing the fact that the show may get a nation-wide hook-up over the Mutual Broadcasting System, Hatch said that two station representatives will be on hand to view the show and decide on its fate. The full cooperation of the student body in coming and joining in the fun will be necessary for the show to be a complete success.

The entertainment will consist of community singing, short plays, acts of all kinds, and general entertainment. "There will not be a dull moment for those who come and the students may be assured the show will be worth the time," said Hatch.

The idea sprang from the fact that since there are so many students on the campus over the weekends now, an hour

Naval Cadets Call for Coeds To Attend Hop

Naval Pre-Flight Cadets will hold the first dance of the year in Woollen Gymnasium from 8:30 to 11:15 Saturday night, it was announced yesterday.

Coeds who want blind dates for the dance should see Hilda Weaver in the YMCA from 10 to 11 o'clock and from 2 to 5:30 today. Coeds will go to the dance formal and are requested to wear name tags which they will have to furnish. Cadets will call for all dates.

The colored Navy band will furnish the music. The band played at the Sound and Fury show last week and were enthusiastically received by the students.

There will be six officer marshals headed by Lt. Frank Gillespie, six cadet marshals, and twelve coed marshals headed by Ditz Buice.

The sponsors of the dance expect at least 800 stags and they urge that as many coeds as possible sign for dates. Town girls, who are not University students, and who want to go should see Hilda Weaver in the YMCA today.

A coed was appointed in each dormitory to see that every girl gets a date and to pair cadets and girls suitably. The girls appointed are: Spencer, Mary Lou Troslov; Alderman, Sarah Niven; McIver, Gwyn Campbell; Kenan, Margaret Scott; Town and Archer, Hilda Weaver.

of real entertainment each Sunday night would be very helpful toward chasing away the Sunday night blues. Full credit must go to the Social Committee who have helped a great deal toward putting the show through, and to Henry Moll, director of Graham Memorial, who is to furnish the music for the group singing.

Again Hatch said that for the program to be aired nationally, the students must be there with lots of spirit. Mutual has an hour free each Sunday night and thought the idea of a complete college show would be great if successful.

All students who wish to be in the show must see either Hatch or Moll in the office of Graham Memorial Friday afternoon or Saturday.

Two of the main features of the show will be the University Quartet and a "dynamic and stupendous surprise" which Hatch refused to disclose but added that it would almost "floor the students with delight."
