

House Likely To Vote On 18-19 Draft Bill Before Weekend

STORY ON PAGE FOUR

Editorials

• Don't Vote

The Daily Tar Heel

Just Plain

S-C-R-A-P

VOLUME LI

Editorial: F-3141, News: F-3146, F-3147

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 14, 1942

Business and Circulation: 8641

NUMBER 19

Amendments Fail To Garner 50 Percent Vote Tar Heels Face Undeclared Duquesne Eleven Here Saturday

Graham Asks Money To Keep Quality Of UNC Above Par

Tells Commission 'Not to Sacrifice'

A five man board composed of President Frank Graham, Dean R. B. House, William Carmichael, L. B. Rogerson and A. S. Sheppard, appeared before the advisory budget commission in Raleigh yesterday and asked the state "not to sacrifice the quality of the University in any case due to an expected decrease in enrollment."

Headed by Dr. Graham, the group asked the board for a 15 percent increase in appropriations for all divisions of the Universities system stating that "the importance of educational training by qualified instructors" is needed more than ever during a national crisis.

Explaining to the board that the University has already suffered a de-

See PLEA, page 4

$1,206,143 Rise Over Old Budget

RALEIGH, Oct. 13—(UP)—Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, citing the "immeasurable" value of education to the war effort, asked the Advisory Budget Commission today for 15 percent increases in appropriations for all divisions of the university system.

Graham, with heads of State College, Woman's College, the University proper, the Agricultural Extension Service, and the Agricultural Experimental Station, told the commission that the increase was necessary to keep salaries at an equitable level.

Speaking for the University, Graham requested total appropriations of $1,340,901 for 1943-44 and $1,350,481 for

See FUNDS, page 4

Fetzer Announces Final Decision Late Last Night

By Westy Fenhagen

The undefeated and untied Duquesne football eleven will face the Tar Heels Saturday afternoon in a Homecoming Day game which will rate as one of the top games in the nation this week. The Kenan stadium battle will begin at 2:30.

Official confirmation of the contest came late last night at 11 o'clock when Director of Athletics Bob Fetzer made the announcement after receiving the official confirmation from Duquesne officials in Pittsburgh.

Late yesterday Duquesne officials had expressed themselves favorably over the proposed contest but Director of Athletics Bob Fetzer could not contact the Pittsburgh athletic officials until last night for a confirmation of the game.

Yesterday afternoon the varsity gridders met and voted unanimously to play the game if Duquesne could possibly be scheduled and this led to the final efforts by athletic officials last night resulting in the final confirmation of the intersectional contest.

The contest with Duquesne will bring to Chapel Hill one of the nation's top teams which so far this season is undefeated and untied and have yet to be scored upon. Last season the Iron Dukes went through a perfect season and were one of the five teams in the country with an unblemished record. In addition, they were ranked sixth in the country in a national poll of college elevens.

Scheduling of the official contest came as a climax to a hectic week of attempts to secure a game to replace the intersectional clash with Rice University which was cancelled at the latter's request last week due to transportation difficulties.

Rumors have been thick on the campus this week as to which team would be brought to Chapel Hill but University overtures to several leading colleges and service teams proved unsuccessful until Duquesne officials approved the proposed game late yesterday.

Among the teams which have been under consideration are William and Mary, Clemson, and the Jacksonville Naval Air Station but all declined the bid. Clemson has their annual contest with South Carolina on Thursday, October 22 and did not want to add another contest to their heavy schedule so close to the Gamecock encounter. William and Mary already loaded down with a heavy schedule did not feel able to add another game and the Jacksonville Naval Station boasting George

See DUQUESNE, page 3

Fraternities Fall in Step By Holding Scrap Drives

By Jimmy Wallace

"Due to the previous inactivity of the fraternities in the scrap drive, they are conducting individual scrap campaigns this week. This is being done in order to get all the tin cans that are available," said Floyd Cohoon, fraternity salvage chairman, yesterday.

All fraternities will collect the scrap throughout the week and pile it in front of their house next to the street.

Saturday morning a truck will be sent to all the houses and pick up the scrap. In this way it will be possible to tell exactly how much each fraternity has contributed to the scrap drive.

"As a preliminary to the collections to be terminated Saturday, a truck will be sent by all fraternities today," Floyd Cohoon announced yesterday. "Cooperation between the members of the salvage committees and the fraternities," Cohoon said, "must be increased. Until now we have had very little response to the scrap drive."

Out of more than 6,000 pounds of scrap already collected very few tin cans have accumulated. Sales of canned goods in Chapel Hill and to fraternities in particular show that the majority of tin cans opened are being thrown away. "The purpose of this special fraternity drive," campus salvage chairman Bob Spence said, "is to collect all these valuable tin cans."

According to a bulletin released by WPB head Donald Nelson, the correct method of handling cans is first to soak off the label and wash the can thoroughly, then cut the bottom and top completely out of the can and bend the body of the can flat.

Members of salvage committees throughout the country are being acquainted with the great need for additional supplies of vital metals—supplies sufficient to cover a 6,000,000 ton shortage of steel. Aside from the shortage in the heavy industries there exists a huge shortage of rubber, paper and rags. Faced by the war crisis the nation has turned to the people and expects them to do their part in plugging up the shortages. Thus far the University acting as a separate agency has collected the majority of a quarter million pounds of metal. The students can add as much as 15,000 pounds to that total "with cooperation."

As soon as all the located metal is in, the goal will be near. It requires, however, "cooperation of students, all the students and all the committee members."

See COED SENATE, page 4

Student Leaders Invited to Meet With Consumers

Several student leaders have been invited by the Chapel Hill and Orange County Consumers' Association to attend its charter meeting Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the elementary school building.

Those invited include Pete Watson, manager of the Carolina Co-op; Don Willard, manager of the Tar Heel Co-op; Lloyd Bost, manager of the Commerce Co-ops; Arthur Persky, DAILY TAR HEEL columnist on consumer problems; Hayden Carruth, TAR HEEL associate editor, and 20 fraternity and dormitory managers.

The committee indicated that an affiliation of co-op, fraternity and dormitory managers would facilitate handling of consumer information furnished by the association. It would also stimulate campus interest in the current program of consumer education, defense, and co-operative development.

Although not yet formally organized, its committees have already taken a stand against a general federal sales tax, in favor of 100 percent ceilings on farm product prices, and in favor of declaring Chapel Hill a defense rental area, thereby returning rentals to the levels prevailing prior to the establishment of the Pre-flight school here.

At present, one committee is studying the local milk problem with the intention of developing a community program for making wholesale milk more plentiful and less expensive to Chapel Hill consumers.

Association members have been instrumental in establishing the preschool kindergarden here. Serving with this school are Mrs. C. W. Hartough, consultant; Mrs. Donald Royer, teacher; and Mrs. Nathan Rosen, musician-accompanist.

Polls Open Until Bills Are Passed

First Day's Vote Under 25 Per Cent

By Walter Damtoft

Because less than 25 per cent of the student body went to the polls yesterday, voting on proposed amendments to the Constitution of the Student Legislature has been extended until 5 o'clock today.

Voting booths will be open from 9 until 5 o'clock in the lobby of the YMCA and Graham Memorial.

Under present rules, at least 50 per cent of the student body must vote on a proposed amendment and the amendment must be approved by a simple majority of that group before it is adopted.

The proposed amendments deal with changes in the representation in the student legislature and a lowering to 25 per cent the number of students required to vote on amendments to the constitution or on new laws or amendments initiated independently by the student body.

The first amendment up for student approval is designed to make changes in representation in the legislature because of the increased number of students in dormitories and in town. It would provide one member from each dormitory elected by residents of that dormitory; six representatives elected by and from the Interfraternity council; two women representatives-at-large, elected in regular spring elections, no officer of the Woman's Association being eligible; and eight town representatives, two of which shall be elected by and from each of four districts which shall be determined by the Interdorm council.

The second amendment would re-

See AMENDMENTS, page 4

Student Service Plans Convention Here October 25

Student participation in war relief will gain added impetus when the Carolina chapter of the World Student Service Fund plays host to students and faculty representatives from colleges and Universities in Virginia, East Tennessee and the Carolinas on October 25.

At the Sunday meetings of the southern chapters of the WSSF plans will be discussed for the coming nationwide drive to raise $300,000 for the relief of the sufferings of students in the prison camps of the warring nations.

President Frank Graham will open the Sunday series of conferences presided over by Dr. Booth and Miss Billie Rowland, leaders in the WSSF movement.

Phi Defeats Bill To Lower Curfew

The Philanthropic Assembly resoundingly defeated by a vote of 33 to 4 the proposed bill that coed privilege for Friday night be reduced an hour from 2 to 1 o'clock.

The bill was introduced by E. O. Brogden and discussion was held both pro and con. Most of the arguments amounted to the fact that one hour less sleep one night in the week would not affect the health of either coed or BMOG.

Hines, Former UNC Netter Itching for Return Match

Wilmer Hines, former University tennis star and nationally known netter is praying for a return engagement in Germany these days as he proceeds through the crack Infantry Officers' Training School at Fort Benning, Georgia.

A return match, but this time with a rifle and knife of a fighting United States Army infantryman instead of the tennis racquet that he once used to wield so well.

Back in 1934, as a member of the United States Davis Cup team, Hines had the doubtful pleasure of meeting some of Hitler's high ranking henchmen and developed a keen dislike for the Nazis, even then.

A native of Columbia, S. C., Hines started his tennis career as a freshman here in 1929 when he won the National Junior Championship and remained unbeaten in intercollegiate matches during his next four years.

As a fighting climax to his career he played the sensational Don Budge at Charleston Tennis Club in Charleston, West Virginia on January 20, 1941. On January 21, he took the oath of enlistment in the United States Army.

While playing on the Davis cup team, Hines recalls the violent hate that Propaganda Minister Goebbels showed toward the British and Americans as he presented them with their prizes at Wiesbaden. "Goebbels," said Hines, "reminded me of a cobra about to strike!"

Since then he has worked his way up through the ranks to be selected for Officers' Training in one of the finest infantry schools in the world at Fort Benning, Ga.

Army Calls Hill Today

Johnson to Fill Deanship Post

Professor M. A. Hill of the Mathematics department who has been acting as temporary dean of the General College in place of Dean C. P. Spruill is leaving for the Army today.

Cecil Johnson, associate professor in the history department will take over the deanship pending recommendations to Dean R. B. House and President Frank Graham by the recommendation committee headed by Dean F. F. Bradshaw.

Johnson has been an advisor in the general college since 1936 when he came here from a teaching position at Wake Forest. The Mississippi College graduate has an MA from the University of Virginia and a PhD from Yale.

Dean R. B. House stressed the fact that this appointment is temporary and that "Johnson is doing us a favor by taking over the deanship", until a permanent successor can be decided upon.

IRC Opens Ranks To New Students

Application blanks for admission to the International Relations club are now available at the YMCA office, IRC officers said yesterday.

Applicants are required to fill out the forms and return them to the YMCA office together with 100-word letters explaining reasons for desiring membership.

Additional blanks will be made available in all campus dormitories tomorrow.

First new students will be inducted into the IRC late this month. Applicants will be interviewed personally and will be given oral examinations to determine their knowledge of international affairs.

YWCA Announces Dorm Services

The YWCA announces that there will be dorm worship services in each of the girls' dormitories and houses tonight from 10:30 to 10:45.

Frances Allison, chairman of the "Y's" worship commission, said, that for the first few meetings, "Y" cabinet members will conduct the services, but it is hoped that girls in each dorm will take over later.

This is only the first of a series of such services to be conducted every Wednesday night in the parlors of each house.

Carolina Opens Tomorrow

Many Celebrities Likely to Attend

Governor J. M. Broughton and Captain O. O. Kessing of the Navy Pre-Flight school may be among celebrities at tomorrow night's ceremonies opening the new Carolina Theatre.

Dedication of the new building will begin at 8:30, E. Carrington Smith, theater manager, announced. Dean of Administration R. B. House and Controller W. D. Carmichael of the University will speak at the opening.

"The Major and the Minor," new Ginger Rogers picture, will be the first movie to be shown in the new playhouse. The show will begin immediately following dedication ceremonies.

The old Carolina Theatre, now the Village, will close tomorrow. The Pick will continue its regular full schedule.

Important Meeting

All members of the DAILY TAR HEEL sports staff new to the paper this year will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the DAILY TAR HEEL offices in Graham Memorial. The meeting is an important one and all new members of the staff must attend or present a valid excuse for their absence.

Philosophy Forum Schedules Address for October 21

By Robert Johns

The Philosophy department's fall Forum series will attempt as its main objective this year, to show those preparing to enter the armed forces why and for what they are going to fight, Dr. L. O. Kattsoff, acting director of the Philosophy department, announced.

The policy of the Philosophy department for the past few years has been to urge that all possible aid, short of actual war, be given those opposing the forces of aggression.

On Wednesday, October 21, at 8 o'clock in Gerrard hall, Mr. P. Cheng sends Dr. Warren, former head of the Philosophy and Psychology department at Furman, who will deliver a talk on "Czechoslovakian Democracy and Global War No. 2." Dr. Warren spent several years in Czechoslovakia and has written a biography of Jan Masaryk, founder of the Czech government.

On Wednesday, November 11, at 8 o'clock in Gerrard hall, Mr. P. Cheng will speak on the "Principles for Which China Fights." Mr. Cheng has been in this country for only about two years. Before coming to the States he was editor of the World Book Company and had written, in Chinese, two books on social philosophy.

Through talks and discussions by eminent men on their chosen subject, the Forum will render a student service. A former student now serving in the Army, writing to the department head, stated that in his company out of all of the men that he questioned, only one knew what he was fighting for. The most frequent replies that he received were "because of the dirty little Japs" and "because no one's going to try to lick the U. S." It is because of this evident lack of understanding as to why we are fighting that the department has undertaken to give the "potential" draftee and reservist a clearer conception of the reasons back of this war.

Forums are held about every two weeks. The public is cordially invited to attend and participate in the informal discussion and question period that follows each talk. The forums are not concerned with technical philosophy and, consequently, not limited by it. Views, ideas, and opinions on the topic up for consideration may be expressed by anyone present.