

Tar Heels Prepare For Davidson Game

Long Scrimmage With Freshmen Marks Practice

A long, hard scrimmage was the order of the day in Kenan stadium yesterday, as the Tar Heel gridders continued rushing preparations for Saturday's game with Davidson in Charlotte.

The second and third teams scrimmaged most of the afternoon while the first-stringers faced Davidson plays as run by Coach Bill Lange's Tar Baby eleven.

None of the men looked particularly good in the early afternoon scrimmages. Later in the day, however, the varsity started scrimmaging the frosh and tore the younger team to shreds with some hard running and plunging. Bill Sigler stood out and got off for one long touchdown run. Joe Austin, playing only intermittently throughout the afternoon, also scored for the regulars.

The third team outscored the second-string eleven in their long scrimmage by two touchdowns to one. Johnny Pecora sparked the lighter third stringers to their two scores. He passed to Walt Thorburn for one touchdown and hit Hugh Bigham with another heave for the second score. Billy Myers, running on the second team yesterday while Shot Cox took over the first-team reins, scored his eleven's only touchdown.

Blocking and tackling were emphasized again yesterday by Coach Jim Tatum, who directed the scrimmage between the second and third teams. Some of the play was sloppy, with a few men standing out. The men did not appear to be on razor edge and looked as if they must still work to be ready for the fighting Wildcats Saturday.

The frosh ran Davidson plays against the varsity with fair success. Here again no man stood out in the workout. However, towards the close of the afternoon, Coach Tatum gave the first eleven the ball and let them tear into the frosh line. Hugh Cox was at tailback for the first team, with Clay Croom, Mike Cooke, and Bill Sigler rounding out the secondary for the second straight day. Joe Austin also saw some service, but his knee, hurt in the Tulane game, still bothers him a little. Tank Marshall, senior guard, again was forced to work out lightly yesterday. Reoccurrence of his old knee injury kept him out of the State game for all but a few minutes, and it is still indefinite as to whether or not he will see much service against Davidson.

The rest of the first eleven shaped up the same as it did in the State game. Jack Hussey and Chaven Turner were at ends, Bob Heymann and Joe Wolf at tackles, Ralph Strayhorn and Andy Karres at guards, and Chan Highsmith at the pivot spot.

Reports emanating from the Davidson camp indicate that Coach McEver is drilling his men hard in an attempt to get the Wildcats ready to upset the Tar Heels. Davidson's club is definitely on the upgrade and Carolina will face a stiff obstacle Saturday.

Brubaker Shatters Pi Phi Backfield In Terrific Tussle

The highly favored Spencer dorm hockey team yesterday afternoon smashed through the Pi Phi eleven, 2 to 0.

In a match marked by hard hitting and rough playing, the Spencer girls drove to the lead with a tally off the stick of center Brubaker, playing strictly heads-up ball all the way. This score came in the second period of play after an uneventful first quarter.

Brubaker came back with the second goal in the final quarter of play. But only after her teammates, Chappell, Hunt and Flanagan had fought hard to clear away the Pi Phi defensive.

McCaskill, Miller and King were outstanding in the sorority's backfield and worked all the way to back up their weak forward wall.

The new combination team of Town-Alderman has its first match this afternoon against the Kenan squad. Play will begin promptly at 2 p.m. in Kenan stadium.

The North Carolina-Davidson headliner at 2:30 Saturday will mark the first time a Tar Heel eleven has played in Charlotte since 1936.

RAY JORDAN won't be carrying the mail Saturday when the Tar Heels and Davidson renew their interesting rivalry. A fullback in 1941, Jordan has been shifted to center this fall and it'll be his job to feed the ball to his backfield mates. Jordan is catching onto his duties nicely and moved up to the No. 2 spot behind Chan Highsmith, current sophomore sensation.

Seniors Take Easy Triumph In Track Meet

The seniors came through for their second straight win in the fall interclass meets yesterday afternoon by rolling up a score of 45 points. The freshmen and sophomores wound up in a tie for runner-up honors with 34 each, with the juniors bringing up the rear with 18.

Mike Mangum and Roy Cathey again led the seniors, accounting for 33½ points between them. Mangum won first in the 60-yard dash, broad jump and both hurdle races, while Cathey broke the tape in the 330 and 660-yard runs besides gaining a fourth in the sixty. These two boys were also members of the winning half-mile relay team. Rich Van Wagoner and Bill Thomas ran the other two legs. Co-captain Truett Bennett won the pole vault and Win Capel tied for top honors in the high jump to wind up the fourth year team's scoring.

Julian McKenzie, who finished first in the three-quarter mile run, was the only freshman winner. However, Nelson, Schultz, Briley, Mirsky, Cordon, Miller, Sessions, Wall, and Graham all finished in the money to give the yearlings their tie for second place. See TRACK, page 4

Ring Candidates To Meet Tonight

All varsity boxing candidates will meet in 304 Woollen tonight at 8:15. Coach Joe Murnick announced yesterday. Films of actual bouts will be shown at the meeting.

Major Aerial Bombardment Expected in Davidson Game

If last week's contests be a criterion, the Tar Heel and Davidson football teams are expected to play a fast, wide-open contest, with the emphasis on passing, in their annual scrap at Charlotte Saturday afternoon.

The Tar Heels and Wildcats showed potent air attacks in their games with N. C. State and V. M. I. Saturday and threw a total of 40 aeriels.

Davidson's ability to complete passes resulted in the downfall of the highly touted V. M. I. Cadets. The Wildcats made good 57 percent of their aeriels (12 out of 21) for 186 yards to trounce the Virginians 24 to 6.

Passes accounted directly for the first and third Davidson touchdowns and set up the final tally, an eight-yard field goal. The fine percentage against V. M. I. gave Davidson a season's record in passing of 37 completions in 89 attempts for 533 yards or better, a 42 percent mark for completions.

In last year's battle Carolina and Davidson attempted a total of 39 passes for 70 yards while the Tar Heels had four bulls' eyes in 13 attempts for 46 yards. But Carolina did a lot more with its four passes than Davidson with its 10 for all

Levy and Levin scored for the winners on passes, and Warren ran for the other touchdown. Black and Finn scored the two touchdowns for the losers by catching aeriels. Henson also played a fine game for the losers.

Steele scored its third victory of the season by taking District 2A into camp, 26-14, in a free scoring game. Davis looked very good for the winners as did also Calloway and Long. Shaw and Graham stood out for the defeated team.

DKE continued its undefeated season by trouncing ZBT, 27-0. Outstanding for the winners were Rodman, Gibbons, and Wideman. Wheeler and Freedman played well for the losers. In one of the most closely contested games of the year, Phi Gamma Delta edged out Phi Delta Theta, 7-6. The extra point proved to be the margin of victory. Phi Gamma Delta scored its touchdown when Parsley passed to Smith. Winstead of Phi Delta Theta put on a superlative exhibition and with Beyer led the losers in their desperate attempts to pull the game out of the fire.

Hoyas Battle Cloudbusters

Georgetown on Tap For Saturday Game

The identical eleven that opened fire last Saturday in the 9 to 0 victory over Syracuse will be on the field for the opening kickoff for the Pre-flight school Cloudbusters Saturday against Georgetown university's Hoyas at Washington, D. C., it was announced yesterday by Coach Jim Crowley, head coach.

The starting unit averages 191 pounds per man in the line with Game Captain Joe Frank, a Georgetown graduate, the heaviest at 210. The light backfield tips only 174 pounds per man with left halfback Leonard Eshmont the biggest at 185.

All players are in top condition and all are hoping for action against the Georgetown outfit that has been highly publicized, verbally, by Frank, who knows what the Hoyas can do and who was the most surprised man in the country last Saturday when he heard the score of Boston college's triumph over his alma mater.

As indicated by the lightweight backfield, the Cloudbusters will rely on break-away running, rather than power, for yardage and, they hope, touchdowns. Lou Bufalino, ex-Cornell star, gets the call at fullback. He weighs 170 pounds and can shake loose for distance runs if given half a chance.

The lad who doesn't need even half a chance to get under a full head of steam is Walter Zwizyński, 175-pound right halfback who once starred for Lafayette college. The lead- See PRE-FLIGHT, page 4

Cavaliers Play Here Tomorrow

The hopes of the Tar Babies of overcoming the Virginia Baby Cavaliers tomorrow afternoon in Kenan stadium were dealt a serious blow yesterday afternoon when the second Tar Baby this fall was removed to the list of those not to play any more this season. Jack Fitch who had been a mainstay for the frosh at his first string wingback position went into the infirmary last night suffering a fracture of a small bone in his left leg which he received when drilling against the varsity. Fitch received his injury when he twisted his ankle after jumping for a long pass.

It was in the Wake Forest game last Saturday that Rutkowski, first string guard, received a head injury that required his being taken from the game early in the second half. Although Rutkowski was at Kenan stadium yesterday to watch the freshmen scrimmage and run Davidson plays against the varsity club he wasn't in uniform, and isn't expected to don gridiron togs the rest of this fall.

Also in the Wake Forest game Jack Fitch wrenched his left ankle slightly, though not enough for him to be taken from the game. Fitch had been resting his ankle all this week with no body contact in the workouts, but fate deserted him yesterday.

The freshman coaches now face the task of finding someone capable enough to fill in Fitch's shoes and work along with Doc Blanchard, Rusty Craver, and Jim Culberson. Fitch's star roles this season have been taking a flat pass over center, and carrying the ball on reverses.

The probable choice to fill Fitch's vacated post will be decided by the freshman coaches from among Bill Ellis, Toler, and Stephanie. Frank Toler is now occupying the second string wingback position, and gets the favored nod for the position, but both Ellis and Stephanie are likely choices. Ellis played from the tailback post against the Deaclets, but earlier this fall he has been running from the wingback slot. Stephanie, who made All-Virginia last year, has been out with injury. ## Small Reaches Tennis Finals

Favorite Grant Small advanced to the finals of the upperclassman tennis tournament yesterday by defeating Harry Scully, 6-2, 6-0.

Small, ranked second behind Vic Seixas, who withdrew, now meets the winner of the Adrian Slaughter-Milton Cash duel for the upperclassman title.

In his march to a final berth, Small won over three players, Forbes Milliken, Bob Fineberg, and Scully. Scully was the only opponent to oppose Small on the courts, the other two going down by defaults.

Cash and Slaughter are scheduled to clash for the remaining final bracket tomorrow afternoon. Coach John Kenfield also announced that the finals will be held Tuesday at 3 p.m.

Frosh Cagers Note

Freshman basketball practice will be held at 3:45 p.m. on the outdoor courts until Monday, Coach Doc Siwert announced yesterday.

TWO OBSTACLES which have been added recently to the obstacle course are pictured above. The undercover run, above, is 60 feet long and is designed to teach the Naval cadets how to cover ground in a crouched position. The cargo net climb, right, towers 18 feet off the ground and the net used is exactly the same to be found on board ship for dropping over the side into a smaller boat. It is constructed to teach the cadets how to climb up and down the sides of their ship. These two obstacles bring the total number on the 600-yard course to 27, and have been responsible for an increase of 41 seconds in the record for the course, which now stands at 3:17 minutes. The obstacles will be of valuable use in the physical fitness program.
