Carmichael Hits Charge Of Inaction

Airport Neglect Strongly Denied

Reaction to the DAILY TAR HEEL's report Sunday of inaction and negligence on the part of the University in managing the airport was termed a "gross misstatement and poor reporting" by W. D. Carmichael, University controller.

Declaring that the present policy in conducting the Civilian Pilot Training course was "exactly opposite" Carmichael said that efforts were being made daily to improve the situation.

"The airport is my pet pigeon," he stated, "and I am personally working for its benefit. All charges of apathy, inaction, and neglect are false and a low form of journalism."

Carmichael is credited with being one of the main administrative forces behind the construction and equipping of what was termed the nation's number one plant.

When asked what was being done to correct the reported "leaking hangars," he replied that requisition slips were on his desk for the steel needed to completely renovate the field. Government priority rulings are expected to be waived in favor of the modernization of the vital war program.

Last Grail Dance Of Quarter Set For Friday Night

Bob Cleveland and his band will play for the third and final Grail dance of the Fall quarter to be held next Friday night, December 4, in Woolen gymnasium.

Cleveland's band has just completed a 10-week engagement at the Merry Gardens in Lynchburg, Virginia, and has included the University of Virginia, West Virginia and V. P. I. on its schedule program.

The band is composed of 12 pieces and features two female vocalists. It should satisfy admirers of both sweet and swing music, Sam Gambill said.

Tickets may be obtained from

Army Officers Demoted Daily In Playmakers Production

Lt. Ralph Roberts, a Playmaker here three years ago now stationed at Camp Butner, is a civilian part of every day as he assumes his role of Ralph West in Maxwell Anderson's "The Eve of St. Mark" and Lt. Walter B. Rathbun, also of Butner, is demoted to a Buck Private every night as he rehearses the part of Private Thomas Mulveroy in the Playmaker production to be given here tomorrow through Saturday.

Lt. Rathbun confessed that he gets a sort of nostalgic enjoyment out of the play. "Having been a Buck Private for 13 months before entering Officer Candidate School, I find that each night's performance brings back memories of my own barracks' life," he said.

Lt. Rathbun, who spent a

Maids to Start Work In Old East, Old West

Starting today, maids will take over many of the duties formerly done by janitors in Old East and Old West dormitories, it was announced yesterday by the University business office.

Cause for the substitution of three maids in each of the two dormitories was attributed to the increasingly serious shortage of manpower on the campus. One janitor will remain in the buildings to do the heavier jobs, but all light work such as cleaning rooms and making beds will be taken care of by the women, working from 9 a. m. until 2 p. m.

Magician Scheduled

Mulholland Appears On Campus Thursday

John Mulholland, the man acclaimed as "the world's foremost magician," will appear at Memorial hall Thursday evening, under sponsorship of the Student Entertainment committee.

In a booklet written about Mulholland by Lowell Thomas, the author writes, "His marvelous hands are to magic what Paderewski's are to the piano." The former high school and college teacher who ended up as a practitioner of the art of magic has travelled widely throughout the East to spend a large proportion of his time with native magicians.

Before he ventured on his many travels he learned the formalities and the correct approach to meet the sorcerers of the East. On one of his first journeys, Mulholland discovered that the oriental magician demands that his code be followed.

In Peking, there was one magician who did not want to have anything to do with Mulholland because he addressed him incorrectly. He merely announced to the Chinese that he was a magician from America, when he should have shown his master's certificate for proof that he too was a master magician. Certificates were not given in America and before the Chinese magician believed he was a rank imposter, Mulholland left and stayed away until he was able to follow the formal way of introducing himself. Then he went back to see the Chinese magician and began all over again. The certificate he had with him was written by himself but it satisfied the

Dance Expenditure Petition Gets Necessary Endorsement

Teen-Age Boys To Enter Here January 27

War Training Dean Announces Program

Dean F. F. Bradshaw of the College for War Training announced yesterday that the special pre-induction program for 16, 17 and boys who have just become 18 years old will begin on January 27 and continue on a quarter basis on March 19, June 10 and September 20.

Admission will be based on high school graduation or by special examinations. Officials of the college pointed out that age would be no prerequisite as all entrance qualifications would be based on academic standing.

Special examinations will be given here on January 4 and in the applicant's high school on January 5 with December 20 set as the deadline for submitting the application blanks. Blanks may be secured from the College for War Training office or the University admissions office.

Bradshaw warned that due to the large number of high school students expected to enroll for the training, housing and instruction facilities may not be able to accommodate the complete influx.

To offset this situation Bradshaw said that "admission will be according to date of application." Further information will be released to state high schools in the form of a special bulletin together with the regular University publications.

CWC Photo Contest To Close Tonight; Deadline Set at 6

The Carolina Workshop Council photography contest will close at 6 o'clock tonight and prizes for the winning pictures will be awarded at the coming Sunday night session, Karl Bishropic, Yackety-Yack picture editor and contest judge announced yesterday.

The contest dead line has been extended six hours to give students a chance to make final entries after classes today. Pictures must be turned in at Foster's with the contestant's name, address, and the type of camera used printed on the back.

First prize of $5.00, second prize of $3.00, and the two third prizes of $2.00 each will be awarded to students entering the four best shots in the contest at the Sunday night's session on December 6.

Bishropic emphasized the fact that all students are urged to submit their best prints to the contest regardless of the number of prints previously submitted or whether the picture was taken during the contest period or not.

Judges will be Dr. Paul E. Shearin, photography instructor of the physics department, Bob Weiss of Wooten-Moulton, Ted Croner, free-lance art photographer, Sam Wallace, campus publication photographer, and Karl Bishropic.

Coed Representatives To Be Elected Today

Coed representatives to the woman's honor council, the co-ed senate, and the student legislature will be chosen today in voting to be held at the YM-CA between 10 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Nominees for the student legislature post are Sara Yokley, Alderman and Mary Lou Truslow, Spencer.

Running for the two honor council representative offices are Ann Galbreath, Archer Frances Ferrier, Spencer; Kay Roper, Spencer; and Beth Chappell, Spencer.

Candidates for the seats in the senate are Janet James, Spencer; Kitty Flanagan, Spencer; Margaret Moseler, McIver; and Elaine Mendes, Spencer.

War Chest Sum Reaches $1200

SAE, S&F Lead List Of Contributors

"War Chest money has reached the $1,200 mark."

Bernard Moser and Harry Comer, Chest heads, in releasing this figure, added that from now on they would publish daily totals "to keep students informed of the progress of Carolina's $10,000 War Chest Drive."

Two large contributions yesterday made it the biggest single day of the drive. Fifty-seven boys of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity pledged $165 and Sound and Fury turned over a check for $175 to Chest officials. This Sound and Fury sum was the net proceeds from "War Chest Follies."

According to Moser, the men's dormitory committee, named last week as the "weak point in the chain of collections," has had a resurgence of activity. John Kendrick, head of dormitory drive, has scheduled a series of dormitory meetings, first of which

Raleigh Times Publisher To Introduce Tucker Here

Promising to give a glimpse "inside the cup", author of the "National Whirligig", Ray Tucker will give an off-the-record speech on the news behind the news in Memorial hall Saturday night at 7:45 p. m., as the final CPU speaker of the year.

John A. Park, editor and publisher of the Raleigh Times, will introduce the speaker and will meet Tucker in Raleigh along with Carolina Political Union officials.

A nationally known newspaper man, magazine writer and columnist for the past 19 years, Tucker in his journalistic service at the capital has covered every major event since the Teapot Dome affair. His column is being distributed by the McClure newspaper syndicate to more than 200 papers throughout the country.

His report of the famous 1933 investigation of the House of Morgan by a senate committee prompted TIME magazine to

Council Acts Today to Set Voting Date

By Walter Damtoft

The petition to raise dance expenditures to $2500 was signed by the necessary 10 per cent of the student body by 12 o'clock Saturday night and will be presented to the Student Council today so that it may be put to a vote by the student body.

Over 400 signatures have been affixed to the petition and to go into effect, it must be voted on by at least 25 per cent of the student body, a simple majority of that number being required to pass it.

The University Dance committee at a meeting last night approved the proposed amendment as it stands and went on record as favoring it.

The amendment which was drawn up by Sim Nathan consists of five parts which provide that there may be one set of dances each quarter the cost of which may not exceed $2500; that the University Dance committee will authorize the group that may sponsor the dance but that all responsibility for management and finances will rest in the hands of that group; that such dances will be open to all students and that the cost of tickets may not exceed $5.00; that the expenditures for no
