RAF Pounds Axis Centers Over Europe

Reds Cross Donets To Capture Icyum
LONDON, Feb. 5—(UP)—Strong RAF formations plotted a great triangle of destruction against Axis war power last night, blasting Germany's Ruhr valley, Turin, Spezia, naval base in Italy, and the U-boat hive at Lorient, France, to climax three days of torrential air blows on Europe.

Swarms of fighter planes took up the round-the-clock offensive this afternoon, zooming over the English Channel to needle Nazi defenses on the French coast in the promise of an even mightier Allied campaign was seen in the appointment of Lieutenant-General Frank M. Andrews, an outstanding airman, as American Army commander in the European theatre.

MOSCOW, Feb. 6 (Saturday)—(UP)—Russian troops have crossed the upper Donets river and captured the Ukrainian stronghold of Idym, sprongboard 72 miles southeast of Kharkov from which the Germans launched their 1942 offensive, a special Red Army communique said today.

US Airmen Lash Germans In Fiercest Desert Raids

LONDON, Feb. 5—(UP)—America's amazing Flying Fortresses tonight claimed 24 enemy planes destroyed in their latest Tunisian triumph, while P-38 fighters bagged two more Axis aircraft, and 26 others were damaged in the fiercest air fighting the African war has yet seen.

Popham Predicts China Will Pass Russia as Power

An audience avid for prophecies heard NROTC Captain W. S. Popham predict last night at an IRC forum that the four leading powers to emerge from the war would be, in order: the U. S., Great Britain, China and Russia. The forum, the first in a scheduled series, was presided over by Miss Ann West, chairman of the forum committee. Dr. E. J. Woodhouse, of the political science department, introduced the four speakers.

What was scheduled to be an airing of the question "Can We Trust Russia?" soon took on the dress of "Can the Allies Trust Us?" when Dr. A. R. Newsome, of the history department, outlining the historical background for the topic, pointed out that whereas Russia had endeavored after the last war to make the League of Nations a success, the U. S., deserting its high-flown war ideals, ignored it. He recalled the fact that America had sent armed troops following the accession of the Bolsheviks to power to start a counter-revolution in Russia.

SP Picks Brooks, Wright, Ford, Bacchus; Fitch, Broughton, Ward Chosen by UP

Sophomore Nominees Include Wulf, Carr, Hackney and Nesbit

Completing its slates for class officers, the University party yesterday released nearly all its sophomore class slate headed by Jack Fitch for president and Bobby Broughton for student council representative. Ben Ward will run for vice-president, Marvin Wulf for secretary, and Bert Nesbit for treasurer.

Charlie Hackney and George Kerr will be the UP candidates for representatives to the student legislature from the sophomore class, leaving one man to be appointed.

President

Hailing from Etna, Pa., the candidate for president of the rising second year men, Jack Fitch was active in the Hi-Y club, the student court, and was on the football team in high school. He was a member of the freshman team at UNC.

Council Representative

Bob Broughton, nominee for sophomore representative to the honor council, had an outstanding record at Needham Broughton high school in Raleigh. There he was on the student council, in the Hi-Y, a member of the literary society, the debate team, and the honor society. He also played basketball. Here he was elected freshman representative to the legislature last fall. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity.

Vice-president

Ben Ward, who is running for vice-president of the class, was active in school organizations and on swimming at high school in Goldsboro, his home town. He has been a member of the freshman swimming team here. Ward is a member of Chi Psi social fraternity.

Wulf

The secretarial nominee, Marvin Wulf, is from Troy, N. Y., where he was a member of the honor society and played basketball in high school. He has worked on the DAILY TAR HEEL here as well as the Carolina Magazine. Wulf was also on the freshman boxing team, and ran for a freshman office last fall.

Nesbit

UP man nominated for treasurer is Bert Nesbit of Wilmington. He was president of his senior class in high school and played football and baseball. Nesbit is a member of the freshman

Navy Opens New Hospital For Public Showing Today

The new Pre-flight Naval hospital will be completed and open for inspection by the public from 1:00 p. m. to 5:00 p. m., tomorrow, it was announced yesterday by Comdr. John P. Graff, USN (Ret.). Patients will be admitted and the hospital placed in operation on February 9.

Comdr. Deane H. Vance, MC-USN (Ret.), senior medical officer of the Pre-flight School, will be in charge of the hospital, while Lt. Comdr. Clark E. Brown, MC-USNR, will serve as executive officer.

Rental Limit Affects Hill

Town Termed Defense Area

According to an announcement from J. M. Lear, executive-secretary of the local Consumers' association yesterday, Chapel Hill is classified as a Defense Rental Area under the nationwide act of President Roosevelt on October 15.

This announcement came as a direct contradiction to yesterday's DAILY TAR HEEL story which took an on-the-fence stand until definite information was received. Although two Raleigh OPA officials claim that Chapel Hill does not fall under the rent control ban the OPA Washington report overshadows any Raleigh statement.

Citizens are called upon to police the rent situation and report all violations to Paul A. Porter, OPA deputy director in Washington. In a report to Lear, Porter warned that violation of the rent ceilings would result in Federal rent supervision similar to that in force at Durham.

Porter's report from Washington said that local landlords, un-

Fulfills Need

Occupancy of the new structure, which is located behind the Raleigh and Pittsboro Roads, will represent the answer to a need that has been present since the Pre-flight School was commissioned last spring. Navy patients have been quartered in the University Infirmary, while the medical and dental offices of the Pre-flight School have been housed in the administration building at Alexander hall.

After the war the hospital with its modern facilities will be turned over to the University for use by Carolina students and faculty.

Harmonious Design

The new infirmary, built of cement and brick, is of Colonial design, fully reinforced and fire-proofed. It is three stories high, and all floors are equipped with the latest medical facilities.

On the first floor, along with a large waiting room are offices for the senior medical officer, executive officer, senior dental officer, and all staff doctors; also an administration office and record room, pharmacy, and X-ray room.

The second floor includes five

Slated Sophomores Include Slaughter, Allison, Van Wagner

The Student party yesterday announced practically their entire slate of nominees for the rising sophomore class with top position going to Fred Brooks as candidate for vice-president.

Other nominations were Dick Ford for secretary, John Bacchus for treasurer, Madison Wright for student council representative, and Dick Allison, Chuck Slaughter and Bruce Van Wagner for delegates to the student legislature.

Student Council

Madison Wright, candidate for student council, comes from Chapel Hill. He went to high school in Williamsburg, Virginia, and there served for two years on the student representative committee, and on the staff of the school paper. Last year he was at St. James School in Maryland, where he worked on the annual, was a member of the literary society, and was valdicatorian. At Carolina he is a reporter on the DAILY TAR HEEL, and was an honor roll student last quarter.

Fred Brooks

Vice-presidential nominee for the SP, is Fred Brooks from Kinston. Brooks graduated from school in Lynchburg, Virginia, and there earned his varsity letter as a member of the track team. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Dick Ford

Secretarial aspirant Dick Ford, a resident of Asheville, graduated from the State School for the Blind in Raleigh with a scholarship to the University for high scholastic averages. At Raleigh he was a member of the orchestra, glee club, and mixed chorus, and competed in swimming as a member of his Boy Scout troop. Ford has sung in churches and for civic organizations in many cities of North Carolina. On this campus he has made a name for himself by his singing, in addition to being elected to the student legislature as representative of the freshman class.

Treasurer

The slot of treasurer on the SP ticket, John Bacchus, is a native of Chatham, New Jersey, where he graduated from Chatham high school. He was president of the student body, in addition to holding the positions of president of the Hi-Y and president of the senior class. At present he

Completion Date Set for March 15

By Bob Levin

Rush construction will begin immediately on two barrack residence halls with completion date set for March 15, announced Administration Dean R. B. House yesterday.

Although no definite plans of the buildings have been received, it is expected that they will be similar in construction and general appearance to the newly-completed Naval ROTC armory.

University Lease

According to the contracts drawn up, the University will lease the buildings for the duration of the war and will manage and sub-lease living quarters to students. Occupants will more than likely have to be in training in some branch of the intensified war program before rooms will be let.

The buildings will be located on Pittsboro street, west of the Carolina Inn apartments. This site was chosen in order that less pipe feet would be needed for construction. Priorities on plumbing equipment are difficult to obtain in Washington with the result that the barracks are being placed near the central heating plant of the University.

Previous to today's announcement, negotiations had been under way with the War department in Washington for over three weeks before approval could be obtained.

Additional facilities become necessary with the arrival of the Army Meteorology school March 1.

Robert Levin, Night Editor, Leaves DTH

Bob Levin, DAILY TAR HEEL night editor for almost a year, yesterday announced his resignation from the paper in order to devote more time to studies, since he faces spring induction into the Army Air corps.

In releasing his letter, Levin stated, "My parents and officials have advised me that top physical and mental condition will be required of every boy taken under the Army Air Corps Enlisted Reserve plan. Work on the TAR HEEL, if it is to be of any value, requires a great deal of time and energy. I can no longer devote this much time and so no longer feel myself capable of covering South building."

Loss of Levin makes the third night editor of the year to resign. This again leaves the staff short-handed with but two night editors to fill the gap left by Levin's "forced defection."

FRANK ALSPAUGH, candidate for secretary-treasurer of the student body, representing the UP for the office.

GUS JOHNSON, the Student party's candidate for vice-president of the Junior class, who will oppose Vic Seixas.

JOHN MORGAN, nominee on the Student party slate for the post of treasurer of the Junior class.

H. C. CRANFORD, who is the University party nominee for editor of the Carolina Magazine.

MADISON WRIGHT, SP candidate for sophomore representative to the Student council, will oppose Bob Broughton.
