

Churchill Set To Deliver Talk in Miami

Plans To Broadcast From Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Feb. 6—Former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill will make a national radio broadcast at 11 a. m. (EST) on Feb. 26 when he accepts an honorary degree from the University of Miami.

Miami City Manager A. B. Curry announces that the Orange Bowl stadium, which seats 35,000 people, has been set aside for the event, and a broadcast is being planned.

President Truman, who is coming to Florida next week for a vacation, has been invited to attend the ceremony. Mr. Truman will himself receive a degree from Rollins College, at Winter Park, Fla., on Feb. 11.

He and Churchill are expected to meet, and the former British prime minister may be a guest for a fishing trip aboard the presidential yacht Williamsburg. Churchill is now in Havana but will return to Miami Friday.

Last Survivors Taken From Wrecked Yukon

SEWARD, Alaska, Feb. 6—The last survivors have been removed from the wrecked liner Yukon which was broken in two when it was hurled against the jagged Alaskan coast by an Arctic storm. Rescue ships are battling blizzards in the search for 10 persons still missing. There were 495 persons aboard the Yukon when it cracked up on a reef 48 miles from Seward, Alaska.

New Comet Discovered By Rome Observatory

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 6—The heavens have revealed a new comet.

The Harvard Observatory announces the discovery by M. Timmers of the Vatican Observatory in Rome.

Described as "pretty good" by Harvard astronomers, the new comet's discovery was confirmed on four pictures taken at the Harvard Observatory in Harvard, Mass.

The Timmers comet—still invisible to the naked eye—is located 42 degrees north of the equator and is in the ninth magnitude.

N. C. Officials Seek New Policy

WASHINGTON Feb. 6—Officials of North Carolina charge today that the pending supreme court tidelands suit is an attempt to "Disarrange the National and State Relations."

A brief, signed by Harry McMullan, State Attorney General, and Burges J. Rhodes and James E. Tucker, assistants, urges the judiciary committee to approve a bill to grant states titles to tidelands.

"It involves a serious question of national policy for which Congress alone should be authorized to speak rather than one or more individual officers in the government," the brief says.

It lists as possible affected by the suit, which claims Federal title to the submerged lands, North Carolina's ports, sounds, and oyster beds, and shrimp, scallop and crab industries. The State's officials maintain that one nationwide tideland policy should be formulated by Congress.

Heads Convene To Talk Over New Buildings

Meeting Discusses Possible Locations

Preliminary discussion of types, costs, location and general need for new dormitories took place Tuesday afternoon when University Architect Raymond Weeks, of Durham, met with the Campus Building and Grounds Committees here.

Conferring in Durham today on ways and means of getting the University's needs met are R. J. M. Hobbs, chairman of the campus committee, Dr. Herman Beatty; YMCA secretary, H. S. Comer, Dewey Dorsett, president of the veterans association, and assistant Comptroller C. E. Teague. They will meet with John S. Hill, chairman of the Trustees' Building Committee, who will carry a report to the executive committee of the board of trustees Friday. The matter will be taken up at the general trustees meeting in Raleigh Monday.

Possible sites discussed for new dormitories here included Alexander Field, where two might be located; the area north of Alexander Hall, where two others might be built; and the area beyond Navy Hall, now the Monogram Clubhouse, where one could be put.

The board of trustees several weeks ago authorized contracts for two new dormitories here, and there is a possibility that as many as five may be erected. Chairman Hobbs stated yesterday that his committee had set the need for room space at about 500, which, with two students in each room, would mean 1,000 more students could be housed here.

AAUW Approves BS Health Degree Now Given Here

The degree of B.S. in public health nursing granted by the University is now approved for membership in the American Association of University Women, it was announced here yesterday by Miss Margaret Blee, assistant professor in public health nursing.

Informed by the secretary of the committee on membership and maintaining standards of the AAUW of the addition of the public health nursing degree on the approved list, Miss Blee said the degree will appear in the revised AAUW membership booklet which is going to the printers now.

All other degrees issued to women on the University campus were approved by the AAUW last June. With the addition of the public health nursing degree, all Carolina women graduates are eligible for membership in the national organization.

Choral Club Rehearsal

The Chapel Hill Choral Club will hold its first regular weekly rehearsal meeting on Monday evening, February 11, 7:30 to 9:00, in Hill Hall Choral Room.

Stockton, Stewart Nominated For Secretary-Treasurer Post

Hunt Resigns Chairmanship Of UCP Party

Positions Filled At Party Caucus

The United Carolina Party nominated Blount Stewart for secretary-treasurer of the student body yesterday afternoon at a party caucus. The UCP had received a request from the University Party to double-endorse Pat Kelly, student council member now performing the duties of the office, but a motion to support Kelly died for lack of a second.

Douglass Hunt, who has served as chairman of the party, handed in his resignation last week and was replaced yesterday by Sara Tillett, a junior from Charlotte. Lib Schofield, vice-chairman of the party, presided over the session.

Three vacancies on the executive council were filled by the election of Bill Jernigan, Donald Shropshire and Lorena Dawson. Miss Dawson was elected secretary of the party. The other members of the executive council are Miss Schofield, Pete Pulley, Walt Brinkley, Jimmy Wallace, Art Adams and Al Lowenstein.

Heated Discussion

Hunt launched a heated argument which took up most of the session when he moved that the discussion of A. B. Smith's eligibility be made a special order. It was argued that Smith had broken the party's principles by engaging in a political deal and employing foul election practices in the last general election, when Bill Walker, nominated by Smith and Roy Thompson, received more votes for the presidency of the student body than did Brinkley, nominated by the UCP.

Hunt moved that Smith be expelled from the party, but the motion was tabled. Hunt later repeated his motion, but the party adjourned without passing the measure. Smith, however, resigned during the discussion.

Sociology Major Becomes Old Miser For Two Nights

By Elaine Patton

It is hard to imagine Andy Griffith, tall, curly headed blonde, as an old miser—but that is what we will see Friday and Saturday when he plays the part of Gaspard in the "Chimes of Normandy"; and no one who saw him play the part of the Grand inquisitor in "Gondoliers" last year doubts his ability to give an excellent portrayal.

Although he is majoring in sociology, Andy's chief talent lies in music; and in his home town of Mount Airy, he played various instruments including bass horn and bass drum for the Moravian Church Band. Since he has been at Carolina he has sung in the Methodist Church choir and the First Presbyterian Church in Durham, as well as the Duke chapel choir.

Coeds Chosen As Models In Fashion Show

Fifteen coeds were chosen yesterday to be models in the Valentine Fashion Show to be sponsored here February 14 by the Carolina Independent Coed Association. Clothes for the show will come from Montaldo's, exclusive fashion store in Greensboro, and will be offered for sale at the Varsity after the show.

Models will go to Greensboro early next week to select their costumes which will include a complete line of spring clothes and accessories. The 60 ensembles in the show will be offered for sale Friday and Saturday on the second floor of the Varsity where saleswomen and fitters from Montaldo's will be present. W. S. Kutz, Varsity manager, has given the CICA the use of his store free of charge.

Dormitory and sorority house representatives will begin selling tickets today. The admission price will be 50 cents.

Models, who were chosen on the basis of ability, appearance and poise, are Ginny Freeman, Spencer; Mary Jim Neal, Archer; Betty Greve, Delta Delta Delta; Pat Anderson, Smith; Taddy Shipp, Chi Omega; Beezie Russell, Pi Beta Phi; Inez Macklin, Alpha Delta Pi; Lillian Leonard, Alpha Gamma Delta; Rusty Hancock, McIver; Dell Proctor, Alderman; Jean Chesson, Carr; Mac Cushman, Kenan; and Alice Flory, Cherrie Divelbiss and Betty Bowers, CICA.

Bridge Tournament

All students and faculty are cordially invited to participate in the regular Thursday night contract bridge tournament, sponsored by Graham Memorial, to be held in the Baby Lounge of the student union tonight.

Play will begin at 7:30 and a 15 cent entry fee will be charged each participant, to be divided among the quartet winning the tourney.

Veteran Gets Full Support Of UP Party

Mallard Resignation Causes New Election

The University Party has announced the nomination of Bob Stockton for the office of secretary-treasurer of the student body in next Tuesday's election. The office was vacated recently by the resignation of Joe Mallard.

Makes Statement

When asked by the Daily Tar Heel for a statement Stockton said that he based his candidacy on his record as a former member of the student council and on the promise to efficiently handle the student government funds.

Besides having served on the council as a sophomore representative in student affairs before leaving the campus to enter the Army Air Force in February 1943. He was representative to the legislature from the junior class, a member of the Grail, University Club and Interfraternity Council, as well as secretary of the Dance Committee.

Stockton is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity. He graduated from Reynolds High School in Winston Salem, where he was president of the student body. A former first lieutenant in the Air Forces, he was discharged last month and returned directly to Carolina.

Allan Pannill, chairman of the UP has issued the following statement in regard to the election: "The University Party has as usual tried to present to the students the best qualified man for the office. We believe that in Bob Stockton we have a man who is eminently qualified by his experience in student government to best fulfill the duties of secretary-treasurer of the student body."

Carolina Marine Crashes to Death

Funeral plans for Bert Hyder, Marine V-12 student who was killed in a plane crash Saturday afternoon, have been tentatively set for Sunday afternoon pending investigation of the accident.

Hyder, of Hendersonville, was passenger in an Army primary trainer, which was piloted by Samuel Edney of East Flat Rock. The plane crashed near the Myers airport in Hendersonville, where they had rented the plane. After striking a house, the plane plunged into a tree, instantly killing Hyder. Edney is receiving treatment in Hendersonville hospital for head injuries and broken legs. His condition is reported to be critical.

Investigation is being conducted to determine the cause of the wreck, according to reports from the Hendersonville sheriff.

Dr. Graham Traces Origin Of Sciences

President Speaks To Student Body

By Mary Hill Gaston

An audience almost entirely filling Memorial Hall yesterday morning heard Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University, trace the origin and influence of universities and scientific mechanisms in great historic transitions, from the invention of the compass to the advent of the atomic bomb.

Dr. Graham's address was the feature of the first University Convocation to be held here in a number of years and marked a revival of the pre-war student-faculty convocations. The meeting was called at the joint request of Dr. O. K. Rice, president of the Association of Carolina Scientists, and Charlie Vance, president of the student body.

Said President Graham, "Universities have been in the center of every great transition from the Middle Ages to the coming new era, which is just around an obscure corner. So have scientific mechanisms been at work changing the structure of the world."

Describes Changes

He described the changes wrought on human life by the inventions of the compass and the power engine, terming the former the center of the Commercial Revolution and the latter the pulsing heart of the Industrial Revolution. Mankind, he said, has lacked the social intelligence to master these and subsequent great mechanisms and has used them not for peace, but for war.

"Man doesn't have the social mastery and spiritual motivation necessary to control the inventions of his mind, and he may be destroyed by such power as the atomic bomb if he doesn't gain these qualities," Dr. Graham warned. He said that Universities have given students only fragmentary views of themselves and their responsibilities, that they are a part of the social lag—"dominantly scientific, reluctantly social-minded, apologetically philosophical and spiritual-minded."

Dr. Graham closed with the statement that America, the home of the modern revolution in science, stands at the crossroads of human destiny. "She has the power for self-destruction or for productive achievement, freedom and peace beyond all dreams. America with her universities and mechanisms must not by her choice fail mankind in this tragic hour."
