Outlying Districts Ask Fire Precautions

Residents of outlying districts have asked students walking through the woods around Chapel Hill to take all precautions to avoid forest fires. A cigarette carelessly dropped or some hot embers left after a picnic could easily start a disastrous forest fire.

There is no organized group to fight forest fires outside of the town limits, so extra precaution is necessary. At this time of year, the woods of this area are particularly liable to burn.

Y To Sponsor Race Survey

Poll to Determine Views on Negroes

The YWCA Racial Relations Committee will sponsor a racial attitude poll here March 12-15, as the third in a series of surveys to be taken every year for five years to determine changing attitudes of University students toward the Negro.

The YMCA will help circulate the approximately 500 questionnaires evenly among the men's and women's dormitories. All students asked to fill one out are requested to complete them by March 15 so that a representative from the Y may collect them.

Questions to be asked include the following: Do you agree that the Negro is born with the same capacity to learn as the whites? Do you believe the Negroes and whites should attend the same churches? Would you be willing to accept the Negroes living in the same dorm as yourself? In separate dorms? In separate dorms but eating with the whites? Would you be willing to accept Negro students in the University? Would you mind a Negro sitting beside you in class? Would you allow Negroes in campus organizations and professional fraternities?

Results of the poll will be published as soon as the committee compiles them, according to a statement from the YWCA.

Sound and Fury Show Wins Approval of First Nighters

Sound and Fury exploded in Memorial Hall over the weekend, and, though it didn't displace any diaphragms, did tickle everyone's humor bone and, with the aid of a Varga chorus, high on personality, increased the breath output of Chapel Hill 600 per cent. All in all, considering post-war, pre-war and peace-time difficulties a good job was done and a good time was had by all.

The best thing about "State of the Campus" was that it moved. Thanks to Jack Dube's direction bad lines and skits were dropped quickly enough to be forgotten in time for the good material. During scene changes audience adrenalin output upped due to a constant fear that the roof would fall in or that some eager initiate would toss a bucket of nitric acid into their laps. There were no casualties, except some of the sickly acts, so the effort was rewarded.

Bill Sasser's music is perfect for the show. It's pleasant, sim-

Since his arrival in this country he has lectured extensively, addressing numerous universities, churches and service clubs in the West and Middle West.

Charity Drive Nearing Finish

Red Cross Campaign Goal Nearly Reached

The Chapel Hill Chapter of the American Red Cross will probably top its quota again this year, it was indicated at headquarters here yesterday—the final day of the drive.

More than $3500 was reported from the residential, rural, and colored divisions of the campaign which opened last Monday, it was announced.

Although the chapter's quota is $6,000 there are still the business, campus and Carrboro divisions to be heard from, and as these are large parts of the campaign set-up, it is expected that the quota will be exceeded easily.

Last year's quota of $15,821 was set so high because of the presence here of the Navy Pre-Flight School and the Carrboro Munitions Plant which made large contributions. "Chapel Hill has never failed to meet its quota, and we don't expect to fail this year," Chairman R. M. Grumman said.

Mrs. John Woosley, in the absence of Mrs. Grumman, is in charge of headquarters this week. Reporting the $3500 turned in today, she said the final checking-in will take place Monday when all reports are expected to be made.

Interdorm Group Elects Officials

At a meeting of the new and old Interdormitory Councils, Nonnie Morris, the new house president of McIver, was elected president for the coming year. Cathie Carlen, house manager of Tri Delt for next year, was elected secretary of the Interdormitory Council.

In this three and one-half day period, 25 different sections have been filled up and closed out. These sections are mainly courses in English, mathematics and commerce, with some in chemistry, physics and economics. Therefore, students who want to take certain courses, particularly in these departments, are urged to make appointments with their deans or advisors (at the information desk in South Building) and to register as soon as possible.

Begins Again Monday

About 2,500 students are expected to register next week. Registration will begin again at 9 o'clock Monday morning, and continue through the week until the closing date, 12 noon, Saturday, March 16.

To date the new registration procedure has worked smoothly and effectively, and such troubles as have come up during the three and one-half day period have been worked out successfully.

Brahms Program Planned Tuesday

An all-Brahms program will be presented by members of the music department, Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock in Hill Music Hall.

Three groups of Brahms selections will be played. First, William Fitzgerald, clarinetist, and Carolyn Bowman, pianist, will give "Sonata in E Flat Major." William Waters will present three piano selections which are typical of Brahms' later works in which the composer shows complete mastery of the instrument. The final selection will be "Sonata in E Minor, Opus 38," played by Emily Porter, cellist, and Mary Louise Emery, pianist. Both Miss Porter and Miss Emery are graduate assistants in the music department.

It turns right at North Boundary and runs along North Street to Hillsboro Street on which it runs back to East Franklin to the Columbia Street stoplight. From here it goes down West Franklin to Robinson Street and across to West Cameron Avenue. After continuing along West Cameron the bus goes to Ransom Street and then to West University Drive. From here it comes back along Columbia Street to the Carolina Theatre.

Three other routes will be opened in the near future, including one to Carrboro, it has been announced.

Charter service is available by contacting Mr. Irving J. Watts.
