

ROY ALL

(Continued from first page) In conclusion, he said, "The world is looking at us today for leadership—all of the world, the kindly disposed and the unkindly—looking at us and taking our measure as a friend of peace or as a potential foe in war. As we value the peace of the world—as we value the safety of America—we must not weaken. We must not even show a sign of weakening."

Undersecretary of War Roy-all was introduced by Chancellor R. B. House. The address was aired over station WPTF.

Preceding the speech, Blount Stewart, president of the UVA, introduced Chancellor House who presented certificates for outstanding service to veteran leaders, William James Tripp, William Smith, and John Dewey Dorsett. The awards were signed by University president Frank P. Graham and UVA President Stewart.

SYMPHONY

(Continued from first page) conductor of the Boston Symphony asserted that he looked forward to the day when each state in the nation would maintain its own state supported symphony orchestra.

The orchestra is composed of professors, housewives, house-painters, students, lawyers, salesmen, preachers, and a great miscellany of persons who have sacrificed their time to become part of the music organization.

Bill Sharpe, Director of the State News Bureau in Raleigh, said in an article in "This Month," well known monthly magazine, that the State's symphony, roving all the way from the mountains to the seashore, has brought good music to people who never knew there was more to music than the output of tin-pan alley. "It is truly a citizens' orchestra," he said.

LEGISLATURE

Under the amendment, the student council will have the power to call the accuser to face the accused when it sees fit but the right of the accused to face his accuser in every case is withheld.

OPA Is Blamed For Violations

Washington, April 16.—An official of the National Association of Retail Meat Dealers—George Dressler—has told the Senate Agriculture Committee that flagrant and intentional violations of the OPA occur every day. Dressler blames the OPA, saying that with many store-keepers it's bankruptcy or the black market.

"Oh, that's a cinch, friend, everybody we elect resigns after a couple of weeks, and then we let another frat take over. That's the democratic way! You'll find a few poor duds, who say we ain't fair, but that's just because they're radicals and don't believe in 'the divine right of kings.' I can tell you here and now it's us guys of the aristocracy who knows how to govern and spend folk's money. Why, we can spend money better'n anybody. Don't you agree?"

"I certainly do," I said, lighting my Parliament cigarette with a two-dollar bill, as I accepted a dozen new white shirts.

in an attempt to pick him off second, and scored what proved to be the winning run while Fernandez was throwing out Tom Clayton.

Four Hits for Four Runs

The Tar Heels made four hits good for four runs in the third. A walk to Bill Webster, a single by Clayton and an infield single by John Gregory loaded the bases. Scudero then walked Pecora to force in a run. Colones fanned and Hand picked Pecora off first on the same play, almost pulling the Bulls out of trouble, but Frazier was walked and DiLorenzo smashed a ball off Scudero's glove for a two-run single.

The last six innings produced a string of goose-eggs for both sides. Pohlowski, second pitcher for the Bulls, stopped the Tar Heel hitters with the exception of Charlie Cole, who entered the game in the sixth inning and had two ringing singles in two trips to the plate.

Durham threatened in the seventh when a single by Nifong and a walk to Fernandez filled the bases with two out. DiLorenzo came through unscathed by hooking a third strike past Powell.

Coach Hearn used two men at each outfield post and on second and short yesterday as he continued his policy of giving most of his men a chance to play. Gregory and Hearn also contributed two hits to the Carolina cause. The star of the afternoon, however, was DiLorenzo. The first half of the game was played in a drizzling rain and it was cold all day, but the south-paw ace was in brilliant form and gave definite evidence that he can be counted upon as one of the mainstays of Coach Hearn's mound staff.

positions will be given in Hill Hall. The program will include both instrumental and vocal numbers. Following the concert, there will be a reception in Person Hall Art Gallery where selected works of the creative writing class and the Chi Delta Phi literary sorority will be read.

It was just learned yesterday that Edmund Duffy, famed cartoonist of the Baltimore Sun and several time Pulitzer Prize winner, would be unable to attend the festival because of an assignment to cover the UNO conference in New York this week.
