

Carolina Trims Maryland In Loop Contest, 2-0

Cindermen Trample Cavaliers, 87-39

Team Scores Twelve Firsts In Second Win

By Billy Carmichael
Capturing 12 out of 15 first places, Coach Dale Ranson's cindermen rolled over a weak Virginia track squad, 87-39, yesterday afternoon at Fetzer Field. The one-sided victory was the Tar Heels' second of the campaign and avenged their 73-52 defeat by the Cavaliers last season.

Floyd "Chunk" Simmons was the high scorer for the victors, taking firsts in the high and low hurdles and the broad jump and adding a third in the javelin to tally a total of 16 points. Marvin Terrell took top honors in both dashes and placed second in the broad jump to be second high man with 13 tallies.

Sweep Pole Vault
Mark Burnham and Charlie Tietjen lived up to their advance notices as they finished strongly in the mile and half mile to win the events with comparative ease. The Tar Heels swept all places in the pole vault with Norman McLeod winning his specialty at 12 ft. 2 in., followed by Hickman and Ward.

In the quarter mile, Carolina's Charlie Donnell lead all the way and won handily in the fast time of 0:52.5. In the weights Hazelwood and Gifford contributed firsts for the winners.

Track Summary:

100-yard dash: Terrell (C) first; Haigler (C) second; Davis (V) third. Time: 0:10.2.
220-yard dash: Terrell (C) first; Haigler (C) second; Fray (V) third. Time: 0:22.9.
440-yard dash: Donnell (C) first; Stevens (V) second; Christian (V) third. Time: 0:52.5.
880-yard run: Tietjen (C) first; Sill (V) J. Briley (C) third. Time: 2:03.
Mile run: Burnham (C) first; Nicastro (V) second; Francis (C) third. Time: 4:33.8.

Tar Heel Racquetmen Sink Navy By 5-4

Two Doubles Victories Win Close Contest

Gruner, Nicholson Remain Unbeaten

Annapolis, April 20.—Capturing two of the three doubles encounters, Carolina's touring netmen eked out a 5-4 victory over Navy here today for their sixth straight match of the season.

The triumph was also the second of the current trip and avenges a 9-0 defeat by the Middies last year. It also preserves a clean slate for the Tar Heels as they move on to Williamsburg, Va., to battle the powerful Williams and Mary racquet-wielders tomorrow.

Singles Victories
Coach John Kenfield's charges recorded three wins in the singles tilts. Harold Maass, playing number one, defeated Navy's Doyle, 7-5, 8-6, Stan Gruner trimmed Sadler, 6-4, 5-7, 6-4, and Jim Nicholson topped Pate, 6-2, 7-5. For Gruner and Nicholson, the victories maintained their unbeaten streaks in the six matches so far during the campaign.

Mel Jordan, in the number two berth, dropped his first encounter of the season to the Middies' Tilles, 6-2, 6-0. In the number four position, Navy's Jagoe outlasted Sam Daniels, 14-12, 6-3, while Fishman defeated Carolina's Dick Swigart in a three-set affair, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2.

Doubles Tilts
Thus the score as the match entered the doubles stage was tied at 3-3. The top duo of Jordan and Duke Wilder lost to Navy's Doyle and Tilles to place the Middies within one match of victory. But the second combination of Maass and Gruner took a 6-1, 6-3 decision from Sadler and Pate and Nicholson and Don Skakle trounced Jagoe and Eenis, 6-3, 6-0.

In William and Mary, the Tar Heels oppose their toughest foe of this campaign. Led by two former junior singles finalists, Larned and Bartzen, the Indians will be difficult to repel.

Paxton Wins Roberson Medal At Basketball Team Banquet

BOB PAXTON

Bob Paxton, the six-foot-two Naval ROTC cadet who scored the goal that tied the game and enabled the Tar Heels to wrest the NCAA Eastern championship from Ohio State in Madison Square Garden last month, has been awarded the Foy Roberson Medal for 1946.

His teammates voted him the medal Thursday night at a dinner given the basketball squad at the Carolina Inn. The medal is presented annually to the varsity basketball player best exemplifying the qualities of character and leadership on and off the court.

It is given by Dr. Foy Roberson, Chapel Hill and Durham surgeon and a former member of the Athletic Council, and Mrs. Roberson, in memory of Lieut. Foy Roberson, Jr., who was killed in a collision at sea while on patrol duty in 1941. The young officer was a graduate of the class of 1940 and played on the basketball teams of 1938-39-40.

Coach Ben Carnevale presided at the banquet, and there were brief talks by Athletic Director R. A. Fetzer, Assistant Coach Pete Mullis, Dr. Foy Roberson, and Controller W. D. Carmichael, who praised highly the exemplary character and conduct of the 1946 team off and on the court.

"Smile that way again." She dimpled sweetly. "Just as I thought—you look like a chipmunk."—Pelican

Whiteheart Fans Thirteen While Allowing Five Hits

Tar Heels Register Single Tallies In Third and Fifth Innings to Win

By Bob Goldwater
Behind the masterful five-hit hurling of Monk Whiteheart, the Carolina baseballers turned in a 2-0 whitewash performance over Maryland yesterday on Emerson Field to register their second Southern Conference victory.

Whiteheart pitched superbly all the way, fanning 13 batters, including at least one every inning, and allowed no walks. Six consecutive strikeouts, two to end the fourth, three more on ten pitched balls in the fifth, and one to start the sixth, were the highlight of his mound performance. The five singles that the Terrapins garnered produced their only base-runners of the contest, with none of these advancing beyond second.

Carolina Scores

The Tar Heels themselves were not too potent at the plate, picking up but six singles of which only one figured in the scoring. They scored single tallies in the third and fifth frames, both markers originating from miscues by third-baseman Cesky. George Thompson led off in the third by reaching second on the third-sacker's wild heave over first, advanced to third on "Rip" Ryan's long fly to left, and scored on Charlie Cole's safety to center. In the fifth, Rollo Frazier became a base-runner on Cesky's second error, was pushed along by a neat sacrifice by Whiteheart, and came home on a passed ball and wild pitch.

The Hearmen threatened twice thereafter. Two walks with one out in the sixth had signs of promise but a twin-killing erased the side. In the eighth, another free pass and John Gregory's single along the right field line put runners on first and third with one away but relief-pitcher Joe Fitzpatrick escaped further difficulty by firing a third strike past Bob Warren and getting Harry Beason to loft a fly to center.

The Tar Heels continue in Southern Conference play Tuesday when they entertain Davidson here. Vinnie DiLorenzo is a likely choice to receive the starting assignment from Coach Bunn Hearn.

Bill: "So he is to marry that young Parker. He has been jilted by a half dozen girls."

"Case of being well shaken before taken, I suppose."
