

Subcommittee To Investigate Franco State

10 Nations Agree To Finish Report

(Hunter College, The Bronx)
April 29—The UN Security Council has approved a five nation subcommittee to investigate the Franco regime in Spain. The committee will report before May 31st as to whether Franco is a threat to world peace. Ten nations on the council voted for the investigation, but Soviet Russia abstained from voting. Russian delegate Gromyko said he still opposed any further delay for investigation, but did not wish to exercise his vote power on the matter. France, Australia, Poland, Brazil and China were the nations appointed to the subcommittee. The council, with its slate now clear, has adjourned without setting a date for the next meeting. However, it must meet next Monday, May sixth, to receive reports on the evacuation of Iran.

Phi Will Discuss Presidential Term At Meet Tonight

Speaker A. B. Smith of the Phi Assembly, decided late last night to postpone the discussion of the fraternity control of student politics bill until next week.

The decision was brought about after several key figures in the debate stated that they would be unable to attend due to other commitments. It was felt that it would be unfair to proceed with the debate under the circumstances.

The Assembly will discuss, instead, a resolution that the Phi go on record in favor of a constitutional amendment to limit the tenure of office of the President of the United States to one six year term. Discussion of the new Phi constitution will also be on the evening's agenda.

Carolina Law Student Nominated to Run For State Legislature

Bruce Belmore, a second year law student here, has been nominated to run for representative to the state legislature from Swain County. His running mate has withdrawn from the race, so that Mr. Belmore will be elected this September.

Mr. Belmore, a Chi Phi from Bryson City, will take his seat in the legislature next January, when the legislature convenes after the fall elections. This will be the first time that a student has been in the legislature while still in school.

Women to Give Spring Concert On Thursday

A versatile selection of music and one hundred and fifty feminine entertainers will be the attraction Thursday night at 8:30 when the University Women's Glee Club presents its annual Spring Concert in Hill Hall. Yearly one of the campus' outstanding student features the girls plan to include in their program a variety of songs ranging from Bach's "Alleluia" from "For Us a Child is Born" and an arrangement of the English folk song, "May Day Carol" by Deems Taylor to musical comedy numbers and popular songs such as "Oh, What A Beautiful Morning," "Summer Time," "There Are Such Things" and "Begin The Beguine."

According to Director Paul Young, assistant professor of music at the University, the highlight of the entire program is the stirring "Prelude for Women's Voices" by a young American composer, William Schuman, the words for which are taken from Thomas Wolfe's "Look Homeward Angel." Soloists for the evening are Gwyn Hughes, Virginia Mason, and Nina Thomas. Elizabeth Worrall is the accompanist.

Tickets for the Thursday night concert are eighty-five cents, proceeds to go toward building up the music library of the club. They are on sale at the YMCA and Ledbetter-Pickard's or may be bought from Glee Club members.

All campus veterans, whether members of the American Legion or not, have been invited to attend.

Co-Editors Chosen to Run For Annual

Washburn, Barnes Get SP Approval

By Bill Rutledge

Two coeds were nominated on a double ticket for one of the campus publications in a nominating convention by the Student Party last night in a session held in the Phi hall. They were Bettie Washburn and Elizabeth Barnes, who were unanimously elected to run as co-editors of the Yackety Yack.

The party did not hold further nominations, leaving all the major campus offices excepting publications as yet not chosen by the new party.

Bettie Washburn, a rising senior of Shelby, N. C., is associate editor of the 1946 Yackety Yack, editor of the woman's handbook, and reporter for the Daily Tar Heel. She is a member of the Coed Senate and Theta Psi Epsilon sorority. In Shelby, she was associate editor of the high school annual.

Elizabeth Barnes, rising senior from Kingsport, Tenn., is a member of the Yack staff, Daily Tar Heel, and the woman's handbook. She is president of Carr dormitory and a member of the women's Interdormitory council and honor council. She is an Alpha Gamma Delta pledge. At Bristol, Va., before coming to Carolina she was on the staff of the school newspaper and the Intermont annual. She was also editor of her high school annual.

Bill Woestendiek, nominated by the SP at its last meeting as a candidate for the Daily Tar Heel editorship, made a speech of acceptance to the group last night and pledged his cooperation.

Chuck Heath, SP chairman, said the date for a future meeting had not been set.

Vets' Fight for Price Control Becoming Nationwide in Scope

The fight for OPA and against inflation being sponsored locally by the University Veterans Association has become nationwide in scope. Veteran's organizations on major campuses throughout the nation have been contacted by the Anchor and Eagle, Duke University Veteran's organization, and asked to fight for the retention of OPA.

Over one thousand signatures have been collected on a petition asking for a continued strong OPA. Included in those protesting against the lifting of OPA are students, faculty and townspeople.

Taylor Lectures Tonight On Shakespeare Topic

Kenan Professor of English Delivers Third of Humanities Division Lectures

Dr. George Coffin Taylor, Kenan professor of English and widely known authority on Shakespeare, will deliver the third in a series of Humanities Division lectures in Gerrard Hall at 8:30 tonight. His topic will be "Shakespeare, Thinker."

DR. GEORGE C. TAYLOR

Tonight's lecture will add material about the English Renaissance to that already presented about French poetry and Greek archeological exploration.

Dr. Taylor, who is regarded as one of the most colorful personalities on the campus, has been a member of the English Department since 1925. His lifelong interest in the entire renaissance period has been centered especially around the plays of Shakespeare and the writings of John Milton.

A native of Charleston and a graduate of the University of South Carolina, he worked for 2 years with Professor Kittredge at Harvard, where he received his M.A. After gaining his doctor's degree at the University of Chicago, Dr. Taylor taught at the University of Colorado, where for some time he was head of the English department. His work in various phases of Renaissance life has resulted in the publication of several books in the field, the latest among which have been "Shakespeare's Debt to Montaigne," and "The Modernity of Shakespeare." He is also one of the five supervisory editors of the recent volumes in the great Furness Variorum edition of Shakespeare's writings.

Dr. Taylor, who is widely known in both North and South Carolina as an accomplished raconteur, has been the Kenan professor of English here since 1927. Earlier lectures of the 1945-46 Humanities series were given by Dr. J. P. Harland and Dr. W. M. Dey.

January Entrants To Be Orientated Tonight at Union

Students entering Carolina in January will be orientated tonight in the main lounge of Graham Memorial. According to Charlie Vance, student council president, those who were former students are not requested to be orientated.

The new students will be interviewed individually as to their attitudes concerning the honor code. Campus activities will be introduced and they will indicate their interests in extra-curricular activities.

The students will be interviewed from 7:30 until 9 p. m. The special orientation program will be conducted by the student council and the orientation committee.

AVC Meets Tonight To Elect Officers

The Chapel Hill chapter of the American veterans committee will meet tonight in room 305 Bynum Hall at 7:30 p. m.

Since an election of officers will be held, all members are urged to attend.

During the week the local chapter was active in the campaign in support of the Office of Price Administration.

Constitution Ratification Is Postponed

The proposed constitution for the student body will not come up before the student body today as was planned last week. In order to clear up some confusion in student governmental circles about the condition of the proposed document, the TH called Douglass Hunt, speaker of the student legislature, and Pete Pulley and Lorena Dawson, legislature clerks, to a meeting yesterday afternoon to prepare an accurate copy of the constitution as amended and determine why there has been an 8-day delay.

Jack Hester, chairman of the elections committee, said that he had called no meeting of his committee, but had planned to present the document to the students today. Hunt said that presentation today would be "stupid" and that Hester had no power to act without consent of the committee. Hester decided to try to contact his 15-man committee by telephone, and attempt to receive their consent for ratification Thursday.

Ballots have been printed, and the student body will have a choice of voting either for or against the constitution. There has been no decision made as to the time, place, or other minor details of the ratification procedure.
